INFORMATION AND CORRESPONDENCE

(1) Change of Address for Patent Applications and Patent Related Papers

Effective immediately, correspondence in patent-related matters under the direction of the Assistant Commissioner for Patents should be addressed to:

Assistant Commissioner for Patents
Washington, D.C. 20231

This change is being made to reflect the reorganization of the Patent and Trademark Office (PTO), and the integration of patent and trademark processing activities under the Assistant Commissioner for Patents and the Assistant Commissioner for Trademarks, respectively. The reorganization has been made to emphasize and facilitate better service to customers of the PTO.

This change will affect correspondence such as: patent applications, responses to notices of informality, requests for extension of time, notices of appeal, briefs in support of an appeal, requests for oral hearing, extensions of term of patent, requests for publication of Statutory Invention Registration (SIR), requests for reexamination, statutory disclaimers, petitions to the Assistant Commissioner for Patents, submission of information disclosure statements, petitions to institute a public use proceeding, petitions to revive abandoned patent applications, and other correspondence related to patent applications and patents which is processed by organizations reporting to the Assistant Commissioner for Patents. However, unless otherwise specified, correspondence not processed by organizations reporting to the Assistant Commissioner for Patents, such as communications with the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences, patent services including certificates of correction, patent copy sales, assignments, library services, requests for lists of patents and SIRs in a subclass, requests for the status of maintenance fee payments, as well as patent practitioner enrollment matters including admission to examination, registration to practice, certificates of good standing, and financial service matters including establishing a deposit account should continue to be addressed to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks.

Special PTO mail boxes as currently listed in each issue of the Official Gazette should also be used to allow forwarding of particular types of mail to the appropriate areas as quickly as possible. Use of special box designations will facilitate the PTO's timely and accurate identification and processing of the designated correspondence.

All correspondence with the PTO, except for communications relating to pending litigation as specified in 37 CFR 1.1(g), may continue to be filed directly at the Attorney's Window located in Room 1B03 of Crystal Plaza Building 2, 2011 Jefferson Davis Highway, Arlington, Va.

In addition to the Office of the Solicitor, as specified in 37 CFR 1.1(g), the Office will now have three separate addresses. The addresses are as follows: 1) Assistant Commissioner for Patents for correspondence described above; 2) Assistant Commissioner for Trademarks for all trademark-related mail, except for trademark documents sent to the Assignment Branch for recordation and requests for certified and uncertified copies of trademark documents. See: Change of Address For Trademark Applications and Trademark Related Papers, 1163 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 80 (June 28, 1994); and 3) Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks for all other correspondence that does not fall into the categories designated above.

Those who correspond with the PTO are requested not to mix correspondence which will have to be directed to different areas (e.g., Patents and Trademarks) of the Office in a single envelope. At the present time, use of the wrong mailing address will not affect the filing date assigned to any application or correspondence received in the PTO, except as specified in 37 CFR 1.1(g).

The Office is currently preparing a notice of proposed rulemaking to formally change the address for patent-related correspondence. Sections 1.1, 1.8, 1.10 and 1.51 of Title 37 of the Code of Federal Regulations are waived to the extent that a certificate of mailing under section 1.8 or 1.10, for patent applications and related patent documents, may be addressed either to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231, or to the Assistant Commissioner for Patents, Washington, D.C. 20231.

Extension of the Use of Payor Numbers to Matters Involving Pending Patent Applications

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce.
Action: Notice; Request for Comments.
Summary: The Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) requests written public comment on the advisability of the extension of the use of Payor Numbers to matters involving pending patent applications. Payor Numbers are currently used with respect to establishing a "fee address" for receipt of maintenance fee correspondence. The PTO is considering extending the Payor Number practice to matters involving patent applications. The use of such Payor Numbers would permit an attorney, agent or law firm to file a single paper containing a change of address, rather than a separate paper for each patent application affected by the change of address. The change of address in multiple patent applications through a single paper directed to the Payor Number would result in savings to both the attorney, agent or law firm and the PTO. Interested members of the public are invited to present written comments on any topic relating to the extension of the use of Payor Numbers.
Dates: Written comments on the topics presented in the supplementary section of this notice will be accepted by the PTO until Aug. 16, 1995.

Addresses: Those intereseted in presenting written comments on the topics presented in the supplementary information, or any related topics, may mail their comments to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231, marked to the attention of Box DAC. In addition, comments may also be sent by facsimile transmission to (703) 308-6916, with a confirmation copy mailed to the above address, or by electronic mail messages over the Internet to payor@uspto.gov.

Written comments should include the following information:

- name and affiliation of the individual responding;
- an indication of whether comments offered represent views of the respondent's organization or are the respondent's personal views; and
- if applicable, information on the respondent's organization, including the type of organization (e.g., business, trade group, university, non-profit organization).

For Further Information Contact: Robert W. Bahr by telephone at (703) 308-6906, by facsimile at (703) 308-6916, or Jeffery V. Nase by telephone at (703) 305-9285, or by mail marked to the attention of Box DAC, addressed to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231.

Supplementary Information

I. Background

The PTO is considering extending the use of Payor Numbers to matters involving patent applications. Specifically, Payor Numbers are currently used with respect to establishing a "fee address" for receipt of maintenance fee correspondence, and the use of such Payor Numbers permit, inter alia, an attorney, agent or law firm to file a single change of address paper for the Payor Number, which change of address will be effective for every patent identified with the Payor Number, rather than requiring that separate change of address papers be filed for every patent affected by the change of address.

II. Issues for Public Comment

Any interested member of the public is invited to present written comments on any topic related to the extension of the use of Payor Numbers. The PTO is considering extending the Payor Number practice to matters involving patent applications to permit (1) the identification of the correspondence address of a patent application with a Payor Number such that a single change of address may be filed for the Payor Number, and thus every patent application identified with the Payor Number, and (2) the identification of a list of registered attorneys and/or agents with a Payor Number such that an applicant may in the Power of Attorney appoint those attorneys and/or agents associated with the Payor Number. The PTO requests written public comment on the advisability of this extension of the use of Payor Numbers, and the issues associated therewith.

Currently, when an attorney, agent or law firm changes correspondence address, a separate paper containing this change of address must be filed in every patent application affected by the change of address. 37 CFR 1.4(b). The identification of an application with a Payor Number will permit an attorney, agent or law firm to file a single paper containing this change of address, rather than a separate paper in each application, and this change of address paper will be applicable to all applications identified with the Payor Number. The identification of an application with a Payor Number will be optional, in that any application not identified with a Payor Number will not be affected by a change of address filed for a Payor Number, even if the correspondence address provided for such application is that of an attorney, agent, or law firm identified with a Payor Number. The change of address in multiple patent applications through a single paper directed to the Payor Number, rather than through individual letters directed to each application, would result in savings to both the attorney, agent or law firm and the PTO.

Currently, an applicant in the Power of Attorney must individually name those attorneys and/or agents to represent the applicant in a patent application. The association of a list of attorneys and/or agents with a Payor Number will permit an applicant to appoint all of the attorneys and/or agents associated with the Payor Number merely by reference to the Payor Number in the Power of Attorney, i.e., without individually listing the attorneys and/or agents in the Power of Attorney. The addition and/or deletion of an attorney or agent from the list of attorneys and/or agents identified with a Payor Number will result in the addition or deletion of such attorney or agent from the list of persons authorized to represent any applicant who appointed all of the attorneys and/or agents identified with such Payor Number. This will avoid the necessity for the filing of additional papers in each application affected by a change in the attorneys and/or agents of the law firm prosecuting the application. The appointment of attorneys and/or agents identified with a Payor Number will be optional, in that any applicant may continue to individually name those attorneys and/or agents to represent the applicant in a patent application.

Currently, the PTO must individually enter into the Patent Application Location and Monitoring (PALM) system the registration number for each attorney and/or agent appointed to represent the applicant in a patent application. The change of persons authorized to represent applicants in multiple patent applications through a single paper directing the PTO to change its records concerning the Payor Number, which would require only a single entry into the PALM system, rather than through individual letters directed to each application, which would require a separate entry into the PALM system for each affected application, would significantly reduce the amount of data which must be entered into the PALM system, and would thus result in savings to the PTO. In addition, permitting a change of persons authorized to represent applicants in multiple patent applications through a single paper directing the PTO to change its records concerning the Payor Number would result in similar savings to the attorney, agent, or law firm.

As the PTO will not recognize more than one correspondence address (37 CFR 1.34(c)), any inconsistencies between the correspondence address resulting from a Payor Number being provided in an application for the correspondence address and any other correspondence address provided in that application would be resolved in favor of the correspondence address of the Payor Number. Where an applicant appoints all of the attorneys and/or agents associated with a Payor Number as well as a list of individually named attorneys and/or agents, such action would be treated as only an appointment of all of the attorneys and/or agents identified with a Payor Number due to the potential for confusion and data entry errors in entering registration numbers from plural sources. If an applicant wished to appoint attorneys and/or agents in addition to those associated with a Payor Number, the additional attorneys and/or agents could be appointed through the use of an associate Power of Attorney.

Examples:

1. The following language would be effective to appoint those attorneys and/or agents individually listed, and provide the correspondence address of Payor Number 99,999.

I hereby appoint the following practitioners to prosecute this application and to transact all business in the Patent and Trademark Office connected therewith:

Address all correspondence to: Payor Number 99,999.

2. The following language would be effective to appoint those attorneys and/or agents associated with, and provide the correspondence address of, Payor Number 99,999.

I hereby appoint the practitioners identified with the Payor Number provided below to prosecute this application and to transact all business in the Patent and Trademark Office connected therewith, and direct that all correspondence be addressed to that Payor Number:

Payor Number 99,999.

(5) Establishment of a Special Box for Expedited Processing of Issue Fees

Effective immediately, the Patent and Trademark Office has established a special box designator for issue fees to allow expedited processing of the Issue Fee Transmittal (PTOL Form 85), and the order for advance copies.

In order to take advantage of this new service, the envelope should be addressed:

Box Issue Fees
Washington, D.C. 20231

Only the Issue Fee Transmittal (PTOL Form 85), advance copy orders and the fees associated with these two services are to be placed in the envelope. Including documents other than those specified will delay their reaching the area for which they were intended.

PLEASE USE THE NEW ISSUE FEE BOX.

(6) Establishment of Three Special Boxes for Expedited Processing

The Patent and Trademark Office has established three additional special boxes to allow expedited processing of non-fee amendments to patent applications, petitions for filing date and/or serial number information for patent applications, and issue fees.

In order to take advantage of these new expedited services, the envelope must be addressed:

For non-fee amendments to patent applications:

Box Non-Fee Amendments (Pats)
Washington, D.C. 20231

For petitions under 37 CFR 1.182 and associated fees for obtaining filing date and/or serial number information for patent applications prior to receipt of the official "Filing Receipt", "Notice to File Missing Parts", or "Notice of Incomplete Application".

Box SN
Washington, D.C. 20231

For Issue Fee Transmittals (PTOL Form 85) and associated fees and corrected drawings:

Box Issue Fees
Washington, D.C. 20231

Only those documents specified for the special box are to be placed in the envelope addressed to that special box. Placing extraneous documents in an envelope marked for any special box will significantly delay their reaching the area for which they were intended.

(7) Changes in How Papers May be Filed in the Patent and Trademark Office

Beginning April 21, 1992, an improved service will be offered to people who wish to file papers directly with the Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) by extending the hours of operation for the Attorneys' Window located in Room 1B03 of Crystal Plaza Building 2, Arlington, Virginia. The current hours of operation are from 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday, except Federal holidays within the District of Columbia. The change will extend the hours of operation until 12:00 midnight on Monday through Friday, except holidays, on a trial basis. If, after six months, usage does not warrant retaining operations until midnight, the hours of operation will be reduced.

This change will provide walk-up, personalized service to firms and individuals who are filing documents with the PTO. The PTO will continue to stamp postcard-type receipts to acknowledge the receipt of papers filed at the Attorneys' Window.

Also, effective on April 21, 1992, the PTO is discontinuing the use of drop boxes in the lobby of Crystal Plaza Building 3, Arlington, Virginia, and at the main entrance of the Department of Commerce Building, Washington, D.C. (37 CFR 1.6(c)) as means for receiving papers.

These changes will provide improved services with respect to receipt and processing of documents while, at the same time, overcoming problems with the present arrangement.

Problems encountered with the present arrangement for the drop boxes have occasionally made it difficult to determine the dates of actual deposit of papers. For example, there have been many incidents of papers being found outside of the drop boxes (e.g., on the floor of the main lobby of the Department of Commerce Building, on the guard's desk, on a nearby table, etc.). On occasion, the PTO and/or filers have been denied access to the drop box at the Department of Commerce by building security guards due to a special event taking place in the lobby.

Provisions are also available for filing papers through the use of the certificate of mailing (37 CFR 1.8) and the Express Mail (37 CFR 1.10) procedures.

(8) Relief in Certain Extraordinary Situations

This notice addresses the extraordinary situation in which a Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) customer has been intentionally deceived by his or her representative, resulting in a potential loss of intellectual property rights. In such a situation, the PTO will mitigate any such potential loss, to the extent possible within the PTO's statutory framework and the bounds of controlling law.

To mitigate any such loss, the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks may suspend or waive certain regulations. When that is the case, the Commissioner will exercise his power to do so under 37 C.F.R. §§ 1.183 and 2.148 ("In an extraordinary situation, when justice requires," the Commissioner has the power to sua sponte suspend or waive any requirement of the regulations which is not required by statute.).

In advance of the occurrence of such an extraordinary situation, the Commissioner cannot determine what specific action justice will require. Such action, however, could include waiving of certain non-statutory fees, reviving an abandoned application, or granting an application filing date based on the PTO filing date of a copending document that has all the elements of a patent application required by law.

Communications with the Patent and Trademark Office

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce.
Action: Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.
Summary: The Patent and Trademark Office (Office) is proposing to amend the rules of practice in patent and trademark cases to: (1) require that patent-related mail be addressed to the Assistant Commissioner for Patents; (2) require that most trademark-related mail be addressed to the Assistant Commissioner for Trademarks; (3) specify a separate address for mail related to disciplinary proceedings pending before the Administrative Law Judge or the Commissioner in the Office of the Solicitor; (4) provide a definition of "Federal holiday within the District of Columbia"; and (5) delete the requirement for a certificate for "Express Mail" in section 1.10 and incorporate requirements for the resubmission of misplaced correspondence which parallel section 1.8.
Dates: Comments must be received by January 2, 1996. No hearing will be held.
Addresses: Address written comments to Assistant Commissioner for Trademarks, 2900 Crystal Drive, Arlington, Virginia 22202-3513, marked to the attention of Lynne G. Beresford. In addition, written comments may also be sent by facsimile transmission to (703) 308-7220 with a confirmation copy mailed to the above address, or by electronic mail messages over the Internet to mail-rule@uspto.gov.

Written comments will be available for public inspection on [Insert date 75 days after date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER], in the Assistant Commissioner for Trademarks' suite on the 10th floor of the South Tower Building, 2900 Crystal Drive, Arlington, Virginia 22202-3513.
For Further Information Contact: Lawrence E. Anderson (for patent-related matters) by telephone at (703) 305-9285, by electronic mail at landerso@uspto.gov, or by mail to his attention addressed to the Assistant Commissioner for Patents, Box DAC, Washington, D.C. 20231; or Lynne G. Beresford (for trademark-related matters) by telephone at (703) 308-8900, extension 44, or by mail marked to her attention and addressed to the Assistant Commissioner for Trademarks, 2900 Crystal Drive, Arlington, Virginia 22202-3513.
Supplementary Information: Addresses for correspondence with the Office are proposed to be changed to reflect the creation of a mailroom site at the South Tower Building for processing most trademark-related mail; to distinguish correspondence intended for organizations reporting to the Assistant Commissioner for Patents from other correspondence; and to add a separate mailing address in the Office of the Solicitor for disciplinary matters.

The proposed rulemaking entitled "Changes in Requirements for Addressing Trademark Applications and Trademark-Related Papers" (0651-AA73) has been merged with this notice of proposed rulemaking.

The Office will now have three separate general mailing addresses: (1) Assistant Commissioner for Patents for correspondence processed by organizations reporting to the Assistant Commissioner for Patents; (2) Assistant Commissioner for Trademarks for all trademark-related mail, except for trademark documents sent to the Assignment Division for recordation and requests for certified and uncertified copies of trademark documents which should be addressed to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks; and (3) Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks for all other correspondence. Notwithstanding the above, it is proposed that there will be separate mailing addresses in the Office of the Solicitor for certain disciplinary matters and cases involving pending litigation.

Those who correspond with the Office are requested to use separate envelopes directed to the different areas.

Because patent-related mail will be sent to the Assistant Commissioner for Patents, the requirement to designate patent application correspondence as "PATENT APPLICATION" is proposed to be deleted from section 1.5(a).

In addition, it is proposed that "Federal holiday within the District of Columbia" be defined as including Official closings.

It is further proposed that a "Certificate of Mailing by Express Mail" (currently necessary to obtain the benefit of the date of deposit with the United States Postal Service (U.S.P.S.) as the filing date of the paper) no longer be required for correspondence actually received in the Office.

PATENT-RELATED MAIL

Section 1.1 is proposed to be amended to provide for correspondence which is processed by organizations reporting to the Assistant Commissioner for Patents to be addressed to the "Assistant Commissioner for Patents, Washington, D.C. 20231." The Office first announced the new address for patent-related mail in a notice (Change of Address for Patent Applications and Patent Related Papers) published in the Official Gazette at 1173 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 13 (April 4, 1995).

This change will affect correspondence such as: patent applications, responses to notices of informality, requests for extension of time, notices of appeal to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences (the Board), briefs in support of an appeal to the Board, requests for oral hearing before the Board, extensions of term of patent, requests for reexamination, statutory disclaimers, certificates of correction, petitions to the Commissioner, submission of information disclosure statements, petitions to institute a public use proceeding, petitions to revive abandoned patent applications, and other correspondence related to patent applications and patents which is processed by organizations reporting to the Assistant Commissioner for Patents. When patent-related documents are filed with a certificate of mailing, pursuant to section 1.8, the certificate of mailing should be completed with the new address: Assistant Commissioner for Patents, Washington, D.C. 20231.

Unless otherwise specified, correspondence not processed by organizations reporting to the Assistant Commissioner for Patents, such as communications with the Board, patent services including patent copy sales, assignments, requests for lists of patents and SIRs in a subclass, requests for the status of maintenance fee payments, as well as patent practitioner enrollment matters including admission to examination, registration to practice, certificates of good standing, and financial service matters including establishing a deposit account should continue to be addressed to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231. Documents to be recorded with the Assignment Division, except those filed with new applications, should be addressed to: Box Assignment, Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231. Orders for certified and uncertified copies of Office documents should be addressed to: Box 10, Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231.

Special Office mail boxes as currently listed in each issue of the Official Gazette should continue to be used to allow forwarding of particular types of mail to the appropriate areas as quickly as possible. Use of special box designations will facilitate the Office's timely and accurate identification and processing of the designated correspondence.

Checks should continue to be made payable to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks.

TRADEMARK-RELATED MAIL

Most trademark-related mail should be sent directly to the Trademark Operation at: Assistant Commissioner for Trademarks, 2900 Crystal Drive, Arlington, Virginia 22202-3513. When trademark-related documents are filed with a certificate of mailing, pursuant to section 1.8, the certificate of mailing should be completed with the new address: Assistant Commissioner for Trademarks, 2900 Crystal Drive, Arlington, Virginia 22202-3513. Use of the correct address will avoid processing delays. Trademark documents to be recorded with the Assignment Division, except those filed with new applications, should be addressed to: Box Assignment, Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231. Orders for certified and uncertified copies of trademark documents should be addressed to: Box 10, Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231.

The Office announced the new address for trademark-related mail in a notice (Change of Address for Trademark Applications and Trademark Related Papers) published in the Federal Register at 59 FR 29275 (June 6, 1994) and in the Trademark Office Official Gazette at 1163 Off. Gaz. Trademark Office 80 (June 28, 1994) (republished in 1170 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 303 (January 3, 1995)).

The Office will continue to maintain the special box designations and FEE/NO FEE indicators for trademark mail as currently listed in each issue of the Official Gazette. In addition to addressing trademark-related mail as set forth above, the boxes should also be used to allow forwarding of particular types of mail to the appropriate areas as quickly as possible.

Checks should continue to be made payable to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks.

Mail intended for the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board should be addressed to: Assistant Commissioner for Trademarks, 2900 Crystal Drive, Arlington, Virginia 22202-3513, including BOX TTAB/FEE or BOX TTAB/NO FEE, whichever is applicable.

HAND-CARRIED CORRESPONDENCE

All correspondence with the Office, except for communications relating to pending litigation as specified currently in section 1.1(g), may continue to be filed directly at the Attorney's Window located in Room 1B03 of Crystal Plaza Building 2, 2011 South Clark Place, Arlington, Virginia. Trademark-related papers may also be filed at the "walk-up" window located on the third floor of the South Tower Building, 2900 Crystal Drive, Arlington, Virginia.

FEDERAL HOLIDAYS WITHIN THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

When the Patent and Trademark Office is officially closed for an entire day (for reasons due to weather or other causes), the Office will consider each such day a "Federal holiday within the District of Columbia" under 35 U.S.C. § 21. Any action or fee due on such a day may be taken, or fee paid, on the next succeeding business day the Office is open.

Legal holidays considered "Federal holidays within the District of Columbia" are New Year's Day (January 1), Martin Luther King, Jr.'s Birthday (third Monday in January), Presidential Inauguration Day, Washington's Birthday (third Monday in February), Memorial Day (last Monday in May), Independence Day (July 4), Labor Day (first Monday in September), Columbus Day (second Monday in October), Veterans Day (November 11), Thanksgiving Day (fourth Thursday in November) and Christmas Day (December 25). In the past, the Office has published notices concerning unscheduled closings. See, e.g., "Closing of Patent and Trademark Office on Thursday, January 20, 1994 and Friday, February 11, 1994," 1161 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 12 (April 5, 1994) (republished in 1170 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 8 (January 3, 1995)) and "Filing of Papers During Unscheduled Closings of the Patent and Trademark Office," 1097 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 53 (December 20, 1988) (republished in 1170 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 8 (January 3, 1995)). The proposed rule change will further implement the existing policy.

EXPRESS MAIL PROVISIONS

Section 1.10 is proposed to be amended by deleting the requirement for a "Certificate of Mailing by Express Mail" to obtain the benefit of the date of deposit with the United States Postal Service (U.S.P.S.) as the filing date of the paper. The title of section 1.10 is proposed to be revised and section 1.10 is also proposed to be amended to incorporate requirements for the resubmission of misplaced correspondence which parallel section 1.8.

Under the current rule, the filer is required to include a Certificate of Mailing by Express Mail, certifying the date of deposit as Express Mail. Some papers filed with the Office, although deposited as Express Mail with the U.S.P.S., have been denied the filing date of the date of deposit as Express Mail because the required Certificate of Mailing by Express Mail was omitted or deficient. The lost filing date for a significant number of these papers has resulted in the loss of substantive rights. For example, a trademark registration may be canceled if the required affidavit of continued use or excusable non-use is not filed by the end of the sixth year of registration. 15 U.S.C. § 1058.

In light of the problematic nature of the requirement for a Certificate of Mailing by Express Mail, inasmuch as the date of deposit has already been entered by a disinterested third party, the Office proposes to delete this requirement from section 1.10.

MISCELLANEOUS CHANGES

Miscellaneous changes are proposed to change the word "communications" to "correspondence" for purposes of consistency. Also, since the certificate of mailing by "Express Mail" will no longer be a requirement of the proposed rules, the provisions of Part 10 relating to misconduct are proposed to be amended to delete reference to this requirement.

DISCUSSION OF SPECIFIC RULES

If revised as proposed, the heading of section 1.1 will be changed to state that the section contains the addresses for correspondence to the Patent and Trademark Office.

Section 1.1 is proposed to be revised to set out all pertinent Office mailing addresses in paragraph (a) and in added paragraphs (a)(1), (a)(2), and (a)(3). It should be noted that the remaining paragraphs of section 1.1 contain directions for using box designations rather than addresses. Paragraph (a)(1) is proposed to be added to set out the new mailing address to which most patent-related documents should be sent. Paragraph (a)(2) is proposed to be added to set out the new mailing address to which most trademark-related documents should be sent. The Solicitor's mailing address, formerly set out in paragraph (g) of the section is moved to a new paragraph (a)(3). Paragraph 1.1(g) is proposed to be removed and reserved.

Sections 1.1 and 1.3 are proposed to be amended so that the word "communications" is changed to "correspondence."

Section 1.5(a) is proposed to be amended by removing the requirement of the words "PATENT APPLICATION" on letters concerning patent applications.

Section 1.8 (a) is proposed to be revised to state that papers and fees must be addressed as set out in section 1.1 (a). For the purposes of 1.8 (a) (1) (i) (A) , first class mail is interpreted as including "Express Mail" and "Priority Mail" deposited with the U.S.P.S.

Section 1.9 is proposed to be amended to add a definition of "Federal holiday within the District of Columbia" to include Federal holidays and days when the Patent and Trademark Office is officially closed for the entire day (for reasons due to adverse weather or other causes).

Section 1.10 is proposed to be revised to state that "Express Mail" must be addressed as set out in § 1.1(a). The title of section 1.10 is proposed to be revised to reflect this change. Further, for all correspondence actually received in the Office, the Office will consider the correspondence filed on the date shown by the "date in" notation on the "Express Mail" label unless the "date in" is a Saturday, Sunday or Federal holiday within the District of Columbia. Because of the reliance on the "date in" marked by the Postal Service, correspondence should be deposited directly with a person at the United States Postal Service, rather than in a drop box, to ensure that the person making the deposit receives a copy of the "Express Mail" label at the time of making the deposit to verify that the "date in" is accurately and clearly written by the Postal Service employee. Persons using an Express mail receptacle (such as a drop box) do so at the risk of not receiving an accurate and legible copy of the Express mail label at the time of deposit from which the Office may determine the "Express mail" "date in," and, therefore, may not later argue that they should be entitled to the date on which they deposited the correspondence into a receptacle. Moreover, if the "date in" is found to be illegible or unclear, a person dealing directly with a Postal Service employee must take corrective action to ensure that a clear and accurate date is marked at the time of deposit. Persons choosing to use a receptacle (or the like) obviously do not oversee the marking by a Postal Service employee and thus may not later argue for the benefit of a section 1.10 filing date if the "date in" on the "Express Mail" label is improperly or not clearly marked. The determinative factor is when the Postal Service marks the "date in" and the mere deposit into a receptacle does not entitle one to an "Express Mail" "date in" under section 1.10.

Paragraph (b) of section 1.10 is proposed to be amended by deleting the requirement for a "Certificate of Mailing by Express Mail" currently necessary to obtain the benefit of the date of deposit with the United States Postal Service (U.S.P.S.) express mail service as the filing date of the paper.

Paragraph (c) of section 1.10 is proposed to be amended to set forth the requirements for the treatment of correspondence not received by the Office for which the "Express Mail" procedure was utilized. Correspondence not received by the Office will be considered filed in the Office on the date shown by the "date in" notation entered by the Postal Service if the party who forwards the correspondence:

(1) Places the number of the "Express Mail" mailing label on the correspondence prior to the original mailing by "Express Mail,"

(2) Informs the Office of the previous deposit of the correspondence promptly after becoming aware that the Office has no evidence of receipt of the correspondence,

(3) Supplies an additional copy of the previously deposited correspondence showing the number of the "Express Mail" label thereon,

(4) Supplies a copy of the "Express Mail" label clearly displaying the "date in" entered by the United States Postal Service, and

(5) Includes a statement which establishes, to the satisfaction of the Commissioner, the previous deposit and that the copies of the correspondence and "Express Mail" label are true copies of the original correspondence and "Express Mail" label. Such statement must be on the basis of personal knowledge, whenever possible, and must be a verified statement if made by a person other than a practitioner as defined in section 10.1(r) of this chapter.

In addition, although the requirement for a certificate of express mail has been proposed to be eliminated from section 1.10, applicants are strongly encouraged to continue using the certificate of express mail, as well as the placement of the Express Mail label number in the upper right corner of the first page of each separate piece of correspondence and to retain a clearly marked Express Mail label, to facilitate complying with the requirements of paragraph (c) if the correspondence is not received in the Office or if reliance on the U.S.P.S. "date in" is not possible. Moreover, paragraph (d) is proposed to be added so that additional evidence may be required if the Office so determines.

Section 5.33 (entitled "Correspondence") is proposed to be amended to change the correspondence address to "Assistant Commissioner for Patents (Attention: Licensing and Review), Washington, D.C. 20231."

Section 10.23(c)(9) is proposed to be revised to reflect the proposed change to section 1.10 that the certificate of mailing by "Express Mail" is no longer a requirement of the rules.

OTHER CONSIDERATIONS

The proposed rule changes are in conformity with the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), Executive Order 12612, and the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq. Information collection requirements are not affected by the change of address. This proposed rule has been determined to not be significant for the purposes of Executive Order 12866.

The Office has determined that this proposed rule change has no Federalism implications affecting the relationship between the National Government and the States as outlined in Executive Order 12612.

The Assistant General Counsel for Legislation and Regulation of the Department of Commerce has certified to the Chief Counsel for Advocacy, Small Business Administration, that the proposed rule changes would not have a significant impact on a substantial number of small entities (Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 605(b)). The proposed rule change has no effect on patent fees.

These proposed rule changes contain collections of information subject to the requirements of the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq., which are currently approved by the Office of Management and Budget under Control No. 0651-0009 and 0651-0031. The public reporting burden for these collections of information for certificate of mailing is estimated to average six minutes per response, including the time for reviewing instructions, searching existing data sources, gathering and maintaining the data needed, and completing and reviewing the collection of information. Send comments regarding this burden estimate or any other aspect of this collection of information, including suggestions for reducing this burden to the Office of System Quality and Enhancement Division, Patent and Trademark Office, Washington, D.C. 20231, and to the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs, Office of Management and Budget, Washington, D.C. 20503. (ATTN: Paperwork Reduction Act Projects 0651-0009 and 0651-0031).

3. Section 1.3 is proposed to be revised to read as follows:

§ 1.3 Business to be conducted with decorum and courtesy.

Applicants and their attorneys or agents are required to conduct their business with the Patent and Trademark Office with decorum and courtesy. Papers presented in violation of this requirement will be submitted to the Commissioner and will be returned by the Commissioner's direct order. Complaints against examiners and other employees must be made in correspondence separate from other papers.

4. Section 1.5(a) is proposed to be revised to read as follows:

§ 1.5 Identification of application, patent, or registration.

(a) No correspondence relating to an application should be filed prior to when notification of the application number is received from the Patent and Trademark Office. When a letter directed to the Patent and Trademark Office concerns a previously filed application for a patent, it must identify on the top page in a conspicuous location, the application number (consisting of the series code and the serial number; e.g., 07/123,456), or the serial number and filing date assigned to that application by the Patent and Trademark Office, or the international application number of the international application. Any correspondence not containing such identification will be returned to the sender where a return address is available. The returned correspondence will be accompanied with a cover letter which will indicate to the sender that if the returned correspondence is resubmitted to the Patent and Trademark Office within two weeks of the mail date on the cover letter, the original date of receipt of the correspondence will be considered by the Patent and Trademark Office as the date of receipt of the correspondence. Applicants may use either the Certificate of Mailing or Transmission procedure under § 1.8 or the Express Mail procedure under § 1.10 for resubmissions of returned correspondence if they desire to have the benefit of the date of deposit in the United States Postal Service. If the returned correspondence is not resubmitted within the two-week period, the date of receipt of the resubmission will be considered to be the date of receipt of the correspondence. The two-week period to resubmit the returned correspondence will not be extended. If for some reason returned correspondence is resubmitted with proper identification later than two weeks after the return mailing by the Patent and Trademark Office, the resubmitted correspondence will be accepted but given its date of receipt. In addition to the application number, all letters directed to the Patent and Trademark Office concerning applications for patent should also state the name of the applicant, the title of the invention, the date of filing the same, and, if known, the group art unit or other unit within the Patent and Trademark Office responsible for considering the letter and the name of the examiner or other person to which it has been assigned.

5. Section 1.8(a)(1)(i)(A) is proposed to be revised to read as follows:

(h) A "Federal holiday within the District of Columbia" as used in this chapter means any day, except Saturdays and Sundays, when the Patent and Trademark Office is officially closed for business.

7. Section 1.10 is proposed to be revised to read as follows:

§ 1.10 Filing of correspondence by "Express Mail."

(a) Any correspondence received by the Patent and Trademark Office utilizing the "Express Mail Post Office to Addressee" service of the United States Postal Service will be considered filed in the Office on the date shown by the "date in" notation entered by the United States Postal Service on the "Express Mail" label, unless the "date in" is a Saturday, Sunday or Federal holiday within the District of Columbia. See § 1.6(a). This procedure can be used to file any correspondence in the Office.

(b) Any correspondence filed by "Express Mail" must be addressed as set out in § 1.1(a) and should be deposited directly with the United States Postal Service to ensure that the person depositing the correspondence receives a copy of the "Express Mail" label at the time of deposit with the "date in" clearly marked thereon. Persons dealing indirectly with the United States Postal Service (such as by deposit in an Express Mail drop box) do so at the risk of not receiving their copy of the "Express Mail" label with the "date in" clearly marked.

(c) Any correspondence mailed to the Patent and Trademark Office utilizing the "Express Mail Post Office to Addressee" service of the United States Postal Service, but not received by the Office, will be considered filed in the Office on the date shown by the "date in" notation entered by the United States Postal Service on the "Express Mail" label, unless the "date in" is a Saturday, Sunday or Federal holiday within the District of Columbia (see § 1.6(a)), if the party who forwarded such correspondence:

(1) Places the number of the "Express Mail" mailing label on the correspondence prior to the original mailing by "Express Mail,"

(2) Informs the Office of the previous deposit of the correspondence promptly after becoming aware that the Office has no evidence of receipt of the correspondence,

(3) Supplies a copy of the previously deposited correspondence showing the number of the "Express Mail" label thereon,

(4) Supplies a copy of the "Express Mail" label clearly displaying the "date in" entered by the United States Postal Service, and

(5) Includes a statement which establishes, to the satisfaction of the Commissioner, to the previous deposit and that the copies of the correspondence and "Express Mail" label are true copies of the original correspondence and "Express Mail" label. Such statement must be on the basis of personal knowledge, whenever possible, and must be a verified statement if made by a person other than a practitioner as defined in § 10.1(r) of this chapter.

(d) The Office may require additional evidence to determine if the correspondence was deposited as "Express Mail" with the United States Postal Service on the date in question.

Part 5 - SECRECY OF CERTAIN INVENTIONS AND LICENSES TO EXPORT AND FILE APPLICATIONS IN FOREIGN COUNTRIES

8. The authority citation for 37 CFR Part 5 continues to read as follows:

(10) Identifying Application Correspondence With Issue Batch Number

Applicants or their attorney or agent can facilitate matching incoming papers with the corresponding application file by indicating the Issue Batch Number on all papers filed in the Office after receiving the Notice of Allowance and before the time the Issue Fee Receipt is received.

The Issue Batch Number is printed on the Notice of Allowance form in Box 4 in the lower left-hand corner below the address. The Issue Batch Number consists of a capital letter followed by two digits, for example; "A03," "D18," "F42," "J79." Any lower case letters before the Issue Batch Number should be ignored since they are the typist's initials. Use of the Issue Batch Numbers is important since the allowed applications are filed by these numbers.

Any paper filed after receiving the Issue Fee Receipt should include the indicated patent number rather than the Issue Batch Number. At this time in the processing, the Issue Batch Number is no longer useful since the application has been removed from the batch at the time the patent number was assigned.

(11) Post Card Receipt Reminder

Applicants and the agents are reminded of the provision in Section 717.01(a) (now Section 503) of the Manual of Patent Examining Procedure relating to the use of post cards as "receipts" of papers filed in the Patent Office.

If a receipt for any paper filed in the Patent Office is desired, it may be had by enclosing with the paper a self-addressed post card identifying the paper. The Patent Office will stamp the receipt date on the card and place it in the outgoing mail.

The identifying data on the card should be so complete as to match the paper with the application or other document to which it is to be associated. For example, the document should be identified by the applicant's name(s), Serial No., filing date, appeal number, interference number, etc., and the paper should be identified by specifying the type thereof, viz, affidavit, amendment, appeal, application papers, brief, drawings, fees, motions, supplemental oath or declaration, petition, etc.

When papers for more than one document are filed under a single cover a return post card should be attached to the paper for each document for which a receipt is desired.

(12) Acknowledgement of Receipt of a Patent or Trademark Application

When early notification of the serial number of newly filed application papers is desired, a stamped, self-addressed post card should be submitted with each application. Immediately after the mail has been opened in the Patent and Trademark Office, the post card will be stamped with both the receipt date and the serial number, and then returned to the addressee.

Within recent months, hundreds of cards could not be successfully returned because of insufficient postage or incomplete or nonexistent forwarding addresses. Accurate and complete addresses, including ZIP codes, are necessary to ensure prompt acknowledgement of the receipt of patent and trademark applications.

To assist in easy identification once the post card has been returned, it is suggested that the post card include applicant's names and title of invention.

When more than one set of application papers is filed under one cover, a return post card should be attached to each set of papers for which a receipt is desired.

(13) Waiver of Certificate of Mailing Requirement Under 37 CFR 1.10

The Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) will propose to amend 37 CFR 1.10, regarding the "Filing of papers and fees by 'Express Mail' with certificate" by, among other things, deleting the requirement for a "Certificate of Mailing by Express Mail" currently necessary to obtain the benefit of the date of deposit with the United States Postal Service (U.S.P.S.) as the filing date of the paper.

Background of 37 CFR 1.10 and Rationale for Amendment

35 U.S.C. § 21 authorizes the Commissioner "by rule [to] prescribe that any paper or fee required to be filed in the Patent and Trademark Office will be considered filed in the Office on the date on which it was deposited with the United States Postal Service." 37 CFR 1.10 was promulgated to implement this provision.

Pursuant to 37 CFR 1.6, papers are stamped with the date of receipt in the PTO. An exception is made for papers filed in accordance with 37 CFR 1.10, which provides for the filing of papers and fees by Express Mail with a certificate. However, in order to claim the benefits of 37 CFR 1.10, a party must comply with its specific requirements that the papers have the number of the Express Mail label placed thereon prior to mailing, be properly addressed to the PTO (see "Change of Address For Trademark Applications and Trademark Related Papers," 1163 TMOG 80 (June 28, 1994), which waived 37 CFR 1.10 to the extent that certain trademark related papers could be addressed to the Assistant Commissioner for Trademarks, 2900 Crystal Drive, Arlington, Va. 22202-3513; and "Change of Address For Patent Applications and Patent Related Papers," 1173 OG 13 (April 4, 1995), which waived 37 CFR 1.10 to the extent that patent related papers could be addressed to the Assistant Commissioner for Patents, Washington, D.C. 20231), and include a Certificate of Mailing by Express Mail which states the date of mailing and is signed by the person mailing the papers.

37 CFR 1.10 was promulgated in response to concerns that mail service was sometimes subject to delay and, except for hand-delivery, that there was no way to ensure the timely filing of time-critical documents with the PTO. "Express Mail" was chosen because, among other things, a person other than the filer, that is a disinterested third party working for the U.S.P.S., enters the date of deposit on the Express Mail label.

Under the current rule, the filer is required to include a Certificate of Mailing by Express Mail, certifying the date of deposit as Express Mail. Some papers filed with the PTO, although deposited as Express Mail with the U.S.P.S., have been denied the filing date of the date of deposit as Express Mail because the required Certificate of Mailing by Express Mail was omitted or deficient. The lost filing date for a significant number of these papers has resulted in the loss of substantive rights. For example, a trademark registration may be canceled if the required affidavit of continued use or excusable non-use is not filed by the end of the sixth year of registration. 15 U.S.C. § 1058.

In light of the problematic nature of the requirement for a Certificate of Mailing by Express Mail and its apparent redundancy in purpose, inasmuch as the date of deposit has already been entered by a disinterested third party, the PTO will propose to delete this requirement from 37 CFR 1.10.

This notice applies only to correspondence actually received (not to papers lost or misplaced by the U.S.P.S.) at the PTO via Express Mail Post Office to Addressee service where there is a clear indication of the "date in" on the Express Mail label by the U.S.P.S. Filers are encouraged to continue the practice of placing a Certificate of Mailing by Express Mail on papers filed in the PTO by Express Mail since, in some cases, the certificate may provide useful evidence.

Interim Waiver of 37 CFR 1.10 for Documents Filed without Certificate of Express Mail

Because a significant period of time will elapse before any final rule change can be promulgated, and because there appears to be no harmful consequence to any party, effective as of the publication date of this notice, the PTO will, sua sponte, waive 37 CFR 1.10 to the extent of granting a filing date as of the "date in" entered on the Express Mail label by the U.S.P.S. employee (unless the "date in" is a Saturday, Sunday or Federal holiday within the District of Columbia; see § 1.6(a)) for all papers actually received at the PTO via Express Mail, regardless of whether the requirement for a Certificate of Mailing by Express Mail has been met provided all other requirements of 37 CFR 1.10 are met.

For all papers filed prior to the date of this notice, which were not in compliance with the Certificate of Mailing by Express Mail requirements under 37 CFR 1.10, a petition to the Commissioner will be required to request that the date of deposit as shown by the "date in" entered on the Express Mail label be accorded as the filing date of the paper. The petition should include a copy of the Express Mail label showing the "date in" entered by the U.S.P.S. employee and a declaration attesting to the contents of the envelope to which the Express Mail label was attached. See 37 CFR 1.183 or 2.146.

Summary

In summary, the PTO is waiving, sua sponte, the requirement of 37 CFR 1.10 for a Certificate of Mailing by Express Mail and will propose to amend 37 CFR 1.10 to delete the requirement for a Certificate of Mailing by Express Mail. This waiver becomes effective upon the publication of this notice. For all documents filed by Express Mail prior to this notice, but not in compliance with the Certificate of Mailing by Express Mail requirement, a petition to the Commissioner under either 37 CFR 1.183 or 2.146 must be filed to request that the date of deposit as shown by the "date in" entered on the Express Mail label be accorded as the filing date of the paper.

(14) Information in Oath/Declaration Necessary to Identify the Specification for an Application filed under 35 USC 111 in Accordance with 37 CFR 1.63

This notice supersedes the previous notice published at 1035 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 3 on September 12, 1983, and is intended to make it easier for an applicant(s) to comply with the identification requirement of 37 CFR 1.63.

37 CFR 1.63 requires that an oath or declaration identify the specification to which it is directed. The declaration form suggested by the Office includes spaces for filling in the names of the inventors, title of invention, application number, filing date, foreign priority application information and United States priority application information. While this information should be provided, it is not essential that all of these spaces be filled in order to adequately identify the specification in compliance with 37 CFR 1.63(a)(2).

The following combinations of information supplied in an oath or declaration filed on the application filing date with a specification are acceptable as minimums for identifying a specification and compliance with any one of the items below will be accepted as complying with the identification requirement of 37 CFR 1.63:

(1) name of inventor(s), and reference to an attached specification which is both attached to the oath or declaration at the time of execution and submitted with the oath or declaration on filing;

(2) name of inventor(s), and attorney docket number which was on the specification as filed; or

(3) name of inventor(s), and title which was on the specification as filed.

Filing dates are now granted on applications filed without an oath or declaration in compliance with 37 CFR 1.63, the oath or declaration being filed later with a surcharge. The following combinations of information supplied in an oath or declaration filed after the filing date are acceptable as minimums for identifying a specification and compliance with any one of the items below will be accepted as complying with the identification requirement of 37 CFR 1.63:

(1) name of inventor(s), and application number (consisting of the series code and the serial number; e.g.,08/123,456);

(2) name of inventor(s), serial number and filing date;

(3) name of inventor(s) and attorney docket number which was on the specification as filed;

(4) name of inventor(s), title which was on the specification as filed and filing date;

(5) name of inventor(s), title which was on the specification as filed and reference to an attached specification which is both attached to the oath or declaration at the time of execution and submitted with the oath or declaration; or

(6) name of inventor(s), title which was on the specification as filed and accompanied by a cover letter accurately identifying the application for which it was intended by either the application number (consisting of the series code and the serial number; e.g.,08/123,456), or serial number and filing date. Absent any statement(s) to the contrary, it will be presumed that the application filed in the PTO is the application which the inventor(s) executed by signing the oath or declaration.

Any specification that is filed attached to an oath or declaration on a date later than the application filing date will not be compared with the specification submitted on filing. Absent any statement(s) to the contrary, the "attached" specification will be presumed to be a copy of the specification and any amendments thereto which were filed in the Office in order to obtain a filing date for the application.

Any variance from the above guidelines will only be considered upon the filing of a petition for waiver of the rules under 37 CFR 1.183 accompanied by a petition fee (37 CFR 1.17(h)).

Further, an oath or declaration attached to a cover letter referencing an incorrect application may not become associated with the correct application and, therefore, could result in the abandonment of the correct application.

Supplemental oaths or declarations in accordance with 37 CFR 1.67 will be required in applications in which the oaths or declarations are not in compliance with the other requirements of 37 CFR 1.63 but contain sufficient information to identify the specifications to which they apply as detailed above.

A copy, such as a photocopy or facsimile transmission, of an originally executed oath or declaration is acceptable and may be filed. In the event that a copy of the original is filed, the original should be retained as evidence of authenticity. If a question of authenticity arises, the Patent and Trademark Office may require submission of the original. See 37 CFR 1.4(d)(2).

See MPEP § 1896 for the identification requirements for a declaration filed in a U.S. national stage application filed under 35 USC 371.

These changes will appear in MPEP § 601.01 in the next revision of the Manual.

(15) Handling of Status Inquiries

This notice is intended to supplement the discussion set forth in the Official Gazette Notice published at 893 Official Gazette 810 entitled "Status Inquires" (Dec. 21, 1971).

It has come to the attention of the Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) that its employees may have improperly released confidential information concerning pending applications. Specifically, issue date and patent number information assigned to pending applications may have been improperly released.

No information concerning pending or abandoned patent applications (except reissue applications and reexamination proceedings) may be given to the public by the PTO without the authorization of the applicant or the assignee or attorney or agent of record. 35 USC § 122 and 37 CFR § 1.14. Other exceptions are specified at 37 CFR § 1.14.

However, PTO employees will release information on the status of patent applications to the applicant or assignee or attorney or agent of record if the identity of the requestor can be adequately verified as set forth below.

Telephonic status inquiries should continue to be directed to the PTO clerical personnel. The PTO clerical personnel will obtain the caller's full name, the application serial number and the caller's telephone number. The PTO clerical personnel will ask the caller if there is an attorney or agent of record.

If there is an attorney or agent of record, the PTO clerical personnel will ask for his/her registration number. If the registration number is not known, the PTO clerical personnel will ask for the name of the attorney or agent of record. The PTO clerical personnel will inform the caller that an attorney or agent of record will be called after verification of his/her identity and that the requested status information concerning the application will be released to that attorney or agent.

If there is no attorney or agent of record, the PTO clerical personnel will ask the caller why he/she is entitled to information concerning the application. If the caller identifies himself/Herself as an applicant or an authorized representative of the assignee of record, the PTO clerical personnel will ask for the correspondence address of record. Then, the PTO clerical personnel will inform caller that his/her association with the application must be verified before any information concerning the application can be released, and that he/she will be called back. If the caller indicates that he/she is not an applicant or an authorized representative of the assignee of record, the PTO clerical personnel will inform caller that no information concerning that application will be released.

The PTO clerical personnel will then verify the identity of any caller claiming to be associated with the application by checking the Patent Application Locating and Monitoring (PALM) system or the application file.

If an attorney or agent is of record in the application, the PTO clerical personnel will release the status information concerning the application by calling the attorney's or agent's telephone number obtained from PALM or the application file.

If the applicant or an authorized representative of the assignee of record requests information, and there is no attorney or agent of record and the correspondence of record has been verified, the PTO clerical personnel will release the status information to the caller using the telephone number given by the caller. If the caller's association with the application cannot be verified, no information concerning the application will be released. However, the caller should be informed that the caller's association with the application could not be verified.

In handling an in-person status request, PTO clerical personnel will ask the requester to wait while verifying their identification as set forth above.

(22) Iraqi Sanctions Regulations

On January 18, 1991, the Department of the Treasury, Office of Foreign Assets Control (OFAC), published the Iraqi Sanctions Regulations (Regulations) (31 CFR Part 575). 56 Fed. Reg. 2112. The regulations implement Executive Orders 12722 (August 2, 1990) and 12724 (August 9, 1990) relating to certain property and transactions in which the Government of Iraq and persons in Iraq may have an interest.

It appears that the provisions of the Executive Orders and Regulations prohibit transactions relating to the filing or prosecution of applications for patents or for registration of trademarks, where an Iraqi interest is involved. The prohibited transactions, however, may be authorized by a specific license issued pursuant to the proceedures described in Section 575.801 of Subpart H of the Regulations.

This notice is intended to alert practitioners and applicants to the prohibitions which may apply to matters before the Patent and Trademark Office, (PTO) if Iraqi interests are involved. This notice is further intended to advise that where such interests or potential interests come to the attention of the PTO, an appropriate specific license from OFAC may be required.

RIN 0651-AA43

Changes in Patent and Trademark Assignment Practice

Action: Final Rule.
Summary: The Patent and Trademark Office (Office) is amending the rules of practice regarding assignments in patent and trademark cases to improve and clarify the rules, to codify changes in practice and to consolidate the rules. The Office has combined the assignment rules currently in Parts 1 and 2 into a new Part 3 directed to assignments.
Effective Date: Sept. 4, 1992. These rules will be applicable to all documents filed with the Office on or after the effective date.
For Further Information Contact: Trademark related matters: Lynne Beresford by telephone at (703) 305-9464 or by mail marked to her attention addressed to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231.
Patent related matters: Jeffrey V. Nase by telephone at (703) 305-9282 or by mail marked to his attention and addressed to

Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Box DAC, Washington, D.C. 20231.
Supplementary Information: In a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking published in the Federal Register on May 10, 1991 at 56 FR 21641 and in the Patent and Trademark Office "Official Gazette" of June 4, 1991 at 1127 O.G. 8-16, the Office proposed to amend the rules of practice in patent and trademark cases to revise, simplify, remove, or clarify existing assignment rules or to codify certain practices currently in effect. Changes were proposed for rules relating to the documents that will be recorded, to the requirements for recording a document, to the effect of recording, to new cover sheet requirements, to the appointment of domestic representatives; and to prosecution by assignees and issuance to assignees. While the existing rules do not require a cover sheet to accompany each document submitted for recording, typically a cover letter is submitted to ensure proper processing of the document.

The Office has encouraged the public to use a cover letter containing specific information concerning the document being submitted with each document submitted for recording. See "Helpful Hints", 1114 Official Gazette 77 (May 29, 1990). The public has adopted the suggested procedure to such an extent that most documents now submitted for recordation are accompanied by a cover letter which contains the suggested data. Documents submitted with these cover letters have enabled the Office to greatly improve the quality and efficiency of the recording process. To better ensure that the correct data is captured in recordation and recorded promptly, the Office is making a cover sheet mandatory. The cover sheet will contain all the information necessary for the Assignment Branch to properly and promptly process the document.

Written comments were submitted by 12 firms, 2 individuals, 4 corporationsand 1 organization. No one testified at the oral hearing held on July 17, 1991.

The following includes a brief discussion of the rules being changed and the reasons for those changes, a detailed section-by-section analysis of the final rules, and an analysis of the comments received in response to the notice of proposed rulemaking.
Specific Rules to be Deleted or Added: The existing rules of practice in Parts 1 and 2 of Title 37 of the Code of Federal Regulations which are deleted are §§ 1.32, 1.331, 1.332, 1.333, 1.334, 2.185, 2.186 and 2.187. These rules are deleted in their entirety and rewritten and renumbered under a new Part 3. Table 1 is provided to assist readers in correlating previous rules with the new rules.

Consideration was given to moving § 1.12 (Assignment records open to public inspection.) to Part 3. However, since this section primarily relates to records maintained by the Office and procedures for accessing those records, and no comments were received regarding the placement of § 1.12, this section remains under the general heading "Records and Files" of the Patent and Trademark Office.
Discussion of Specific Rules to be Changed or Added: Section 1.12(a) is revised to reflect the fact that all assignment records related to pre-1955 trademark records and pre-1957 patent records were transferred to the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) during 1990. All assignments recorded on or after January 1, 1955, for trademarks and May 1, 1957, for patents continue to be maintained by the Office. The pre-1955/1957 records have been transferred to NARA to allow for greater accessibility to the public, improvement of file integrity for the older records, and preservation of these materials. The pre-1955/1957 assignment cards, digest books, and libers were stored in four locations: the Assignment Search Room (ASR) at the Office, the Federal Records Center in Suitland, Maryland, the National Archives in downtown Washington, D.C., and the National Archives location in Alexandria, Virginia. Storage of information in these various locations made searching of old assignment records difficult. The materials located at the Federal Records Center could be ordered from the ASR. However, many times it took months to receive the materials.

All assignment records from 1837 to December 31, 1954, for trademarks and from 1837 to April 30, 1957, for patents are now maintained and are open for public inspection in the National Archives Research Room located at the Washington National Records Center Building, 4205 Suitland Road, Suitland, Maryland 20746. Assignments recorded before 1837 aremaintained at the National Archives and Records Administration, 841 South Pickett Street, Alexandria, Virginia 22304.

All requests for abstracts of title continue to be provided by the Office upon request and payment of fees set forth in §§ 1.19 and 2.6. Requests for copies and certified copies of the pre-1955 records for trademarks and pre-1957 records for patents should be directed to NARA since those records are not maintained by the Office. Since these records are maintained by NARA, it is more expeditious to request copies directly from NARA, rather than the Office, which would then have to route the requests to NARA. Payment of the fees required by NARA should accompany all requests for copies.

Another change makes clear that separate assignment records are kept for patents and trademarks, and that an extra charge will be imposed by the Office on requests for copies of recorded assignments if the correct reel and frame number are not identified.

Sections 1.17 and 1.46 are amended to make reference to § 3.81, which replaces § 1.334, and delete reference to § 1.334. The amount of the fee for recording a document is not affected by this rule change.

Section 1.104(e) is amended to make reference to Part 3, which replaces § 1.331, and delete reference to § 1.331.

Section 3.1 is added to set out definitions of terms used in Part 3. Terms which are defined include "application," "assignment," "document," "Office" (meaning Patent and Trademark Office), "recorded document," and "registration." Definitions are provided to make clear the intended meanings of the terms used in Part 3. These definitions are intended to be applicable only to Part 3. For example, the term "application" is defined, for the purpose of Part 3, to mean a national application for patent, an international application for patent that designates the United States of America, or an application to register a trademark, unless otherwise indicated.

Section 3.11 replaces and modifies the practice set forth in§ 1.331(a) and 2.185(a), which specify the documents the Office will record. This section specifies that assignments of patents and registrations will be recorded, as well as other documents which affect title to applications, registrations and patents. Section 3.11 requires that a completed cover sheet as specified in §§ 3.28 and 3.31 be submitted with the document to be recorded.

Section 3.16 is added to incorporate the limitation set out in 15 U.S.C. § 1060 proscribing the assignment of an intent-to-use trademark application prior to the filing of a statement of use, except as a part of the sale of an on-going business. Because the rules in Part 3 are intended to address all rules relating to assignments, it is appropriate to refer to the statutory requirements of an assignment of an intent-to-use trademark application.

Section 3.21 replaces and modifies the practice of § 1.331(c). Section 3.21 sets forth requirements for the identification of patents or patent applications in documents submitted for recording. An assignment relating to a patent must identify the patent by number. The name of the inventor, the issue date, and title of the invention as stated in the patent may also be given in the assignment to provide additional information on the patent being assigned. An assignment relating to a national patent application must identify the national patent application by application number (consisting of the series code and the serial number, e.g., 07/123,456) or serial number and filing date. An assignment relating to an international patent application which designates the United States of America must identify the international application number (e.g., PCT/US90/01234). The name of the inventor, date of filing, and title of the invention as stated in the patent application may also be given in the assignment. If an assignment is executed concurrently with, or subsequent to, the execution of the patent application, but before the patent application is filed, it must identify the patent application by its date of execution, name of each inventor, and title of the invention so that there can be no mistake as to the patent application intended. Assignments submitted for recording that do not identify the patent or patent application as required by this section will not be recorded, but will be returned to the correspondence address that is required to be provided on the cover sheet by § 3.31(e).

Section 3.24 is added to set out formal document requirements to facilitate and expedite the recording process. This section requires that documents, either the original or a true copy of the original, submitted for recording be legible, using only one side of each page. The paper used should be flexible, white, durable, and preferably no larger than 21.6 x 33.1 cm. (8 x 14 inches), with a 2.5 cm. (one-inch) margin on all sides. Documents submitted in this form are camera-ready and can be recorded expeditiously with little additional handling required. Documents that fail to meet the legibility and single-sided paper requirements of this section will be returned as set forth in 3.51.

Section 3.26 replaces and modifies the practice of §§ 1.331(b) and 2.185(a)(2). Section 3.26 provides that the Office will accept and record non-English documents provided they are accompanied by a verified English translation signed by the translator. Documents submitted that fail to meet the requirements of this section will be returned as set forth in § 3.51.

Section 3.27 is added to set out how documents submitted for recording should be addressed to the Office. To ensure prompt and proper processing, documents and their cover sheets should be addressed to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Box Assignments, Washington, D.C. 20231, unless they are filed together with new applications or with a petition under § 3.81(b). Petitions under § 3.81(b) should be addressed to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Box DAC, Washington, D.C. 20231. New applications and other petitions should be addressed to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231.

Section 3.28 is added to set out the requirement that all documents submitted to the Office for recording be accompanied by at least one coversheet referring either to the patent applications and patents or to the trademark applications and registrations against which the document is to be recorded. Only one set of documents and cover sheets to be recorded should be filed. If a document to be recorded includes interests in, or transactions involving, both patents and trademarks, separate patent and trademark coversheets must be submitted. If a document to be recorded is not accompanied by a completed cover sheet, the document and any incomplete cover sheet will bereturned to the correspondence address for proper completion of the cover sheet and resubmission of the cover sheet and document. While the previous rules did not require a cover sheet to accompany each document submitted for recording, typically a cover letter is submitted to ensure proper processing of the document. The Office is making a cover sheet mandatory in order to betterensure prompt and proper processing of all documents submitted for recording. The cover sheet contains all the information necessary for the Office toprocess the document.

Section 3.31 is added to set out the formal requirements of the cover sheet. Section 3.31 requires that each patent or trademark cover sheet must contain (1) the name of the party conveying the interest; (2) the name and address of the party receiving the interest; (3) a brief description of the interest conveyed or transaction to be recorded (e.g., assignment, license, change of name, merger, security agreement, etc.); (4) each application number, patent number or registration number against which the document is to be recorded, or an indication that the document is filed together with a patent application; (5) the name and address of the party to whom correspondence concerning the document to be recorded should be mailed; (6) the number of applications, patents or registrations identified in the cover sheet and the total fee; (7) the date the document was executed; (8) an indication that the assignee of a trademark application or registration who is not domiciled in the United States has designated a domestic representative; (9) a statement by the party submitting the document that to the best of the person's knowledge and belief, the information contained on the cover sheet is true and correct, and (10) the signature of the party submitting the document. The term "party" as used in this rule means the person whose name appears on the documents to be recorded, that person's attorney or registered agent, or a corporate officer where a corporation's name appears on the document. Sample cover sheets for patent documents and for trademark documents are shown in Appendices A and B.

Section 3.34 is added to set out the procedure to correct obvious errors in a recorded cover sheet. This section requires that if a recorded cover sheet contains an error that is apparent when the cover sheet is compared with the recorded document, the error will be corrected only if a corrected cover sheet is filed for recordation. The corrected cover sheet must be accompanied by the originally-recorded document or a copy of the originally-recorded document and by a new assignment recording fee in the appropriate amount.

Section 3.41 replaces and consolidates practice under §§ 1.331(a) and 2.185(a)(3) regarding recording fees. Section 3.41 requires that all requests to record documents be accompanied by the appropriate fee. A fee is charged for each application, patent and registration identified in the cover sheet. The recording fee for patents and patent applications is specified in § 1.21(h). The recording fee for trademark registrations and applications is specified in § 2.6(q).

Section 3.51 replaces and modifies the practice of §§ 1.332 and 2.185(c). Section 3.51 sets the date of recording of a document as the date the document meeting the requirements for recording set forth in this Part is filed in the Office. A document which does not comply with the identification requirements of § 3.21 will not be recorded. For documents not accepted for recording, parties can petition under 37 CFR §§ 1.181 and 2.146(a). Other documents not meeting the requirements for recording, for example, a document submitted without a completed cover sheet, without the required fee, or without any required translation, will be returned for correction to the sender when a return address is available. The returned papers, stamped with the official date of receipt in the Office, will be accompanied by a letter indicating that if the returned papers are corrected and resubmitted to the Office within time specified in the letter, the Office will consider the original date of filing of the papers as the date of recording of the papers. Submitters can use the certificate procedure under either § 1.8 or § 1.10 for resubmissions of returned papers if they desire to have the benefit of the date of deposit in the United States Postal Service. If the returned papers are not corrected and resubmitted within the specified period, the date of filing of the corrected papers will be considered to be the date of recording of the papers. Extensions of time will not be available to extend the specified period to resubmit the returned papers.

Section 3.54 is added to set out the effect of recording a document. This section states that the recording of a document is not a determination by the Office of the validity of the document or the effect that document has on the title to an application, a patent, or a registration. The Office will determine, when necessary, what effect a document has, including whether a party has the authority to take an action in a matter pending before the Office. Examples of when the Office will need to determine whether a party has the authority to take an action in a matter pending before the Office include: (1) prosecution by the assignee as in § 3.71; (2) consent of an assignee to the filing of a reissue application as provided in § 1.172; and (3) execution of a disclaimer under § 1.321 by an assignee.

Section 3.56 replaces and modifies the practice of § 1.333. Section 3.56 provides that an assignment, which at the time of its execution is conditional on a given act or event, will be treated by the Office as an absolute assignment. This section serves as notification as to how a conditional assignment will be treated by the Office in any proceeding requiring a determination of the owner of an application, patent or registration. Since the Office will not determine whether a condition has been fulfilled, the Office will treat the submission of such an assignment for recordation as signifying that the act or event has occurred.

Section 3.61 replaces and modifies the practice of § 2.185(a)(4). Section 3.61 sets forth that an assignee of a trademark application or registration not domiciled in the United States must designate a domestic representative in writing to the Office. Assignees of patent applications or patents may designate domestic representatives if the assignee is not residing in the United States. 35 U.S.C. § 293. The designation is required to state the name and address of a person residing within the United States on whom may be served process or notice of proceedings affecting the application, patent or registration or rights thereunder.

Section 3.71 replaces and modifies the practice of §§ 1.32 and 2.186. Section 3.71 sets forth that the assignee of record of the entire right, title and interest in an application for patent is entitled to conduct the prosecution of the patent application to the exclusion of the named inventor. Similarly, the assignee of an application for registration is entitled to conduct the prosecution of the trademark application to the exclusion of the applicant.

Section 3.73 is added to set out the procedure by which an assignee can establish the right to take action in an application, patent or registration. The inventor is presumed to be the original owner of a patent application and any patent that may issue therefrom, unless there is an assignment. The original applicant is presumed to be the original owner of a trademark application and any registration that may issue therefrom, unless there is an assignment. Any action before the Office with respect to an assigned patent application, patent, or reexamination may be taken by the assignee of the entire right, title, and interest, provided ownership is established to the satisfaction of the Commissioner. The assignee may establish ownership by submitting to the Office documentary evidence of a chain of title from the original owner to the assignee or by specifying (e.g., reel and frame number, etc.) where such evidence is recorded in the Office. Additionally, when a patent assignee is not represented by an attorney or registered agent, a statement signed by the assignee must also be submitted stating the evidence has been reviewed and certifying that, to the best of the party's knowledge and belief, title is in the party seeking to take the action. Documents submitted to establish ownership may be required to be recorded in the Office as a condition to permitting the requesting party to take action in a matter pending before the Office. Any action before the Office with respect to an assigned trademark registration, application or post-registration matter, may be taken by the assignee provided ownership is established to the satisfaction of the Commissioner by recording an assignment to the assignee or by submitting other proof of the assignment.

Section 3.81 replaces and modifies the practice of § 1.334. Section 3.81 sets forth the procedure for issuance of a patent to an assignee. If an assignment of the entire right, title, and interest is recorded before the issue fee is paid for a patent application, the patent may issue in the name of the assignee. If the assignee holds an undivided part interest, the patent may issue jointly to the inventor and the assignee. At the time the issue fee is paid, the name of the assignee must be provided if the patent is to issue solely or jointly to that assignee. If the assignment is submitted for recording after the date of payment of the issue fee, but prior to issuance of the patent, the assignee may petition that the patent issue to the assignee. Any such petition must be accompanied by the fee set forth in § 1.17(i)(1).

Section 3.85 replaces and modifies the practice of § 2.187. Section 3.85 sets forth the procedure for issuance of a registration to an assignee. The certificate of registration may be issued to the assignee of the applicant, or in a new name of the applicant, provided that the party files a written request in the trademark application record by the time the application is being prepared for issuance of the certificate of registration, and an appropriate document is recorded in the Office. If the assignment or name change document has not been recorded in the Office, then the written request must state that the document has been filed for recordation. The address of the assignee must be made of record in the trademark application file.

Response to Comments on the Rules

The comments received in response to the notice of proposed rulemaking have been given careful consideration and a number of the suggested modifications have been adopted. The comments and responses are discussed below.

In this discussion, "Patent and Trademark Office" is abbreviated as "Office" or "PTO".

Comment: Two comments were received addressed to the overall rule package. One comment expressed concern over the potential confusion of instituting a new Part 3. It was suggested that Parts 1 and 2 be amended to contain the necessary changes. Another comment was concerned that the rules and specifically the new cover sheet requirement would impede promptness and accuracy of the recordation process.

Response: The Office has determined that the new rules will result in greater efficiency and accuracy in the recordation process and improve the integrity of the records maintained by the PTO. Further, the PTO believes that a new Part 3, containing all rules relating to assignments, will be beneficial to the majority of patent and trademark system users.

Comment: Section 3.1 was proposed to define "application" as an application for patent or an application to register a trademark. One comment questioned whether international applications filed under the Patent Cooperation Treaty were included in the definition of the word "application."

Two comments were received concerning the definition of "assignment." As proposed, § 3.1 defines "assignment" of a trademark in terms of a "trademark application" or "registration." The comments suggested that because Section 10 of the Trademark Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1060, speaks in terms of a "registered mark" or a "mark for which application to register has been filed," which was reflected in previous trademark rule 2.186, the different terminology may be construed to permit assignment of a trademark without assignment of the underlying goodwill.

Response: The wording of § 3.1 has been changed to include both national applications for patent and international applications that designate the United States in the term "application."

Also to avoid any potential confusion over the definition of a trademark assignment, the Office adopted the suggestion to reflect Section 10 of the Trademark Act and to refer to a "registered mark" or a "mark for which application to register has been filed" in its definition of assignment.

Comment: As proposed, § 3.16 provides that an application to register a mark under 15 U.S.C. § 1051(b) cannot be assigned before a statement of use is filed except to a successor to an ongoing business of the original applicant. One comment suggested § 3.16 be further amended to correct a legislative oversight and permit assignment of the application after an amendment to allege use is filed.

One other comment suggested the PTO define the statutory language "successor to the business of the applicant."

Response: As proposed, Rule 3.16 merely restates the statute. To permit the filing of an assignment to a successor to an ongoing business before an amendment to allege use has been filed would make the rule inconsistent with the statute.

As to the definition of "successor to the business of the applicant," it has been determined that in the absence of any statutory definition, it is better left to case law to establish the meaning. A business, or portion thereof, can be transferred or assigned in a variety of ways, and the question of valid ownership might arise in a variety of circumstances. For the PTO to define what constitutes a successor may be duly restrictive.

Accordingly, the suggested modifications have not been adopted.

Comment: Section 3.21, as proposed, provides that an assignment of a patent or patent application must be identified by number. One comment requested a further amendment to allow the filing of a patent assignment after filing an application for patent but before knowing the application number by allowing identification by the execution date, inventors and title of the invention instead of the application number.

Another comment suggested that assignments relating to trademark applications and registrations should also be required to have the identifying serial and registration numbers within the body of the assignment document.

One comment questioned whether the patent identification number was required in the document or whether the number could just appear on the cover sheet.

Response: Providing the identifying number in the assignment document allows for greater efficiency and accuracy in recording assignments. However, unlike patents, trademarks can have an indefinite life. Assignments may be recorded years after an assignment has occurred to clear up the chain of title. It may not be possible to execute a new assignment to include identifying numbers in the document years later. Accordingly, it is preferable for the PTO to be more flexible in recording trademark assignments which may contain the identifying number in the cover sheet rather than in the document itself. Because of the nature of a patent, less flexibility is permitted. Patent rights, unlike trademark rights, do not exist apart from the issued patent. Accordingly, when an interest in a patent is transferred, the patent identifying number must be in the assignment document. This requirement only applies to assignments, not to documents other than assignments.

The PTO makes every effort to provide applicants with the application numbers for newly-filed patent applications as soon as possible. It is suggested, however, that assignment documents may be written to allow entry of the identifying number after the execution of the assignment. An example of acceptable wording is: "I hereby authorize and request my attorney, (Insert name), of (Insert address), to insert here in parentheses (Application number_____, filed) the filing date and application number of said application when known."

Accordingly, the suggested modifications have not been adopted.

Comment: Section 3.24, as proposed, provides the formal requirements for the documents which are to be recorded and the cover sheet. Three comments stated that the one-side only requirement was unreasonable in light of PTO's issuance of two-sided patent and trademark copies and of the practices of other governments and corporations over which the submitter would have no control.

One comment requested clarification of "bond weight paper" and suggested the language used in the rules setting out drawing requirements be adopted.

One comment stated that the document size requirements should only pertain to documents prepared and executed by parties who wish to convey title.

Two comments questioned whether the PTO would permit the filing of copies or true copies in lieu of the original documents for recording.

Response: The formal requirements set out in § 3.24 are related to PTO's ability to capture on film papers filed with the PTO. The requirements are not related to the other printing or photocopying services PTO provides. Micrographics reproduction requires that only one side of each page be used for efficiency. If the original document is two-sided or the wrong size, the practitioner can comply with this requirement by providing a true copy of the original document using only one side of each page on the correct size paper. The language in § 3.24 has been changed to clarify that true copies or originals are acceptable. Further, the language describing the type of paper to be used has been changed to be consistent with the drawing requirement rules.

Comment: Section 3.28, as proposed, provides that all requests to record a document must be accompanied by the document to be recorded and at least one cover sheet. One comment expressed confusion over whether the document must be accompanied by a cover letter as well as a request for recording. One comment stated the requirement for a cover sheet did not help the PTO with the documents which are filed with applications and the commenter did not see the need for an additional paper included among the papers for a new application.

Response: The first sentence has been rewritten to clarify that only the document and a cover sheet(s) must be submitted. A separate request for recording is not required or needed. Because the cover sheet provides all pertinent information in one place, it will greatly assist the processing of assignments by the PTO. For those applications which are filed with an assignment, the additional cover sheet required for the assignment aids the processing of the assignment.

Comment: Numerous comments were received on the proposed cover sheet requirements of § 3.31. One comment questions whether the form or the contents of the form are being required and cautioned that the cover sheet should not become a technical obstacle to recordation.

Two comments claimed the cover sheet requirement would be burdensome and the documents recorded should speak for themselves.

Two comments objected to the requirement for the characterization of the interest being conveyed. One of the commentors indicated it was not the best evidence of what the interest is and may be misleading while the second comment or was concerned practitioners would be subject to malpractice claims and be made parties to litigation involving the transfer.

One comment stated that requiring the assignee's address was burdensome and excessive. Three comments questioned the lack of consistency between proposed subsections (a) and (b) of § 3.31 which requires only the name of the conveyor but both the name and address of the receiver.

Two comments stated that the language of the rule was unclear as to whether the list of properties within the assignment document should be retyped on the cover sheet, which would be burdensome and fraught with potential errors.

One comment was received suggesting that properties be identified with as much information as possible (i.e., serial number, patent number, filing date, inventors, etc.).

Four comments stated that the requirement for an execution date of the document is excessive and burdensome. One of the comments stated that the execution date may not be as important as the effective date of the document. One suggested the effective date would be more accurate and another suggested the document should speak for itself. One additional comment stated that a nunc pro tunc assignment of the substantive rights of an assignee or assignor may be unduly affected by the requirement for recitation of the execution date.

Nine comments were received objecting to the language of the proposed verification. Some comments recommended that the verification statement be deleted. Other comments recommended that the verification statement be based on "information and belief." The comments indicated (1) practitioners did not want to be held responsible for the information entered on the cover sheet, (2) there was no purpose served by signing the cover sheet because the documents should speak for themselves and (3) under 37 C.F.R. § 10.18, a registered practitioner's signature indicates that the filing is correct.

One comment suggested that proposed § 3.31(i) does not recognize the right of some non-lawyers to practice in trademark matters before the PTO.

Additionally, many comments and suggestions were received on the layout of the sample cover sheets.

Response: The proposed purpose of the cover sheet is to provide a synopsis of the vital information contained in a recorded document. The cover sheet form itself is not required, only the information outlined in § 3.31 is required. Use of the sample cover sheet formats appearing as Appendices A and B to the rule package is encouraged. The Office will make paper copies of the sample cover sheets available for customer use. Persons wishing to obtain paper copies of the sample cover sheets should contact the Public Service Center at (703) 305-HELP. Questions regarding the sample cover sheets should be directed to the Assignment and Certification Services Division at (703) 308-9700.

As indicated in the proposed rule package, a majority of documents presently filed for recording are accompanied by a cover letter containing much of the information required in § 3.31. The PTO does not believe standardization of the information submitted is an undue burden. Standardization ensures easy reference to all critical information. Further, the parties or their representatives are in a better position to know or ascertain the nature of the interest involved than the PTO. The document will always speak for itself. However, a characterization assists in putting others on notice as to the nature of the transaction.

It was determined that a verification is not required. The language has been changed to a statement on the cover sheet based on "information and belief." Further, § 3.31(i) has been divided into two paragraphs, one for the statement that is required and one for the signature.

The address of the assignee or receiving party is vital information for maintaining complete assignment records. The original owner is the applicant, for which the Office has the address of record. Each subsequent assignee address is then obtained under this requirement and is of record if the PTO or public needs to contact the present assignee. The execution date is required to determine whether an assignment has been recorded within three months provided in 35 U.S.C. § 261 and 15 U.S.C. § 1060.

When there is a listing of properties contained within a document, any listing may be copied and attached to the cover sheet to reduce the amount of typing necessary. A notation of this attachment can be made in lieu of entering every property identification number on the cover sheet. Should submitters provide information in addition to that required by § 3.31, it is always welcome, but not required.

The comments received on the layout of the sample cover sheets have all been considered and some modifications have been made. However, the sample cover sheet is not required and it is not part of the rules.

Comment: Section 3.34, as proposed, provides for correction of errors in a recorded cover sheet when the error is apparent by comparing the information on the cover sheet with the recorded document itself. One comment received expressed confusion regarding the correction procedure. Another comment suggested that corrections should not be limited to apparent errors.

Response: The PTO will not compare the cover sheet with the original documents during the recording process except to assure that application and patent numbers are present in patent assignments. Otherwise, it will only check to see that the cover sheet is complete. When a submitter discovers an obvious error on the recorded cover sheet, the PTO will consider a request to correct it when it receives: (1) the original recorded document (or a copy); (2) a corrected cover sheet; and (3) the appropriate fee for each property to be corrected. The PTO will then compare the cover sheet with the document to determine whether the error is apparent on its face. If the error is obvious, the corrected cover sheet will be recorded and the respective Office records corrected. If the error is not obvious, the procedure set forth in the Manual of Patent Examining Procedure, MPEP § 323 will govern for patents and the procedure set forth in In re Abacab International Computers Ltd. (Assignee of IHEC, Ltd.), 21 USPQ2d 1078 (Comm'r Pats. 1987), on reconsideration, 21 USPQ2d1079 (Comm'r Pats. 1988) will govern for trademarks. Submitters may also petition under § 1.833 or § 2.146 for other corrections. Typographical errors made by the Office will be corrected without charge when brought to our attention.

Accordingly, the suggested modification has not been adopted. The rule has only been changed to correct a cross reference.

Comment: As proposed, § 3.51 provides that the date of recording is the date all of the required information is filed in the Office. Incomplete documents will be returned. If the returned documents are resubmitted timely, the document will retain the date on which it was received as incomplete. Two comments were received regarding the time period to be set by the PTO. One comment indicated that any delay may affect the requirements of 15 U.S.C. § 1060. It was therefore recommended that the PTO make some type of "conditional entry" in the records indicating an assignment has been submitted so interested members of the public could ascertain that there may be an effective recording date. The other comment suggested the time period for resubmission be long enough to allow communication with foreign parties, but it should be no longer than six months.

Response: After a review of the proposed rule, it was determined that the language of § 3.51 should be clarified to reflect that the originally-submitted papers with the official Office date stamp indicating the original receipt date in the Office must be returned in order to retain the original date. It is the intent of the PTO to set the time for response at one month from the date of mailing of the returned documents from the PTO. It is believed that most correctable errors will involve an incomplete cover sheet or the amount of the fee submitted, both of which can be corrected within one month.

Further, it is the policy of the PTO to make of record only those documents which meet the requirements for recording. It is not beneficial to cloud title to properties with potential transfers.

Comment: Section 3.56, as proposed, is a restatement of former § 1.333 and is made applicable to trademarks. It provides that an assignment which is made conditional upon a condition subsequent will be regarded by the Office as an absolute assignment. One comment was received inquiring as to whether § 3.56 applied to security interests, another was received requesting a reference in the rules to recording of security agreements.

Response: Section 3.56 is applicable only to assignments, as they are defined by § 3.1, that is, a transfer of right, title and interest in a patent or a trademark. A security interest or a security agreement is in the nature of a lien, not an assignment. Accordingly, § 3.56 would not apply to security interests or security agreements which are also recordable. It applies to conditional assignments because the Office has no way of determining whether and when conditions are satisfied and therefore must address this type of assignment in a uniform manner. The reference to the recordability of security agreements is referred to here in the final rule package.

Comment: The second sentence of § 3.71, as proposed, provides: "[t]he assignee of record of the entire right title and interest in a trademark application or registration is entitled to conduct the prosecution of the trademark application or registration to the exclusion of the original applicant or previous assignee." One comment suggested, as had been recommended for the definitions in § 3.1, that language be adopted consistent with Section 10 of the Trademark Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1060, so there be no confusion as to what can be assigned in the trademark area and further, that the language requiring "entire right, title and interest" be deleted.

Response: As was the case with the PTO's review of § 3.1, the language in § 3.71 has also been modified to eliminate any confusion. Accordingly, § 3.71 now provides for assignments of registered marks or a mark for which an application for registration has been filed, making it consistent with § 3.1. While this change cannot prevent assignments from being made without the underlying goodwill, it may eliminate some confusion.

Comment: Section 3.73, as proposed, provided that a full assignee could take any action before the Office with respect to the assigned application, patent, or registration provide ownership is established to the satisfaction of the Commissioner. The rule further provided that ownership could be established by providing documentary evidence of the chain of title to the assignee. The assignee was also required to submit a verified statement stating the evidence had been reviewed and certifying to the best of the party's belief, title is in the party seeking to take the action. The Office reserved the right to require recordation of any ownership documents. One comment suggested the procedure was too "elaborate" and "confusing" to permit the submitting party to act rapidly. Another comment suggested the Office use the language of former § 2.186 which only required "the assignment has been recorded or that proof of the assignment has been submitted" to enable action by the assignee.

Another comment suggested that a simple statement identifying the documents thought to place ownership in a party should be sufficient. It was believed that no additional benefit accrued by having the party state that they believed they were entitled to take the action because whether or not a party can act is a determination the PTO must make.

Two comments suggested that a literal reading of the rule would require every paper filed on behalf of an assignee be accompanied by a proof of ownership. One comment suggested it was too harsh to preclude a party from taking action in a trademark matter until proof of ownership is established to the satisfaction of the Commissioner. Rather, it was suggested that a party be permitted to take action once documents establishing ownership are filed.

One comment received pointed to the proposed language of § 3.73 providing the statement must be signed by the party or its attorney or agent of record which was a greater requirement than § 1.34(a), if that was intended.

Another comment suggested that the proposed language be changed by deleting the provision that ownership must be established to the satisfaction of the Commissioner and substituting therefore "provided the assignee is owner of the entire right, title, and interest in the patent application, patent, registered-mark or mark for which an application for registration has been filed."

One final comment suggested that § 3.73 be changed to specifically set forth that it applied to secure Office acceptance of a Section 8 or 15 affidavit or a Section 9 application, 15 U.S.C. §§ 1058, 1059, for trademark filings, and requested examples of the types of documents necessary to establish ownership.

Response: Ownership need only be established the first time the new party wants to act in patent and trademark cases, provided the appropriate documents are recorded. Section 3.73(b) is modified to provide that a statement of ownership need only be provided when a patent assignee wishes to act on a matter. For patents, the PTO believes it is appropriate for the patent assignee to review the documents it believes establishes its ownership prior to filing a paper signed by that assignee. Additionally, the statement will certify that to the best of the assignee's knowledge and belief, title is in that assignee. This will establish, to the satisfaction of the Commissioner, that the assignee knows of no other document establishing title in someone other than the assignee. The PTO will still make the determination of whether the assignee is entitled to take action after a review of the documents.

For trademarks the action sought to be taken can be submitted simultaneously by the party. The action will be examined as will the claim of ownership and the party will be notified whether it is satisfactory. As in the past, "any action" refers to post-registration documents as well.

Other Considerations

The rule changes are in conformity with the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), Executive Orders 12291 and 12612 and the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.

The General Counsel of the Department of Commerce has certified to the Chief Counsel for Advocacy, Small Business Administration, that these rule changes will not have a significant adverse economic impact on a substantial number of small entities (Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 605(b)). The principal impact of these changes is to require that a cover sheet accompany each document submitted for recording. The rule change includes no additional or increased fees. Substantive rights to use trademarks and patents are not adversely affected.

The Office has determined that these rule changes are not a major rule under Executive Order 12291. The annual effect on the economy will be less than $100 million. Because most of the changes reduce procedural burdens, there will be no major increase in costs or prices for consumers; individual industries; Federal, state or local government agencies; or geographic regions. There will be no significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, or innovation, or on the ability of United States-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

These rule changes contain a collection-of-information requirement subject to the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq. The rule changes add a requirement for a cover sheet to be submitted with each document to be recorded that will expedite the recording process and improve quality. This collection of information requirement is cleared under OMB Control No. 0651-0011. The public reporting burden for this requirement is estimated to be one-half hour per filing, including the time for reviewing instructions, searching existing data sources, gathering and maintaining the data needed, and completing and reviewing the collections of information.

The Office has also determined that this notice has no Federalism implications affecting the relationship between the National Government and the States as outlined in Executive Order 12612.

For purposes of this part, the following definitions shall apply:

Application means a national application for patent, an international application that designates the United States of America, or an application to register a trademark unless otherwise indicated.

Assignment means a transfer by a party of all or part of its right, title and interest in a patent or patent application, or a transfer of its entire right, title and interest in a registered mark or a mark for which an application to register has been filed.

Document means a document which a party requests to be recorded in the Office pursuant to § 3.11 and which affects some interest in an application, patent, or registration.

Office means the Patent and Trademark Office.

Recorded document means a document which has been recorded in the Office pursuant to § 3.11.

Registration means a trademark registration issued by the Office.

DOCUMENTS ELIGIBLE FOR RECORDING

§ 3.11 Documents which will be recorded.

Assignments of applications, patents, and registrations, accompanied by completed cover sheets as specified in §§ 3.28 and 3.31, will be recorded in the Office. Other documents, accompanied by completed cover sheets as specified in §§ 3.28 and 3.31, affecting title to applications, patents, or registrations, will be recorded as provided in this Part or at the discretion of the Commissioner.

§ 3.16 Assignability of trademark prior to filing of use statement.

No application to register a mark under 15 U.S.C. 1051(b) is assignable prior to the filing of the verified statement of use under 15 U.S.C. 1051(d) except to a successor to the business of the applicant, or portion thereof, to which the mark pertains, if that business is ongoing and existing.

REQUIREMENTS FOR RECORDING

§ 3.21 Identification of patents and patent applications.

An assignment relating to a patent must identify the patent by the patent number. An assignment relating to a national patent application must identify the national patent application by the application number (consisting of the series code and the serial number, e.g., 07/123,456) or the serial number and filing date. An assignment relating to an international patent application which designates the United States of America must identify the international application by the international application number (e.g., PCT/US90/01234). If an assignment is executed concurrently with, or subsequent to, the execution of the patent application, but before the patent application is filed, it must identify the patent application by its date of execution, name of each inventor, and title of the invention so that there can be no mistake as to the patent application intended.

The document and cover sheet must be legible. Either the original document or a true copy of the original document, may be submitted for recording. Only one side of each page shall be used. The paper used should be flexible, strong, white, non-shiny, durable, and preferably no larger than 21.6 x 33.1 cm. (8 1/4 x 14 inches) with a 2.5 cm. (one-inch) margin on all sides.

§ 3.26 English language requirement.

The Office will accept and record non-English language documents only if accompanied by a verified English translation signed by the individual making the translation.

§ 3.27 Mailing address for submitting documents to be recorded.

Documents and cover sheets to be recorded should be addressed to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Box Assignments, Washington, D.C. 20231, unless they are filed together with new applications or with a petition under 3.81(b).

§ 3.28 Requests for recording.

Each document submitted to the Office for recording must be accompanied by at least one cover sheet as specified in § 3.31 referring either to those patent applications and patents, or to those trademark applications and registrations, against which the document is to be recorded. If a document to be recorded includes interests in, or transactions involving, both patents and trademarks, separate patent and trademark cover sheets must be submitted. Only one set of documents and cover sheets to be recorded should be filed. If a document to be recorded is not accompanied by a completed cover sheet, the document and any incomplete cover sheet will be returned pursuant to § 3.51 for proper completion of a cover sheet and resubmission of the document and a completed cover sheet.

COVER SHEET REQUIREMENTS

§ 3.31 Cover sheet content.

(a) Each patent or trademark cover sheet required by § 3.28 must contain:
(1) the name of the party conveying the interest;
(2) the name and address of the party receiving the interest;
(3) a description of the interest conveyed or transaction to be recorded;
(4) each application number, patent number or registration number against which the document is to be recorded, or an indication that the document is filed together with a patent application;
(5) the name and address of the party to whom correspondence concerning the request to record the document should be mailed;
(6) the number of applications, patents or registrations identified in the cover sheet and the total fee;
(7) the date the document was executed;
(8) an indication that the assignee of a trademark application or registration who is not domiciled in the United States has designated a domestic representative (see § 3.61); and
(9) a statement by the party submitting the document that to the best of the person's knowledge and belief, the information contained on the cover sheet is true and correct and any copy submitted is a true copy of the original document; and
(10) the signature of the party submitting the document.
(b) A cover sheet may not refer to both patents and trademarks.

§ 3.34 Correction of cover sheet errors.

(a) An error in a cover sheet recorded pursuant to 3.11 will be correctedonly if:
(1) the error is apparent when the cover sheet is compared with the recorded document to which it pertains and
(2) a corrected cover sheet is filed for recordation.

(b) The corrected cover sheet must be accompanied by the originally recorded document or a copy of the originally recorded document and by the recording fee as set forth in § 3.41.

FEES

§ 3.41 Recording fees.

All requests to record documents must be accompanied by the appropriate fee. A fee is required for each application, patent and registration against which the document is recorded as identified in the cover sheet. The recording fee is set in § 1.21(h) of this Chapter for patents and in § 2.6(q) of this Chapter for trademarks.

DATE AND EFFECT OF RECORDING

§ 3.51 Recording date.

The date of recording of a document is the date the document meeting the requirements for recording set forth in this Part is filed in the Office. A document which does not comply with the identification requirements of § 3.21 will not be recorded. Documents not meeting the other requirements for recording, for example, a document submitted without a completed cover sheet or without the required fee, will be returned for correction to the sender where a correspondence address is available. The returned papers, stamped with the original date of receipt by the Office, will be accompanied by a letter which will indicate that if the returned papers are corrected and resubmitted to the Office within the time specified in the letter, the Office will consider the original date of filing of the papers as the date of recording of the document. The certification procedure under either § 1.8 or § 1.10 of this Chapter may be used for resubmissions of returned papers to have the benefit of the date of deposit in the United States Postal Service. If the returned patent was not corrected and resubmitted within the specified period, the date of filing of the corrected papers will be considered to be the date of recording of the document. The specified period to resubmit the returned papers will not be extended.

§ 3.54 Effect of recording.

The recording of a document pursuant to § 3.11 is not a determination by the Office of the validity of the document or the effect that document has on the title to an application, a patent, or a registration. When necessary, the Office will determine what effect a document has, including whether a party has the authority to take an action in a matter pending before the Office.

§ 3.56 Conditional assignments.

Assignments which are made conditional on the performance of certain acts or events, such as the payment of money or other condition subsequent, if recorded in the Office, are regarded as absolute assignments for Office purposes until cancelled with the written consent of all parties or by the decree of a court of competent jurisdiction. The Office does not determine whether such conditions have been fulfilled.

DOMESTIC REPRESENTATIVE

§ 3.61 Domestic representative.

If the assignee of a trademark application or registration is not domiciled in the United States, the assignee must designate, in writing to the Office, a domestic representative. An assignee of a patent application or patent may designate a domestic representative if the assignee is not residing in the United States. The designation shall state the name and address of a person residing within the United States on whom may be served process or notice of proceedings affecting the application, patent or registration or rights thereunder.

PROSECUTION BY ASSIGNEE

§ 3.71 Prosecution by assignee.

The assignee of record of the entire right, title and interest in an application for patent is entitled to conduct the prosecution of the patent application to the exclusion of the named inventor or previous assignee. The assignee of a registered trademark or a trademark for which an application to register has been filed is entitled to conduct the prosecution of the trademark application or registration to the exclusion of the original applicant or previous assignee.

(a) The inventor is presumed to be the owner of a patent application, and any patent that may issue therefrom, unless there is an assignment. The original applicant is presumed to be the owner of a trademark application unless there is an assignment.
(b) When the assignee of the entire right, title and interest seeks to take action in a matter before the Office with respect to a patent application, trademark application, patent, registration, or reexamination proceeding, the assignee must establish its ownership of the property to the satisfaction of the Commissioner. Ownership is established by submitting to the Office documentary evidence of a chain of title from the original owner to the assignee or by specifying (e.g. reel and frame number, etc.) where such evidence is recorded in the Office. Documents submitted to establish ownership may be required to be recorded as a condition to permitting the assignee to take action in a matter pending before the Office. In addition, the assignee of a patent application or patent must submit a statement specifying that the evidentiary documents have been reviewed and certifying that, to the best of assignee's knowledge and belief, title is in the assignee seeking to take the action.

ISSUANCE TO ASSIGNEE

§ 3.81 Issue of patent to assignee.

(a) For a patent application, if an assignment of the entire right, title, and interest is recorded before the issue fee is paid, the patent may issue in the name of the assignee. If the assignee holds an undivided part interest, the patent may issue jointly to the inventor and the assignee. At the time the issue fee is paid, the name of the assignee must be provided if the patent is to issue solely or jointly to that assignee.

(b) If the assignment is submitted for recording after the date of payment of the issue fee, but prior to issuance of the patent, the assignee may petition that the patent issue to the assignee. Any such petition must be accompanied by the fee set forth in 1.17(i)(1) of this Chapter.

§ 3.85 Issue of registration to assignee.

The certificate of registration may be issued to the assignee of the applicant, or in a new name of the applicant, provided that the party files a written request in the trademark application by the time the application is being prepared for issuance of the certificate of registration, and the appropriate document is recorded in the Office. If the assignment or name change document has not been recorded in the Office, then the written request must state that the document has been filed for recordation. The address of the assignee must be made of record in the application file.

(30) Issuance of a Patent to an Assignee

The purpose of this notice is to clarify the procedures to have a patent issue to an assignee. See 37 CFR 3.81 and Manual of Patent Examining Procedure § 307.

Section 3.81(a) permits a patent to issue to an assignee, provided that at the time the issue fee is paid, the assignment has been submitted for recordation and the name of the assignee is provided. The name of the assignee is usually provided in item 5 of the Issue Fee Transmittal form (PTOL-85B).

Section 3.81(b) permits a patent to issue to an assignee when the assignment is submitted for recording after the date of payment of the issue fee, but prior to issuance of the patent, provided a petition and fee are filed requesting that the patent issue to the newly recorded assignee.

When the correct name of the assignee was not provided in accordance with either section 3.81(a) or (b) (i.e., either no name or an incorrect name was provided in item 5 of the Issue Fee Transmittal when the assignment had been recorded or submitted for recordation at the time the issue fee was paid, or an incorrect name was provided in the petition required by section 3.81(b) when the assignment is submitted for recording after the date of payment of the issue fee, but prior to issuance of the patent), a correction can be made by filing a petition under 37 CFR 1.183 requesting that the requirements of 37 CFR 3.871 be waived. This procedure is required at any time after the issue fee is paid, including after issuance of the patent. A petition under 37 CFR 1.183 should include: (1) the petition fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(h) (currently $130); (2) the correct name of the assignee; and (3) the reel and frame number where the assignment is recorded or proof of the date the assignment was submitted for recordation.

If the petition under 37 CFR 1.183 is filed and granted prior to issuance of the patent, the patent will either: (1) be printed with the correct assignee's name; or (2) be printed without the correct assignee's name. In the latter case, patentee would be entitled to a certificate of correction under 37 CFR 1.322 to correct an Office mistake in not correctly printing the assignee's name on the patent.

If the petition under 37 CFR 1.183 is filed and/or granted after issuance of the patent, the patent would be printed without the correct assignee's name. However, if the petition is granted, patentee would be entitled to a certificate of correction under 37 CFR 1.323 due to the mistake in not complying with 37 CFR 3.81.

RIN 0651-AA43

Changes in Patent and Trademark Assignment Practice

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce
Action: Final Rule; correction.
Summary: The Patent and Trademark Office (Office) amended the rules of practice regarding assignments in patent and trademark cases to improve and clarify the rules, to codify changes in practice and to consolidate the rules into a new Part 3 directed to assignments. In the final assignment rules a fee change promulgated in January 1992 was inadvertently omitted from the § 1.17(i)(1) listing.
Effective Date: September 4, 1992.
For Further Information Contact: Jeffery V. Nase by telephone at (703) 305-9282 or by mail marked to his attention and addressed to Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Box DAC, Washington, D.C. 20231.
Supplementary Information: The amended assignment rules first appeared in a notice of proposed rulemaking published in the Federal Register on May 10, 1991, at 56 FR 21641, and the Patent and Trademark Office Official Gazette of June 4, 1991, at 1127 OG 8-16. The final rules appeared in the Federal Register on July 6, 1992, at 57 FR 29634. Between the time the proposed and final rules were published, 37 CFR § 1.97(d) was amended, effective March 16, 1992, by a final rule which appeared in the Federal Register of January 17, 1992, 57 FR 2021, relating to the duty of disclosure. The amendment provided for a new petition fee which was referenced in 37 CFR § 1.17, patent application processing fees. The reproduction of § 1.17 in the final assignment rule package neglected to add the reference to the new petition under § 1.97(d).

Section 1.17(i)(1) is reproduced in its entirety to include the reference to § 1.97(d) which was inadvertently omitted. The amount of the fee for considering an information disclosure statement is not affected by this rule change.

(32) Taking Action in a Patent Matter Before the Office by the Assignee under 37 CFR 3.73.

When the assignee of the entire right, title and interest first seeks to take action in a matter before the Office with respect to a patent application, patent or reexamination proceeding, the assignee must establish its ownership of the property to the satisfaction of the Commissioner. 37 CFR 3.73(b). The assignee's ownership may be established either 1) by submitting to the Office copies of the documentary evidence of a chain of title from the original inventor to the assignee, or 2) by specifying, by reel and frame number, for example, where such documentary evidence is recorded in the Office. In addition to the establishment of ownership, there is further requirement that the assignee submit a statement specifying that the evidentiary documents have been reviewed and certifying that, to the best of the assignee's knowledge and belief, title is in the assignee seeking to take action. Once 37 CFR 3.73(b) is complied with by an assignee, that assignee may continue to take action in that application, patent or reexamination proceeding without filing a 37 CFR 3.73(b) statement each time, provided that ownership has not changed.

When an assignee files a continuation or divisional application (under 37 CFR 1.53, 1.60 or 1.62), reference may be made to a statement filed under 37 CFR 3.73(b) in the parent application or a copy of that statement may be filed. A newly executed statement under 37 CFR 3.73(b) must be filed when a continuation-in-part application is filed by an assignee.

The statement under 37 CFR 3.73(b) may be signed on behalf of the assignee in the following two manners if the assignee is an organization (e.g., corporation, partnership, university, government agency, etc.).

(1) The statement may be signed by a person in the organization having apparent authority to sign on behalf of the organization. An officer (president, vice-president, secretary, or treasurer) is presumed to have authority to sign on behalf of the organization. The signature of the chairman of the board of directors is acceptable, but not the signature of an individual director. A person having a title (manager, director, administrator, general counsel) that does not clearly set forth that person as an officer of the assignee is not presumed to be an officer of the assignee or to have authority to sign the statement on behalf of the assignee. A power of attorney from the inventors in an organization to a practitioner to prosecute a patent application does not make the practitioner an official of an assignee or empower the practitioner to sign the statement on behalf of the assignee.

(2) The statement may be signed by any person, if the statement includes an averment that the person is empowered to sign the statement on behalf of the assignee and, if not signed by a registered practitioner, the statement must be in oath or declaration form. Where a statement does not include such an averment, and the person signing does not hold a position in the organization that would give rise to a presumption that the person is empowered to sign the statement on behalf of the assignee, evidence of the person's authority to sign will be required.

Examples of situations where ownership must be established and the statement under 37 CFR 3.73(b) must be submitted are when the assignee: signs a request for status of an application or gives a power to inspect an application; acquiesces to express abandonment of an application; appoints its own legal representative; signs a terminal disclaimer; consents to the filing of a reissue application; consents to the correction of inventorship; files an application under 37 CFR 1.47(b) or 37 CFR 1.475; signs an Issue Fee Transmittal (PTOL-85B); or signs a response to an Office action.

Examples of situations where ownership need not be established and a statement under 37 CFR 3.73(b) is not required to be submitted are when the assignee: signs a small entity declaration; signs an affidavit or declaration of common ownership of two inventions; signs a NASA or DOE property rights statement; signs an affidavit under 37 CFR 1.131 where the inventor is unavailable; signs a Certificate of Mailing under 37 CFR 1.8; or files a request for reexamination of a patent under 37 CFR 1.510.

An acceptable certification under 37 CFR 3.73(b) is attached to this notice.

(33) Submission of Uniform Assignee Names on the Issue Fee Payment Form PTOL-85b

The Patent and Trademark Office is experiencing problems when computer-sorting assignee names for the Patentee Index because of the non-uniform use of the names of certain companies and corporations on the issue fee payment form PTOL-85b. The use of different spellings or nomenclature for the same company requires the Office to expend time and effort to determine whether the various name forms are in fact for the same company. If such inconsistencies are not corrected, patents to the same company will appear in different locations in the Patentee Index. An example of inconsistent use is "ABC Company, Ltd." and "ABC Co., Limited."

Therefore, persons who list assignee names on issue fee payment form PTOL-85b should ensure that the same company name form is used for all patents issuing to a particular company.

(34) Indexing Against a Recorded Assignment

It has been the practice of the Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) to process requests for indexing against a recorded document by adding the newly requested property to the data base record for the previously recorded document, except if the previously recorded document was an assignment. The PTO only required a transmittal letter with the recording fee and not a copy of the previously recorded document to process the indexing request. While indexing the additional properties resulted in the assignment data base being updated, the indexing request itself was never microfilmed to become part of the official record.

Effective immediately, the PTO will no longer process such indexing requests. Such indexing requests do not comply with 37 CFR 3.11, 3.28, and 3.31 which require that each request for recordation include the document to be recorded and a cover sheet. Instead of filing an indexing request, a party should submit a cover sheet in conformance with 37 CFR 3.31, a true copy of the document, and the recording fee. PTO will assign a new recording date to that submission, update the assignment data base, and microfilm the cover sheet and document to become part of the official record.

(35) Recordability of Foreclosures for Assignment Purposes

It has been the practice of the Assignment Branch to record security agreements between a secured party and a debtor which refer specifically to a patent or a patent application and which are signed by the debtor. However, foreclosures by the secured party were not recorded because they were not signed by the debtor. Accordingly, before recording a foreclosure not signed by a debtor, the Assignment Branch required a Court order. This requirement forced the secured party to bring action in a court of law where otherwise Court action might not have been necessary.

To facilitate recording of foreclosures not signed by a debtor and avoid unnecessary court proceedings, the Office will record foreclosures which comply with all of the following criteria:

(1) Submission of the foreclosure document with original endorsement by the secured party, or a verified copy thereof;
(2) Identification of the patent by patent number or the patent application by serial number, or other acceptable identifier(s) as specified in 37 CFR 1.331(c), in the body of the foreclosure document itself or any addenda incorporated by reference;
(3) Reference to the security agreement recorded under 37 CFR 1.331; and
(4) Submission of a verified statement by a representative of the secured party stating that the patent or the patent application has been legally foreclosed on based upon the applicable state laws.

A foreclosure document complying with the above criteria will be deemed to be a recordable instrument in accordance with 37 CFR 1.331.

RIN 0651-AA74

Revision of Patent and Trademark Fees

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce.
Action: Final Rule.
Summary: The Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) is amending the rules of practice in patent and trademark cases, Parts 1, 2 and 7 of title 37, Code of Federal Regulations, to adjust certain patent and trademark fee amounts to reflect fluctuations in the Consumer Price Index (CPI) and to recover costs of operation, and is amending the requirements for recording documents on the Government Register. This rule also includes information relating to the availability of patent and trademark information products provided by the PTO.

Effective Date: October 1, 1995.

For Further Information Contact: Robert Kopson by telephone at (703) 305-8510, fax at (703) 305-8525, or by mail marked to his attention and addressed to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231.

Supplementary Information: This rule change is designed to adjust PTO fees in accordance with the applicable provisions of title 35, United States Code; section 31 of the Trademark (Lanham) Act of 1946 (15 U.S.C. 1113); and section 10101 of the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990 (as amended by section 8001 of Public Law 103-66), all as amended by the Patent and Trademark Office Authorization Act of 1991 (Public Law 102-204).

The cover sheet referenced in 37 CFR 7.1 (c) must be in a format approved by the Office. The Office of Public Records will maintain a list of approved formats that will meet this requirement. Contact the Office of Public Records at (703) 308-9743 regarding specific questions relating to this requirement and to seek approval of additional formats.

BACKGROUND

Statutory Provisions

Patent fees are authorized by 35 U.S.C. 41 and 35 U.S.C. 376. A fifty percent reduction in the fees paid under 35 U.S.C. 41(a) and (b) by independent inventors, small business concerns, and nonprofit organizations who meet prescribed definitions is required by 35 U.S.C. 41(h).

Subsection 41(f) of title 35, United States Code, provides that fees established under 35 U.S.C. 41(a) and (b) may be adjusted on October 1, 1992, and every year thereafter, to reflect fluctuations in the Consumer Price Index (CPI) over the previous 12 months.

Section 10101 of the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990 (amended by section 8001 of Public Law 103-66) provides that there shall be a surcharge on all fees established under 35 U.S.C. 41(a) and (b) to collect $111 million in fiscal year 1996.

Subsection 41(d) of title 35, United States Code, authorizes the Commissioner to establish fees for all other processing, services, or materials related to patents to recover the average cost of providing these services or materials, except for the fees for recording a document affecting title, for each photocopy, and for each black and white copy of a patent.

Section 376 of title 35, United States Code, authorizes the Commissioner to set fees for patent applications filed under the Patent Cooperation Treaty (PCT).

Subsection 41(g) of title 35, United States Code, provides that new fee amounts established by the Commissioner under section 41 may take effect thirty days after notice in the Federal Register and the Official Gazette of the Patent and Trademark Office.

Section 31 of the Trademark (Lanham) Act of 1946, as amended (15 U.S.C. 1113), authorizes the Commissioner to establish fees for the filing and processing of an application for the registration of a trademark or other mark, and for all other services and materials relating to trademarks and other marks.

Section 31(a) of the Trademark (Lanham) Act of 1946 (15 U.S.C. 1113(a)), as amended, allows trademark fees to be adjusted once each year to reflect, in the aggregate, any fluctuations during the preceding 12 months in the CPI.

Section 31 also allows new trademark fee amounts to take effect thirty days after notice in the Federal Register and the Official Gazette of the United States Patent and Trademark Office.

Recovery Level Determinations

This rule adjusts patent and trademark fees for a planned recovery of $643,014,000 in fiscal year 1996, as proposed in the Administration's budget request to the Congress.

The patent statutory fees established by 35 U.S.C. 41(a) and (b) are being adjusted on October 1, 1995, to reflect any fluctuations occurring during the previous 12 months in the Consumer Price Index (CPI-U). In calculating these fluctuations, the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) has determined that the PTO should use CPI-U data as determined by the Secretary of Labor. However, the Department of Labor does not make public the CPI-U until approximately 21 days after the end of the month being calculated. Therefore, the latest CPI-U information available is for the month of May 1995. In accordance with previous rulemaking methodology, the PTO uses the Administration's projected CPI-U for the 12-month period ending September 30, 1995, which is 3.2 percent. Based on this projection, patent statutory fees will be adjusted by 3.2 percent. Before the final fee schedule is published, the fees may be slightly adjusted based on actual data available from the Department of Labor.

Certain non-statutory patent processing fees established under 35 U.S.C. 41(d) and PCT processing fees established under 35 U.S.C. 376 are being adjusted to recover their estimated average costs in fiscal year 1996. Three patent service fees that are set by statute will not be adjusted. The three fees that are not being adjusted are assignment recording fees, printed patent copy fees and photocopy charge fees.

Certain trademark service fees established under 15 U.S.C. 1113 are being adjusted to recover their estimated average costs in fiscal year 1996.

The fee amounts were rounded by applying standard arithmetic rules so that the amounts rounded would be convenient to the user. Fees of $100 or more were rounded to the nearest $10. Fees between $2 and $99 were rounded to an even number so that the comparable small entity fee would be a whole number.

Workload Projections

Determination of workloads varies by fee. Principal workload projection techniques are as follows:

Patent application workloads are projected from statistical regression models using recent application filing trends. Patent issues are projected from an in-house patent production model and reflect examiner production achievements and goals. Patent maintenance fee workloads utilize patents issued 3.5, 7.5 and 11.5 years prior to payment and assume payment rates of 79 percent, 55 percent and 32 percent, respectively. Service fee workloads follow linear trends from prior years' activities.

General Procedures

Any fee amount that is paid on or after the effective date of the fee increase would be subject to the new fees then in effect. For purposes of determining the amount of the fee to be paid, the date of mailing indicated on a proper Certificate of Mailing or Transmission, where authorized under 37 CFR 1.8, will be considered to be the date of receipt in the PTO. A Certificate of Mailing or Transmission under Section 1.8 is not "proper" for items which are specifically excluded from the provisions of Section 1.8. Section 1.8 should be consulted for those items for which a Certificate of Mailing or Transmission is not "proper." Such items include, inter alia, the filing of national and international applications for patents and the filing of trademark applications. However, the provisions of 37 CFR 1.10 relating to filing papers and fees with an "Express Mail" certificate do apply to any paper or fee (including patent and trademark applications) to be filed in the PTO. If an application or fee is filed by "Express Mail" with a proper certificate dated on or after the effective date of the rules, as amended, the amount of the fee to be paid would be the fee established by the amended rules.

A notice of final rulemaking was published at 60 FR 20195 (April 25, 1995) wherein several new fee provisions were made to implement the 20-year patent term and provisional applications. Language changes were made in 37 CFR 1.16(a), (b), (d), (f), and (g) which are reproduced in this final rule package. In addition, fees involving 37 CFR 1.17(r) and (s) are being recorded; (4) each application number or patent number against which the instrument is to be recorded, or an indication that the instrument is filed together with a patent application; (5) the name and address of the party to whom correspondence concerning the request to record the instrument should be mailed; (6) the number of applications or patents identified in the cover sheet and the total fee; (7) the date the instrument was executed; (8) a statement by the party submitting the instrument that to the best of the person's knowledge and belief, the information contained on the cover sheet is true and correct and any copy submitted is a true copy of the original instrument; and (9) the signature of the party submitting the instrument.

Section 7.1(e), is added that each patent cover sheet required by paragraph (c) of this section seeking to record a governmental interest as provided by paragraph (a) of this section must: (1) indicate that the instrument is to be recorded on the governmental register, and, if applicable, that the instrument is to be recorded on the Secret Register. See § 7.7, and (2) indicate, if applicable, that the instrument to be recorded is not an instrument affecting title. See paragraph (j) of this section.

Section 7.1 (f), is added to provide for the correction of errors in the cover sheet. Specifically, § 7.1(e), provides that an error in a cover sheet recorded pursuant to this Part will be corrected only if: (1) the error is apparent when the cover sheet is compared with the recorded instrument to which it pertains, and (2) a corrected cover sheet accompanied by the recording fee set forth in paragraph (i) of this section and either the original recorded instrument or a copy of the original recorded instrument is filed for recordation.

Section 7.1(g), is added to provide that the Office will accept and record non-English language instruments only if accompanied by a verified English translation signed by the individual making the translation.

Section 7.1(h), is added to provide that instruments and cover sheets to be recorded should be addressed to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Box Assignment, Washington, D.C. 20231.

Section 7.1(i), is added to provide that all requests, except as provided by paragraph (j) of this section, to record instruments must be accompanied by the recording fee set forth in § 1.21(h) of this chapter, and that the fee set forth in § 1.21(h) of this chapter is required for each application and patent against which the instrument is recorded as identified in the cover sheet.

Section 7.1 (j), is added to provide that no fee is required for each patent application and patent against which an instrument required by Executive Order 9424 (3 CFR 1943-1948 Comp.) to be filed if: (1) the instrument does not affect title and is so identified in the cover sheet (see paragraph (e) of this section); and (2) the cover sheet is filed in a format approved by the Office.

Response to Comments on the Rules

A notice of proposed rulemaking to adjust certain patent and trademark fee amounts and to amend the requirements for recording an assignment to apply to documents forwarded for recording on the Government Register was published in the Federal Register on May 26, 1995, at 60 FR 27934, and in the Official Gazette of the United States Patent and Trademark Office on May 30, 1995, at 1174 OG 134.

A public hearing was held June 29, 1995. Nine comments were received and considered in adopting the rules set forth herein. No oral testimony was presented.

Comments: Two respondents stated that the proposed inflationary increase of patent and trademark fees is unnecessary because the PTO is already operating at a surplus.

Response: Current PTO resources include carryover funds from fiscal year 1994. These carryover funds are partly unobligated balances to be carried forward, but primarily advanced fee payments for work to be done in fiscal year 1995. Furthermore, this carryover includes fee income generated from trademark-related products and services which, according to 35 U.S.C. 42(c), may be used only for trademark-related activities. Therefore, to recover all costs associated with the processing of patent applications, and to remain consistent with the current rate of inflation, the PTO is increasing certain patent fees by 3.2 percent as authorized by 35 U.S.C. 41(f).

In addition, two trademark service fees were proposed to be increased. The adopted fee amounts will recover the average cost of providing the service as authorized by 35 U.S.C. 41(d), and will also remain consistent with the equivalent patent service fee amounts.

Comments: Seven respondents objected to the proposal to amend the requirements for recording an assignment to apply to documents forwarded for recording on the Government Register. The respondents stated that not only are Government agencies required by Executive Order 9424 to forward an assignment to the PTO for recordation, but also the PTO lacks the authority under Title 35 of the United States Code to impose a fee for recording an assignment on the Government Register.

Response: 35 U.S.C. 41(d)(1) provides that the Commissioner shall charge a fee of $40 per property for recording any document affecting title. An assignment is a document affecting title. Therefore, the Office must require a $40 recording fee for recording any assignment, even those being recorded on the Government Register. If a document to be recorded on the Government Register does not affect title and if it is accompanied by the appropriate cover sheet, then no fee is required.

Other Considerations

This final rule change is in conformity with the requirements of Executive Order 12612, and the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501, et seq. This rulemaking contains no information collection within the meaning of the Paperwork Reduction Act. This final rule has been determined not to be significant for purposes of Executive Order 12866.

The PTO has determined that this final rule change has no Federalism implications affecting the relationship between the National Government and the States as outlined in Executive Order 12612.

The Assistant General Counsel for Legislation and Regulation of the Department of Commerce has certified to the Chief Counsel for Advocacy, Small Business Administration, that the final rule change would not have a significant impact on a substantial number of small entities (Regulatory Flexibility Act, Pub. L. 96-354). The final rule change increases fees to reflect the change in the CPI as authorized by 35 U.S.C. 41(f). Further, the principal impact of the major patent fees has already been taken into account in 35 U.S.C. 41(h), which provides small entities with a 50-percent reduction in the major patent fees.

A comparison of existing and new fee amounts is included as an Appendix to this notice of final rulemaking.

Part 7 - Register of Government Interests in Patents

1. The authority citation for 37 CFR Part 7 would continue to read as follows:

Authority: E.O. 9424, February 18, 1944, 9 FR 1959; 3 CFR 1943-1948 Comp.

2. Section 7.1 is revised to read as follows:

a) Executive Order 9424 (3 CFR 1943-1948 Comp.) requires the several departments and other executive agencies of the Government, including Government-owned or Government-controlled corporations, to forward promptly to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks for recording all licenses, assignments, or other interests of the Government in or under patents or applications for patents.

(b) An instrument relating to a patent must identify the patent by the patent number. An instrument relating to a national patent application must identify the national patent application by the application number (consisting of the series code and the serial number, e.g., 07/123,456) or the serial number and filing date. An instrument relating to an international patent application which designates the United States of America must identify the international application by the international application number (e.g., PCT/US90/01234). If an assignment is executed concurrently with, or subsequent to, the execution of the patent application, but before the patent application is filed, it must identify the patent application by its date of execution, name of each inventor, and title of the invention so that there can be no mistake as to the patent application intended.

(c) Each instrument submitted to the Office for recording must be accompanied by at least one cover sheet as specified in paragraph (d) of this section referring to those patent applications and patents against which the instrument is to be recorded. Only one set of instruments and cover sheets to be recorded should be filed. If an instrument to be recorded is not accompanied by a completed cover sheet, the instrument and any incomplete cover sheet will be returned for proper completion of a cover sheet and resubmission of the instrument and a completed cover sheet.

(d) Each cover sheet required by paragraph (c) of this section must contain:

(1) the name of the party conveying the interest;
(2) the name and address of the party receiving the interest;
(3) a description of the interest conveyed or transaction to be recorded;
(4) each application number or patent number against which the instrument is to be recorded, or an indication that the instrument is filed together with a patent application;
(5) the name and address of the party to whom correspondence concerning the request to record the instrument should be mailed;
(6) the number of applications or patents identified in the cover sheet and the total fee;
(7) the date the instrument was executed;
(8) a statement by the party submitting the instrument that to the best of the person's knowledge and belief, the information contained on the cover sheet is true and correct and any copy submitted is a true copy of the original instrument; and
(9) the signature of the party submitting the instrument.

(e) Each patent cover sheet required by paragraph (c) of this section seeking to record a governmental interest as provided by paragraph (a) of this section must:

(1) indicate that the instrument is to be recorded on the governmental register, and, if applicable, that the instrument is to be recorded on the Secret Register. See § 7.7.
(2) indicate, if applicable, that the instrument to be recorded is not an instrument affecting title. See paragraph (j) of this section.

(f) An error in a cover sheet recorded pursuant to this Part will be corrected only if:

(1) the error is apparent when the cover sheet is compared with the recorded instrument to which it pertains, and
(2) a corrected cover sheet accompanied by the recording fee set forth in paragraph (i) of this section and either the original recorded instrument or a copy of the original recorded instrument is filed for recordation.

(g) The Office will accept and record non-English language instruments only if accompanied by a verified English translation signed by the individual making the translation.

(h) Instruments and cover sheets to be recorded should be addressed to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Box Assignment, Washington, D.C. 20231.

(i) All requests to record instruments must be accompanied by the appropriate fee. Except as provided in paragraph (j) of this section, a recording fee set forth in § 1.21(h) of this chapter fee is required for each application and patent against which the instrument is recorded as identified in the cover sheet.

(j) No fee is required for each patent application and patent against which an instrument required by Executive Order 9424 (3 CFR 1943 - 1948 Comp.) to be filed if:

(1) the instrument does not affect title and is so identified in the cover sheet (see paragraph (e) of this section); and
(2) the cover sheet is filed in a format approved by the Office.

RIN 0651-AA54

Revision of Patent and Trademark Fees

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce
Action: Final Rule.

Summary: The Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) is amending the rules of practice in patent and trademark cases, Parts 1 and 2 of title 37, Code of Federal Regulations, to adjust certain patent and trademark fee amounts to reflect fluctuations in the Consumer Price Index (CPI) and to recover costs of operation. The PTO is also establishing fees for providing public access to APS-Text in Patent and Trademark Depository Libraries (PTDLs), and for dividing a trademark application. In response to comments received from the Libraries in which they expressed their concerns about the administrative burdens of collecting fees from the public for use of APS-Test, the Commissioner is immediately suspending collection of that fee to provide additional time for the PTO to solicit input from the private sector on alternative collection methods, and other options for accessing patent search and retrieval in the Libraries.
Dates: Effective Date: October 1, 1992. Rule 1.21(p) will take effect on October 1, 1992 but will immediately be suspended by the Commissioner. Comment Date: The PTO will accept comments on alternative collection methods, and other options for accessing patent search and retrieval in the PTDLs (37 CFR 1.21(p)) until January 4, 1993. The Office will provide written notice in the Federal Register and the Official Gazette of the United States Patent and Trademark Office thirty days before starting to collect fees for accessing APS-Text in the PTDLs.
Addresses: Address written comments to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231, Attention: Frances Michalkewicz, Suite 507, Crystal Park 1, or by FAX to (703) 305-8436.
For Further Information Contact: Frances Michalkewicz by telephone at (703) 305-8510 or by mail marked to her attention and addressed to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231.
Supplementary Information: This rule change is designed to adjust the Patent and Trademark Office fees in accordance with the applicable provisions of title 35, United States Code, section 31 of the Trademark (Lanham) Act of 1946 (15 U.S.C. 1113), and section 10101 of the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990 (Public Law 101-508), all as amended by the Patent and Trademark Office Authorization Act of 1991 (Public Law 102-204).

Background:

Statutory Provisions: Patent fees are authorized by 35 U.S.C. 41 and 35 U.S.C. 376. A 50 percent reduction in the fees paid under 35 U.S.C. 41(a) and 41(b) by independent in-ventors, small business concerns, and nonprofit organizations who meet prescribed definitions is authorized by 35 U.S.C. 41(h).

Subsection 41(f) of title 35, United States Code, provides that fees established under 35 U.S.C. 41(a) and (b) may be adjusted on October 1, 1992, and every year thereafter, to reflect fluctuations in the Consumer Price Index (CPI) over the previous 12 months.

Section 10101 of the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990 (Pub. L. 101-508) provides that there shall be a surcharge on all fees established under 35 U.S.C. 41(a) and 41(b) to collect $99 million in fiscal year 1993.

Subsection 41(d) of title 35, United States Code, authorizes the Commissioner to establish fees for all other processing, services, or materials related to patents to recover the average cost of providing these services or materials, except for the fees for recording a document affecting title, for each photocopy, and for each black and white copy of a patent.

Section 376 of title 35, United States Code, authorizes the Commissioner to set fees for patent applications filed under the Patent Cooperation Treaty.

Subsection 41(g) of title 35, United States Code, provides that new fee amounts established by the Commissioner under section 41 may take effect thirty days after notice in the Federal Register and the Official Gazette of the Patent and Trademark Office.

Subsection 41(i)(3) of title 35, United States Code, authorizes the Commissioner to establish reasonable fees for access to automated search systems of the PTO.

Section 31 of the Trademark (Lanham) Act of 1946, as amended (15 U.S.C. 1113), authorizes the Commissioner to establish fees for the filing and processing of an application for the registration of a trademark or other mark, and for all other services and materials furnished by the PTO relating to trademarks and other marks.

Section 31(a) of the Trademark (Lanham) Act of 1946 (15 U.S.C. 1113(a)), as amended, allows trademark fees to be adjusted once each year to reflect, in the aggregate, any fluctuations during the preceding 12 months in the CPI.

Section 31 also allows new fee amounts to take effect thirty days after notice in the Federal Registration and the Official Gazette of the Patent and Trademark Office.

Recovery Level Determination: Fees have been adjusted for a planned recovery of $486,000,000 in fiscal year 1993, as proposed in the Administration's budget request to the Congress.

Fees established by 35 U.S.C. 41(a) and 41(b) (patent statutory fees) may be adjusted on October 1, 1992, to reflect any fluctuations occurring during the previous 12 months in the CPI. The Office of Management and Budget (OMB) has determined that the PTO should use Consumer Price Index-U to adjust patent statutory fees. The Department of Labor's Consumer Price Index is made public approximately 21 days after the end of the month being calculated. The patent statutory fees are being adjusted by 3.3 percent, which reflects the Administration's projected Consumer Price Index-U for the 12-month period beginning October 1, 1991.

The patent statutory fees established by rule (56 FR 65142) on December 13, 1991, are being adjusted by the projected changes in the CPI of 3.3 percent. Amounts were rounded by applying standard arithmetic rules so that the amounts rounded would be convenient to the user. Fees of $100 or more were rounded to the nearest $10. Fees between $2 and $99 were rounded to an even number so that the comparable small entity fee would be a whole number.

Patent statutory fees also are subject to the provisions of the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990, as amended by Public Law 102-204. These provisions require that $99 million be collected in fiscal year 1993 for deficit reduction purposes in lieu of seeking general taxpayer funds from the U.S. Treasury. The $99 million is deposited in a special account in the U.S. Treasury, and is reserved exclusively for use by the PTO, and is made available to the PTO through the appropriation process.

In establishing the 1993 patent statutory fees, the PTO applied the projected Consumer Price Index-U rate of 3.3 percent to the 1992 fees. The 1993 fees were rounded as explained above. Of the total amount of section 41(a) and (b) income expected to be collected in 1993, $99 million must be deposited to the Fee Surcharge Fund.

Non-statutory patent service fees established under section 41(d) of title 35, United States Code, as amended, and PCT processing fees are being adjusted to recover planned costs in 1993, except in the case of three patent service fees set by statue. The three fees are assignment recording fees, printed patent copy fees and photocopy charge fees.

Trademark fees are being adjusted in fiscal year 1993, in the aggregate, to reflect changes over the prior 12 months in the CPI. The OMB has determined that the PTO should use Consumer Price Index-U to adjust trademark fees, which is made public by the Department of Labor approximately 21 days after the end of the month being calculated. The trademark fees are being adjusted, in the aggregate, by 3.3 percent, which reflects the Administration's projected Consumer Price Index-U for the 12 month period beginning October 1, 1991. The PTO is adjusting only two trademark fees in 1993: for filing an application (37 CFR § 2.6(a)(1)) and for assignment records, abstract of title and certification (37 CFR § 2.6(b)(7)). One new fee is being set for dividing an application (37 CFR 2.6 (a)(19)). No other trademark fees are changing in 1993. The net effect of these changes is to increase trademark fees, in the aggregate, by 3.3 percent, the expected Consumer Price Index-U rate for the prior 12 month period.

Workload Projections: Determination of workloads varies by fee. Principal workload projection techniques are as follows:

Patent and trademark application workloads are projected from statistical regression models using recent application filing trends. Patent issues are projected from an inhouse patent production model and reflect examiner production achievements and goals. Patent maintenance fee workloads utilize patents issued 3.5, 7.5 and 11.5 years prior to payment and assume payment rates of 75 percent, 50 percent and 25 percent, respectively. Trademark affidavit projections are based on filing trends for marks registered five to six years prior to 1993. Trademark renewal projections are based on marks registered 20 years prior to 1993. Service fee workloads follow linear trends from prior year activities.

Public Access to Automated Systems: In April 1989, the PTO began providing access to APS-Text in the Patent Search Room at its facilities in Arlington, Virginia. On February 12, 1990, the PTO began charging a fee for access to APS-Text in the Patent Search Room. In September 1991, the PTO began providing, without charge, APS-Text to 14 Patent and Trademark Depository Libraries (PTDLs) as a pilot test program. APS-Text provides users of the patent search files with a value added search tool that enables them to conduct more comprehensive searches.

Although many PTDLs believe that government information should be available to the public free of charge, the PTO's fiscal year 1993 budget does not include any general taxpayer funds, but requires that all of the expenses of the PTO be recovered through user fees. These expenses include the cost of providing APS-Text to the public, both in the Patent Search Room in Virginia and at the PTDLs. Continuation of this service in the PTDLs, without direct charge to the users of the automated system, would require support from all other customers who pay for products and services from the PTO.

A second issue raised by many PTDLs concerns the method that PTO would use to collect fees from the users of APS-Text in the PTDLs. Users of APS-Text in the Patent Search Room pay for use of the system directly to the PTO. PTDLs have commented that collecting fees would be an administrative burden for many, while some are legally precluded from collecting fees.

The PTO has a strong interest in expanding access to APS-Text to all PTDLs that wish to participate, but considers allocating user fees paid for other products and services to subsidize this effort to be inappropriate. Therefore, PTO concludes that establishment of a fees for access to APS-Text is necessary.

At the same tilne, PTO wants to limit the administrative burden imposed on the PTDLs to collect user fees. Therefore, PTO intends to enter into an agreement establishing a service bureau arrangement for administering the collection of fees at participating PTDLs. This arrangement provides one alternative for providing administrative services, but PTO is seeking others. Therefore, through this rulemaking notice, the PTO is soliciting alternatives from other organizations, including the libraries themselves, for providing the administrative services associated with APS-Text. Likewise, the Office would like to consider other options for accessing patent search and retrieval in the PTDLs. The PTO will accept comments on alternative collection methods, and other options for accessing patent search and retrieval in the PTDLs until January 4, 1993.

In rule 1.21(p), the PTO is establishing a $70 per connect hour fee to recover the cost of providing APS-Text services in participating PTDLs, but the Commissioner is immediately suspending collection of that fee until alternative methods of collecting the fee from users of APS-Text in the PTDLs are identified. Although access to the 14 pilot PTDLs will continue for further evaluation purposes, the PTO will not extend access to additional PTDLs until a fee collection arrangement is established. Section 41(i)(3) of 35 U.S.C. states that if PTO establishes fees for access to the automated search system "a limited amount of free access shall be made available to users of the systems for purposes of education and training."

The $70 per connect hour fee amount established by this rule is based on a calculation of the costs of PTO services, and preliminary cost estimates that were provided by a potential service bureau contractor. The cost elements for PTO include training; training software for personal computers (to be developed); manuals and documentation; additional mainframe CPU; and additional staff time for client support. The cost elements for services provided by the service bureau include billing, account administration, and user support; telecommunication costs to the network; and the Messenger Software enhancement fee.

After PTO has evaluated other options for a service bureau arrangement, a notice will be published in the Federal Registration and the Official Gazette of the Patent and Trademark Office. At that time, PTO will provide administrative procedures for public use of APS-Text in the PTDLs. Depending on responses to the solicitation for alternatives for providing the administrative services associated with APS-Text, the fee amount could be reduced at that time.

General Procedures: Any fee amount that is paid on or after October 1, 1992, would be subject to the new fees then in effect. For purposes of determining the amount of the fee to be paid, the date of mailing indicated on a proper Certificate of Mailing, where authorized under 37 CFR 1.8, will be considered to be the date of receipt in the PTO. A "Certificate of Mailing under Section 1.8" is not "proper" for items which are specifically excluded from the provisions of § 1.8. Section 1.8 should be consulted for those items for which a Certificate of Mailing is not "proper." Such items include, inter alia, the filing of national and international applications for patents and the filing of trademark applications. However, the provisions of 37 CFR 1.10 relating to filing papers and fees with an "Express Mail" certificate do apply to any paper or fee (including patent and trademark applications) to be filed in the PTO. If an application or fee is filed by "Express Mail" with a proper certificate dated on or after the effective date of the rules, as amended, the amount of the fee to be paid would be the fee established by the amended rules.

A comparison of existing and revised fee amounts is included as an Appendix to this final rule.

In order to ensure clarity in the implementation of the revised fees, a discussion of specific sections is set forth below.

DISCUSSION OF SPECIFIC RULES

37 CFR 1.16 National application filing fees.

Section 1.16, paragraphs (a)-(d) and (f)-(j), is revised to adjust patent application filing fees to reflect fluctuations in the CPI.

37 CFR 1.17 Patent application processing fees.

Section 1.17, paragraphs (b)-(g), and (m), is revised to adjust fees established therein to reflect fluctuations in the CPI.

Section 1.17, paragraphs (j), (n) and (o), is revised to adjust fees established therein to recover costs.

37 CFR 1.18 Patent issue fees.

Section 1.18, paragraphs (a)-(c), is revised to adjust the issue fee for each original or reissue patent to reflect fluctuations in the CPI.

37 CFR 1.19 Document supply fees.

Section 1.19, subparagraph (b)(4) and paragraphs (f) and (h), is revised to adjust fees established therein to recover costs.

37 CFR 1.20 Post-issuance fees.

Section 1.20, paragraphs (a), (c) and (i), is revised to adjust fees established therein to recover costs.

Section 1.20, paragraphs (e)-(g), is revised to adjust fees established therein to reflect fluctuations in the CPI.

37 CFR 1.21 Miscellaneous fees and charges.

Section 1.21, subparagraphs (a)(1), (a)(5), (a)(6), (b)(2), (b)(3), and paragraphs (e) and (i), is revised to adjust fees established therein to recover costs.

Section 1.21, paragraph (p), is added to establish the fee for providing public access to the Automated Patent System full-text search (APS-Text) capability in Patent and Trademark Depository Libraries. The $70.00 per connect hour fee would recover the marginal cost of providing the service to the public, including the cost for a service bureau to handle billing, account administration, and user support.

37 CFR 1.26 Refunds.

Section 1.26, paragraph (a), is revised to increase the minimum amount of a refund, without a request, from one dollar to twenty-five dollars in accordance with the Treasury Fiscal Manual, Volume One, Part Six, Chapter 3000.

Section 1.26, paragraph (c), is revised to provide for a refund of $1,690 if the Commissioner decides not to institute reexamination proceedings. The $1,690 refund would apply to those instances where the reexamination fee of $2,250 under 37 CFR 1.20(c) was paid. The current $1,635 refund would be made in those cases where the current $2,180 reexamination fee was paid.

37 CFR 1.445 International application filing, processing, and search fees.

Section 1.445, is revised to adjust the fees authorized by 35 U.S.C. 376 to recover costs.

37 CFR 1.482 International preliminary examination fees.

Section 1.482, subparagraphs (a)(1), and (a)(2)(ii), is revised to adjust the fees authorized by 35 U.S.C. 376 to recover costs.

37 CFR 1.492 National stage fees.

Section 1.492, subparagraphs (a)(1)-(a)(3), and paragraphs (b)-(d), is revised to adjust fees established therein to reflect fluctuations in the CPI.

Section 1.492, subparagraph (a)(5), is revised to adjust the fee authorized by 35 U.S.C. 376 to recover costs.

37 CFR 2.6 Trademark fees.

Section 2.6, subparagraphs (a)(1) and (b)(7), is revised to adjust the fees authorized by the Trademark (Lanham) Act of 1946 to reflect fluctuations in the CPI.

New section 2.6(a)(19), is added to establish a fee for dividing a trademark application in accordance with 37 CFR 2.87. Section 2.6(a)(19) is revised from the proposal by adding the words "file wrapper" to clarify that the fee amount is due for each new file wrapper created.

37 CFR 2.87 Dividing an Application.

Section 2.87, is revised to establish a fee for dividing an application into two or more applications. Currently, no fee is charged for the physical act of dividing an application. Experience to date reveals that the creation of so-called "divisional" applications is labor intensive. For that reason, and because the creation of a divisional application is a significant benefit to an applicant, the PTO will charge a fee for dividing an application. The fee will be due for each new file wrapper created.

Section 2.87, is revised to divide paragraph (a) into paragraphs (a) and (b), and renumber paragraphs (b) and (c) as (c) and (d).

Response to Comments on the Rules: A notice of proposed rulemaking to adjust patent and trademark fees in accordance with the proposed provisions of Public Law 102-204 was published in the Federal Register on May 20, 1992, at 57 FR 21536, and in the Official Gazette on May 26, 1992, at 1138 OG 58. Corrections were published in the Federal Register on June 2, 1992, at 57 FR 23257.

A public hearing was held on June 24, 1992. A total of 28 comments were received: 27 respondents submitted written comments and three people presented oral testimony (two of whom also submitted written comments) at the public hearing. Over half of the comments received represented the views of libraries. All of the written and oral comments were considered in adopting the rules set forth herein.

Comment: Two people claimed that the proposed fees for filing an application under the Patent Cooperation Treaty (PCT) is discriminatory against applicants who file under the PCT route.

Response: The PTO is undertaking a thorough analysis of all PCT fees. The results of this analysis, and the recommendations concerning PTO's fee structure to be made to the Secretary of Commerce by the Advisory Commission on Patent Law Reform, will be taken into consideration when PTO proposes the fiscal year 1994 fee adjustments.

Comment: One respondent, although not objecting to the proposed 3.3 percent fee increase, suggested that the PTO may be understating its projected income from maintenance fees which could be used to offset inflationary increases and possibly reduce PCT fees.

Response: When maintenance fees first were imposed, the Office looked at historical payment trends experienced by other offices, such as the European Patent Office. The PTO conservatively projected the number of maintenance fees to be paid for two reasons. First, there is not a long history of maintenance fee payments on which to base income projections; for example, second stage maintenance fees only recently have started to come due, and third stage maintenance fees will not become due for many patent owners until 1995. Second, the percentage of patent owners paying second stage maintenance fees in recent months has declined from the renewal rate that was experienced during the first year that second stage maintenance fees were paid. Therefore, PTO is properly conservative in its maintenance fee payment projections. We will conduct a comprehensive analysis of projected maintenance fee payments prior to proposing the fiscal year 1994 fee adjustment.

Comment: Eighteen respondents opposed establishment of fees for the public to access APS-Text at the Patent and Trademark Depository Libraries, primarily because the public has a right to free access to patent information. One person asked about administrative procedures for providing APS-Text in the PTDLs, and suggested that CD-ROM products continue to be made available free of charge and access fees for APS-Text be kept as low as possible.

Response: As a fully fee-funded agency, the costs to the PTO of providing access to APS-Text in the 74 Patent and Trademark Depository Libraries (PTDLs) would have to be borne either by the individual users of the system, or by all users of the patent system (e.g., patent applicants). In June 1988, the PTO published in 53 Federal Register 23677 the results of comments solicited on alternatives for funding access to the PTO's automated systems. In response, the PTO received 21 comments, 12 of which advocated the use of taxpayer revenues, and seven supported at least some reliance on user fees. The latter based their decisions on the reality of budget deficit problems; the inequity of providing taxpayer funds to subsidize on-line searchers who charge fees for their services; and the need to have an equitable fee structure that applies throughout the United States.

The PTO has a strong interest in expanding access to APS-Text to all PTDLs that wish to participate, with the least amount of administrative burden to the PTDLs, but considers allocating user fees paid for other products and services to subsidize this effort to be inappropriate. Therefore, the PTO is establishing a fee of $70 per connect hour for accessing APS-Text in the PTDLs, which includes the cost of having a service bureau provide billing, account administrative, and user support. However, the Commissioner is immediately suspending collection of that fee to provide additional time to solicit comments through this rulemaking for providing the administrative services associated with APS-Text. Likewise, the Office would like to consider other options for accessing patent search and retrieval in the PTDLs. The Office will publish a notice in the Federal Register and the Official Gazette of the Patent Trademark Office thirty days before it begins collecting a fee for public access tThe PTO has a strong interest in expanding access to APS-Text to all PTDLs that wish to participate, with the least amount of administrative burden to the PTDLs, but considers allocating user fees paid for other products and services to subsidize this effort to be inappropriate. Comment: One respondent claimed that proposed 37 CFR 1.21(p) is not in accord with the rulemaking provision of 5 U.S.C. 553(b) which requires that the issues involved be described in the notice of proposed rulemaking.

Response: The Notice of Proposed Rulemaking 57 FR 21536, referenced 35 U.S.C. 41(i)(3) which authorizes the Commissioner to establish reasonable fees for access to automated search systems of the PTO. Further in the notice at 57 FR 21537, under the discussion of the proposed revision to 37 CFR § 1.21, it was stated that the proposed $40.00 fee would recover the PTO's estimated marginal cost of providing the service to the PTDLs. The notice also indicated the PTO was investigating the use of a contract service bureau to provide access in which case the fee would be approximately $70.00. This fully described the issue involved in the proposed rule change.

Comment: Two respondents commented on the administrative burden caused by a change to the fee structure at this time, particularly in light of prior fee changes and the small amount of the adjustment.

Response : The PTO proposed to adjust its fees because operating costs have increased over the past year. The Commissioner is authorized to adjust patent and trademark fees on October 1, 1992 and every year thereafter to reflect fluctuations in the Consumer Price Index over the prior twelve months. Future charges are expected to occur annually on October 1st. The fee increases that will be implemented on October 1, 1992, are expected to generate $15.1 million. Without this revenue, PTO would be forced to make cuts in patent and trademark operations that would affect the quality of examination.

Comment: One person expressed concern about the quality and timeliness of services for which new or increased fees are proposed, complaining specifically of the delay in receiving an official filing receipt when a trademark application is divided and in the recording of assignments.

Response: A major objective of the Office is to assure continuous quality improvements throughout all operations. The Office has taken steps to address the areas of concern identified.

Comment: One organization and one person objected to the PTO's sole reliance on fee income, particularly for funding automation development costs.

Response: The Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990 requires that a user fee surcharge on certain patent fees replace taxpayer funds for the five year period 1991-1995. Whether PTO should receive funds from other sources in future fiscal years is beyond the scope of the rule package.

The automation programs, which are funded from user fees, are designed to improve the quality and timeliness of PTO services and products, and to discontinue reliance on manual processes and paper references.

Comment: One person said that small entities do not benefit from the 50 percent reduction to certain patent fees, because many small companies, particularly those in high technology areas, must license their patent rights and thus pay large entity status fees.

Response: The purpose of the small entity subsidy is to ensure that individual inventors, small businesses and non-profit organizations are not barred from using the patent system because of the PTO's fee structure. Once a small entity assigns the rights to a patent application or a patent to a large entity, presumably receiving compensation from the large entity, the reduced fee amounts no longer apply.

Comment: One organization said that trademark fees appear to be justified but PTO must ensure that trademark functions are being discharged in the most efficient and economical manner. For example, the organization questioned whether it is efficient for the Office to continue to maintain a paper search file and to continue to pay the General Services Administration (GSA) for building services.

Response: The Office is committed to ensuring that its trademark functions are being discharged effectively and, as part of its quality improvement program, is currently reviewing various work-related processes. No decision has yet been made as to when the paper search file will be eliminated and no such decision will be made until the public has been given an opportunity to comment. The Office has asked GSA to review the level of charges assessed in light of current market conditions.

Other Considerations: The rule change is in conformity with the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (Pub. L. 96-354); Executive Orders 12291 and 12612; and the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501, et seq. There are no information collection requirements relating to patent and trademark fee rules.

The PTO has determined that this notice has no Federalism implications affecting the relationship between the National Government and the States as outlined in Executive Order 12612.

The General Counsel of the Department of Commerce has certified to the Chief Counsel for Advocacy, Small Business Administration, that the rule change would not have a significant adverse impact on a substantial number of small entities (Regulatory Flexibility Act, Pub. L. 96-354). The rule change increases fees by changes in the CPI as authorized by 35 U.S.C. 41(f). Further, the principal impact of the major patent fees has already been taken into account in 35 U.S.C. 41(h), which provides small entities with a 50-percent reduction in the major patent fees.

The PTO has determined that this rule change is not a major rule under Executive Order 12291. The annual effect on the economy would be less than $100 million. There would be no major increase in costs or prices for consumers; individual industries; Federal, state, or local government agencies; or geographic regions. There would be no significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, or innovation, or on the ability of United States-based enterprises to complete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

By other than a small entity $230.00

(If the additional fees required by paragraphs (b), (c) and (d) are not paid on presentation of the claims for which the additional fees are due, they must be paid or the claims cancelled by amendment prior to the expiration of the time period set for response by the Office in any notice of fee deficiency.)

3. Section 2.87 is revised to read as follows:

Section 2.87 Dividing an Application

(a) An application may be physically divided into two or more separate applications upon the payment of a fee for each new application created and submission by the applicant of a request in accordance with paragraph (d) of this section.

(b) In the case of a request to divide out one or more entire classes from an application, only the fee under paragraph (a) of this section will be required. However, in the case of a request to divide out some, but not all, of the goods or services in a class, an application filing fee for each new separate application to be created by the division must be submitted, together with the fee under paragraph (a) of this section. Any outstanding time period for action by the applicant in the original application at the time of the division will be applicable to each new separate application created by the division.

(c) A request to divide an application may be filed at any time between the filing of the application and the date the Trademark Examining Attorney approves the mark for publication or the date of expiration of the six-month response period after issuance of a final action; or during an opposition, upon motion granted by the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board. Additionally, a request to divide an application under section 1(b) of the Act may be filed with a statement of use under § 2.88 or at any time between the filing of a statement of use and the date the Trademark Examining Attorney approves the mark for registration or the date of expiration of the six-month response period after issuance of a final action.

(d) A request to divide an application should be made in a separate paper from any other amendment or response in the application. The title "Request to divide application." should appear at the top of the first page of the paper.

Revision of Patent Fees

Action: Notice of Final Rulemaking and Lifting of Suspension.
Summary: The Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) is amending the rules of practice in patent cases, Part 1 of title 37, Code of Federal Regulations, to adjust certainpatent fee amounts to reflect fluctuations in the Consumer Price Index (CPI) and to recover costs of operation. The PTO also is providing notice that, beginning on October 1, 1994, the suspension of the fee for access to the Automated Patent System's Full Text Search capability (APS-Text) at a Patent and Trademark Depository Library (PTDL) will be lifted. However, the PTO is rescinding this hourly fee, which was established by 37 CFR 1.21(p), and in its place assessing an annual subscription fee on PTDLs providing such service. On October 1, 1994, the PTO also will begin collecting a fee for access to the Automated Patent System's Classified Search and Image Retrieval capability (APS-CSIR) from the search facilities Arlington, Virginia.
Effective Date: October 1, 1994.
For Further Information Contact: Robert Kopson by telephone at (703) 305-8510, fax at (703) 305-8525, or by mail marked to his attention and addressed to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231.
Supplementary Information: This rule change is designed to adjust PTO fees in accordance with the applicable provisions of title 35, United States Code, and section 10101 of the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990 (Public Law 101-508), all as amended by the Patent and Trademark Office Authorization Act of 1991 (Public Law 102-204).

There are two objectives of this final rule package. The first objective is to adjust certain patent fee amounts to reflect fluctuations in the Consumer Price Index (CPI) and to recover costs of operation.

The second objective is to provide notice that PTO is lifting the suspension or on the fee for access to APS-Text at a Patent and Trademark Depository Library (PTDL). This was established by rule on October 1, 1992 (published in the Federal Register on August 21, 1992 at 57 FR 38190). Collection of the fee was immediately suspended by the Commissioner to provide additional time for the PTO to solicit input from the private sector on alternative collection methods, and other options for accessing patent search and retrieval in the Libraries. In response to public comments, the PTO will rescind the fee established by 37 CFR 1.21(p), and assess a subscription fee under 37 CFR 1.21(k) on each PTDL that provides its patrons with access to APS-Text. The basis for the subscription amount is less than the fee amount that was established in 37 CFR 1.21(p). Each participating library will be responsible for establishing policies for providing access to their patrons.

The PTO also will begin charging a fee for on-line access to APS-CSIR at the Patent Search and Image Retrieval Facility (PSIRF) in Arlington, Virginia. Free access to APS-CSIR has been offered at the PSIRF since July 12, 1993. The PTO now will begin recovering the cost of providing this on-line access in accordance with 37 CFR 1.21(k).

The PTO will make any necessary adjustments to these automated system fees based upon actual fiscal year 1995 usage. Future adjustments will be made based upon deviations in system costs and/or public usage.

BACKGROUND

Statutory Provisions

Patent fees are authorized by 35 U.S.C. 41 and 35 U.S.C. 376. A fifty percent reduction in the fees paid under 35 U.S.C. 41(a) and 41(b) by independent inventors, small business concerns, and nonprofit organizations who meet prescribed definitions is required by 35 U.S.C. 41(h).

Subsection 41(f) of title 35, United States Code, provides that fees established under 35 U.S.C. 41(a) and (b) may be adjusted on October 1, 1992, and every year thereafter, to reflect fluctuations in the Consumer Price Index (CPI) over the previous 12 months.

Section 10101 of the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990 (Pub. L. 101-508) provides that there shall be a surcharge on all fees established under 35 U.S.C. 41(a) and 41(b) to collect $107 million in fiscal year 1995.

Subsection 41(d) of title 35, United States Code, authorizes the Commissioner to establish fees for all other processing, services, or materials related to patents to recover the average cost of providing these services or materials, except for the fees for recording a document affecting title, for each photocopy, and for each black and white copy of a patent.

Section 376 of title 35, United States Code, authorizes the Commissioner to set fees for patent applications filed under the Patent Cooperation Treaty (PCT).

Subsection 41(i)(3) of title 35, United States Code, authorizes the Commissioner to establish reasonable fees for access to automated search systems of the PTO.

Subsection 41(g) of title 35, United States Code, provides that new fee amounts established by the Commissioner under Section 41 may take effect thirty days after notice in the Federal Register and the Official Gazette of the Patent and Trademark Office.

Recovery Level Determinations

This rule adjusts patent fees for a planned recovery of $571,439,000 in fiscal year 1995, as proposed in the Administration's budget request to the Congress. The fee amounts established for automated access to PTO's data bases will recover reasonable costs of providing these services to the public. The total amount expected to be collected is consistent with the budgeted amount.

The patent statutory fees established by 35 U.S.C. 41(a) and 41(b) are being adjusted on October 1, 1994, to reflect any fluctuations occurring during the previous 12 months in the Consumer Price Index (CPI-U). In calculating these fluctuations, the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) has determined that the PTO should use CPI-U data as determined by the Secretary of Labor. However, the Department of Labor does not make public the CPI-U until approximately 21 days after the end of the month being calculated. Therefore, the latest CPI-U information available is for the month of May 1994. In accordance with previous rulemaking methodology, the PTO uses the Administration's projected CPI-U for the 12-month period ending September 30, 1994, which is 3.0 percent. Based on this projection, patent statutory fees are being adjusted by 3.0 percent. Before the final fee schedule is published, the fees may be slightly adjusted based on actual data available from the Department of Labor.

Certain non-statutory patent processing fees established under 35 U.S.C. 41(d) and PCT processing fees established under 35 U.S.C. 376 are being adjusted up to the three percent fluctuation in the CPI in order to recover their estimated average costs in 1995. Three patent service fees that are set by statute are not adjusted. The three fees that are not being adjusted are assignment recording fees, printed patent copy fees and photocopy charge fees.

The Office calculated unit costs for all fees based on OMB Circular A-25, "User Fees", and OMB Circular A-130, "Management of Federal Information Resources". Costs were determined from the best available records (for example, financial statements of the Office) and included direct and indirect costs to the Office for carrying out the activity, as directed by OMB Circular A-25. The patent statutory fee amounts were rounded by applying standard arithmetic rules so that the amounts rounded would be convenient to the user.

Fees of $100 or more were rounded to the nearest $10. Fees between $2 and $99 were rounded to an even number so that the comparable small entity fee would be a whole number.

The Office has detailed cost calculation worksheets for each fee amount. These worksheets are available for public inspection in Suite 507 of Crystal Park 1, 2011 Crystal Drive, Arlington, Virginia

Workload Projections

Determination of workloads varies by fee. Principal workload projection techniques are as follows:

Patent application workloads are projected from statistical regression models using recent application filing trends. Patent issues are projected from an in-house patentproduction model and reflect examiner production achievements and goals. Patent maintenance fee workloads utilize patents issued 3.5, 7.5 and 11.5 years prior topayment and assume payment rates of 80 percent, 57 percent and 25 percent, respectively. Service fee workloads follow linear trends from prior years' activities.

Any fee amount that is paid on or after October 1, 1994, would be subject to the newfees then in effect. For purposes of determining the amount of the fee to be paid, the date of mailing indicated on a proper Certificate of Mailing or Transmission, where authorized under 37 CFR 1.8, will be considered to be the date of receipt in the PTO. A Certificate of Mailing or Transmission under Section 1.8 is not "proper" for items which are specifically excluded from the provisions of Section 1.8. Section 1.8 should be consulted for those items for which a Certificate of Mailing or Transmission is not "proper." Such items include, inter alia, the filing of national and international applications for patents. However, the provisions of 37 CFR 1.10 relating to filing papers and fees with an "Express Mail" certificate do apply to any paper or fee (including patent applications) to be filed in the PTO. If an application or fee is filed by "Express Mail" with a proper certificate dated on or after the effective date of the rules, as amended, the amount of the fee to be paid would be the fee established by the amended rules.

COST CALCULATIONS

APS-Text at a Patent and Trademark Depository Library

(PTDL) The costs for one hour terminal session time on APS-Text at a PTDL include licensefees that must be paid to Chemical Abstracts Service (CAS) for its proprietary text and structure search software. Other costs are included for a portion, projected at 3.65 percent, of the lease of a computer mainframe for memory storage purposes; all costs associated with training PTDL staff (equipment rental, materials and time); personnel to provide client support to the PTDLs; and telecommunication costs. A summary of the costs are listed below.

APS-Text Cost of One Hour of Terminal Session Time at a Patent and Trademark Depository Library

Cost Element	Public Share
Client Support Overtime	$10,203
Additional Mainframe Costs	$43,216
Software (license fee)	$273.000
Training Costs	$10.000
Subtotal	$336,419
General & Admin. Overhead @ 12.2%	$40.976
Total Cost	$377,395
Estimated Annual Usage (hours)	54,600
Unit Cost (per hour)	$6.91
Telecommunication Costs (per hour)	$8.00
Total Cost (per hour)	$14.91
Total Cost (per hour - rounded)	$15.00

The PTDLs will pay an annual maximum use subscription rate based on one of five tier levels, roughly equivalent to one to five hours of use per day, five days per week. Each PTDL will select a maximum use subscription tier based on its anticipated usage and be responsible for monitoring their own use. The PTDLs will also be responsible for establishing their own policies regarding the provision of APS-Text in their library. If during the year a PTDL is about to exceed its chosen level of maximum use, the PTDL will be allowed to move to a higher tier (and pay the additional subscription rate) or to use up to the subscribed level and cease continued access mid-year.

Tiers	Annual Usage	Annual Subscription Rate
I	0 - 300 hours	$2,250
II	301 - 600 hours	$6,750
III	601 - 900 hours	$11,250
IV	901 - 1200 hours	$15,750
V	1201 - 1500 hours	$20,250

The subscription rates were derived using the $15.00 per hour access charge previously calculated. There will be no additional charges or refunds to each library. For each tier, a discount mechanism is included in the annual subscription calculation. For example, the annual subscription rate of $2,250 for Tier I is calculated by taking the mean average of the annual usage range (in this case 150 hours is the mean of zero and 300 hours) and multiplying it by the $15.00 per hour access charge. Therefore, fora PTDL in Tier I, any usage over 150 hours is free to the library. But if a PTDL in Tie were to not use at least 150 hours, the PTO would not be required to refund the amount of the subscription fee that was not used.

APS-CSIR at the Patent Search and Image Retrieval Facility (PSIRF)

The costs for one hour terminal session time on APS-CSIR at the PSIRF include proprietary text and structure search software. It is estimated that 40 percent of the terminal time license fees that must be paid to Chemical Abstracts Service (CAS) for its will be used for text searching, which requires the search software from CAS.

Other costs are included for a portion, projected at 2.25 percent, of the lease of a computer mainframe for memory storage purposes; additional personnel for the PSIRFand the Office of Computer and Telecommunications Operations; computer acquisition, installation, and maintenance; supplies and equipment dedicated to public use; and general and administrative overhead. A summary of the costs are listed below.

APS-CSIR Cost of One Hour of Terminal Session Time at the Patent Search and Image Retrieval Facility

Cost Element	Total Cost
Compensation and Benefits	$250,813
Additional Hardware and Mainframe Costs	$226,792
Software (license fee)	$25,000
Supply Costs	$10,512
Installation Costs (amortized)	$25,366
Subtotal	$538,483
Space Costs	$41,759
General & Admin Overhead @ 12.2%	$65,695
Total Cost	$645,937
Estimated Annual Usage (hours)	13,000
Unit Cost (per hour)	$49.68
Rounded Fee Amount (per hour - pro-rated)	$50.00

A comparison of existing and revised fee amounts is included as an Appendix to thisnotice of final rulemaking.

Response to Comments on the Rules

Patent Fee Increase

A notice of proposed rulemaking to adjust patent fees was published in the Federal Register on May 27, 1994, at 59 FR 27519, and in the Official Gazette on June 7, 1994, at 1163 OG 14.

A public hearing was held on June 28, 1994. Three comments were received and considered in adopting the rules set forth herein.

Comments: The respondents, although not objecting to the three percent fee increase, strongly oppose any fee increase for the purpose of making up patent fee surcharge money that is being withheld from the PTO. The respondents support theAdministration's proposal to ensure that all user fees assessed by the PTO are used exclusively by the PTO.

Response: The Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990 (Public Law 101-508) requires the PTO, in fiscal year 1995, to collect $107 million in patent fee surcharges and to deposit these collections to the Patent and Trademark Office Fee Surcharge Fund. In the past, Congress has only appropriated part of these deposits back to the PTO. Deposits not made available to the Office reside in the Fund. To date, the reserve in the Fund is slightly in excess of $35 million. For fiscal year 1995, the PTO requested that all patent fees be provided directly to the Office, thereby eliminating reliance on appropriations from the Fee Surcharge Fund. This language will not be enacted. The House of Representatives has recommended that an additional $18.7 million in patent fee surcharges not be made available to the Office in fiscal year 19 Final action on the 1995 appropriations bill is pending. The Administration does not propose to increase patent fees in fiscal year 1995 other than the increase that reflects fluctuations in the Consumer Price Index.

A fee for access to APS-Text at a PTDL was set in the final rule package published in the Federal Register on August 21, 1992 (57 FR 38189). The final rule became effective October 1, 1992. On that date, the fee took effect but collection was immediately suspended by the Commissioner to provide additional time to solicit input from the private sector on alternative collection methods, and other options for accessing patent search and retrieval in the Libraries.

The Office received six comments.

Comment: Two respondents stated that many of the PTDLs already have considerable experience in collecting fees for access to on-line patent and trademark services provided by private sector vendors. They suggested that mechanisms already in place could be adapted to the collection of fees for PTO-provided services.

These respondents also suggested that the PTO procure access for the PTDLs to private sector on-line patent and trademark services, using a Federal procurement mechanism, such as Fedlink.

Response: The PTO encourages the PTDLs to provide a variety of patent and trademark services for their patrons. However, the PTDLs are not required to provideaccess to private sector on-line services, and the PTO can only provide support and training to the PTDLs for products and services it develops.

In the case of APS access, participation on the part of the PTDLs will be voluntary. With respect to other services, the PTDLs will make the decision as to which ones best fit the needs of their user communities. Fedlink, which provides on-line services to Government agencies, cannot extend its charter to include the PTDLs.

Under the proposed subscription method, libraries should develop policies and procedures which best suit their particular circumstances.

Comment: One respondent suggested that the access to APS be expanded beyond the PTDLs, with a small fee for general use, and discounted fees for independent inventors and/or off-peak usage.

Response: At this time, allowing direct access by the public would impact intemal PTO operations. Access at PTDLs will ensure usage in a controlled environment, where end-users will have access to knowledge and skills of trained librarians.

Comment: One respondent suggested that the PTO permit voluntary participation by the individual PTDLs.

Response: Participation on the part of the PTDLs will be voluntary. The level of participation by the PTDLs will not affect their relationship with the PTO in any manner.

Comment: One respondent suggested that the PTO provide access to APS-Text on a subscription basis. This method would set a fee for anticipated usage over a determined period of time.

Response: The PTO will provide access to APS-Text to the PTDLs on an annual subscription basis. All of the libraries will have the option of subscribing. Each library that chooses to subscribe will establish a policy for providing the public with access to APS-Text.

Comment: One respondent suggested that the PTO set up a system that allows users to input credit or debit card numbers.

Response: Currently, the PTO is studying this collection option. The current equipment in use does not allow access via a credit or debit card. This option may be feasible in the near future.

Other Considerations

This final rule change is in conformity with the requirements of Executive Order 12612, and the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501, et seq. There are no information collection requirements relating to these patent fee rules. This final rule has been determined to be significant for purposes of Executive Order 12866.

The PTO has determined that this final rule change has no Federalism implications affecting the relationship between the National Government and the States as outlined in Executive Order 12612.

The General Counsel of the Department of Commerce has certified to the Chief Counsel for Advocacy, Small Business Administration, that the final rule change would not have a significant impact on a substantial number of small entities (Regulatory Flexibility Act, Pub. L. 96-354). The final rule change increases fees by changes in the CPI as authorized by 35 U.S.C. 41(f). The principal impact of the major patent fees has already been taken into account in 35 U.S.C. 41(h), which provides small entities with a 50-percent reduction in the major patent fees.

Patent and Trademark Automated Search System Fees

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce
Action: Final Rule

Summary: The Patent and Trademark Office (Office) is amending the rules of practice in patent and trademark cases, Parts 1 and 2 of Title 37, Code of Federal Regulations, to set forth fees for public access to the text data bases resident on the Automated Patent System (APS) and the automated trademark search system (T-Search). Pub. L. 100-703, enacted on November 19, 1988, allows the Commissioner to establish reasonable fees for on-line access to the automated search systems.

The Office will provide on-line access to its USPAT data base (full text of U.S. patents issued after 1974), the U.S. classification data from 1790 to the present, and to English abstracts of Japanese and Chinese patents (to the extent they are available), hereinafter referred to as APS-Text, in its Patent Search Room and to T-Search in its Trademark Search Library, located in Arlington, Virginia. Except for a series of pilot experiments which may occur over the next one or two years, the Office does not plan to provide routine remote on-line access to these data bases at any other facilities at the present time. A separate rulemaking process will be followed when the Office determines to provide such remote on-line access.

Both search systems have been made available to the public free of charge since April 3, 1989, for the purposes of education and training (familiarization).

The paper and/or microfilm collections of U.S. patents, foreign patents documents and U.S. trademark registrations continue to be available to the public free of charge, as provided by section 104(b) of Pub. L. 100-703. The Office reaffirms its commitment to hold a public hearing prior to making any decision concerning the elimination of the paper files.

This final rule establishes fees for use of the on-line automated search systems. In addition, procedures for public use of the automated search systems, including training and charging of fees, are presented.

In response to the notice of proposed rulemaking published in the Federal Register on May 3, 1989 (54 FR 18907), and at a public hearing held on June 30, 1989, the Office received many comments regarding problems encountered by the public in the use of T-Search. The Office believes that T-Search has proven effective for searches performed by Trademark examining attorneys in connection with their examination of applications for the registration of marks. Although the Office is establishing a fee for accessing the T-Search system, the Commissioner is immediately suspending collection of that fee to provide additional time for the public to familiarize themselves with T-Search. The Office will provide the public with sixty days notice before starting to collect the fee.

Effective Date: February 12, 1990. Rule 2.6(w) will take effect February 12, 1990 but immediately be suspended by the Commissioner. The Office will provide written notice in the Federal Register sixty days before starting to collect fees for accessing T-Search.

Supplementary Information: The purpose of this final rule is to establish new fees for the on-line use by the public of APS-Text, and T-Search that are to be provided in the Office's facilities in Arlington, Virginia. This final rule is consistent with the Office's Electronic Data Dissemination Policies and Guidelines, which were published in final form in the Federal Register on May 3, 1989, at 54 FR 18920. Establishment and adjustment of patent fees is provided for by section 6 and section 41 of Title 35, United States Code, and section 103(b) of Pub. L. 100-703. Establishment and adjustment of trademark fees is authorized by section 31 of the Trademark (Lanham) Act 1946, as amended (15 U.S.C. 1113), and section 103(a) of Pub. L. 100-703. Information on the procedures for public use of the automated systems, including training, waivers, and the charging of fees, also is presented.

Background: In response to Pub. L. 96-517, the 1980 legislation which amended patent and trademark laws, the Office prepared and submitted a plan for the automation of its operations to Congress on December 13, 1982. The plan centered on two basic concepts: the creation of electronic data bases that (1) would eventually replace the Office's all-paper patent and trademark files, and thereby improve the integrity and quality of Office records; and (2) would support searches, examinations, Office actions and other Office functions through electronic workstations which would provide text and image retrieval capabilities and perform other automation functions.

Over 700,000 active Federal trademark registations have been converted to an electronic data base of textual and digital image data. A computer system has been installed to enable trademark examining attorneys to search the data base for registered and pending trademarks and associated textual data, including marks containing designs, and to retrieve, display and print all information as a substitute for paper file searches. Trademark examining attorneys have been using T-Search exclusively since January 1988 via a network of approximately 40 terminals. After a six-month experimental T-Search evaluation program conducted between June and December 1988, the capability was deployed for public use in the Trademark Search Library on April 3, 1989.

The T-Search "dead data base", trademarks cancelled, expired or abandoned since March 1984, also is available to the public, but approximately 17,000 images are missing and an additional 184,000 registrations and applications have not been quality checked. Trademark examining attorneys do not search this data base in connection with examining activities.

An Automated Patent System (APS) was installed for test and evaluation purposes, using one patent examining group as an operational testbed. Major operational components of APS, that is, large scale computers with conventional magnetic storage devices, a high-speed local data communications network, and electronic workstations equipped with two high resolution graphic displays and laser printers were interconnected on July 1, 1986, to enable system test and evaluation to begin in the testbed group.

On-line access to the full-text of all U.S. patents granted after 1974 and then to English language abstracts of Japanese patents was deployed to the patent examining staff beginning in 1986. On-line access to APS-Text permits examiners to search the text of approximately one million U.S. patents containing more than five billion words. Today, all examiners have been trained in the use of the full-text searching tool, and it has become a routine part of the patent examination process for many examiners. Searches are conducted from approximately 71 single screen text terminals located throughout the Office. The APS-Text capability was deployed to the public in the Patent Search Room on April 3, 1989.

The Office intends to enter the text of virtually all U.S. patents issued after 1970. In addition, selected tubular data and chemical and mathematical equations will be added to the current full text file. Ultimately, approximately 1.2 million U.S. patents will be available to both patent examiners and the public for search in full text form.

Public evaluation of the APS full-text search capability was conducted between January 11 and April 15, 1988. Forty-two (42) public users were trained an APS-Text during January 1988, and allowed first-come/first-serve access to several terminals. Reactions of public users to APS-Text were positive. Public users found APS-Text useful for pre-application and state-of-the-art searches.

A total of 38 public users were trained on T-Search during a public evaluation period conducted between June and December 1988. Preliminary review indicated that public users considered T-Search to be useful both as a source for registrability searching and for verifying paper searches. In addition, T-Search was found to facilitate searches by class and ownership.

Pub. L. 100-703, enacted on November 19, 1988, allows the Commissioner to establish reasonable fees for public access to the automated search systems while it continues the requirements that no more than 30 percent of automation resources may be from user fees and that the Office may not enter into exchange agreements relating to automatic data processing resources.

Section 104(c) of Pub. L. 100-703 allows the Commissioner to waive the payment by an individual of fees for accessing the automated search systems upon a showing of need or hardship, and if such waiver is in the public interest.

The information contained in the automated data bases, which will be available to the public at the Patent and Trademark Office in Arlington, Virginia, is available free of charge at that location in paper form, and is substantially available through commercial vendors. The Office believes it to be in the public interest to waive the fee for public access to its text data bases in situations where access to the data base is needed for a personal, educational purpose by an individual or member of an educational or non-profit organization, or where payment of the fee would pose a genuine financial hardship to the user.

A personal, educational purpose is one in which the person using the data base is attempting to satisfy a personal need, and is not conducting a search or otherwise using the data base for compensation in any form. Examples of appropriate waiver situations would include students or teachers doing a term paper, a university professor collecting background information for the preparation of an application for a research grant. An example of a situation where a waiver would not be appropriate would include an individual doing work for renumeration -- e.g., a law student doing a pre-examination or infringement search for a law firm.

The Commissioner will further consider a fee waiver based on a genuine financial hardship. The person requesting a waiver will be required to provide information that would demonstrate a clear inability to pay the fee.

A waiver for the payment of fees is intended to be granted sparingly, and generally only when terminals are available. It is not anticipated that fees will be waived for any one individual more than once or twice each year. The Commissioner reserves the authority to control access to the data bases and deny a waiver to any individual.

The waiver policy would apply only to use of the automated system, and not to the printing or sale of copies. Any abuse of the waiver policy could lead to a ban on the use of any public search facility for that individual.

Cost Calculations: The Office calculated unit costs for all fees based on OMB Circular A-25 "User Fees", and OMB Circular A-130, "Management of Federal Information Resources." Costs were determined from the best available records (for example, financial statements for the Office) and included direct and indirect costs to the Office of carrying out the activity, as directed by OMB Circular A-25. User charges for both APS-Text and T-Search were based on the marginal costs of providing these services to the public.

In calculating the costs of providing access to T-Search and APS-Text to the public, the Office followed Congressional direction that fees be resonable by reflecting the marginal cost for providing the new service and not include the costs of designing or installing the automated system for use by Office examiners, or the development of the new systems.

Prior to preparation of this final rule, all of the cost assumptions and cost calculations were reviewed and modified to ensure that they included the Office's best estimates and projections.

APS-Text

The Office is establishing the $40.00 fee for each hour of terminal session time on APS-Text. The marginal costs for one hour terminal session time on APS-Text include a portion of the lease cost of a new computer mainframe which originally was to be acquired in fiscal year 1990 for use by Office patent examiners. To meet public search requirements, the mainframe is being leased earlier than originally planned. That portion of lease costs for the three (3) month period March 1990 through May 1990 over and above the lease costs for a mainframe sized to meet only examiner needs is being passed on to the user. After May 1990, the mainframe was intended to be procured and installed to support APS. Therefore, no costs are being passed on to the public user after that time. When public usage reaches the level where a mainframe dedicated for public use is required, fee adjustments will be proposed to pass all of the costs of that mainframe on to the public.

The level of public use will affect the amount of main memory needed to support the additional search sessions. It is projected than an additional increment of main memory will be required in fiscal years 1991 and 1992. This increment would not be required to support the examiner workload alone.

The fee calculations for public access also include the costs for equipment: network interface units, text terminals, printer noise dampeners and text terminal printers.

Other costs include a portion of the license fees that must be paid to Chemical Abstracts Service for its proprietary text and structure search software; additional personnel for the Patent Search Room, and the Office of Information Systems; computer installation costs; supplies and equipment dedicated to public use; and general and administrative overhead.

The Office is providing free access time during training on the automated search systems in accordance with § 104(c) of Public Law 100-703 which reads. "...a limited amount of free access shall be made available to all users of the systems for purposes of education and training."

The usage rate estimates are based on the three-month public user study performed from January through March 1988. For this study, 42 frequent Patent Search Room users were selected to be trained in the use of APS-Text. Three text terminals were made available to the trained public users at no charge. During the three-month study period, use of the three terminals averaged approximately 50 percent. While it is impossible to accurately predict future use by a more diverse group of public users, the cost calculations attempted to take into account the following factors and assumptions:

1. Future public users, on averge, would use APS-Text less frequently than the 42 frequent users selected for the 1988 study, many of whom routinely used commercially available automated text search tools.

2. Collection of a fee for use (as opposed to the absence of any charge during the study) would reduce demand for text search services when compared with usage data obtained during the study period.

3. The potential universe of public users is expected to average no more than 300 per day.

4. The average length of a public user search session is projected to be approximately 22 minutes -- the average length of a search session during the 1988 test of public use.

5. Based on the preceding assumptions, if all 300 potential public users conducted a single search session during a workday, a total of 110 hours of access would be required. Twenty-five text terminals available five days a week, twelve hours a day, would provide a maximum potential of 300 hours of available text search time. Under these assumptions, the number of text terminals appeared to be adequate for the foreseeable future.

6. For purposes of actual use of available text terminals, the following estimates were used:

(a) In fiscal year 1990, between four (4) and six (6) terminals would be available during the first quarter. An estimate of 45 percent utilization of available text terminal time was projected. By increasing the number of text terminals to 10 in January 1990 and 20 in April 1990, an estimate of 40 percent utilization of available text terminal time was projected. By increasing the number of text terminals to 25 in July 1990, an estimate of 35 percent utilization of available text terminal time was projected.

(b) During fiscal year 1991 and beyond, stable levels of usage were projected to be achieved, yielding an estimated 35 percent average utilization of the 25 available terminals. This utilization rate equates to 105 session hours per day, or an average of 4.2 session hours per terminal per day. At an average of 22 minutes per session, a total of 286 search sessions per day. Although usage rates since the system was made available to the public in April 1989 have been higher than projected, the Office believes these projections are valid for the three-year fee cycle.

T-Search

The marginal cost for one hour of terminal session time on T-Search includes the costs of personnel in the Trademark Search Library, maintenance of the T-Search terminals, routine site preparation, supplies and forms, and general and administrative overhead. The Office is establishing the $40.00 fee for each hour of terminal session time on T-Search, but is immediately suspending collection of that fee in order to provide public users additional time to familiarize themselves with the system.

The comments submitted in response to the proposed rulemaking indicate that the public users have not adequately adjusted to the T-Search system. During the period collection of the fee is suspended, the public will have an opportunity to better learn the system so as to perform more effective searches than they may be experiencing now. The Office will publish a notice in the Federal Register sixty days before it begins collecting a fee for public access to T-Search.

Usage rates for T-Search during fiscal years 1990-1992 were projected to be 28 percent of the hours the system would be available to the public. This rate was extrapolated from actual usage rates during the T-Search public user pilot program which was conducted from June through December 1988. A total of 38 members of the public were trained on T-Search, and about 24 to 28 public users were active on T-Search each month. The overall usage rate of these active users was 14 percent of the hours the system was available to the public. In projecting usage rates on which to base a fee amount, it was anticipated that the overall number of users and the usage rate would double once T-Search was made available in the Trademark Search Library to all users of that search facility and training was provided on a routine basis. Although usage rates since the system was made available to the public in April 1989 have been higher projected, the Office believes these projections are valid for the three-year fee cycle.

A summary of the fee calculations are as follows:

The proposed fee of $25.00 for each hour of Office staff search assistance to conduct a search using T-Search has been withdrawn. The T-Search system can be used by the public with routine assistance provided by the regular staff of the Trademark Search Library. This is similar to assistance on how to use the paper files now provided free of charge by the Trademark Search Library staff. Office employees will neither work one-on-one with members of the public in conducting searches, nor conducted searches for members of the public.

Rounding Procedures: Fee amounts were rounded so that the amount rounded would be de minimis and convenient to the user. This procedure is consistent with section 103(b) of Pub. L. 100-703 which allows the Office to adjust patent fees in the aggregate, and with section 103(a) of Pub. L. 100-703 which allows the Office to adjust trademark fees in the aggregate.

The Office has detailed cost calculation worksheets for each fee item, which are available for public inspection in Suite 904 of Building 2, Crystal Park at 2121 Crystal Drive, Arlington, Virginia.

PROCEDURES FOR PUBLIC USE OF APS-TEXT AND T-SEARCH

Patent Search Room Configuration

Initially four (4) text search terminals will be installed and available for public use in the Patent Search Room. A printer will be associated with each text search terminal. An additional terminal will be located in Patent Search Room employee office space for control and adminstrative activities. Up to twenty-one (21) more terminals and printers are planned to be added for public use during fiscal year 1990, if necessary.

Trademark Search Library Configuration

Initially three (3) T-Search terminals with associated printers all be installed and available for public use in the Trademark Search Library. The terminals will be clustered in one area of the Trademark Search Library. An additional terminal will be located in Trademark Search Library employee office space for control and administration activities. Additional terminals printers will be added as demand warrants and space permits.

Training

To enable prospective public users to become effective on APS-Text, approximately fourteen (14) hours of free basic training is being offered. For those familiar with automated search systems, a shorter course of six (6) hours is provided. Ten (10) members of the public can be trained during each class. Training is being held at the Office's Arlington, Va. complex during normal work hours.

Four (4) hours of basic training is being offered on the use of T-Search. For those familiar with automated search systems, a shorter course of one (1) hour is available. T-Search training is being held in the Office's Arlington, Va. complex during morning, evening and weekend hours.

Enrollment in all training classes initially was on a lottery basis. Public users who wished to be trained on APS-Text or T-Search were required to submit an application form. The Office is now accepting requests for training and adding the names to the list. As of August 31, 1989, 696 people or 70 percent of all those requesting training have been trained.

System Use and Fee Procedures

To ensure equity of public access to the automated systems, as well an efficient operations, rules for use will be posted at the terminals. Users of the systems will be expected to comply with the rules and with all other regulations regarding the use of facilities.

Users are strongly encouraged to register in advance for system use. Each week, the next week's schedule will be available in the Patent Search room and the Trademark Search Library. Should requests for blocks of terminal time exceed the availability of terminals, limits on the amount of reserved time may be instituted. Up to three (3) of the initial four (4) terminals in the Patent Search Room and up to two (2) of the initial three (3) terminals in the Trademark Search Library will be allocated to public users with advance reserved times. The remaining terminal in the Patent Search Room will be available for walk-up users and for assisted searches for infrequent users. The remaining terminal in the Trademark Search Library will be available for walk-up users. The terminal time reservation system and the number of terminals available for walk-up public use and for assisted searches (in the Patent Search Room) is subject to change based upon operational experience.

All public use of APS-Text and T-Search, with the exception of scheduled training classes, is on a pre-payment basis. In pre-paying for use of the systems, the public may use a blank signed check, major credit card or charge to a deposit account. At the end of the search or the pre-paid amount of time, users will receive an accounting from Patent Search Room or Trademark Search Library staff for terminal time used and prints produced. The user must then finalized payment.

Discussion of Specific Rules

37 CFR 1.21 Miscellaneous fees and charges.

Section 1.21 is amended to add new paragraph (o) to set the fees for access to the Automated Patent System full-text search capability (APS-Text) and to provide for the waiver of fees under certain circumstances.

Section 1.21 is amended to add new paragraph (p) to set the fees for APS-Text search assistance by Office staff.

Section 1.21 is amended to add new paragraph (q) to set the fee for a printed copy from APS-Text.

37 CFR 2.6 Trademark fees

Section 2.6 is amended to add new paragraph (w) to set the fees for access to the automated trademark search system (T-Search) and to provide for the waiver of fees under certain circumstances.

Section 2.6 is amended to add new paragraph (x) to set the fee for a printed copy from T-Search.

A final rule package establishing two new fees under the provisions of Pub. L. 100-667, the Trademark Law Revision Act of 1988, has been published which added paragraphs (u) and (v) to section 2.6. Therefore, the rule has been modified from the proposal to add paragraphs (w) and (x) instead of paragraphs (u), (v) and (w).

Response to Comments on the Rules

A notice of proposed rulemaking to establish a basis for the charges for use of the on-line automated search systems in the Patent Search Room and Trademark Search Library located at the Patent and Trademark Office in Arlington, Virginia was published in the Federal Register on May 3, 1989, at 54 FR 18907. Corrections were published in the Federal Register on May 12, 1989, at 54 FR 20670. A notice also was published on May 30, 1989, in volume 1102 of the Official Gazette of the United States Patent and Trademark Office, pages 94 through 98 for patents, and pages 96 through 100 for trademarks.

A public hearing was conducted on June 30, 1989. A total of 25 comments were received: 24 respondents submitted written comments and five people presented oral testimony (four of whom also submitted written comments) at the public hearing. On the 25 comments, twelve (12) were from individuals, seven (7) from libraries, five (5) from organizations and one (1) from business. All of the written and oral comments were considered in adopting the rules set forth herein.

Many of the comments from the representatives of the Patent Depository Libraries raised questions or commented on the proposed rules from the perspective of their impact on Patent Depository Libraries. The proposed rules and policies set forth in the Federal Register Notice of May 3, 1989 are applicable only to the automated search systems provided in PTO's facilities located in Arlington, Virginia. When the Office is prepared to offer the automated search systems at the Patent Depository Libraries, a proposed notice will be published for public comment. Therefore, any comments relating to procedures for accessing the automated search systems in the Patent Depository Libraries will not be addressed at this time.

Comment: Overall, nine respondents acknowledged the usefulness of the automated search systems, particularly APS-Text. Although seven respondents alleged that T-Search is not adequate to meet the needs of the public, that its response time is too slow, and that it is not sufficiently accurate to meet the specific needs of the commentor, most of these respondents acknowledged that T-Search had the potential for being a useful tool. Documentaton of specific problems, for example, those associated with conducting a phonetic search, were provided. Two respondents said that T-Search is flawed and the decision to require examiners to use the system on an exclusive basis was ill-advised and regrettable.

Response: Trademark examining attorneys have been using T-Search for word mark searches since August 1987, and for word mark and design searches since January 1988. The public has been using the system since April 3, 1989.

The minutes to the September 27, 1988, meeting of the Public Advisory Committee for Trademark Affairs, express the view that: "...T-Search searches are more thorough than manual searches." The transcript to that meeting contains the following comments: "I don't think there is any question, but a T-Search [sic] properly done gives an excellent result" and "...from the corporate point of view, ... I am pleased to say that I like what I see. I like the very fast action we're getting on the first action." From the transcript to the February 23, 1988 meeting: "I'd like to start with a glowing report. I think that the registration process is working very well. From my own personal experience in terms of what the examiners are doing, they get an A plus. They're really doing a good job."

The concensus of the management of the Trademark Examining Operation is that the T-Search system meets the needs of the Office at this time. There is no indication in any records or activities in the PTO which would indicate that the use of T-Search has caused a deterioration in the quality of searches conducted by Trademark examining attorneys.

The difference between the perceptions of the Trademark examining attorneys and the public may be attributed to several factors; Trademark examining attorneys use the system on a daily basis; they know what the system can do and what it cannot do and avoid the latter; and they know how to utilize the system's functionalities to perform the best search possible. Further, Trademark examining attorneys do different types of searches, and have different needs, than the public. T-Search use statistics for the period April 1989 through August 1989 demonstrate that the public is making extensive use of the system. Following is a summary of those statistics:

Month	Available Hours	Hours Used By Public	Rate of Usage	Average Session Time
April	513	108	21%	13.02 min.
May	513	126	24%	12.25 min.
June	627	183	29%	10.84 min.
July	570	186	33%	12.51 min.
August	656	217	33%	9.66 min.

This usage rate compares favorably to the projected usage rate of 28 percent.

Comment: Seven respondents claimed that the paper Trademark files have been allowed to deteriorate and, therefore, are not reliable for use by the public.

Response: The Office contracts for file maintenance sevices in both the Trademark Search Library and the Patent Search Room. Among the tasks performed by the contractor in the Trademark Search Library are maintaining the pending files, filing newly registered Trademarks, pulling erroneous registrations from the file, etc. The contract for the Trademark Search Library includes a monitoring system based on MIL-STD 105, which is a sampling plan that provides a 97 percent accuracy level. Once the contractor completes a task, Office staff check the required sample levels to ensure that filing was performed accurately. The Office is constantly monitoring the status of the paper files, but notes that maintenance of paper file integrity is subject to inherent limitations.

Comment: In view of the above comments about the inadequacy of the Trademark paper search files and T-Search, six respondents advocated the need for T-Search, at no charge to the user, as an adjunct or back-up to the paper files. One respondent suggested a similar arrangement in the Patent Search Room.

Response: The Office has adopted the $40.00 fee amount for one hour of terminal session time on both APS-Text and T-Search. In order to give the public more time to become familiar with the T-Search system, the Commissioner is immediately suspending collection of that fee. This will enable users to learn the system so as to perform more effective searches. The Office will publish a notice in the Federal Register announcing its decision regarding the imposition of the fee at least 60 days before starting to collect the fee amount. At that time, the Office also will publish validated cost estimates based on usage rates and actual costs documented from the present time to the time the decision to collect a fee is made.

Comment: Two respondents claimed that the objective of automation necessarily comtemplated a free search system to give meaning to the constructive notice provisions of the Trademark Act.

Response: Registration of a trademark constitutes constructive notice and records of all active trademark registrations and pending applications are available for searching free of charge in the paper file and on TRAM (Trademark Reporting and Monitoring System) data base.

Comment: One respondent claimed that PTO is required to provide access to disclosed patent information as the information is made public; four respondents were opposed to the Office charging fees for accessing the automated search systms; two other respondents commented that the Office should not charge fees for using systems designed to be the sole searching source of the public records which the Office is charged by law to provide; and one respondent commented that the proposal to limit access to the automated data bases only to those who can pay a fee is deplorable policy at a time when there is concern about industrial competitiveness with Japan.

Response: The Office will continue to make the paper and/or microfilm collections of U.S. patents, foreign patent documents and U.S. trademark registrations available for pubic access free of charge. The Office also has adopted a policy whereby the hourly terminal session fee for access to the data base can be waived when it is needed for a persgnal, educational purpose by an individual or member of an educational or non-profit organization, or where payment of the fee would pose a genuine financial hardship to the user. In this way, the Office will continue to provide public access to all available information free of charge.

Comment: One respondent commented that user fees for electronic data is a form of dual taxation when information was gathered, organized and produced at taxpayers expense; and two respondents claimed that users of information have contributed up to 30 percent of the $120 milllion for development of the APS system to date — in other words, the public already has paid for APS.

Response: In calculating the proposed fees, the Office is consistent with the Office of Management and Budget's proposed policy on user charges for Government information products, as clarified in the June 15, 1989 Federal Register notice entitled "Second Advance Notice of Further Policy Development on Dissemination of Information." In that notice, OMB's stated policy is that user charges for Government Information products should be no higher than a level sufficient to recover the costs of disseminating, not collecting, the information.

The costs associated with the fees for accessing APS-Text and T-Search are directly related to the public's use of the systems; for example, the costs associated with the acquisition of the APS-Text terminals that are being used by the public. No costs associated with designing or installing the automated system for use by Office examiners, or the development of the new systems have been included. Neither have costs been included for gathering, organizing or producing information.

The Federal Register notice of June 15, 1989 (54 FR 25554, 25558) dealing with policy development on dissemination of information states that: "As to double taxation, OMB notes that user charges policy has a basis in statute (31 U.S.C. 9701), and the Congress has not viewed user charges as double taxation because they are applied when the recipient receives special benefits."

Comment: Two respondents stated that Government information is the same, whether it is provided in printed or electronic form.

Response: Charging fees for access to the automated search systems is consistent with PTO's fee policy. For example, fees are charged for manual search services (e.g., for a search of Office records or for a search of assignment records), and for printed copies of patents and trademarks and for copies of Office documents.

Comment: The Japanese system is available at four locations at no cost, and includes U.S. information made available at U.S. taxpayer expense.

Response: The Japanese automated search system, like the automated search systems in the PTO's search facilities, is being made available free of charge at the present time. The costs of such use, however, are being paid from general fee revenues collected by the Japanese Patent Office. Additionally, the APS-Text system currently includes Japanese English language abstracts and the Office is in the process of acquiring Japanese patent information in digital facsimile form.

Comment: One respondent commented that PTO has no responsibility to provide an expensive, complex, internal Government on-line value-added computer service, that this is far beyond the requirements of public access to patent files; and another respondent commented that it is in the public interest to have the same system that is being used by the examiners also available to the public.

Response: The Office agrees that it is in the public interest to provide the same search system capability to the public that is being used by the examiners.

Comment: One respondent stated that providing free access is not competing with the private sector, and that there always is a place for the private sector to provide value-added information.

Response: The user charges adopted for public access to the APS-Test and T-Search systems are consistent with OMB Circulars A-25 "User Charges" and A-130 "Management of Federal Information Resources", and with the PTO's Electronic Data Dissemination Policies and Guidelines. The PTO's user's fees are designed to recover the marginal costs associated with providing access to the automated search systems to the public.

Comment: Five respondents stated that the proposed fees are not "reasonable" and the Office does not have documented cost estimates and usage rates to support the proposed fee amounts.

Response: The Office is meeting Congressional direction to establish "reasonable" fees by recovering only the marginal costs associated with providing public access to the automated search systems. Costs and projected usage rates were determined from the best available records, for example, financial statements for the Office and the results of the public evaluations of the APS-Text and T-Search systems. A summary of the costs used in the fee calculations is included above under "Cost Calculations." Full details of these cost calculations are available for public inspection at the Patent and Trademark Office in Suite 904 of Building 2, Crystal Park, at 2121 Crystal Drive, Arlington, Virginia.

Comment: Two respondents questioned the proposed fees for search assistance. If the search assistance is similar to that which is provided free now, there should be no fee. If the search assistance entails doing searches, the Office should not be getting into that business.

Response: The PTO is withdrawing the proposed fee for staff search assistance to conduct a search using T-Search capabilities. The fee for staff search assistance to conduct a search using APS-Text capabilities is being adopted, because an untrained user cannot conduct a search without significant help from Office staff. Users of course, have the option of obtaining free training on the system.

Comment: One respondent commented that user fees cannot be justified under the theory that electronic search provides a new service or offers an enhancement to the public's ability to search the patent data base, and that the public has an option of paying the fee or using the paper files. Another respondent commented that APS-Text and T-Search represent enhancements to services already provided.

Response: The fees are specifically authorized under $ 104 (c) of Pub. L. 100-703 and are calculated to allow recovery of only the marginal cost for providing the system to the public.

Comment: Two respondents claimed that the Office should ask Congress for funding to offer free access here and at the PDLs.

Response: It continues to be PTO policy, consistent with OMB Circular A-130, that costs for access to the automated search systems be borne by those who actually use the automated search systems.

Comment: One respondent claimed that the accuracy of the trademark data base is suspect.

Response: All of the backfile data base elements (registrations issued prior to September 9, 1980) have been corrected except owner information. As originally planned, the owner field will be cleaned up the active registrations issued prior to September 9, 1980. It is projected that this owner field will be cleaned up by the third quarter of fiscal year 1991.

Comment: Three respondents claimed that the public requires access to the dead data base.

Response: The Office will consider this proposal further. The dead data base is now available in electronic format for all applications and registrations that were active on January 1, 1983 and are now inactive. However, many of these records are of poor quality. Costs for cleaning up these records would be significant, and those costs would likely be reflected in the T-Search user fee.

Comment: Four respondents addressed the fee waiver policy. The proposal to waive fee appears inconsistent wih PTO's position that the free paper search files provide an equal and viable resource to anyone not wanting to pay for the automated files. If paper records are inferior, then anyone seeking access to T-Search should be able to qualify for the fee waiver. If the paper records are adequate, then there should be no need to waive the access fee for anyone.

Response: The waiver policy authorized by Pub. L. 100-703 is designed for those individuals who, for some reason in the public interest, such as an educational purpose, need the capabilities of the automated system, for example, to manipulate the data.

Comment: One respondent commented that the procedure to enroll people in training classes by the use of a lottery was unfair and that everyone who wants to be trained should be enrolled.

Response: The lottery was a method for establishing the initial schedules to provide training. Everyone who requests training will be trained. As of August 31, 1989, 449 out of 623 people requesting training on APS-Text, and 247 out of 376 people requesting training on T-Search have been trained.

Comment: One respondent commented that advance registration is an unrealistic approach for many searchers.

Response: At least one terminal in the Patent Search Room and one in the Trademark Search Library will be available for walk-up users. The other terminals will be available first for users with a reservation and then, if needed, for walk-up users. The system is designed to ensure equity of public access to the automated systems.

Comment: Two respondents asked for information justifying that this is not a "Major Rule" as defined by Executive Order 12291, and that the rule will not have a significant adverse impact on small entities.

Response: The no "major rule" determination and no significant adverse impact on small entities was based on the fact that the automated systems are being offered only at the Patent and Trademark Office's public search facilities located in Arlington, Virginia. The total number of users of these facilities averages less than 400 a day, and many of these users are members of law firms or commercial search services. The annual effect on the economy is expected to be about $1 million, far less than the $100 million annual threshold specified in the Executive Order. The fees for accessing the automated search systems are reasonable and should not burden small entities and, at the same time, the Office is continuing to maintain the paper search files which are available to the public free of charge. Finally, there should be no significant adverse effects on competition, because the systems are being offered only at one location, the Patent and Trademark Office in Arlington, Virginia, and the public may continue to use paper files without payment of any fee.

Comment: Five respondent commented that user fees burden small entities and run counter to a fundamental objective of the patent system which is to advance technology through dissemination of the technical information contained in patents.

Response: The Office does not believe that the fee amounts adopted will burden small entities or negatively impact the dissemination of technical information. The Office also will continue to maintain the paper search files using taxpayer funds, and provide access to the public free of charge. Further, the Office has adopted a fee waiver policy whereby the fee amount can be waived where access to the data base is needed for a personal, educational purpose by an individual or member of an educational or non-profit organization, or where payment of the fee would pose a genuine financial hardship to the user. Full details are included above under "Background".

Comment: One respondent commented that the Office needs a policy to ensure that no user of the patent and trademark information is disenfranchised due to an inability to pay for the services necessary to its access.

Response: The Commissioner will consider a fee waiver for users with a genuine financial hardship.

Other Considerations:

The rule change is in conformity with the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (Pub. L. 96-354), Executive Orders 12291 and 12612, and the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501, et seq. There are no information collection requirements relating to patent and trademark fee rules.

The Office has determined that this notice has no Federalism implications affecting the relationship between the National Government and the States as outlined in Executive Order 12612.

The General Counsel of the Department of Commerce has certified to the Chief Counsel for Advocacy, Small Business Administration, that the rule change will not have a significant adverse economic impact on a substantial number of small entities (Regulatory Flexibility Act, Pub. L. 96-354). The rules make the Office's on-line, automated patent full-text search and trademark search systems available to the public at rates significantly less than commercial systems.

The Office has determined that this rule change is not a major rule under Executive Order 12291. The annual effect on the economy will be less than $100 million. There will be no major increase in costs or prices for consumers, individual industries, Federal, State or local government agencies, or geographic regions. There will be no significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or on the ability of United States-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

Patent and Trademark Automated Search System Fees

Action: Listing of suspension of final rule
Summary: The Patent and Trademark Office (Office), on December 11, 1989, amended the rules of practice in patent and trademark cases, Parts 1 and 2 of Title 37, Code of Federal Regulations, setting forth the fees for public access to the Office's text data bases: the Automated Patent System (APS) and the automated trademark search system (T-Search). 54 FR 50942. That final rule became effective on February 12, 1990. On that date, 37 CFR 2.6(w), dealing with T-Search fees, took effect, but was immediately suspended by the Commissioner.

The collection of the fee was initially suspended to permit users to become familiar with the T-Search system. The T-Search system has been available to the public since April 1989, a sufficient time for users to become familiar with the system. Therefore, as provided in the final rule, the Office now gives notice that the suspension is lifted. The Office will begin to collect the fees set forth in 37 CFR 2.6(w) sixty (60) days from the date of this notice. Cost estimates based on usage and actual costs are available for inspection in the Office of Long-Range Planning and Evaluation, Room 507, Crystal Park 1, Crystal Drive, Arlington, Virginia.
Dates: The suspension of 37 CFR 2.6(w) is lifted as of Nov. 13, 1990. The collection of fees under 37 CFR 2.6(w) will begin on November 13, 1990

Supplementary Information:

Background

This proposed rulemaking sets forth distinct procedures directed towards determining and improving the quality and reliability of United States patents. The procedures are proposed to provide for the expanded reexamination of patents as proposed in H.R. 1732.

Discussion of General Issues Involved

The proposals are in response to H.R. 1782 which resulted from suggestions and comments to the Administration by the public, bar groups, and the August 1992 Advisory Commission on Patent Law Reform suggesting more participation in the reexamination proceeding by third party requesters. Under the rules proposed herein, third party requesters will have greater opportunity to participate in reexamination proceedings in keeping with the spirit and intent of the proposed law. At the same time, participation will be limited to minimize the costs and other effects of reexamination requests on patentees.

If H.R. 1732 is amended during the legislative process, the final rules will comply with this legislation as enacted. If H.R. 1732 is not enacted, the proposed rules that would implement expanded reexamination of patents would be withdrawn.

Because reexaminations filed before the proposed law takes effect will continue to be governed by 37 CFR 1.501 - 1.570, to avoid confusion between the new and old rules the newly proposed reexamination rules have been numbered 37 CFR 1.901 - 1.997.

Regarding the reexamination fee, 35 U.S.C. 41(d) requires the Commissioner to set the fee for reexamination at a level which will recover the estimated average cost to the Office. The estimated average cost is $4,500 per patent owner requested reexamination and $11,000 for third party requested reexaminations. The difference in price takes into account the estimate that the examiner will spend twice the amount of time examining a case where a third party requester is present and additional costs incurred during the appellate stages incident to additional processing steps required in the third party proceedings.

Discussion of the Major Specific Issues Involved

The proposed rules relating to reexamination proceedings are directed to the procedures set forth in proposed Chapter 30 of Title 35 of the United States Code (35 U.S.C. 301-307). This proposed Chapter provides for the citation of prior art in patents, filing of requests for reexamination, decisions on such requests, reexamination and appeal from reexamination decisions, and the issuance of a certificate at the termination of the reexamination proceedings.

Section 1.4 is proposed to be amended so that paragraph (a)(2) includes the reexamination §§ 1.901 - 1.997.

Section 1.6 is proposed to be amended so that paragraph(d)(5) incudes § 1.913, which related to the exception of the use of facsimile transmission for filing the request for reexamination.

Section 1.11 is proposed to be amended so that paragraph (c), which relates to reexaminations at the initiative of the Commissioner, includes the reference to reexamination § 1.929.

Section 1.17 is proposed to be amended so that paragraph (l) reflects the fact that in the case of reexaminations filed after January 1, 1996, petitions for revival of a reexamination proceeding terminated for an unavoidable failure to respond require the fees of $55.00 for a small entity and $110.00 for other than small entity. Also, § 1.17 is proposed to be amended so that paragraph (m) reflects the fact that in the case of reexaminations filed after January 1, 1996, petitions for revival of a reexamination proceeding terminated for an unintentional failure to respond require the fees of $605.00 for a small entity and $1,210.00 for other than small entity. The Office has proposed an increase in the fee set by § 1.17(m). See "Revision of Patent and Trademark Fees" published in the Federal Register at 60 FR 27934 (May 26, 1995) and in the Patent and Trademark Office Official Gazette at 1174 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 134 (May 30, 1995).

Section 1.20 is proposed to be amended so that paragraph (c) reflects the fact that in the case of reexaminations filed after January 1, 1996, there is a two tier fee scale in which patent owner requesters will be charged $4,500 and third party requesters will be charged $11,000.

Section 1.25 is proposed to be amended so that paragraph (b), which relates to requests for reexaminations, includes the reference to reexamination § 1.913.

Section 1.26 is proposed to be amended so as to reflect that in the case of reexaminations filed after January 1, 1996, a refund of seventy-five percent (75%) of the fee paid for filing the request for reexamination will be made to the requester.

Section 1.112 is proposed to be amended so that the last sentence reflects the fact that in the case of reexaminations filed after January 1, 1996, the examiner may close prosecution prior to making the action final. Section 1.113, which provides for a final rejection or action in a reexamination proceeding, is proposed to be amended so that its application is limited to applicants and patent owners in reexaminations filed before January 1, 1996. For reexaminations filed after January 1, 1996, the new reexamination rules will apply.

Section 1.115, which provides for amendments by the patent owner in a reexamination proceeding, is proposed to be amended so that its application is limited to applicants and patent owners in reexaminations filed before January 1, 1996. For reexaminations filed after January 1, 1996, the new reexamination rules will apply.

Section 1.116, which provides for amendments after final action in reexamination proceedings, is proposed to be amended so that its application is permissible after an action closing prosecution for patent owners in reexaminations filed on or after January 1, 1996. Also, for clarity, the rule is amended to provide that for reexaminations filed after January 1, 1996, no appeal is permitted until a right of appeal notice has been issued.

Section 1.136, which provides for filing of timely responses with petitions and fee for extension of time and extensions of time for cause, is amended to make it clear that for reexamination proceedings filed on or after January 1, 1996, § 1.957 is controlling for extensions of time.

Section 1.137, which provides for revival of abandoned applications or lapsed patents, is proposed to be amended to change the title and add new paragraphs (g) and (h). Paragraph (f) is proposed to be utilized for provisional applications. Paragraph (g) is proposed to be added to provide for revival of unavoidably terminated proceedings for reexamination proceedings filed before January 1, 1996. Paragraph (h) is proposed to be added to make it clear that for reexamination proceedings filed on or after January 1, 1996, § 1.958 is controlling.

Section 1.191, which provides for appeal to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences by the patent owner from any decision adverse to patentability, is proposed to be amended so as to be applicable to reexaminations filed before January 1, 1996. For reexamination proceedings filed on or after January 1, 1996, § 1.959 is controlling.

Section 1.192, which provides two months from the date of the Notice of Appeal for the patent owner to file an appeal brief in a reexamination proceeding, is proposed to be amended so as to be applicable to reexaminations filed before January 1, 1996. For reexamination proceedings filed on or after January 1, 1996, § 1.965 is controlling.

Section 1.193, which provides for the Examiner's answer and reply brief, is proposed to be amended so as to be applicable to reexaminations filed before January 1, 1996. For reexamination proceedings filed on or after January 1, 1996, §§ 1.969 and 1.971 are controlling.

Section 1.194, which provides for the oral hearing, is proposed to be amended so as to be applicable to reexaminations filed before January 1, 1996. For reexamination proceedings filed on or after January 1, 1996, § 1.973 is controlling.

Section 1.195, which provides for the affidavits or declarations after appeal, is proposed to be amended so as to be applicable to reexaminations filed before January 1, 1996. For reexamination proceedings filed on or after January 1, 1996, § 1.975 is controlling.

Section 1.196, which provides for the decision of the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences, is proposed to be amended so as to be applicable to reexaminations filed before January 1, 1996. For reexamination proceedings filed on or after January 1, 1996, § 1.977 is controlling.

Section 1.197, which provides for action following the decision, is proposed to be amended so as to be applicable to reexaminations filed before January 1, 1996. For reexamination proceedings filed on or after January 1, 1996, § 1.979 is controlling.

Section 1.198, which provides for reopening after the decision, is proposed to be amended so as to be applicable to reexaminations filed before January 1, 1996. For reexamination proceedings filed on or after January 1, 1996, § 1.981 is controlling.

Section 1.301, which provides for appeal by the owner of a patent in reexamination proceedings to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, is proposed to be amended so as to be applicable to reexaminations filed before January 1, 1996. For reexamination proceedings filed on or after January 1, 1996, § 1.983 is controlling.

Section 1.303, which provides for remedy by civil action under 35 U.S.C. 145 for the owner of a patent in reexamination proceedings, is proposed to be amended so as to be applicable to reexaminations filed before January 1, 1996. For reexamination proceedings filed on or after January 1, 1996, § 1.983 is controlling.

Section 1.304 which provides for time for appeal or civil action, is proposed to be amended so as to refer also to § 1.957.

The title to Subpart D is proposed to be amended to provide that the reexamination rules in this part apply only to reexamination proceedings filed before January 1, 1996.

The proposed title to Subpart H provides that the reexamination rules in this part apply only to reexamination proceedings filed on or after January 1, 1996.

Proposed § 1.901 provides a system for citation of patents and printed publications to the Office for placement in the patent file by any person during the period of enforceability of the patent in accordance with 35 U.S.C. 301. The section provides for citations limited to patents and printed publications when the person making the citation states the pertinency and applicability of the citation to the patent and the bearing the citation has on the patentability of at least one claim of the patent. The rule provides that a citation made by the patent owner may include an explanation of how the claims differ from the prior art cited. Any citations which include items other than patents and printed publications will not be entered in the patent file. This does not, of course, limit in any manner the kinds and types of information which can be relied upon in protests against pending patent applications, whether such be original applications or reissue applications. The term "period of enforceability of a patent" includes any period for which recovery can be had for infringement. Under usual circumstances, this would be the term of the patent plus the six years provided by 35 U.S.C. 286.

Proposed § 1.902 provides for the processing of prior art citations during a reexamination proceeding.

Proposed § 1.903 provides for the service of papers on parties.

Proposed § 1.904 provides that the notices published in the Official Gazette will be considered to be constructive notice.

Proposed § 1.905 provides for submission of papers by the public.

Proposed § 1.906 covers the scope of reexamination in a reexamination proceeding. While it is not intended that the examiners will routinely complete a new search when conducting reexamination, the examiners will be free to, and will, very likely, conduct additional searches and cite and apply additional prior patents and publications when they consider it is appropriate and beneficial to do so. Insofar as the actual reexamination is concerned, the examination is only on the basis of patents or printed publications and on the basis of the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 112, except for the best mode requirement. Claims in a reexamination proceeding must not enlarge the scope of the claims of the patent and must not introduce new matter. Paragraph (c) provides that questions relating to matters other than those indicated in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section will not be resolved in a reexamination proceeding, but will be noted by the examiner as being an open question in the record. Patent owners could then file a reissue application if they wish such questions to be resolved.

Proposed § 1.907 sets forth when reexamination is prohibited. Once an order to reexamine has been issued under § 1.931, neither the patent owner nor the third party requester, if any, nor privies of either, may file a subsequent request for reexamination of the patent until a reexamination certificate is issued under § 1.997, unless authorized by the Commissioner. Once a final decision has been entered against a party in a civil action arising in whole or in part under 28 U.S.C. 1338 in which the party did not sustain its burden of proving invalidity of any patent claim in suit, then neither that party nor its privies may thereafter request reexamination of any such patent claim on the basis of issues which that party or its privies raised or could have raised in such civil action, and a reexamination requested by that party or its privies on the basis of such issues may not thereafter be maintained by the Office.

Proposed § 1.909 provides for estoppel of third party requesters from previous reexamination proceedings. A third party requester, or its privy, who, during a reexamination proceeding, has filed a notice of appeal to the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, or who has participated as a party to an appeal by the patent owner, under the provisions of 35 U.S.C. 141 to 144, is estopped from later asserting, in a subsequent reexamination proceeding, the invalidity of any claim determined to be patentable on appeal on any ground which the third party requester, or its privy, raised or could have raised during the prior reexamination proceeding. A third party requester, or its privy, is deemed not to have participated as a party to an appeal by the patent owner unless, within twenty days after the patent owner has filed notice of appeal, the third party (or its privy) files notice with the Commissioner electing to participate.

Proposed § 1.911 provides factors for consideration of privies and persons bound. For the purposes of § 1.907, a determination of whether a person is a privy with respect to the patent owner shall include consideration of whether there is: (1) a mutual, concurrent or successive relationship to the same property rights in the patent involved in the reexamination proceeding; or (2) representation of the interests of the patent owner concerning the patent. For the purposes of §§ 1.907 and 1.909, a determination of whether a person is a privy with respect to a third party requester shall include consideration of whether there is: (1) a mutual, concurrent or successive relationship to the same property rights which are or may be affected by and/or infringe the patent involved in the reexamination proceeding; or (2) representation of the interests of the other party which are or may be affected by and/or potentially infringe the patent. For the purposes of §§ 1.907 and 1.909, a person who is not a party to the reexamination proceeding but who controls or substantially participates in the control of the presentation of the reexamination proceeding on behalf of a party is bound by the determination of issues decided as though he or she were a named party. To have control of the presentation requires that person to have effective choice as to the legal theories and/or grounds of rejection or defenses to be advanced on behalf of the party to the reexamination proceeding. Under this section a party would be precluded from hiring another law firm and having that firm file a subsequent reexamination request in order to avoid the prohibitions of 35 U.S.C. 307(c) or 308.

Proposed § 1.913 sets forth procedures for any person to request reexamination in accordance with 35 U.S.C. 302 and limits the period for such request to the period of enforceability of the patent for which the request is filed.

Proposed § 1.915(a) requires payment of the fee for requesting reexamination. Paragraph (b) of new § 1.915 indicates what each request for reexamination must include. Paragraph (c) of new § 1.915 covers amendments which a patent owner can propose. Such amendments can accompany a request for reexamination by the patent owner. Paragraph (d) indicates that requests for reexamination may be filed by attorneys or agents on behalf of a requester, but it is noted that the real party in interest must be identified in accordance with § 1.915(b)(10).

Proposed § 1.917 indicates what will be done if the request is incomplete.

Proposed § 1.919 indicates the date on which the entire fee is received will be considered to be the date of the request for reexamination.

Proposed § 1.921 provides that prior art submissions by the third party requester filed after the reexamination order shall be limited solely to prior art which is used to rebut a finding of fact by the examiner or a response of the patent owner.

Proposed § 1.923 relates to a determination as to whether the request has presented a substantial new question of patentability under 35 U.S.C. 303 and requires that the determination be made within 3 months of the filing date of the request.

Proposed § 1.925 refers to the refund provisions.

Proposed § 1.927 provides for review by petition to the Commissioner of any decision refusing reexamination.

Proposed § 1.929 provides for reexamination at the initiative of the Commissioner under the provisions of the last sentence of paragraph (a) of 35 U.S.C. 303.

Proposed § 1.931 provides for ordering reexamination where a substantial new question of patentability has been found pursuant to §§ 1.923 or 1.929. Under paragraph (b), the only limitation placed on the selection of the examiner by the Office is that the same examiner whose decision was reversed on petition ordinarily will not conduct the reexamination.

Proposed § 1.933 covers the duty of disclosure by a patent owner in a reexamination proceeding involving the owner's patent.

Proposed § 1.935 indicates that the initial Office action normally accompanies the reexamination order.

Proposed § 1.937 provides that in accordance with 35 U.S.C. 305(c), unless otherwise provided by the Commissioner for good cause, all reexamination proceedings will be conducted with special dispatch. Paragraph (b) covers the basic items relating to the conduct of reexamination proceedings.

Proposed § 1.939 provides that no paper shall be filed before the first Office action.

Proposed § 1.941 provides for proposed amendments provided for in the second sentence of 35 U.S.C. 305. Amendments submitted by the patent owner cannot enlarge the scope of a claim in the patent. Amendments will not be effectively entered into the patent until the certificate under § 1.997 and 35 U.S.C. 307 is issued.

Proposed § 1.943 provides a page limit for responses and briefs of 50 pages. Prior art references and Appendix of claims would not be included in this total.

Proposed § 1.945 provides that a patent owner will be given at least thirty days to respond to any Office action. Although problems may arise in certain cases and extensions of time may be granted, it is felt that relatively short response times are necessary in order to process reexaminations with "special dispatch."

Proposed § 1.947 provides that in accordance with 35 U.S.C. 305 (b)(3), if a patent owner files a response to any Office action on the merits, the third party requester may once file written comments.

Proposed § 1.949 provides when prosecution may be closed.

Proposed § 1.951 provides for responses by the parties after an Office action closing prosecution. The responses and time periods provided for by paragraphs (a) and (b) may run concurrently.

Proposed § 1.953 provides that, following the responses or expiration of the time for response in § 1.951, the examiner may issue a right of appeal notice which shall include a final rejection or final decision favorable to patentability in accordance with 35 U.S.C. 134. The intent of limiting the appeal rights until after the examiner issues a "Right of Appeal Notice" is to specifically preclude the possibility of one party attempting to appeal prematurely while prosecution before the examiner is being continued by the other party.

Proposed § 1.955 relates to the conduct of interviews in reexamination proceedings. The third party requester is permitted to attend all interviews. Interviews are permitted before the first Office action only when initiated by the examiner.

Proposed § 1.957 relates to extensions of time and termination of reexamination proceedings. In circumstances where the response by the patent owner is not required by the examiner and is merely discretionary, such as when all claims are allowed or their patentability is confirmed and the patent owner is merely given the opportunity for comment, such a failure to comment is not the type of lack of response contemplated by paragraphs (b) and (c) and, therefore, not grounds for termination or limiting prosecution.

Proposed § 1.958 relates to revival of terminated proceedings.

Proposed § 1.959 relates to appeals and cross appeals to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences. Both patent owners and third party requesters are given appeal rights in accordance with 35 U.S.C. 306.

Proposed § 1.961 relates to time of transfer of the jurisdiction of the appeal over to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences.

Proposed § 1.962 relates to the definition of appellant and respondent.

Proposed § 1.963 relates to the time periods for filing briefs.

Proposed § 1.965 relates to the appellant brief.

Proposed § 1.967 relates to the respondent brief.

Proposed § 1.969 relates to the examiner's answer.

Proposed § 1.971 relates to the reply brief.

Proposed § 1.973 relates to the oral hearing.

Proposed § 1.975 relates to affidavits or declarations after appeal.

Proposed § 1.977 relates to the decision by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences.

Proposed § 1.979 relates to the procedure following the decision by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences.

Proposed § 1.981 relates to the procedure for reopening prosecution following the decision by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences.

Proposed § 1.983 relates to appeals to the United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit. in accordance with 35 U.S.C. 306. Under H.R. 1732, civil actions under 35 U.S.C. 145 are not permitted in reexamination proceedings filed on or after January 1, 1996.

Proposed § 1.985 relates to notification of prior or concurrent proceedings.

Proposed § 1.987 relates to the stay of concurrent proceedings. Decisions as to whether to delay or combine cases will be made on a case-by-case basis to minimize delays and to protect the interests of all parties concerned.

Proposed § 1.989 relates to the merger of concurrent proceedings.

Proposed § 1.991 relates to the merger of a concurrent reissue application and a reexamination proceeding.

Proposed § 1.993 relates to the stay of a concurrent interference and reexamination proceeding.

Proposed § 1.995 relates to a third party requester's participation rights being preserved in merged proceeding.

Proposed § 1.997 concerns the issuance of the reexamination certificate under 35 U.S.C. 307 after the conclusion of reexamination proceedings. The certificate will cancel any patent claims determined to be unpatentable, confirm any patent claims determined to be patentable, and incorporate into the patent any amended or new claim determined to be patentable. Once all of the claims have been canceled from the patent, the patent ceases to be enforceable for any purpose. Accordingly, any pending reissue or other Office proceeding relating to a patent in which such a certificate has been issued will be terminated. This provides a degree of assurance to the public that patents with all the claims canceled via reexamination proceedings will not again be asserted. It is intended that copies of the certificate will continue to be part of subsequently sold copies of the patent.

Other Considerations

The proposed rule changes are in conformity with the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), Executive Order 12612, and the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq. It has been determined that this rulemaking is not significant for the purposes of Executive Order 12866.

The Assistant General Counsel for Legislation and Regulation of the Department of Commerce has certified to the Chief Counsel for Advocacy, Small Business Administration, that these proposed rule changes will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities (Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 605(b)). The principal impacts of these proposed changes are to expand the grounds for requesting a reexamination and to permit the third party to participate more extensively during the reexamination proceeding as well as having appeal rights.

The Office has also determined that this notice has no Federalism implications affecting the relationship between the National Government and the States as outlined in Executive Order 12612.

These rule changes contain collection of information requirements subject to the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq., which is currently approved by the Office of Management and Budget under Control No. 0651-0033. The public reporting burden for the collection of information for requests for reexamination is estimated to average 2.0 hours each including the time for reviewing instructions, searching existing data sources, gathering and maintaining the data needed, and completing and reviewing the collection of information. Send comments regarding this burden estimate or any other aspect of this collection of information, including suggestions for reducing this burden to the Office of System Quality and Enhancement, Patent and Trademark Office, Washington, D.C. 20231, and to the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs, Office of Management and Budget, Washington, D.C. 20503 (ATTN: Paperwork Reduction Act Project 0651-0033).

Amendments presenting rejected claims in better form for consideration on appeal may be admitted. The admission of, or refusal to admit, any amendment after final rejection, and any proceedings relative thereto, shall not operate to relieve the application or patent under reexamination from its condition as subject to appeal or to save the application from abandonment under § 1.135. Notwithstanding the above, for reexamination proceedings filed on or after January 1, 1996, no appeal may be had until a right of appeal notice has been issued pursuant to § 1.953.

(2) The date on which the response, the petition, and the fee have been filed is the date of the response and also the date for purposes of determining the period of extension and the corresponding amount of the fee. The expiration of the time period is determined by the amount of the fee paid. In no case may an applicant respond later than the maximum time period set by statute, or be granted an extension of time under paragraph (b) of this section when the provisions of this paragraph are available. See § 1.136(b) for extensions of time relating to proceedings pursuant to § 1.193(b), 1.194, 1.196 or 1.197. See § 1.304 for extension of time to appeal to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit or to commence a civil action. (b) When a response with petition and fee for extension of time cannot be filed pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, the time for response will be extended only for sufficient cause and for a reasonable time specified. Any request for such extension must be filed on or before the day on which action by the applicant is due, but in no case will the mere filing of the request effect any extension. In no case can any extension carry the date on which response to an Office action is due beyond the maximum time period set by statute or be granted when the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section are available. See § 1.304 for extension of time to appeal to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit or to commence a civil action, § 1.645 for extension of time in interference proceedings, § 1.550(c) for extension of time in reexamination proceedings filed before January 1, 1996, and § 1.957 for extension of time in reexamination proceedings filed on or after January 1, 1996.

The brief must be accompanied by the requisite fee set forth in § 1.17(f) and must set forth the authorities and arguments on which the appellant will rely to maintain the appeal. REEXAMINATION PROCEEDINGS

§ 1.903 Service of papers on parties.

The patent owner and any third party requester will be sent copies of Office actions issued during the reexamination proceeding. After filing of a request for reexamination by a third party requester, any document filed by either the patent owner or the third party requester must be served on every other party in the reexamination proceeding in the manner provided in § 1.248. Any document must reflect service or the document may be refused consideration by the Office. The failure of the third party requester, if any, to timely file or serve documents may result in their being refused consideration.

§ 1.904 Notice of reexamination in Official Gazette.

A notice of the filing of a reexamination request or initiation of a Commissioner-ordered reexamination will be published in the Official Gazette. The notice published in the Official Gazette under § 1.11(c) will be considered to be constructive notice of the reexamination proceeding and reexamination will proceed.

§ 1.905 Submission of papers by public.

Unless specifically provided for, no submissions on behalf of any third parties other than third party requesters as defined in 35 U.S.C. 100(e) will be considered unless such submissions are (1) in accordance with § 1.915 or (2) entered in the patent file prior to the date of the order to reexamine pursuant to § 1.931. (b) Claims in a reexamination proceeding must not enlarge the scope of the claims of the patent.

(c) Questions other than those indicated in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section will not be resolved in a reexamination proceeding. If such questions are raised by the patent owner or third party requester during a reexamination proceeding, the existence of such questions will be noted by the examiner in the next Office action, in which case the patent owner may desire to consider the advisability of filing a reissue application to have such questions considered and resolved.

§ 1.907 Reexamination prohibited.

(a) Once an order to reexamine has been issued under § 1.931, neither the patent owner nor the third party requester, if any, nor privies of either, may file a subsequent request for reexamination of the patent until a reexamination certificate is issued under § 1.997, unless authorized by the Commissioner.

(b) Once a final decision has been entered against a party in a civil action arising in whole or in part under 28 U.S.C. 1338 that the party has not sustained its burden of proving invalidity of any patent claim in suit, then neither that party nor its privies may thereafter request reexamination of any such patent claim on the basis of issues which that party or its privies raised or could have raised in such civil action, and a reexamination requested by that party, or its privies, on the basis of such issues may not thereafter be maintained by the Office.

§ 1.909 Estoppel of third party requester from previous reexamination proceedings.

A third party requester, or its privy, who, during a reexamination proceeding, has filed a notice of appeal to the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, or who has participated as a party to an appeal by the patent owner, under the provisions of 35 U.S.C. 141 to 144, is estopped from later asserting, in a subsequent reexamination proceeding, the invalidity of any claim determined to be patentable on appeal on any ground which the third party requester, or its privy, raised or could have raised during the prior reexamination proceeding. A third party requester, or its privy, is deemed not to have participated as a party to an appeal by the patent owner unless, within twenty days after the patent owner has filed notice of appeal, the third party, or its privy, files notice with the Commissioner electing to participate.

§ 1.911 Privies and persons bound.

(a) For the purposes of § 1.907, a determination of whether a person is a privy with respect to the patent owner shall include consideration of whether there is:

(1) a mutual, concurrent or successive relationship to the same property rights in the patent involved in the reexamination proceeding; or

(2) representation of the interests of the patent owner concerning the patent.

(b) For the purposes of §§ 1.907 and 1.909, a determination of whether a person is a privy with respect to a third party requester shall include consideration of whether there is:

(1) a mutual, concurrent or successive relationship to the same property rights which are or may be affected by and/or infringe the patent involved in the reexamination proceeding; or

(2) representation of the interests of the other party which are or may be affected by and/or potentially infringe the patent.

(c) For the purposes of §§ 1.907 and 1.909, a person who is not a party to the reexamination proceeding but who controls or substantially participates in the control of the presentation of the reexamination proceeding on behalf of a party is bound by the determination of issues decided as though he or she were a named party. To have control of the presentation requires that person to have effective choice as to the legal theories and/or grounds of rejection or defenses to be advanced on behalf of the party to the reexamination proceeding.

DETERMINING IF REEXAMINATION WILL BE ORDERED

§ 1.913 Persons eligible.

Except as otherwise provided, any person may, at any time during the period of enforceability of a patent, file a request for reexamination by the Patent and Trademark Office of any claim of the patent on the basis of prior art patents or printed publications cited under § 1.901 or on the basis of the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 112 except for the best mode requirement.

§ 1.915 Content of request.

(a) The request must be accompanied by the fee for requesting reexamination set in § 1.20(c).

(b) Any request for reexamination must include the following parts:

(1) A statement pointing out each substantial new question of patentability based on prior patents and printed publications or based on the manner in which the patent specification or claims fail to comply with the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 112 except for the best mode requirement.

(2) An identification of every claim for which reexamination is requested.

(3) A detailed explanation of the pertinency and manner of applying the cited prior art to every claim for which reexamination is requested or a detailed explanation of the manner in which the specification or claim(s) fail to comply with 35 U.S.C. 112 except for the best mode requirement. If appropriate, the party requesting reexamination may also point out how claims distinguish over cited prior art or how 35 U.S.C. 112 requirements are complied with except for the best mode requirement.

(4) A copy of every patent or printed publication relied upon or referred to in paragraphs (b)(1) and (3) of this section accompanied by an English language translation of all the necessary and pertinent parts of any non-English language document.

(5) The entire patent for which reexamination is requested must be furnished in the form of cut-up copies of the original patent with only a single column of the printed patent securely mounted or reproduced in permanent form on one side of a separate paper. A copy of any disclaimer, certificate of correction, or reexamination certificate issued in the patent must also be included.

(6) A certification that a copy of the request filed by a person other than the patent owner has been served in its entirety on the patent owner at the address as provided for in § 1.33(c). The name and address of the party served must be indicated. If service was not possible, a duplicate copy must be supplied to the Office.

(7) If the patent is currently involved in a reexamination proceeding for which a reexamination certificate has not been issued, a certification that the person making the request is not a privy of the patent owner or third party requester, unless otherwise authorized by the Commissioner.

(8) In a request filed by a third party requester, a certification that (i) no final decision has been entered against that party or its privies in a civil action arising in whole or in part under 28 U.S.C. 1338 in which that party or its privies did not sustain its burden of proving the invalidity of any patent claim in suit and (ii) neither that party nor its privies are requesting reexamination of any such patent claim on the basis of issues which that party or its privies raised or could have raised in such civil action.

(9) In a request filed by a third party requester, a certification that the request does not assert the invalidity of any claim determined to be patentable on appeal on any ground which the third party requester or its privy raised or could have raised during a prior reexamination proceeding in which that party or its privies filed a notice of appeal to the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit and/or participated as a party to an appeal by the patent owner, under the provisions of 35 U.S.C. 141 to 144.

(10) A statement identifying the real party in interest to the extent necessary for a subsequent person filing a reexamination request to determine whether that person is a privy.

(c) A request filed by the patent owner may include a proposed amendment in accordance with § 1.121(f).

(d) If a request is filed by an attorney or agent identifying another party on whose behalf the request is being filed, the attorney or agent must have a power of attorney from that party or be acting in a representative capacity pursuant to § 1.34(a).

§ 1.917 Omission of a requirement in the request for reexamination.

If the request is not accompanied by the fee for requesting reexamination or all of the other parts required by § 1.915, the person identified as requesting reexamination will be so notified and given an opportunity to complete the request within a specified time. If the fee for requesting reexamination has been paid but the defect in the request is not corrected within the specified time, the determination whether or not to institute reexamination will be made on the request as it then exists. If the fee for requesting reexamination has not been paid, no determination will be made and the request will be placed in the patent file as a citation if it complies with the requirements of § 1.901 and/or § 1.902.

§ 1.919 Filing date for request for reexamination.

The filing date of the request is the date on which the request including the entire fee for requesting reexamination is received; or, if the request is not initially accompanied by the entire fee, the date on which the last portion of the fee is received in the Patent and Trademark Office.

§ 1.921 Submission of prior art by third party following the order for reexamination.

Prior art submissions by the third party requester filed after the reexamination order shall be limited solely to prior art which is used to rebut a finding of fact by the examiner or a response of the patent owner.

§ 1.923 Examiner's consideration of the request for reexamination.

Within three months following the filing date of a request for reexamination, an examiner will consider the request and determine whether or not a substantial new question of patentability affecting any claim of the patent is raised by the request and the prior art cited therein, with or without consideration of other patents or printed publications, or by the failure of the patent specification or claim(s) to comply with the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 112 except for the best mode requirement. The examiner's determination will be based on the claims in effect at the time of the determination and will become a part of the official file of the patent and will be mailed to the patent owner at the address as provided for in § 1.33(c) and to the person requesting reexamination.

§ 1.925 Partial refund if request is denied.

Where no substantial new question of patentability has been found, a refund of a portion of the fee for requesting reexamination will be made to the requester in accordance with § 1.26(c).

§ 1.927 Petition to review denial of the request for reexamination.

The requester may seek review by a petition to the Commissioner under § 1.181 within one month of the mailing date of the examiner's determination refusing reexamination. Any such petition must comply with § 1.181(b). If no petition is timely filed or if the decision on petition affirms that no substantial new question of patentability has been raised, the determination shall be final and nonappealable.

REEXAMINATION OF PATENTS

§ 1.929 Reexamination at the initiative of the Commissioner.

The Commissioner, at any time during the period of enforceability of a patent, may determine whether or not a substantial new question of patentability is raised by patents or printed publications which have been discovered by the Commissioner or which have been brought to the Commissioner's attention or by the failure of the patent specification or claim(s) to comply with the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 112 except for the best mode requirement. The Commissioner may order reexamination even though no request for reexamination has been filed in accordance with § 1.915. Normally requests from outside the Patent and Trademark Office that the Commissioner undertake reexamination on his or her own initiative will not be considered. Any determination to initiate reexamination under this section will become a part of the official file of the patent and will be given or mailed to the patent owner at the address as provided for in § 1.33(c).

§ 1.931 Order to reexamine.

(a) If a substantial new question of patentability is found, the determination will include an order for reexamination of the patent for resolution of the question.

(b) If the order for reexamination resulted from a petition pursuant to § 1.927, the reexamination will ordinarily be conducted by an examiner other than the examiner responsible for the initial determination under § 1.923.

INFORMATION DISCLOSURE

§ 1.933 Information material to patentability in reexamination proceedings.

(a) A patent by its very nature is affected with a public interest. The public interest is best served, and the most effective reexamination occurs when, at the time a reexamination proceeding is being conducted, the Office is aware of and evaluates the teachings of all information material to patentability in a reexamination proceeding. Each individual associated with the patent owner in a reexamination proceeding has a duty of candor and good faith in dealing with the Office, which includes a duty to disclose to the Office all information known to that individual to be material to patentability in a reexamination proceeding. The individuals who have a duty to disclose to the Office all information known to them to be material to patentability in a reexamination proceeding are the patent owner, each attorney or agent who represents the patent owner, and every other individual who is substantively involved on behalf of the patent owner in a reexamination proceeding. The duty to disclose the information exists with respect to each claim pending in the reexamination proceeding until the claim is cancelled. Information material to the patentability of a cancelled claim need not be submitted if the information is not material to patentability of any claim remaining under consideration in the reexamination proceeding. The duty to disclose all information known to be material to patentability in a reexamination proceeding is deemed to be satisfied if all information known to be material to patentability of any claim in the patent after issuance of the reexamination certificate was cited by the Office or submitted to the Office in an information disclosure statement. However, the duties of candor, good faith, and disclosure have not been complied with if any fraud on the Office was practiced or attempted or the duty of disclosure was violated through bad faith or intentional misconduct by, or on behalf of, the patent owner in the reexamination proceeding. Any information disclosure statement must be filed with the items listed in § 1.98(a) as applied to individuals associated with the patent owner in a reexamination proceeding, and should be filed within two months of the date of the order for reexamination, or as soon thereafter as possible.

(b) Under this section, information is material to patentability in a reexamination proceeding when it is not cumulative to information of record or being made of record in the reexamination proceeding, and

(1) It is a patent or printed publication that establishes, by itself or in combination with other patents or printed publications, a prima facie case of unpatentability of a claim; or

(2) It refutes, or is inconsistent with, a position the patent owner takes in:

(i) Opposing an argument of unpatentability relied on by the Office, or

(ii) Asserting an argument of patentability.

A prima facie case of unpatentability of a claim pending in a reexamination proceeding is established when the information compels a conclusion that a claim is unpatentable under the preponderance of evidence, burden-of-proof standard, giving each term in the claim its broadest reasonable construction consistent with the specification, and before any consideration is given to evidence which may be submitted in an attempt to establish a contrary conclusion of patentability.

(c) The responsibility for compliance with this section rests upon the individuals designated in paragraph (a) of this section, and no evaluation will be made by the Office in the reexamination proceeding as to compliance with this section. If questions of compliance with this section are discovered during a reexamination proceeding, they will be noted as unresolved questions in accordance with § 1.906(c).

OFFICE ACTIONS AND RESPONSES (BEFORE THE EXAMINER)

§ 1.935 Initial Office action normally accompanies order to reexamine.

The order for reexamination will normally be accompanied by the initial Office action on the merits of the reexamination.

§ 1.937 Conduct of Reexamination.

(a) All reexamination proceedings, including any appeals to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences, will be conducted with special dispatch within the Office, unless the Commissioner makes a determination that there is good cause for suspending the reexamination proceeding. A final determination that good cause exists shall not be made until the patent owner and third party requesters (if any) have had a reasonable opportunity to comment on or oppose any suspension.

(b) Except as otherwise provided, the reexamination proceeding will be conducted in accordance with the sections governing the application examination process; §§ 1.104 through 1.119, and will result in the issuance of a reexamination certificate under § 1.997.

§ 1.939 Unauthorized papers.

Unless authorized by the reexamination regulations (§§ 1.901-1.997), no paper shall be filed prior to the first Office action. If an unauthorized paper is filed by the patent owner or third party requester, it will not be considered in making the determination under § 1.923 and will be returned.

§ 1.941 Amendments by patent owner and their effective date.

(a) Any proposed amendment to the description and claims must be made in accordance with § 1.121(f) and be accompanied by an explanation of the support for the proposed amendment in the disclosure of the patent. No amendment may enlarge the scope of the claims of the patent or introduce new matter. No amendment may be proposed for entry in an expired patent. Moreover, no amendment will be incorporated into the patent by certificate issued after the expiration of the patent.

§ 1.943 Length of responses and briefs.

Responses and appellant briefs by the patent owner (including amendments) and third party requester, if any, shall not exceed 50 pages in length, excluding Appendix of claims and reference materials such as prior art references. All further briefs by any party shall not exceed 35 pages in length.

§ 1.945 Response by patent owner.

The patent owner will be given at least thirty (30) days to respond to any Office action. Such response may include arguments in response to any rejections and/or proposed amendments or new claims to place the patent in condition where all claims, if amended as proposed, would be patentable.

§ 1.947 Response by third party requester to patent owner's response.

If the patent owner files a response to an Office action, any third party requester may once file written comments within a period of one month from the date of service of the patent owner's response. These comments shall be limited to issues covered by the action or the patent owner's response.

§ 1.949 Examiner's Office action closing prosecution.

Upon consideration of the issues and/or grounds of rejection a second or subsequent time, or upon allowance of all claims, the examiner shall issue an Office action treating all claims present in the reexamination proceeding, which may be an action closing prosecution. An action will not normally close prosecution if it includes a new ground of rejection which was not previously addressed by the patent owner, unless the new ground was necessitated by an amendment.

(a) After any action closing prosecution issued by the examiner, the third party requester may once file written comments limited to the issues raised in the Office action closing prosecution. Such comments must be filed within the time set for response in the action closing prosecution. When the third party requester does file such comments, the patent owner may file comments responding to the third party requester's comments within one month from the date of service of the third party requester's comments on the patent owner.

(b) After any action closing prosecution issued by the examiner, the patent owner may once file written comments limited to the issues raised in the reexamination proceeding and/or present a proposed amendment to the claims which amendment will be subject to the criteria of § 1.116 as to whether it shall be entered and/or considered. Such comments and/or proposed amendments must be filed within the time set for response in the action closing prosecution. Where the patent owner does file such comments and/or proposed amendment, the third party requester may file comments responding to such comments and/or proposed amendments by the patent owner within one month from the date of service of patent owner's comments and/or proposed amendment on the third party requester.

§ 1.953 Examiner's Right of Appeal Notice.

Upon considering the responses of the patent owner and any third party requester subsequent to the Office action closing prosecution, or upon expiration of the time for submitting such responses, the examiner shall issue a "Right of Appeal Notice," unless the examiner reopens prosecution. The "Right of Appeal Notice" shall include a final rejection and/or final decision favorable to patentability which shall identify the status of each claim and reasons for patentability or grounds of rejection for each claim. It shall set a 30-day or one month time period, whichever is longer, for either party to appeal. If no appeal follows, the reexamination proceeding will be terminated and the Commissioner will proceed to issue a certificate under § 1.997 in accordance with the last action of the Office.

INTERVIEWS

§ 1.955 Interviews in reexamination proceedings.

(a) Interviews in reexamination proceedings pending before the Office between examiners and the owners of such patents or their attorneys or agents of record must be had in the Office at such times, within Office hours, as the respective examiners may designate. Interviews will not be permitted at any other time or place without the authority of the Commissioner. Interviews should be arranged for in advance. A third party requester may not initiate an interview. A third party requester has a right to participate in an interview initiated by the patent owner or the examiner and must be given adequate notice and opportunity to participate. A senior level Office official will be present when the interview is attended by a third party requester.

(b) Interviews for the discussion of the patentability of claims in patents involved in reexamination proceedings will not be initiated by the patent owner prior to the first office action thereon.

(c) In every instance of an interview with an examiner, each party must present a statement of the issues which were discussed. An interview does not remove the necessity for response to Office actions as specified in § 1.111.

EXTENSIONS OF TIME AND REVIVAL OF PROCEEDINGS

§ 1.957 Extensions of time and cause for termination in reexamination proceedings.

(a) The time for taking any action by a patent owner or third party requester in a reexamination proceeding will be extended only for sufficient cause, and for a reasonable time specified. Any request for such extension must be filed on or before the day on which action by the patent owner or third party requester is due, but in no case will the mere filing of a request effect any extension. See § 1.304(a) for extensions of time for filing a notice of appeal to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit.

(b) If the patent owner fails to file a timely and appropriate response to any Office action in a reexamination proceeding, the reexamination proceeding will be terminated and the Commissioner will proceed to issue a certificate under § 1.997 in accordance with the last action of the Office, unless there is a third party requester and claims are found patentable.

(c) If there is a third party requester and claims are found patentable, and the patent owner fails to file a timely and appropriate response to any action in a reexamination proceeding, prosecution will be limited to claims found patentable at the time of the failure to respond and to claims which do not enlarge the scope of the claims found patentable at that time.

§ 1.958 Revival of terminated proceedings.

(a) A reexamination proceeding terminated for failure to prosecute may be revived as a pending proceeding if it is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner that the delay was unavoidable. A petition to revive an unavoidably terminated reexamination proceeding must be promptly filed after the patent owner is notified of, or otherwise becomes aware of, the termination of the proceeding, and must be accompanied by:

(1) a proposed response to continue prosecution of that proceeding unless it has been previously filed;

(2) the petition fee as set forth in § 1.17(l); and

(3) a showing that the delay was unavoidable. The showing must be a verified showing if made by a person not registered to practice before the Patent and Trademark Office.

(b) A reexamination proceeding terminated for failure of the patent owner to prosecute may be revived as a pending proceeding if the delay in prosecution was unintentional. A petition to revive an unintentionally terminated reexamination proceeding must be:

(1) accompanied by a proposed response to continue prosecution of that proceeding unless it has been previously filed;

(2) accompanied by the petition fee as set forth in § 1.17(m);

(3) accompanied by a statement that the delay was unintentional. The statement must be a verified statement if made by a person not registered to practice before the Patent and Trademark Office. The Commissioner may require additional information where there is a question whether the delay was unintentional; and

(4) filed either:

(i) within two months of the date of the first Office notification that the proceeding has been terminated; or

(ii) within two months of the date of the first decision on a petition to revive under paragraph (a) of this section which was timely filed within the time period set forth in paragraph (b)(4)(i) of this section.

(c) Any request for reconsideration or review of a decision refusing to revive a proceeding upon petition filed pursuant to paragraphs (a) or (b) of this section, to be considered timely, must be filed within two months of the decision refusing to revive or within such time as set in the decision.

(d) The time periods set forth in this section cannot be extended, except that the time period set forth in paragraph (c) of this section may be extended under the provisions of § 1.957(a).

APPEAL TO THE BOARD OF PATENT APPEALS AND INTERFERENCES

§ 1.959 Notice of appeal and cross appeal to Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences.

(a)(1) Once a "Right of Appeal Notice" has been issued, by filing a notice of appeal within the time provided in § 1.953 and paying the fee set forth in § 1.17(e), the patent owner may appeal to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences with respect to any decision adverse to the patentability of any original or proposed amended or new claim of the patent.

(2) Once a "Right of Appeal Notice" has been issued, by filing a notice of appeal within the time provided in § 1.953 and paying the fee set forth in § 1.17(e), a third party requester involved in a reexamination proceeding may appeal to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences with respect to any final decision favorable to the patentability of any original or proposed amended or new claim of the patent.

(b)(1) Within fourteen days of service of a third party requester's notice of appeal, and upon payment of the fee set forth in § 1.17(e), a patent owner who has not filed a notice of appeal may file a notice of cross appeal with respect to any decision adverse to the patentability of any original or proposed amended or new claim of the patent.

(2) Within fourteen days of service of a patent owner's notice of appeal, and upon payment of the fee set forth in § 1.17(e), a third party requester who has not filed a notice of appeal may file a notice of cross appeal with respect to any final decision favorable to the patentability of any original or proposed amended or new claim of the patent.

(c) The appeal in a reexamination proceeding must identify the claim(s) appealed, and must be signed by the patent owner or third party requester, or their duly authorized attorney or agent.

(d) An appeal when taken must be taken from the rejection of all claims under rejection in a Right of Appeal Notice which the patent owner proposes to contest, or from the determination of patentability of all claims indicated as patentable in a Right of Appeal Notice which the third party requester proposes to contest. Questions relating to matters not affecting the merits of the invention may be required to be settled before an appeal can be considered.

(e) The time periods set forth in §§ 1.959 through 1.969 are subject to the provisions of § 1.957(a) for reexamination proceedings. See § 1.304(a) for extensions of time for filing a notice of appeal to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit.

§ 1.961 Jurisdiction over appeal.

Jurisdiction over the patent under reexamination passes to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences upon transmittal of the file, including all briefs and examiner's answers, to-the Board. Prior to the entry of a decision on the appeal, the Commissioner may sua sponte order the patent remanded to the examiner, for action consistent with the Commissioner's order.

§ 1.962 Appellant and respondent defined.

For the purposes of reexamination, appellant is any party filing a notice of appeal. A respondent is any opposing party responding to the appeal of the appellant. If more than one party appeals, each is an appellant with respect to the claims to which his or her appeal is directed and, to the extent each responds, each is a respondent with respect to the claims to which his or her opponent's appeal is directed.

§ 1.963 Time for filing briefs.

(a) If a party files a notice of appeal or cross appeal, the party must file an appellant brief within two months of the date of filing of their notice of appeal or cross appeal. However, if another party files a notice of appeal or cross appeal subsequent to that of the party, then the party must file an appeal brief within two months of the date of filing of the subsequent notice of appeal or cross appeal, so that the appellant briefs of all parties filing a notice of appeal or cross appeal will be due no later than two months after the last-filed notice.

(b) Once an appellant brief has been properly filed, an opposing party may file a respondent brief within one month from the date of service of the appellant brief. The examiner will consider both the appellant and respondent briefs and prepare an examiner's answer.

(c) The third party requester and the patent owner may each file a reply brief within one month of the date of the examiner's answer. No further brief will be acknowledged or considered.

§ 1.965 Appellant brief.

(a) Appellant(s) shall, within time limits for filing set forth in § 1.963, file a brief in triplicate and serve the brief on all parties in accordance with § 1.903. The brief must be accompanied by the requisite fee set forth in § 1.17(f) and must set forth the authorities and arguments on which appellant will rely to maintain the appeal. Any arguments or authorities not included in the brief will be refused consideration by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences, unless good cause is shown.

(b) On failure of a party to file the brief, accompanied by the requisite fee, within the time allowed, the appeal shall stand dismissed with respect to the claims appealed by that party.

(c) The brief shall contain the following items under appropriate headings and in the order indicated below unless the brief is filed by a party who is not represented by a registered practitioner:

(1) Real Party in Interest. A statement identifying the real party in interest, if the party named in the caption of the brief is not the real party in interest.

(2) Related Appeals and Interferences. A statement identifying by number and filing date all other appeals or interferences known to the appellant, the appellant's legal representative, or assignee which will directly affect or be directly affected by or have a bearing on the Board's decision in the pending appeal.

(3) Status of Claims. A statement of the status of all the claims, pending or cancelled, and identifying the claims appealed.

(4) Status of Amendments. A statement of the status of any amendment filed subsequent to final rejection.

(5) Summary of Invention. A concise explanation of the invention or subject matter defined in the claims involved in the appeal, which shall refer to the specification by column and line number, and to the drawing(s), if any, by reference characters.

(6) Issues. A concise statement of the issues presented for review.

(7) Grouping of Claims. For each ground of rejection, or, in the case where the appeal is by a third party requester, each determination of patentability or determination of inapplicability of a proposed rejection, which appellant contests and which applies to a group of two or more claims, the Board shall select a single claim from the group and shall decide the appeal as to the ground of rejection on the basis of that claim alone unless a statement is included that the claims of the group do not stand or fall together and, in the argument under paragraph (c)(8) of this section, appellant explains why the claims of this group are believed to be separately patentable or unpatentable. Merely pointing out differences in what the claims cover is not an argument as to why the claims are separately patentable.

(8) Argument. The contentions of appellant with respect to each of the issues presented for review in paragraph (c)(6) of this section, and the basis therefor, with citations of the authorities, statutes, and parts of the record relied on. Each issue should be treated under a separate heading.

(i) For each rejection or, in the case where the appeal is by a third party requester, any other determination under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, the argument shall specify the errors in the rejection or other determination and how the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112 is or is not complied with, including, as appropriate, how the specification and drawings, if any,

(A) describe or fail to describe the subject matter defined by each of the appealed claims, and

(B) enable or fail to enable any person skilled in the art to make and use the subject matter defined by each of the appealed claims, and

(ii) For each rejection, or in the case where the appeal is filed by a third party requester, any determination, under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, the argument shall specify the errors in the rejection or other determination and how the claims do or do not particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which appellant regards as the invention.

(iii) For each rejection or, in the case where the appeal is by a third party requester, each determination of patentability, under 35 U.S.C. 102, the argument shall specify the errors in the rejection or determination and why the appealed claims are or are not patentable under 35 U.S.C. 102, including any specific limitations in the appealed claims which are not described in the prior art.

(iv) For each rejection or, in the case where the appeal is by a third party requester, each determination of patentability under 35 U.S.C. 103, the argument shall specify the errors in the rejection or determination and, if appropriate, the specific limitations in the appealed claims which are or are not described in the prior art, and shall explain how such limitations render the claimed subject matter obvious or unobvious over the prior art. If the rejection or determination is based upon a combination of references, the argument shall explain why the references, taken as a whole, do or do not suggest the claimed subject matter, and shall include, as may be appropriate, an explanation of why features disclosed in one reference may or may not properly be combined with features disclosed in another reference. A general argument that all the limitations are or are not described in a single reference does not satisfy the requirements of this paragraph.

(v) For any rejection or, in the case where the appeal is by a third party requester, any determination of patentability, other than those referred to in paragraphs (c)(8)(i) to (iv) of this section, the argument shall specify the errors in the rejection or other determination and the specific limitations in the appealed claims, if appropriate, or other reasons, which cause the rejection or other determination to be in error.

(9) Appendix. An appendix containing a copy of the claims involved in the appeal.

(d) If a brief is filed which does not comply with all the requirements of paragraph (c) of this section, appellant will be notified of the reasons for non-compliance and provided with a period of one month within which to file an amended brief. If the appellant does not file an amended brief during the one-month period, or files an amended brief which does not overcome all the reasons for non-compliance stated in the notification, the appeal will stand dismissed as to that party.

§ 1.967 Respondent brief.

(a) The brief(s) of the respondent(s) specified in § 1.963 must be filed in triplicate, served on all other parties in accordance with § 1.903 and be accompanied by the requisite fee set forth in § 1.17(f). Any arguments or authorities not included in the brief will be refused consideration by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences, unless good cause is shown. The respondent brief shall be limited to issues raised in the appellant brief to which the respondent brief is directed.

(b) The respondent brief shall contain the following items under appropriate headings and in the order here indicated, and may include an appendix containing portions of the record on which reliance is made:

(1) Real Party in Interest. A statement identifying the real party in interest, if the party named as the respondent in the brief is not the real party in interest.

(2) Related Appeals and Interferences. A statement identifying by number and filing date all other appeals or interferences known to the respondent, the respondent's legal representative, or assignee (if any) which will directly affect or be directly affected by or have a bearing on the Board's decision in the pending appeal.

(3) Status of claims. A statement accepting or disputing appellant's statement of the status of claims. If appellant's statement of the status of claims is disputed, the errors in appellant's statement must be specified with particularity.

(4) Status of amendments. A statement accepting or disputing appellant's statement of the status of amendments. If appellant's statement of the status of amendments is disputed, the errors in appellant's statement must be specified with particularity.

(5) Summary of invention. A statement accepting or disputing appellant's summary of the invention or subject matter defined in the claims involved in the appeal. If appellant's summary of the invention or subject matter defined in the claims involved in the appeal is disputed, the errors in appellant's summary must be specified with particularity. A counter explanation of the invention may be made.

(6) Issues. A statement accepting or disputing appellant's statement of the issues presented for review and identifying any examiner's determination not to make a rejection proposed by the third party requester. If appellant's statement of the issues presented for review is disputed, the errors in appellant's statement must be specified with particularity. A counter statement of the issues for review may be made.

(7) Grouping of claims. A statement accepting or disputing any statement by appellant that allowed or rejected claims stand or fall together. If appellant's statement is disputed, the errors in appellant's statement must be specified with particularity. A counter statement may be made.

(8) Argument. A statement accepting or disputing the contentions of the appellant with respect to each of the issues. If a contention of the appellant or a determination of the examiner not to make a rejection proposed by the requester is disputed, the errors in appellant's argument or examiner's determination must be specified with particularity, stating the basis therefor, with citations of the authorities, statutes and parts of the record relied on. Each issue should be treated under a separate heading. An argument may be made with respect to each of the issues stated in the counter statement of the issues, with each counter stated issue being treated under a separate heading. The provisions of §§ 1.965(c)(8)(iii) and (iv) of these regulations shall apply to any argument raised under 35 U.S.C. 102 or 103.

(c) If a respondent brief is filed which does not comply with all the requirements of paragraph (b) of this section, respondent will be notified of the reasons for non-compliance and provided with a period of one month within which to file an amended brief. If the respondent does not file an amended brief during the one-month period, or files an amended brief which does not overcome all the reasons for non-compliance stated in the notification, the respondent brief will not be received into the record and will not be considered.

The primary examiner may, within such time as may be directed by the Commissioner, furnish a written statement in answer to the patent owner's and/or third party requester's appellant brief or respondent brief including such explanation of the invention claimed and of the references and grounds of rejection or reasons for patentability as may be necessary, supplying a copy to the patent owner and each third party requester, if any. If the primary examiner shall find that the appeal is not regular in form or does not relate to an appealable action, he or she shall so state and a petition from such decision may be taken to the Commissioner as provided in § 1.181.

§ 1.971 Reply brief.

(a) The patent owner and any third party requester may each file a reply brief directed only to such new points of argument as may be raised in the examiner's answer, within one month from the date of such answer. The new points of argument shall be specifically identified in the reply brief. If the examiner determines that the reply brief is not directed only to new points of argument raised in the examiner's answer, the examiner may refuse entry of the reply brief and will so notify the appellant.

(b) If the examiner's answer expressly states that it includes a new ground of rejection or allowance of claims not previously allowed, the party adversely affected must file a reply thereto within one month from the date of such answer to avoid dismissal of the appeal as to the claims subject to the new ground of rejection or allowance; such reply may be accompanied by any amendment (in the case of the patent owner) or material appropriate to the new ground. See § 1.957 for extensions of time for filing a reply brief.

§ 1.973 Oral hearing.

(a) An oral hearing should be requested only in those circumstances in which the appellant, or a respondent who has filed a respondent brief under § 1.967, considers such a hearing necessary or desirable for a proper presentation of the appeal. An appeal decided without an oral hearing will receive the same consideration by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences as an appeal decided after oral hearing.

(b) If appellant, or a respondent who has filed a respondent brief under § 1.967, desires an oral hearing, he or she must file a written request for such hearing accompanied by the fee set forth in § 1.17(g) within one month after the date of the examiner's answer. If appellant, or a respondent who has filed a respondent brief under § 1.967, requests an oral hearing and submits therewith the fee set forth in § 1.17(g), an oral argument may be presented by, or on behalf of, the primary examiner if considered desirable by either the primary examiner or the Board. See § 1.957 for extensions of time in a reexamination proceeding.

(c) If no request and fee for oral hearing have been timely filed by an appellant or a respondent who has filed a respondent brief under § 1.967, the appeal will be assigned for consideration and decision. If an appellant or respondent who has filed a respondent brief under § 1.967 has requested an oral hearing and has submitted the fee set forth in § 1.17(g), a hearing date will be set, and notice thereof given to each appellant, to the primary examiner and to each respondent who has filed a respondent brief under § 1.967. The notice shall set a period within which all requests for oral hearing shall be submitted. Hearing will be held as stated in the notice, and oral argument will be limited to twenty minutes for each appellant and respondent, and fifteen minutes for the primary examiner unless otherwise ordered before the hearing begins.

§ 1.975 Affidavits or declarations after appeal.

Affidavits, declarations, or exhibits submitted after the case has been appealed will not be admitted without a showing of good and sufficient reasons why they were not earlier presented.

§ 1.977 Decision by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences.

(a) The Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences, in its decision, may affirm or reverse the decision of the examiner in whole or in part on the grounds and on the claims specified by the examiner, or on the grounds presented by a third party requester, or remand the reexamination proceeding to the examiner for further consideration. The affirmance of the rejection or allowance of a claim on any of the grounds specified constitutes a general affirmance of the decision of the examiner on that claim, except as to any ground specifically reversed or otherwise stated. A rejection of claims by the examiner may also be affirmed on the basis of the arguments presented by the third party requester.

(b) Should the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences have knowledge of any grounds for rejecting any appealed claim not raised in the appeal, it may include in the decision a statement to that effect with its reasons for so holding, which statement shall constitute a new rejection of the claims. A new rejection shall not be considered final for purposes of judicial review. When the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences makes a new rejection of an appealed claim, the patent owner may exercise one of the following two options with respect to the new ground:

(1) The patent owner may submit an appropriate amendment of the claims so rejected or a showing of facts, or both, and have the matter reconsidered by the examiner in which event the patent will be remanded to the examiner. The statement of the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences shall be binding upon the examiner unless an amendment or showing of facts not previously of record be made which, in the opinion of the examiner, overcomes the new ground for rejection stated in the decision. Should the examiner again reject the claims, the patent owner may again appeal to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences.

(2) The patent owner may have the case reconsidered under § 1.979(b) by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences upon the same record. The request for reconsideration shall address the new ground for rejection and state with particularity the points believed to have been misapprehended or overlooked in rendering the decision and also state all other grounds upon which reconsideration is sought. Where request for such reconsideration is made, the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences shall reconsider the new ground for rejection and, if necessary, render a new decision which shall include all grounds upon which a patent is refused. The decision on reconsideration is deemed to incorporate the earlier decision, except for those portions specifically withdrawn on reconsideration, and is final for the purpose of judicial review.

(c) Should the decision of the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences include an explicit statement that a claim may be allowed in amended form, patent owner shall have the right to amend in conformity with such statement which shall be binding on the examiner in the absence of new references or grounds of rejection.

(d) Although the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences normally will confine its decision to a review of rejections and allowances made by the examiner and/or arguments of the third party requester, should it have knowledge of any grounds for rejecting any allowed claim not advanced by the examiner or third party requester, it may recommend a rejection of the claim in its decision and remand the case to the examiner. In such event, the Board shall set a period, not less than one month, within which the patent owner may submit to the examiner an appropriate amendment, a showing of facts or reasons, or both, in order to avoid any grounds for rejection set forth in the recommendation of the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences. The examiner shall be bound by any such recommended rejection and shall enter and maintain the recommended rejection unless an amendment or showing of facts not previously of record is filed which, in the opinion of the examiner, overcomes the recommended rejection. Should the examiner make the recommended rejection final the patent owner may again appeal to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences.

(e) Whenever a decision of the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences includes a remand, that decision shall not be considered a final decision. When appropriate, upon conclusion of proceedings on remand before the examiner, the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences may enter an order otherwise making its decision final.

(f) See § 1.957(a) for extensions of time to take action under this section.

§ 1.979 Action following decision.

(a) After decision by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences, the case shall be returned to the examiner, subject to a right of appeal or other review by the appellant or respondent, for such further action by the patent owner or by the examiner, as the condition of the case may require, to carry into effect the decision.

(b) Each party may file a single request for reconsideration or modification of the decision if filed within one month from the date of the original decision, unless that decision is so modified by the decision on reconsideration as to become, in effect, a new decision, and the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences so states. The request for reconsideration shall state with particularity the points believed to have been misapprehended or overlooked in rendering the decision and also state all other grounds upon which reconsideration is sought. See § 1.957(a) for extensions of time for seeking reconsideration.

(c) The appeal proceedings are considered terminated by the dismissal of an appeal or the failure to timely file an appeal to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit. The date of termination of proceedings is the date on which the appeal is dismissed or the date on which the time for appeal to the Federal Circuit expires. If an appeal to the Federal Circuit has been filed, proceedings are considered terminated when the appeal is terminated. An appeal to the Federal Circuit is terminated when the mandate is received by the Office. Upon termination of the reexamination proceeding, the Commissioner will issue a certificate under § 1.997.

§ 1.981 Reopening after decision.

(a) Cases which have been decided by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences will not be reopened or reconsidered by the primary examiner except under the provisions of § 1.979 without the written authority of the Commissioner, and then only for the consideration of matters not already adjudicated, sufficient cause being shown.

(b) In the event prosecution is reopened or the case is reconsidered by the primary examiner after decision by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences or by the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, any third party requester who appealed or responded under § 1.967 may again present comments pursuant to § 1.947 and may appeal or participate in an appeal by the patent owner pursuant to § 1.959.

APPEAL TO THE UNITED STATES COURT OF APPEALS FOR THE FEDERAL CIRCUIT

§ 1.983 Appeal to the United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit.

Any third party requester or patent owner involved in a reexamination proceeding who is a party to any appeal to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences and who is dissatisfied with the decision of the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences may appeal to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit and may be a party to any appeal thereto taken from a reexamination decision of the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences. The appellant must take the following steps in such an appeal:

(a) in the Patent and Trademark Office file a written notice of appeal directed to the Commissioner (see §§ 1.302 and 1.304); and

(b) in the Court, file a copy of the notice of appeal and pay the fee, as provided for in the rules of the Court. A third party requester is deemed not to have participated as a party to an appeal by the patent owner, and thereby not subject to § 1.909, unless, within twenty days after the patent owner has filed notice of appeal pursuant to § 1.983(a), the third party requester files notice with the Commissioner electing to participate.

PROCEEDINGS INVOLVING SAME PATENT AS IN REEXAMINATION

§ 1.985 Notification of prior or concurrent proceedings.

Any person at any time may file a paper in a reexamination proceeding notifying the Office of a prior or concurrent proceeding in which the same patent is or was involved, such as interferences, reissues, reexaminations, or litigation and the results of such proceedings. Such paper must be limited to merely providing notice of the other proceeding without discussion of issues of the current reexamination proceeding.

§ 1.987 Stay of concurrent proceeding.

If a patent in the process of reexamination is or becomes involved in litigation or a reissue application for the patent is filed or pending, the Commissioner shall determine whether or not to stay the reexamination or reissue proceeding.

§ 1.989 Merger of concurrent reexamination proceedings.

(a) If reexamination is ordered while a prior reexamination proceeding is pending for the same patent, the reexamination proceedings will be merged and result in the issuance of a single certificate under § 1.997.

(b) A reexamination proceeding filed under § 1.915 which is merged with a reexamination proceeding filed under § 1.510 will result in the merged proceeding being governed by §§ 1.901 - 1.997.

§ 1.991 Merger of concurrent reissue application and reexamination proceeding.

If a reissue application and a reexamination proceeding on which an order pursuant to § 1.931 has been mailed are pending concurrently on a patent, a decision may be made to merge the two proceedings or to stay one of the two proceedings. Where merger of a reissue application and a reexamination proceeding is ordered, the merged examination will be conducted in accordance with §§ 1.171 through 1.179 and the patent owner will be required to place and maintain the same claims in the reissue application and the reexamination proceeding during the pendency of the merged proceeding. In a merged proceeding, participation by the third party requester shall be limited to issues within the scope of reexamination. The examiner's actions and any responses by the patent owner or third party requester in a merged proceeding will apply to both the reissue application and the reexamination proceeding and be physically entered into both files. Any reexamination proceeding merged with a reissue application shall be terminated by the grant of the reissued patent.

§ 1.993 Stay of concurrent interference and reexamination proceeding.

If a patent in the process of reexamination is or becomes involved in an interference, the Commissioner may stay reexamination or the interference. The Commissioner will not consider a request to stay an interference unless a motion (§ 1.635) to stay the interference has been presented to and denied by an administrative patent judge and the request is filed within ten (10) days of a decision by an administrative patent judge denying the motion for a stay or such other time as the administrative patent judge may set.

§ 1.995 Third party requester's participation rights preserved in merged proceeding.

When a third party requester is involved in one or more proceedings including a reexamination proceeding, the merger of such proceedings will be accomplished so as to preserve the third party requester's right to participate to the extent specifically provided for in these regulations. In merged proceedings involving different requesters, any paper filed by one party in the merged proceeding shall be served on all other parties of the merged proceeding.

CERTIFICATE

§ 1.997 Issuance of reexamination certificate after reexamination proceedings.

(a) Upon the conclusion of a reexamination proceeding, the Commissioner will issue a certificate in accordance with 35 U.S.C. 307 setting forth the results of the reexamination proceeding and the content of the patent following the reexamination proceeding.

(b) A certificate will be issued in each patent in which a reexamination proceeding has been ordered under § 1.931. Any statutory disclaimer filed by the patent owner will be made part of the certificate.

(c) The certificate will be mailed on the day of its date to the patent owner at the address as provided for in § 1.33(c). A copy of the certificate will also be mailed to the requester of the reexamination proceeding.

(d) If a certificate has been issued which cancels all of the claims of the patent, no further Office proceedings will be conducted with regard to that patent or any reissue applications or reexamination requests relating thereto.

(e) If the reexamination proceeding is terminated by the grant of a reissued patent as provided in § 1.965(d), the reissued patent will constitute the reexamination certificate required by this section and 35 U.S.C. 307.

(f) A notice of the issuance of each certificate under this section will be published in the Official Gazette on its date of issuance.

"(5) The right of the Federal agency to require periodic reporting on the utilization or efforts at obtaining utilization that are being made by the contractor or his licensees or assignees: Provided, That any such information may be treated by the Federal agency as commercial and financial information obtained from a person and privileged and confidential and not subject to disclosure under section 552 of title 5 of the United States Code.

If exclusive field of use licenses are granted, commercial sale or use in one field of use shall not be deemed commercial sale or use as to other fields of use, and a first commercial sale or use with respect to a product of the invention shall not be deemed to end the exclusive period to different subsequent products covered by the invention; (C) a requirement that the contractor share royalties with the inventor; and (D) a requirement that the balance of any royalties or income earned by the contractor with respect to subject inventions, after payment of expenses (including payments to inventors) incidental to the administration of subject inventions, be utilized for the support of scientific research or education.

Any such provision shall clearly state whether the licensing may be required in connection with the practice of a subject invention, a specifically identified work object, or both. The head of the agency may not delegate the authority to approve provisions or sign justifications required by this paragraph.

"(2) A Federal agency shall not require the licensing of third parties under any such provision unless the head of the agency determines that the use of the invention by others is necessary for the practice of a subject invention or for the use of a work object of the funding agreement and that such action is necessary to achieve the practical application of the subject invention or work object. Any such determination shall be on the record after an opportunity for an agency hearing. Any action commenced for judicial review of such determination shall be brought within sixty days after notification of such determination.

" § 203. March-in rights 35 USC 203.

"With respect to any subject invention in which a small business firm or nonprofit organization has acquired title under this chapter, the Federal agency under whose funding agreement the subject invention was made shall have the right, in accordance with such procedures as are provided in regulations promulgated hereunder to require the contractor, an assignee or exclusive licensee of a subject invention to grant a nonexclusive, partially exclusive, or exclusive license in any field of use to a responsible applicant or applicants, upon terms that are reasonable under the circumstances, and if the contractor, assignee, or exclusive licensee refuses such request, to grant such a license itself, if the Federal agency determines that such—

"(b) action is necessary to alleviate health or safety needs which are not reasonably satisfied by the contractor, assignee, or their licensees;

"(c) action is necessary to meet requirements for public use specified by Federal regulations and such requirements are not reasonably satisfied by the contractor, assignee, or licensees; or

" § 204. Preference for United States industry 35 USC 204.

"Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter, no small business firm or nonprofit organization which receives title to any subject invention and no assignee of any such small business firm or nonprofit organization shall grant to any person the exclusive right to use or sell any subject invention in the United States unless such person agrees that any products embodying the subject invention or produced through the use of the subject invention will be manufactured substantially in the United States. However, in individual cases, the requirement for such an agreement may be waived by the Federal agency under whose funding agreement the invention was made upon a showing by the small business firm, nonprofit organization, or assignee that reasonable but unsuccessful efforts have been made to grant licenses on similar terms to potential licensees that would be likely to manufacture substantially in the United States or that under the circumstances domestic manufacture is not commercially feasible. Waiver.

" § 205. Confidentiality 35 USC 205.

"Federal agencies are authorized to withhold from disclosure to the public information disclosing any invention in which the Federal Government owns or may own a right, title, or interest (including a nonexclusive license) for a reasonable time in order for a patent application to be filed. "(B) the desired practical application has not been achieved, or is not likely expeditiously to be achieved, under any nonexclusive license which has been granted, or which may be granted, on the invention,

"(C) exclusive or partially exclusive licensing is a reasonable and necessary incentive to call forth the investment of risk capital and expenditures to bring the invention to practical application or otherwise promote the invention's utilization by the public; and

"(D) the proposed terms and scope of exclusivity are not greater than reasonably necessary to provide the incentive for bringing the invention to practical application or otherwise promote the invention's utilization by the public.

"(2) A Federal agency shall not grant such exclusive or partially exclusive license under paragraph (1) of this subsection if it determines that the grant of such license will tend substantially to lessen competition or result in undue concentration in any section of the country in any line of commerce to which the technology to be licensed relates, or to create or maintain other situations inconsistent with the antitrust laws. "(2) the right of the Federal agency to terminate such license in whole or in part if it determines that the licensee is not executing the plan submitted with its request for a license and the licensee cannot otherwise demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Federal agency that it has taken or can be expected to take within a reasonable time, effective steps to achieve practical application of the invention;

"(3) the right of the Federal agency to terminate such license in whole or in part if the licensee is in breach of an agreement obtained pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section; and

Any such modification shall govern the rights and obligations between such parties from the date of such modification. Modification.

There shall be a separate notice prepared for each patent involved in such proceeding. If an award is modified by a court, the party requesting such modification shall give notice of such modification to the Commissioner. The Commissioner shall, upon receipt of either notice, enter the same in the record of the prosecution of such patent. 2d Session No. 97-542

PATENT AND TRADEMARK OFFICE AUTHORIZATION

May 17, 1982.-Committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union and ordered to be printed

Mr. KASTENMEIER, from the Committee on the Judiciary, submitted the following REPORT

[To accompany H.R. 6260]

[Including cost estimate of the Congressional Budget Office]

The Committee on the Judiciary, to whom was referred the bill (H.R. 6260) to authorize appropriations to the Patent and Trademark Office in the Department of Commerce, and for other purposes, having considered the same, report favorably thereon with an amendment and recommend that the bill as amended do pass.

The amendment strikes out all after the enacting clause of the bill and inserts a new text which appears in italic type in the reported bill.

PURPOSE OF THE BILL

The purpose of H.R. 6260 is to authorize appropriations for the Patent and Trademark Office for fiscal years 1983 through 1985.

STATEMENT

The Subcommittee on Courts, Civil Liberties and the Administration of Justice previously held two days of hearings on the legislation, receiving testimony from a representative group of witnesses including the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, the American Bar Association Section of Patent, Trademark and Copyright Law, the American Patent Law Association, the Patent, Trademark and Copyright Section of the State Bar of Virginia, the United States Trademark Association and the General Patent Counsel of the General Electric Corporation.

H.R. 6260 reflects the recommendation of the Administration with three modifications as follows. First, the Administration proposal authorized the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks to establish fees administratively. The subcommittee approved an amendment to set forth specific fees in the statute and limited the Commissioner's authority to raise fees. Second, the Administration recommended that user fees recover 100% of the costs of actual processing of patents and trademarks. The subcommittee amended the bill to reduce by 50% patent filing and maintenance fees for individual inventors, small businesses and not for profit institutions. The effect of the amendment is to increase by $8 million the authorized appropriation which would have been provided under the original Administration request. Third, the subcommittee adopted a recommendation of the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, the American Bar Association and a coalition of corporate patent counsel permitting arbitration of patent disputes.

H.R. 6260 was considered by the Full Committee on the Judiciary on May 11, 1982 and was approved as reported by the subcommittee with an amendment offered by Mr. Frank described below.

SYNOPSIS OF H.R. 6260

SECTIONS 1-3

Authorizes the Patent and Trademark Office for fiscal year 1983 at an appropriations level of $76,000,000 and for fiscal years 1984 and 1985 such sums as may be necessary. This would be augmented by additional fee income under the bill of approximately $79 million for a total budget of $155 million. In fiscal year 1982 the Patent and Trademark Office was authorized at a level of $118,961,000 of which $29,600,000 was provided through fee income. Fiscal year 1983 will be the first year in which fee income under P.L. 96-517 will be credited to the Patent and Trademark Office without being counted as part of its authorized appropriation. Had this new accounting procedure been applied to fiscal year 1982 the authorization and appropriation for the Patent and Trademark Office would have been $89 million. This constitutes the actual level of taxpayer support of the Office. Thus, H.R. 6260 authorizes the expenditure of tax revenue in fiscal 1983 to support the Patent and Trademark Office at a level $21 million lower than for fiscal 1982. H.R. 6260 proposes to double current fees as the means of making up for the difference between a lower level of taxpayer support and an increased total budget. Further, maintenance fees which were first authorized in P.L. 96-517 and which will not begin to be collected until fiscal year 1986 (Oct. 1, 1985) will also be doubled over the amounts provided for under P.L. 96-517.

The overall objective of H.R. 6260 is to provide for increased user support for the Patent and Trademark Office costs associated with the actual processing of patent applications by fiscal year 1996. The fee schedule is designed to return to the government 100% of actual costs. However, an amendment to the original Administration proposal adopted by the subcommittee would reduce by half the fees for individuals, small businesses and nonprofit inventors. At the present time less than 25% of the actual costs of processing patent applications are supported by fee revenue and under P.L. 96-517, which becomes effective on Oct. 1, 1982, this amount will gradually begin to rise but will only reach 50% of actual costs in 1996.

The amendment offered by Mr. Frank and approved by the Committee modifies that portion of Section 3 of H.R. 6260 dealing with Trademark fees. Public Law 96-517 (35 United States Code, section 31(a)) provides, "Fees will be set and adjusted by the Commissioner to recover in aggregate 50 per centum of the estimated average cost to the Office of such processing. Fees for all other services or materials related to trademarks and other marks will recover the estimated average cost . . . of performing the service or furnishing the material."

The Administration requested that the figure, "50 per centum", be changed to "100 per centum", thus mandating full recovery to the Treasury of all costs associated with processing trademarks. An amendment offered during subcommittee consideration of the legislation proposed to reduce fee generated revenue supporting processing of trademarks to less than the 100 per centum recovery level. The amendment was not agreed to. The author of the amendment, Mr. Frank, then proposed to amend the law to provide a statutory fee schedule which would return revenue to the Patent and Trademark Office at a level designed to recover 100 per centum of costs. However, following consultations with interested parties, Mr. Frank modified his amendment simply to repeal those portions of P.L. 96-517 which mandate a specified level of cost recovery for the processing of trademark registrations. Thus, the level of cost recovery for processing of trademark registrations will be within the discretion of the Commissioner. The Committee is aware of the concerns of users of the Trademark registration system, however, and intends to exercise vigorous oversight with respect to the Commissioner to ensure that fees remain at a reasonable level and that trademark registrations are processed in an efficient and cost effective manner. As part of this oversight, the Committee recommends the following fee structure to the Commissioner for Fiscal Year 1983.

Type of fee:	Proposed fee
Application filing fee per class	$175
Renewal fee	300
Late renewal	100
Section 12(c) claim	100
New certificate	100
Certificate of correction	100
Disclaimer to registration	100
Amendment to registration	100

[1]100 plus for each mark in addition to 1.

Section 3(d) also permits the Commissioner of Patents to accept late payment of maintenance fees where it is established that the delay in payment was unavoidable.
Section 4 permits the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks to appoint temporary examiners in chief for the Board of Patent Appeals to deal more flexibly with workload.
Section 5 permits late filing of the oath and fee accompanying submission of specifications and drawings which accompany patent claims.
Section 6 permits greater flexibility in correcting mistakes in the naming of inventors on a patent application.
Section 7 allocates funds from the Patent and Trademark Office to the Department of State to pay the financial obligations of administering the patent Cooperation Treaty.
Section 8 clarifies the Trademark law with respect to what constitutes use of a mark "in commerce".
Section 9 deletes the burdensome technical requirement that trademark oppositions be verified.
Section 10 makes the date of registration rather than the date of publication the crucial date for purposes of establishing the incontestability of a trademark. This eliminates an ambiguity in the present law.
Section 11 limits the declaration ofinterferences under the trademark law to situations where extraordinary circumstances exist.
Section 12 authorizes the Commissioner of the Patent and Trademark Office the flexibility to deal with problems of delay in filing due to postal service breakdowns.
Section 13 permits the Commissioner of Patents to enter into cooperative studies, programs, exchanges and similar ventures associated with the administration of the Patent Office.
Section 14 conforms U.S. Patent and Trademark Law to a recent international treaty governing diplomatic or consular legalization of documents.
Section 15 corrects a mistaken citation in P.L. 96-517.
Section 16 creates a uniform term for design patents.
Section 17 establishes the effective dates for provisions of the Act. Increased filing fees would apply to all applications made on or after the date of enactment of H.R. 6260.
Section 18 permits voluntary arbitration of patent disputes.

SECTION-BY-SECTION ANALYSIS

SECTION 1

This section authorizes appropriations for the Patent and Trademark Office for the payment of salaries and necessary expenses of the Office. For Fiscal Year 1983, this section authorizes appropriations of $76,000,000, and in fiscal years 1984 and 1985 such sums as may be necessary, as well as such additional and supplemental amounts as may be necessary to cover any increases in salary, pay, retirement, or employee benefits which may be authorized by law. Funds made available by these appropriations are to be used to reduce by 50 per centum the amount of the fees to be paid under title 35, United States Code, section 41(a) and (b) by independent inventors and nonprofit organizations as defined in regulations established by the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, and by small business concerns as defined in section 3 of the Small Business Act and by regulations established by the Small Business Administration.

In addition, fees collected pursuant to title 35, United States Code, and the Trademark Act of 1946, as amended (15 U.S.C. 1051 et seq.), will augment the authorized appropriation to provide the resources needed to conduct the operations of the Office for fiscal year 1983. The total resources for the Office in fiscal year 1983, that is, the amount appropriated pursuant to this section plus fees collected pursuant to the patent and trademark laws, which will be available to the Office, are estimated to be $154,934,000. The corresponding levels for fiscal year 1984 and fiscal year 1985 are estimated in the President's Budget to be $167 million and $176 million, respectively. Any additional amounts to cover increases in salary, pay, retirement, or other employee benefits which may be authorized by law will be in addition to, and will therefore increase, those program levels. Finally, any funds appropriated pursuant to this section and all fees collected, when specified in an appropriation act, will remain available without any fiscal year limitation.

This section provides that, notwithstanding any other provision of law, there is authorized to be appropriated to the Patent and Trademark Office for fiscal year 1982, $121,461,000 and such additional or supplemental amounts as may be necessary for increases in salary, pay, retirement, or other employee benefits authorized by law. This section increases the amount authorized for the Patent and Trademark Office by 2.5 million over that authorized in Public law 97-35. The President is recommending a supplemental appropriation of $2,500,000 for the Patent and Trademark Office for fiscal year 1982 in order to carry out the program recommendations included in his fiscal year 1983 Budget.

SECTION 3

This section establishes certain statutory fees which are to be charged by the Commissioner and authorizes the Commissioner to establish other fees whose amounts are not specifically set. Thus, the major routine fees which are applicable to patents and patent application processing are established (e.g., filing, issuance, and maintenance fees). The Commissioner is authorized to establish fees for all other processing, services, or materials related to patents which are not specifically established by statute. The processing and service fees, which would be established at a level to recover the estimated average costs to the Office. A more specific discussion of the various provisions of this section is set forth below.

Section 3(a) amends section 41(a) of title 35 to provide the amounts of the fees for filing and issuance of patent applications. In addition, the section includes provisions for increasing the filing fees due to increased complexities presented by certain applications, e.g., applications containing more than a specified number of claims and any application containing a multiple dependent claim. The section also provides that fees will be charged when the number of claims is increased above the specified number or when a multiple dependent claim is first presented, whether on filing or at a later point in processing.

Under section 41(a)1, the filing fee for an original patent, except in design or plant cases, is $300. In addition, on filing or on presentation at any other time, $30 is due for each claim in independent form which is in excess of three, $10 is due for each claim (whether independent or dependent) which is in excess of twenty, and $100 is due for each application containing a multiple dependent claim. The latter fee is a one-time charge per application due the first time a multiple dependent claim is presented for examination. For the purpose of computing fees, a multiple dependent claim as referred to in section 112 of title 35, United States Code, or any claim depending therefrom, will be considered as separate dependent claims in accordance with the number of claims to which reference is made. Under the section, errors in payment ofthe additional fees may be rectified in accordance with regulations of the Commissioner. This will enable the Commissioner to establish regulations whereby patent applications may correct, without prejudice, errors in the additional fees, i.e., those in addition to the basic fees established.

Under section 41(a)2, the fee for issuing all original and reissue patents, except in design or plant cases, would be a uniform amount of $500. No supplemental issue fees are required.

Section 41(a)3 establishes fixed fees for filing applications for, and issuance of design and plant patents. For design patent cases, the filing fee would be $200 and the issue fee $250.

Section 41(a)4 relates to fees in reissue cases and establishes a fee of $300 for filing each application for the reissue of a patent. In addition, on filing or on presentation at any other time, $30 is due for each claim in independent form which is in excess of the number of independent claims of the original patent, and $10 is due for each claim (whether independent or dependent) which is in excess of twenty and also in excess of the number of claims of the original patent. Errors in payment of the additional fees may be rectified in accordance with regulations of the Commissioner.

Under section 41(a)5, a fee of $50 would be established for filing each disclaimer in a patent or patent application.

Section 41(a)6 establishes a fee due on filing an appeal from the examiner to the Board of Appeals of $115. In addition, a fee of $115 is due on filing a brief in support of the appeal, and a fee of $100 is due for requesting an oral hearing before the Board of Appeals.

Section 41(a)7 establishes two different fees for filing petitions with different standards to revive abandoned patent applications. The same two fees are applicable to petitions to accept the delayed payment of the fee for issuing a patent. The fees set forth in this section are due on filing the petition. Since the section provides for two alternative fees with different standards, the section would permit the applicant seeking revival or acceptance of a delayed payment of the fee for issuing a patent to choose one or the other of the fees and standards under such regulations as the Commissioner may establish. Under the section the Commissioner could establish time limits within which petitions under each of the different fees and standards can be filed. The section establishes a fee of $500 for filing each petition for revival or for acceptance of the delayed payment of an issue fee where the abandonment or the failure to pay the issue fee is unintentional. In order to prevent abuse and injury to the public the Commissioner could require a terminal disclaimer equivalent to the period of abandonment and could require applicants to act promptly after becoming aware of the abandonment. The section establishes a fee of $50 for filing a petition under sections 133 or 151 of title 35 in accordance with standards presently in effect requiring that the delay resulting in the abandonment, or the delay in payment of the issue fee, be unavoidable. Under this section a petition accompanied by either a fee of $500 or a fee of $50 would not be granted where the abandonment or the failure to pay the fee for issuing the patent was intentional as opposed to being unintentional or unaviodable. This section would permit the Commissioner to have more discretion than present law to revive abandoned applications and accept late payment of the fee for issuing a patent in appropriate circumstances.

Section 41(a)8 establishes fees for filing of petitions for extensions of time. Various time periods are set by the Office for taking actions on matters relating to patent applications. These time periods are set pursuant to statute or by regulations established by the Commissioner under the authority granted to the Commissioner by statute. This section would provide for fees for filing petitions to extend the time periods set pursuant to statute or by regulations for taking action within any limitations set by statute.

A fee of $50 is established for filing a request for a first one month extension of time, an additional fee of $100 for filing a request for a second one month extension of time which would expire two months after the end of the time period set for taking action, and an additional fee of $200 for filing a request for a third one month extension of time which would expire three months after the end of the time period set for taking action. A subsequent or fourth extension could be requested if additional time was available under the statute. In no case could a period be extended beyond the maximum time set by statute.

The Commissioner may issue regulations providing when, within any maximum period permitted by statute, petitions for extensions of time, and the required fee therefor, may be filed. This section does preclude the Commissioner from waiving the fee for filing a petition for an extension of time where the Office extends the period due to equity considerations or sufficient cause.

Section 41(b) provides that the Commissioner charge the following fees for maintaining a patent other than a design or plant patent, in force: at three years and six months after grant, $400; at seven years and six months after grant, $800; and at eleven years and six months after grant, $1,200. Unless payment of the applicable maintenance fee is received in the Patent and Trademark Office on or before the date the fee is due or within a grace period of six months thereafter, the patent will expire as of the end of such grace period. The Commissioner may require the payment of a surcharge as a condition of accepting within such six-month grace period the late payment of a maintenance fee.

In order to avoid an inequitable loss of patent rights, the Commissioner is given the authority to accept payment of any maintenance fee after the six-month grace period if it is established that the delay in payment was unavoidable. It is intended that the Commissioner will issue regulations establishing guidelines for acceptance of late payment. After the expiration of a reasonable period of time, the patentee would bear a heavy burden of proof that the delay was unavoidable. A surcharge may be imposed by the Commissioner as a precondition to acceptance of a late fee. This surcharge may be in addition to any surcharge imposed for payment during the grace period.

A provision is included to protect the rights of one who began using or who took steps to begin use of a patent which expired for failure to pay a maintenance fee and which was subsequently reestablished by acceptance of the late payment. The intervening rights provision in section 41(c)(2) is similar to the intervening rights provision in 35 U.S.C. 252 concerning reissued patents.

Section 41(d) provides that the Commissioner establish fees for all other processing services, or materials related to patents not specified in section 41 at an amount calculated to recover the estimated average cost to the Office of such processing, services, or materials. Such processing and other services includes, but is not limited to, the processing of various petitions desiring certain actions to be taken regarding patent applications, recording of assignments, reexamination of patents and the processing of international applications. Fees for materials include the price of patent copies, certifications and other copying services. The yearly fee for providing a library specified in section 13 of title 35 with uncertified copies of the specifications and drawings for all patents issued in that year is set at $50.

Section 41(f) provides that the fees established in subsections (a) and (b) of section 41 may be adjusted by the Commissioner on Oct. 1, 1985, and every third year thereafter, to reflect any fluctuations occurring during the previous three years in the Consumer Price Index, as determined by the Secretary of Labor. Changes of less than one per centum may be ignored by the Commissioner in making such adjustments.

Subsection (a) of section 31 of the Trademark Act of 1946, as amended (15 U.S.C. 1113), is being changed to grant the Commissioner discretion to establish the level of recovery of office costs related to trademarks. It is expected that the Commissioner will set the fees in a way that the filing fee will be kept as low as possible to foster use of the Federal registration system. This may require that other fees for services or materials related to trademarks recover more than their actual estimated cost in order that the Commissioner achieve in the aggregate adequate cost recovery for the entire trademark operation.

A provision is inserted in section 42(c) of title 35 in order to ensure that the tradermark fees collected are used to fund trademark operations only and not the processing of patent applications.

SECTION 4

Section 3 of title 35 is amended by deleting specific reference to the number of examiners-in-chief in the first sentence. Elimination of the upper limit on the number of permanent members of the Board of Appeals would provide greater flexibility in filling most of its personnel needs, thereby avoiding an excess of examiner details. The authority to appoint acting examiners-in-chief, however, is maintained in order that temporary fluctuations in the workload of the Board may be accommodated.

Under revised section 111 of title 35, the filing date of an application would be that on which the specification and any required drawings are received by the Patent and Trademark Office. The oath or declaration and filing fee could be submitted at such later time as established by the Commissioner, without any loss of the original filing date. Under the amendment, an applicant could either file the oath or declaration (including the applicant's signature) and fee together with an application or submit them at a later time as determined by the Commissioner.

The section would also authorize the imposition of a surcharge as a condition for accepting filing of the oath of payment of the filing fee after the filing date of the application. Since an application filed without the oath or declaration would not be signed or "made" by the applicant, the amendment permits a patent attorney or agent, authorized by the applicant, to submit the specification and drawings for the purpose of obtaining a filing date. Should the applicant, however, fail to file the oath or declaration, or pay the filing fee within the time limits set by the Commissioner, the application would be regarded as having been abandoned.

The third paragraph of section 116 of title 35 is amended to enlarge the possibilities for correcting misnamed inventive entities. As a consequence, correction would be permitted also in cases where the person originally named as inventor was in fact not the inventor of the subject matter contained in the application. If such error occurred without any deceptive intention on the part of the true inventor, the Commissioner would have the authority to substitute the true inventor for the erroneously named person. Although probably rarer, instances such as changes from a mistakenly identified sole inventor to a different, but actual, joint inventors, conversions from erroneously identified joint inventors to different but actual, joint inventors, and conversions from erroneously identified joint inventors to a different, but actual, sole inventor would also be permitted. In each instance, however, the Commissioner must be assured of the presence of innocent error, without deceptive intention on the part of the true inventor or inventors, before permitting substitution of a true inventor's name.

The ability to receive a filing date based on a specification and drawings without signature as set forth in revised section 111 of title 35, and to file the oath or declaration and pay the filing fee within such period as determined by the Commissioner is also available to joint inventors.

Section 256 of title 35, which is a companion to section 116, would be amended to similarly enlarge the possibilities for correction of misnamed inventors in issued patents.

SECTION 7

Section 6(d) of title 35, which provides for the allocation of appropriated Patent and Trademark Office funds to the Department of State for payment of United States financial obligations under the Patent Cooperation Treaty, is deleted. The Department of State has traditionally assumed responsibility for financial obligations for international agreements to which the United States adheres.

Section 8(a) of the Trademark Act is amended to clarify that the continued use required to be shown in the sixth year be use "in commerce". Although it is believed by some that omission of the words "in commerce" may have been inadvertent in the 1946 Act, this section has been interpreted so that use in a foreign country, or use in intrastate commerce, is sufficient. Such interpretation is fundamentally in conflict with other requirements of the Act.

Section 8(b) of the Act is also amended to clarify that the continued use required to be shown in the sixth year be use "in commerce". Although it is believed by some that omission of the words "in commerce may have been inadvertent in the 1946 Act, this section has interpreted so that use in a foreign country, or use in intrastate commerce, is sufficient. Such interpretation is fundamentally in conflict with other requirements of the Act.

Section 8(b) of the Act is also amended to clarify that the continued use required to be shown in the sixth year be use "in commerce" for registrations published under section 12(c) of the Act. (This pertains to registrations issued under the Act of Mar. 3, 1881 and the Act of Feb. 20, 1905).

The word "still" has been deleted from section 8(a) and 8(b). Thus, the owner of a registration issued on the basis of a foreign registration under the provisions of section 44(e) of the Act will have to submit an affidavit to the effect that the mark is in use in commerce. Since the mark need not be used in commerce when it is registered, the requirement cannot be required to state that it is "still" in such use.

Section 13 of the Trademark Act is amended to delete the requirement that an opposition be verified. The sentence which allowed an unverified application to be verified at a later date has been deleted. In addition, a phrase has been added to make it clear that any subsequent extension of time to file an opposition, beyond the first extension, must be requested before the end of the preceding extension.

Section 14 of the Trademark Act would also be amended to delete the requirement that a petition to cancel a registration be verified.

SECTION 10

Section 15 of the Trademark Act is amended to change the term "the publication" to "registration" in the first sentence. This change makes the date of registration rather than the date of publication the crucial date for purposes of incontestablility. It will also make section 15 consistent with sections 22 and 33 of the Act.

SECTION 11

Section 16 of the Trademark Act is amended to limit the declaration of interferences to those situations where a petition to the Commissioner shows that extraordinary circumstances exist, the rights of the parties can be determined adequately by the existing opposition and cancellation procedures. Additionally, if an interference is declared between an application and a registration and the applicant wins, a cancellation must still be initiated against the registration.

SECTION 12

A new subsection (a) has been added to section 21 of title 35 to authorize, but not to require, the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks to give as the filing date of any paper or fee which is required to be filed in the Patent and Trademark Office the date on which the paper or fee was deposited with the United States Postal Service. The Commissioner may also give as the filing date of any paper or fee which was required to be filed in the Patent and Trademark Office the date it would have been deposited with the United States Postal Service but for postal service interruptions or emergencies which the Commissioner designates. The requirements governing whether any given paper or fee may be given the filing date of the day on which it was, or would have been deposited with the United States Postal Service will be set forth in regulations established by the Commissioner.

Section 21(b) of title 35 is identical to existing section 21 with two minor amendments. The word "federal" has been inserted before the phrase "holiday within the District of Columbia" to clarify the nature of the holiday.

This section clarifies the authority of the Commissioner in section 6(a) of title 35 to enter into a wide range of cooperative agreements concerning the patent and trademark laws or the administration of the Patent and Trademark Office. These agreements are in addition to the exchange of publications authorized in 35 U.S.C. 11(b) and 12. These cooperative agreements may take the form of studies, programs, exchanges, and other similar ventures. Thus, the Patent and Trademark Office could, for example, exchange patent copies, non-patent literature, tapes or services in return for goods or services of value to the Patent and Trademark Office.

SECTION 14

The amendments of 35 U.S.C. 115 and Section 11 of the Trademark Act of 1946 recognize the Hague "Convention Abolishing the Requirement of Legalization for Foreign Public Documents" which entered into force in the United States on Oct. 15, 1981. The Convention abolishes the requirement of diplomatic or consular legalization for foreign public documents which are sworn to or acknowledged by a notary public in any of the countries adhering to the Convention. For documents executed by a notary public of all other foreign countries, diplomatic or consular legalization will still be required.

The amendment of 35 U.S.C. 261 is intended to give affirmative effect to acknowledgments executed pursuant to the Hague Convention.

SECTION 15

This section corrects an incorrect citation. Public Law 96-517 amended section 41 of title 35, United States Code, in a way which eliminated 35 U.S.C.. § 41(a)(9). Unfortunately, section 13 of title 35, United States Code, was not amended accordingly by Public Law 96-517. This section corrects that oversight.

SECTION 16

This section sets a uniform term of fourteen years for all design patents.

SECTION 17

Sections 17(a) and (c) specify the effective dates of the Act. Section 17(a) also specifies that the maintenance fees provided for in section 3(b) of this Act will only apply to patents in which the application was filed on and after the date of enactment or to maintenance fees later established by law.

Section 17(b) adds a section to title 35 providing for the voluntary arbitration of patent disputes by the parties to the dispute. The section requires that the Commissioner be notified in writing of an award made by an arbitrator or modified by a court. Such notification will be entered in the record of the prosecution of the patent.

At present, agreements to arbitrate some aspects of disputes arising under patent licenses are enforceable by the courts; however, there have been court decisions that have disapproved arbitration of disputes concerning patent validity or infringement. In this regard, see, for example, Zip Mfg. Co. v. Pep Mfg. Co. 44 F.2d 184, 7 U.S.P.Q. 62 (D. Del. 1930) and Beckman Instruments, Inc. v. Technical Developments Corp. 433 F.2d 55, 167 U.S.P.Q. 10 (7th Cir. 1965).

Partly as a reaction to those decisions, during the 93rd Congress both the Department of Commerce and the Department of Justice endorsed a provision specifically authorizing arbitration of validity and infringement disputes. This provision, included in an omnibus patent law revision bill, S. 2504, was never enacted due to the many controversial aspects of that legislation.

In the view of the Committee, a statutory authorization of voluntary agreements to arbitrate validity and infringement disputes would benefit both the parties to these disputes and the public.

Statutory endorsement of arbitration agreements would assure the parties that they could avail themselves of the numerous advantages of arbitration without the possibility of having to reargue the dispute in court. The advantages of arbitration are many: it is usually cheaper and faster than litigation; it can have simpler procedural and evidentiary rules; it normally minimizes hostility and is less disruptive of ongoing and future business dealings among the parties; it is often more flexible in regard to scheduling of times and places of hearings and discovery devices; and, arbitrators are frequently better versed than judges and juries in the area of trade customs and the technologies involved in these disputes.

The enforcement of voluntary arbitration provisions would serve the public in two ways. First, the availablity of arbitration with its numerous advantages will enhance the patent system and thus will encourage innovation. This view is supported by the Committee for Economic Development in their Jan. 1980 statement entitled "Stimulating Technological Progress." Secondly, arbitration could relieve some of the burdens on the overworked Federal courts. Chief Justice Burger in his speech to the American Bar Association on Jan. 24, 1982, generally endorsed the use of arbitration to reduce the judicial backlog. Also, I think it is important to note that the American Bar Association's Section on Patent, Trademark and Copyright Law has endorsed court enforcement of arbitration agreements calling for arbitration of validity and infringement.

The recommendations of the Secretary of Commerce to increase substantially patent and trademark user fees were made on the promise that such increases "will lay the groundwork for revitalizing the patent and trademark systems." The Secretary committed to three major goals: (1) to reach an average patent application pendency time of 18 months by FY 1987, (2) to issue an examiner's first action on trademark registrability in three months and disposal of an application within 13 months, and (3) to move realistically toward a fully automated Office by the 1990's. In accepting the Administration's recommendations on user fees, the Committee fully expects the Administration to live up to its end of the bargain to bring about a first-class Patent and Trademark Office. To provide an opportunity for timely and effective Committee oversight of progress toward improving the Patent and Trademark Office, the Committee directs that the Secretary of Commerce report annually to the Committee on progress toward achieving the three major goals of the Patent and Trademark Office, as outlined above, and, in addition, promptly inform the Committee at any time it appears that any of the goals, for any reason, is viewed as not attainable.

OVERSIGHT STATEMENT

The Committee on the Judiciary has oversight responsibility over the Patent and Trademark Office in the Department of Commerce. In addition to its ongoing oversight, the Committee's Subcommittee on Courts, Civil Liberties and the Administration of Justice held an oversight hearing with respect to the Patent and Trademark Office on Mar. 4, 1981, published as Oversight Hearings Before the Subcommittee on Courts, Civil Liberties and the Administration of Justice of the Committee on the Judiciary, House of Representatives, Ninety-Seventh Congress, First Session on the Copyright Office, The U.S. Patent and Trademark Office, and the Copyright Royalty Tribunal. Serial No. 17.

The Committee expects to continue its oversight activities in this area.

STATEMENT OF THE BUDGET COMMITTEE

No statement has been received on H.R. 6260 from the House Committee on the Budget.

STATEMENT OF THE CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE

Pursuant to clause 7, rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives and section 403 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, the following is the cost estimate of H.R. 6260, as amended, prepared by the Congressional Budget Office.

U.S. CONGRESS
CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE,
Washington, D.C., May 13, 1982.

Hon. PETER W. RODINO, Jr.,
Chairman, Committee on the Judiciary, House of Representatives, Washington, D.C.

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: Pursuant to Section 403 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, the Congressional budget Office has prepared the attached cost estimate for H.R. 6260, a bill to authorize appropriations to the Patent and Trademark Office in the Department of Commerce, and for other purposes.

Should the Committee so desire, we would be pleased to provide further details on this estimate.

Sincerely

ALICE M. RIVLIN,
Director.

CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE COST ESTIMATE

1. Bill number: H.R. 6260.
2. Bill title: A bill to authorize appropriations to the Patent and Trademark Office in the Department of Commerce, and for other purposes.
3. Bill status: As ordered reported by the House Committee on the Judiciary, May 11, 1982.

Bill purpose: H.R. 6260 would authorize 1982 appropriations at a level $2.5 million above the amount already appropriated, and would provide a $76 million authorization level in 1983 to carry out the activities of the Patent and Trademark Office (PTO). In addition, such sums as may be necessary are authorized for fiscal years 1984 and 1985, plus such additional or supplemental amounts as may be necessary for increases in salary, pay, retirement, or other benefits authorized by law for each fiscal year 1983 thorugh 1985. PTO would also have available for obligation offsetting fee collections as provided for in Public Law 96-517, plus the additional fees as specified in H.R. 6260.

Assuming enactment of H.R. 6260, total PTO collections over time would result in recovery of approximately 100 percent of patent and trademark processing costs. Individuals, small businesses, and non-profit institutions would be exempt from the proposed additional fees, however, but would continue to follow the fee schedule outlined in P.L. 96-517, which assumes the ultimate recovery of approxiamtely 50 percent of all processing costs.

The President's 1982 budget includes a request for a $2.5 million supplemental for the PTO. The Administration has recommended increasing user fees to ultimately recover 100 percent of processing costs beginning in 1983, but does not provide for any exemptions to the proposed fee increases relative to current law. The effect of exemptions is to increase by approximately $8 million the authorized level of appropriations relative to the Administration's request.

In addition, the bill would make a number of other changes that are not expected to have a cost impact.

5. Cost estimate:

[By fiscal years, in millions of dollars]

	1982	1983	1984	1985	1986
Authorization level:
Specified	2.5	76.0	....	....	....
Estimated	....	6.8	86.4	86.8	....
Subtotal	2.5	82.8	86.4	86.8	....
Total estimated outlays	2.4	61.8	82.4	82.8	5.5

Including outlays from appropriations to date for PTO, total 1982 outlays are estimated to be $121.5 million, and total 1983 outlays are estimated to be $79.8.

The costs of this bill fall within budget subfunction 376.

6. Basis of estimate: The authorization levels for PTO for 1982 and 1983 are those specified in the bill. The estimate authorization levels for 1984 and 1985 assume a level of funding sufficient to maintain a program level of $167 million and $176 million, respectively, including offsetting collections. In addition, authorization for increases in pay and other benefits of approximately $6.8 million, $7.4 million, and $7.8 million for fiscal years 1983 through 1985, respectively, were estimated based on CBO's current inflators. Outlays are based on historical spending patterns.

The estimated collections to PTO as a result of fees charged to cover the costs of processing trademarks and patents were provided by the agency, and assume the fee structure outlined in the bill. The estimated collections, under current law and under H.R. 6260, are shown in the table below.

[By fiscal years, in millions of dollars]

	1982	1983	1984	1985	1986
Estimated offsetting collections:
Current law	....	47.8	52.7	57.7	....
Added by H.R. 6260	....	31.2	35.3	39.3	....
Total-H.R. 6260	....	79.0	88.0	97.0	....

7. Estimate comparison: None.
8. Previous CBO estimate: None.
9. Estimate prepared by: Mary B. Maginniss.
10. Estimate approved by: C. G. Nuckols (James L. Blum, Assistant Director for Budget Analysis).

COMMITTEE VOTE

The Committee on the Judiciary ordered H.R. 6260 as amended reported by a voice vote, without objection being heard, with a quorum of Members being present.

CHANGES IN EXISTING LAW MADE BY THE BILL, AS REPORTED

* * * * *

CHAPTER 4-PATENT FEES

§ 41. Patent fees

[(a) The Commissioner of Patents will establish fees for the processing of an application for a patent, from filing through disposition by issuance or abandonment, for maintaining a patent in force, and for providing all other services and materials related to patents. No fee will be established for maintaining a design patent in force.

[(b) By the first day of the first fiscal year beginning on or after one calendar year after enactment of this Act, fees for the actual processing of an application for a patent, other than for a design patent, from filing through disposition by issuance or abandonment, will recover in aggregate 25 per centum of the estimated average cost to the Office of such processing. By the first day of the first fiscal year beginning on or after one calendar year after enactment, fees for the processing of an application for a design patent, from filing through disposition by issuance or abandonment, will recover in aggregate 50 per centum of the estimated average cost to the Office of such processing.

[(c) By the fifteenth fiscal year following the date of enactment of this Act, fees for maintaining patents in force will recover 25 per centum of the estimated cost to the Office, for the year in which such maintenance fees are received, of the actual processing all applications for patents, other than for design patents, from filing through disposition by issuance or abandonment. Fees for maintaining a patent in force will be due three years and six months, seven years and six months, and eleven years and six months after the grant of the patent. Unless payment of the applicable maintenance fee is received in the Patent and Trademark Office on or before the date the fee is due or within a grace period of six months thereafter, the patent will expire as the end of such grace period. The Commissioner may require the payment of a surcharge as a condition of accepting within such six-month grace period the late payment of an applicable maintenance fee.

[(d) By the first day of the first fiscal year beginning on or after one calendar year after enactment, fees for all other services or materials related to patents will recover the estimated average cost to the Office of performing the service or furnishing the material. The yearly fee for providing a library specified in section 13 of this title with uncertified printed copies of the specifications and drawings for all patents issued in that year will be $50.]

(a) The Commissioner shall charge the following fees:

1. On filing each application for an original patent, except in design or plant cases, $300; in addition, on filing or on presentation at any other time, $30 for each claim in independent form which is in excess of three, $10 for each claim (whether independent or dependent) which is in excess of twenty, and $100 for each application containing a multiple dependent claim. For the purpose of computing fees, a multiple dependent claim as referred to in section 112 of this title or any claim depending therefrom shall be considered as separate dependent claims in accordance with the number of claims to which reference is made. Errors in payment of the additional fees may be rectified in accordance with regulations of the Commissioner.

2. For issuing each original or reissue patent, except in design or plant cases, $500.

3. In design and plant cases:

a. On filing each design application, $125.

b. On filing each plant application, $200.

c. On issuing each design patent, $175.

d. On issuing each plant patent, $250.

4. On filing each application for the reissue of a patent, $300; in addition, on filing or on presentation at any other time, $30 for each claim in independent form which is in excess of the number of independent claims of the original patent, and $10 for each claim (whether independent or dependent) which is in excess of twenty and also in excess of the number of claims of the original patent. Errors in payment of the additional fees may be rectified in accordance with regulations of the Commissioner.

5. On filing each disclaimer, $50.

6. On filing an appeal from the examiner to the Board of Appeals, $115; in addition, on filing a brief in support of the appeal, $115, and on requesting an oral hearing before the Board of Appeals, $100.

7. On filing each petition for the revival of an unintentionally abandoned application for a patent or for the unintentionally delayed payment of the fee for issuing each patent, $500, unless the petition is filed under sections 133 or 151 of this title, in which case the fee shall be $50.

8. For petitions for one-month extensions of time to take actions required by the Commissioner in an application:

a. On filing a first petition, $50.

b. On filing a second petition, $100.

c. On filing a third or subsequent petition. $200.

(b) The Commissioner shall charge the following fees for maintaining a patent in force:

1. Three years and six months after grant, $400.

2. Seven years and six months after grant, $800.

3. Eleven years and six months after grant, $1,200.

Unless payment of the applicable maintenance fee is received in the Patent and Trademark Office on or before the date the fee is due or within a grace period of six months thereafter, the patent will expire as of the end of such grace period. The Commissioner may require the payment of a surcharge as a condition of accepting within such six-month grace period the late payment of an applicable maintenance fee. No fee will be established for maintaining a design or plant patent in force.

(c)(1) The Commissioner may accept the payment of any maintenance fee required by subsection (b) of this section after the six-month grace period if the delay is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner to have been unavoidable. The Commissioner may require the payment of a surcharge as a condition of accepting payment of any maintenance fee after the six-month grace period. If the Commissioner accepts payment of a maintenance fee after the six-month grace period, the patent shall be considered as not having expired at the end of the grace period.

(2) No patent, the term of which has been maint..ined as a result of the acceptance of a payment of a maintenance fee under this subsection, shall abridge or affect the right of any person or his successors in business who made, purchased or used after the six-month grace period but prior to the acceptance of a maintenance fee under this subsection anything protected by the patent, to continue the use of, or to sell to others to be used or sold, the specific thing so made, purchased, or used. The court before which such matter is in question may provide for the continued manufacture, use or sale of the thing made, purchased, or used as specified, or for the manufacture, use or sale of which substantial preparation was made after the six-month grace period but before the acceptance of a maintenance fee under this subsection, and it may also provide for the continued practice of any process, practiced, or for the practice of which substantial preparation was made, after the six-month grace period but prior to the acceptance of a maintenance fee under this subsection, to the extent and under such terms as the court deems equitable for the protection of investments made or business commenced after the six-month grace period but before the acceptance of a maintenance fee under the subsection.

(d) The Commissioner will establish fees for all other processing, services, or materials related to patents not specified above to recover the estimated average cost to the Office of such processing, services, or materials. The yearly fee for providing a library specified in section 13 of this title with uncertified printed copies of the specifications and drawings for all patents issued in that year will be $50.

(3) The Commissioner may waive the payment of any fee for any service or material related to patents in connection with an occasional or incidental request made by a department or agency of the Government, or any officer thereof. The Commissioner may provide any applicant issued a notice under section 132 of this title with a copy of the specifications and drawings for all patents referred to in that notice without charge.

[(f) Fees will be adjusted by the Commissioner to achieve the levels of recovery specified in this section; however, no patent application processing fee or fee for maintaining a patent in force will be adjusted more than once every three times.

(f) The fees established in subsection (a) and (b) of this section may be adjusted by the Commissioner on Oct. 1, 1985, and every third year thereafter, to reflect any fluctuations occurring during the previous three years in the Consumer Price Index, as determined by the Secretary of Labor. Changes of less than 1 per centum may be ignored.

(g) No fee established by the Commissioner under this section will take effect prior to sixty days following notice in the Federal Register.

§ 42. Patent and Trademark Office funding.

(a) All fees for services performed by or materials furnished by the Patent and Trademark Office will be payable to the Commissioner.

(b) All fees paid to the Commissioner and all appropriations for defraying the costs of the activities of the Patent and Trademark Office will be credited to the Patent and Trademark Office Appropriation Account in the Treasury of the United States, the provisions of section 725e of title 31, United States Code, notwithstanding.

(c) Revenues from fees will be available to the Commissioner of Patents to carry out, to the extent provided for in appropriation Acts, the activities of the Patent and Trademark Office. Fees available to the Commissioner under section 31 of the Trademark Act of 1946, as amended (15 U.S.C. 1113), shall be used exclusively for the processing of trademark registrations and for other services and materials related to trademarks.

(d) The Commissioner may refund any fee paid by mistake or any amount paid in excess of that required.

CHAPTER 11-APPLICATION FOR PATENT

§ 111. Application for patent

[Application for patent shall be made by the inventor, except as otherwise provided in this title, in writing to the Commissioner. Such application shall include: (1) a specification as prescribed by section 112 of this title; (2) a drawing as prescribed by section 113 of this title; and (3) an oath by the applicant as prescribed by section 115 of this title. The application must be signed by the applicant and accompanied by the fee required by law.]

SEC. 111. Application for patent shall be made, or authorized to be made, by the inventor, except as otherwise provided in this title, in writing to the Commissioner. Such application shall include (1) a specification as prescribed by section 112 of this title; (2) a drawing as prescribed by section 113 of this title; and (3) an oath by the applicant as prescribed by section 115 of this title. The application must be accompanied by the fee required by law. The fee and oath may be submitted after the specification and any required drawing are submitted, within such period and under such conditions, including the payment of a surcharge, as may be prescribed by the Commissioner. Upon failure to submit the fee and oath within such prescribed period, the application shall be regarded as abandoned, unless it is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner that the delay in submitting the fee and oath was unavoidable. The filing date of an application shall be the date on which the specification and any required drawing are received in the Patent and Trademark Office.

§ 115. Oath of applicant

The applicant shall make oath that he believes himself to be the original and first inventor of the process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or improvement thereof, for which he solicits a patent; and shall state of what country he is a citizen. Such oath may be made before any person within the United States authorized by law to administer oaths, or when, made in a foreign country, before any diplomatic or consular office of the United States authorized to administer oaths, or before any officer having an official seal and authorized to administer oaths in the foreign country in which the applicant may be, whose authority [shall be] is proved by certificate of a diplomatic or consular officer of the United States, or apostille of an official designated by a foreign country which, by treaty or convention, accords like effect to apostilles of designated officials in the United States and such oath shall be valid if it complies with the laws of the state or country where made. When the application is made as provided in this title by a person other than the inventor, the oath may be so varied in form that it can be made by him.

When an invention is made by two or more persons jointly, they shall apply for patent jointly and each sign the application and make the required oath, except as otherwise provided in this title.

If a joint inventor refuses to join in an application for patent or cannot be found or reached after diligent effort, the application may be made by the other inventor on behalf of himself and the omitted inventor. The Commissioner, on proof of the pertinent facts and after such notice to the omitted inventor as he prescribes, may grant a patent to the inventor making the application, subject to the same rights which the omitted inventor would have had if he had been joined. The omitted inventor may subsequently join in the application.

Whenever [a person is joined in an application for patent as joint inventor through error, or a joint inventor is not included in an application through error] through error a person is named in an application for patent as the inventor, or through error an inventor is not named in an application, and such error arose without any deceptive intention on his part, the Commissioner may permit the application to be amended accordingly, under such terms as he prescribes.

CHAPTER 16-DESIGNS

* * * * *

§ 173. Term of design patent.

[Patents for designs may be granted for the term of three years and six months, or for seven years, or for fourteen years, as the applicant, in his application, elects.]

Patents for designs shall be granted for the term of fourteen years.

PART III-PATENTS AND PROTECTION OF PATENT RIGHTS

* * * * *

CHAPTER 25-AMENDMENT AND CORRECTION OF PATENTS

§ 256. Misjoinder of inventor.

[Whenever a patent is issued on the application of persons as joint inventors and it appears that one of such persons was not in fact a joint inventor, and that he was included as a joint inventor by error and without any deceptive intention, the Commissioner may, on application of all the parties and assignees, with proof of the facts and such other requirements as may be imposed, issue a certificate deleting the name of the erroneously joined person from the patent.

[Whenever a patent is issued and it appears that a person was a joint inventor, but was omitted by error and without deceptive intention on his part, the Commissioner may, on application of all the parties and assignees, with proof of the facts and such other requirements as may be imposed, issue a certificate adding his name to the patent as a joint inventor.

[The misjoinder or nonjoinder of joint inventors shall not invalidate a patent, if such error can be corrected as provided in this section. The court before which such matter is called in question may order correction of the patent on notice and hearing of all parties concerned and the Commissioner shall issue a certificate accordingly.]

§ 256. Correction of named inventor.

Whenever through error a person is named in an issued patent as the inventor, or through error an inventor is not named in an issued patent and such error arose without any deceptive intention on his part, the Commissioner may, on application of all the parties and assignees, with proof of the facts and such other requirements as may be imposed, issue a certificate correcting such error. The error of omitting inventors or naming persons who are not inventors shall not invalidate the patent in which such error occurred if it can be corrected as provided in this section. The court before which such matter is called in question may order correction of the patent on notice and hearing of all parties concerned and the Commissioner shall issue a certificate accordingly.

CHAPTER 16-OWNERSHIP AND ASSIGNMENT

§ 261. Ownership; assignment.

Subject to the provisions of this title, patents shall have the attributes of personal property.

Applications for patent, patents, or any interest therein, shall be assignable in law by an instrument in writing. The applicant, patentee, or his assigns or legal representatives may in like manner grant and convey an exclusive right under his application for patent, or patents, to the whole or any specified part of the United States.

A certificate of acknowledgment under the hand and official seal of a person authorized to administer oaths within the United States, or, in a foreign country, of a diplomatic or consular officer of the United States or an officer authorized to administer oaths whose authority is proved by a certificate of a diplomatic or consular officer of the United States, or apostille of an official designated by a foreign country which, by treaty or convention, accords like effect to apostilles of designated officials in the United States, shall be prima facie evidence of the execution of an assignment, grant or conveyance of a patent or application for patent.

An assignment, grant or conveyance shall be void as against any subsequent purchaser or mortgagee for a valuable consideration, without notice, unless it is recorded in the Patent and Trademark Office within three months from its date or prior to the date of such subsequent purchase or mortgage.

CHAPTER 29-REMEDIES FOR INFRINGEMENT OF PATENT, AND OTHER ACTIONS

Sec.
281. Remedy for infringement of patent.

* * * * *

294. Voluntary arbitration.

(a) A contract involving a patent or any right under a patent may contain a provision requiring arbitration of any dispute relating to patent validity or infringement arising under the contract. In the absence of such a provision, the parties to an existing patent validity or infringement dispute may agree in writing to settle such dispute by arbitration. Any such provision or agreement shall be valid, irrevocable, and enforceable, except for any grounds that exist at law or in equity for revocation of a contract.

(b) Arbitration of such disputes, awards by arbitrators and confirmation of awards shall be governed by title 9, United States Code, to the extent such title is not inconsistent with this section. In any such arbitration proceeding, the defenses provided for under section 282 of this title shall be considered by the arbitrator if raised by any party to the proceeding.

(c) An award by an arbitrator shall be final and binding between the parties to the arbitration but shall have no force or effect on any other person. The parties to an arbitration may agree that in the event a patent which is the subject matter of an award is subsequently determined to be invalid or unenforceable in a judgment rendered by a court to competent jurisdiction from which no appeal can or has been taken, such award may be modified by any court of competent jurisdiction upon application by any party to the arbitration. Any such modification shall govern the rights and obligations between such parties from the date of such modification.

(d) When an award is made by an arbitrator, the patentee, his assignee or licensee shall give notice thereof in writing to the Commissioner. There shall be a separate notice prepared for each patent involved in such proceeding. Such notice shall set forth the names and addresses of the parties, the name of the inventor, and the name of the patent owner, shall designate the number of the patent, and shall contain a copy of the award. If an award is modified by a court, the party requesting such modification shall give notice of such modification to the Commissioner. The Commissioner shall upon receipt of either notice, enter the same in the record of the prosecution of such patent. If the required notice is not filed with the Commissioner, any party to the proceeding may provide such notice to the Commissioner.

(e) The award shall be unenforceable until the notice required by subsection (d) is received by the Commissioner.

TRADEMARK ACT OF 1946

Sec. 8 (a). Duration of registration-Cancelation at end of 6 years unless affidavit of use filed.

Each certificate of registration shall remain in force for 20 years: Provided, That the registration of any mark under the provisions of this Act shall be canceled by the Commissioner at the end of 6 years following its date, unless within 1 year next preceding the expiration of such 6 years the registrant shall file in the Patent and Trademark Office an affidavit showing that said mark is [still] in use in commerce or showing that its nonuse is due to special circumstances which excuse such nonuse and is not due to any intention to abandon the mark. Special notice of the requirement for such affidavit shall be attached to each certificate of registration.

Sec. 8(b). Cancelation of republished prior registrations unless affidavit of use filed.

Any registration published under the provisions of subsection (c) of section 12 of this Act shall be canceled by the Commissioner at the end of 6 years after the date of such publication unless within 1 year next preceding the expiration of such 6 years and registrant shall file in the Patent and Trademark Office an affidavit showing that said marks is [still] in use in commerce or showing that its nonuse is due to special circumstances which excuse such nonuse and is not due to any intention to abandon the mark.

Sec. II. Acknowledgments and verifications.

Acknowledgments and verifications required hereunder may be made before any person within the United States authorized by law to administer oaths, or, when made in a foreign country, before any diplomatic or consular officer of the United States or before any official authorized to administer oaths in the foreign country concerned whose authority [shall] is proved by a certificate of a diplomatic or consular officer of the United States or apostille of an official designated by a foreign country which, by treaty or convention, accords like effect to apostilles of designated officials in the United States, and shall be valid if they comply with the laws of the state or country where made.

* * * * *

Sec. 13. Opposition to registration of marks on the Principal Register.

Any person who believes that he would be damaged by the registration of a mark upon the principal register may upon payment of the required fee, file [a verified] an opposition in the Patent and Trademark Office, stating the grounds therefor, within thirty days after the publication under subsection (a) of section 12 of this Act of the mark sought to be registered. Upon written request prior to the expiration of the thirty-day period, the time for filing opposition shall be extended for an additional thirty days, and further extensions of time for filing opposition may be granted by the Commissioner for good cause when requested prior to the expiration of an extension. The Commissioner shall notify the applicant 86 of each extension of the time for filing opposition. [An unverified opposition may be filed by a duly authorized attorney, but such opposition shall be null and void unless verified by the opposer within a reasonable time after such filing to be fixed by the Commissioner.] An opposition may be amended under such conditions as maybe prescribed by the Commissioner.

SEC. 14. A [verified] petition to cancel a registration of a mark, stating the grounds relied upon, may, upon payment of the prescribed fee, be filed by any person who believes that he is or will be damaged by the registration of a mark on the principal register established by this Act, or under the Act of Mar. 3, 1881, or the Act of Feb. 20, 1905—

(a) within five years from the date of the registration of the mark under this Act; or

(b) within five years from the date of publication under section 12(c) hereof of a mark registered under the Act of Mar. 3, 1881, or the Act of Feb. 20, 1905; or

(c) at any time if the registered mark becomes the common descriptive name of an article or substance, or has been abandoned, or its registration was obtained fraudulently or contrary to the provisions of section 4 or of subsections (a), (b), or (c) of section 2 of this Act for a registration hereunder, or contrary to similar prohibitory provisions of said prior Acts for a registration thereunder, or if the registered mark is being used by, or with the permission of, the registrant so as to misrepresent the source of the goods or services in connection with which the mark is used; or

(d) at any time if the mark is registered under the Act of Mar. 3, 1881, or the Act of Feb. 20, 1905, and has not been published under the provisions of subsection (c) of section 12 of this Act; or

(e) at any time in the case of a certification mark on the ground that the registrant (1) does not control, or is not able legitimately to exercise control over, the use of such mark, or (2) engages in the production or marketing of any goods or services to which the certification mark is applied, or (3) permits the use of the certification mark for purposes other than to certify, or (4) discriminately refuses to certify or to continue to certify the goods or services of any person who maintains the standards or conditions which such mark certifies:

Provided, That the Federal Trade Commission may apply to cancel on the grounds specified in subsections (c) and (e) of this section any mark registered on the principal register established by this Act, and the prescribed fee shall not be required.

Sec. 15. Incontestability under certain conditions of right to use mark.

Except on a ground for which application to cancel may be filed at any time under subsections (c) and (e) of section 14 of this Act, and except to the extent, if any, to which the use of a mark registered on the principal register infringes a valid right acquired under the law of any State or Territory by use of a mark or trade name continuing from a date prior to the date of [the publication] registration under this Act of such registered mark, the right of the registrant to use such registered mark in commerce for the goods or services on or in conncection with which such registered mark has been in continuous use for 5 consecutive years subsequent to the date of such registration and is still in use in commerce, shall be incontestable: Provided, That—

(1) there has been no final decision adverse to registrant's claim of ownership of such mark for such goods or services, or to registrant's right to register the same or to keep the same on the register; and

(2) there is no proceeding involving said rights pending in the Patent Office or in a court and not finally disposed of; and

(3) an affidavit is filed with the Commissioner within 1 year after the expiration of any such 5-year period setting forth those goods or services stated in the registration on or in connection with which such mark has been in continuous use for such 5 consecutive years and is still in use in commerce, and the other matters specified in subsections (1) and (2) hereof; and

(4) no incontestable right shall be acquired in a mark which is the common descriptive name of any article or substance, patented or otherwise.

Subject to the conditions above specified in this section, the incontestable right with reference to a mark registered under this Act shall apply to a mark registered under the Act of Mar. 3, 1881, or the Act of Feb. 20, 1905, upon the filing of the required affidavit with the Commissioner within 1 year after the expiration of any period of 5 consecutive years after the date of publication of a mark under the provisions of subsection (c) of section 12 of this Act.

The Commissioner shall notify any registrant who files the above-prescribed affidavit of the filing thereof.

Sec. 16. Interference.

[Whenever application is made for the registration of a mark which so resembles a mark previously registered by another, or for the registration of which another has previously made application, as to be likely when applied to the goods or when used in connection with the services of the applicant to cause confusion or mistake or to deceive, the Commissioner may declare that an interference exists.] Upon petition showing extraordinary circumstances, the Commissioner may declare that an interference exists when application is made for the registration of a mark which so resembles a mark previously registered by another, or for the registration of which another has previously made application, as to be likely when applied to the goods or when used in connection with the services of the applicant to cause confusion or mistake or to decieve. No interference shall be declared between an application and the registration of a mark the right to the use of which has become incontestable.

§ 31. Fees

Patent and Trademark Office

Appropriation Authorization

(a) The Commissioner of Patents will establish fees for the filing and processing of an application for the registration of a trademark or other mark and for all other services performed by and materials furnished by the Patent and Trademark Office related to trademarks and other marks. [Fees will be set and adjusted by the Commissioner to recover in aggregate 50 per centum of the estimated average cost to the Office of such processing. Fees for all other services or materials related to trademarks and other marks will recover the estimated average cost to the Office of performing the service or furnishing the material.] However, no fee for the filing or processing of an application for the registration of a trademark or other mark or for the renewal or assignment of a trademark or other mark will be adjusted more than once every three years. No fee established under this section will take effect prior to sixty days following notice in the Federal Register.

(b) The Commissioner may waive the payment of any fee for any service or material related to trademarks or other marks in connection with an occasional request made by a department or agency of the Government, or any officer thereof. The Indian Arts and Crafts Board will not be charged any fee to register Government trademarks of genuineness and quality for Indian products or for products of particular Indian tribes and groups.

(45) Request for Refunds

In order to expedite the processing of refunds for payment of fees by actual mistake or in excess of the designated fees, attorneys and applicants requesting refunds should direct their correspondence to the attention of the "Refund Section, Accounting Division, Office of Finance." This procedure should be followed whether the request is for a refund check or for a credit to the deposit account. The problems of misrouting the request for a refund in the Patent and Trademark Office would be alleviated and the payment of refunds accelerated.

(46) Deposit Account Authorizations

The rules of practice were amended effective Oct. 1, 1982, at 37 CFR 1.25(b) to state that: "A general authorization to charge all fees, or only certain fees, set forth in §§ 1.16 to 1.18 to a deposit account may be filed in an individual application, either for the entire pendency of the application or with respect to a particular paper filed." A general authorization would not apply to document supply fees under § 1.19, such as those required for certified copies; to post-issuance fees under § 1.20 such as those required for maintenance fees; or to miscellaneous fees and charges under § 1.21, such as assignment recording fees.

Many applications filed prior to Oct. 1, 1982, contain broad language authorizing any additional fees which might have been due to be charged to a deposit account. The Patent and Trademark Office does not interpret such broad authorizations, filed in an application on or after Oct. 1, 1982, will be interpreted as authorization to charge the issue fee; as well as any other fee set forth in §§ 1.16, 1.17 or 1.18. Fees under sections 1.19, 1.20 and 1.21 will not be charged as a result of a general authorization under section 1.25.

It is recommended that authorizations to charge fees to deposit accounts include reference to the particular fees or fee sections of the rules which applicant intends to authorize. For example, if filing and processing fees under §§ 1.16 and 1.17 only are intended to be included in the authorization, and not the issue fee under § 1.18, the authorization could read: "The Commissioner is hereby authorized to charge any fees under 37 CFR 1.16 and 1.17 which may be required during the entire pendency of the application to Deposit Account No. ." Such an authorization would clearly exclude issue fees under 37 CFR 1.18 while including all the filing and processing fees listed in 37 CFR 1.16 and 1.17. Similarly, if it were intended to authorize the charging of fees relating only to a specific paper, the authorization could read "The Commissioner is hereby authorized to charge any fees under 37 CFR 1.16 and 1.17 which may be required by this paper to Deposit Account No. ." Such authorizations would cover situations in which a check to cover a filing and processing fee under 37 CFR 1.16 and 1.17 was omitted or was for an amount less than the amount required.

It is extremely important that the authorization be clear and unambiguous. If applicants file authorizations which are ambiguous and which deviate from the usual forms of authorizations, the Office may not interpret the authorizations in the manner applicants intend. In such cases applicants could be subject to further expenses, petitions, etc. in order to correct fees which were not charged as intended due to an ambiguous authorization.

(47) Deposit Account Authorization to Charge Issue Fee

This notice supplements the Official Gazette notice, dated July 1, 1983, published at 1032 O.G. 33 on July 26, 1983.

The rules of practice were amended effective Oct. 1, 1982, at 37 CFR 1.25(b) to state that: "A general authorization to charge all fees, or only certain fees, set forth in 37 CFR 1.16 to 1.18 to a deposit account may be filed in an individual application, either for the entire pendency of the application or with respect to a particular paper filed."

The Patent and Trademark Office will treat broad language to "charge any additional fees which may be required at any time during the prosecution of the application" as authorization to charge the issue fee on applications filed on or after Oct. 1, 1982.

(48) Unpaid Fee Checks

Beginning Dec. 1, 1987, the Office will change the procedure for handling fee checks of attorneys and agents that are returned to the Office unpaid. Presently, when a check submitted as payment for an application, a processing, an issue or any other fee is returned to the Office unpaid, the Office of Finance sends a letter to the attorney or agent who represents the applicant, or to the applicant if unrepresented by an attorney or agent, enclosing the check and calling attention to the fact that the check was returned unpaid. Beginning Dec. 1, 1987, the Office of Finance will send a copy of its letter to the applicant if the letter is addressed to an attorney or agent. The prohibition of 37 CFR §§ 1.33 and 2.18 against double correspondence is waived in view of the submission of a check that is returned unpaid to the Office.

A registered patent attorney or agent who repeatedly submits checks that are returned unpaid through no fault of the bank may expect to have the matter referred to the Office of Enrollment and Discipline.

(49) Posting of Filing Fee Codes

We are making a minor change in the recording of fees so that we can speed up the processing of mail.

First, a brief explanation of the problem. Incoming mail to the PTO has soared. The number of envelopes received in the Mail Room in the first four months of this fiscal year is almost 30% higher than for the same period last year. This sudden increase has taxed existing resources and a backlog has developed. It takes a new employee over one year to become proficient in recognizing the hundreds of different types of documents entering the Office, the appropriate fee codes to apply, and the appropriate destination.

One of the most time-consuming functions of the Mail Room initial review clerks is the determination of how many independent and dependent claims there are in a patent application so that the appropriate amounts can be coded for the basic application fee, the extra independent claim fee, the extra total claim fee, and the multiple dependent claim fee. This can involve a substantial amount of time in complicated cases, particularly when there are preliminary amendments. With over 30,000 individual documents patent applications and all other mail to be processed and routed each day, such time-consuming delays have a severe adverse impact in moving all the work.

So, effective immediately, we are making a change which will move the mail more quickly. Rather than go through the time-consuming computation in the Mail Room to determine the amount to charge to each specific claim fee code, the total amount received will be recorded in one filing code. The detailed calculations will continue to be done later in the process where, in conjunction with the formality review of the application, the analysis takes place as to whether or not the fee submitted was correct. The individual charges remain the same and the information on claims contained in the application will continue to be reported on the application filing receipt without change. Here's what would be seen on deposit account charges and checks:

101-Includes amount for basic filing fee, extra independent claims, extra total claims, and multiple dependent claims, previously recorded as 101, 102, 103, and 104, respectively.
201-Includes same items as above for small entity applications, previously recorded as 201, 202, 203, and 204.
108-Includes same items as above for reissue applications, previously recorded as 108, 109, and 110.
208-Includes same items as above for small entity reissue applications, previously recorded as 208, 209, and 210.

This revised procedure allows us to be more efficient.

(50) Use of Metric System of Measurements in Patent Applications

The ability of the United States to compete in world trade and improve our trade balance is becoming more important and more difficult each day as our competitors get stronger. Presently, the United States is the only industrial country which has not adopted the metric system of weights and measures. The lack of U.S. goods being produced and packaged under metric standards results in our country being at a competitive disadvantage in world markets.

To improve our competitiveness, in the 1988 trade bill, Congress established metric as the Nation's "preferred system of units for United States trade and commerce," and set a 1992 date for Federal agencies to complete their transition to metric uses in "procurement, grants and other business related activities".

To implement the congressional designation of the metric system of measurement for U.S. trade and commerce, the President on July 25, 1991, issued an Executive Order (Metric Usage in Federal Government Programs) for the Federal Government to lead the way in metric usage. The Department of Commerce has been designated as the lead agency responsible for coordinating usage by the Federal Government.

The Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) does not currently require weights and measures in patent applications to be stated in the metric system. However, in Section 608.01 of the Manual of Patent Examining Procedure, all patent applicants are strongly encouraged to use either (1) only metric units or (2) inch-pound units together with their metric equivalents, when describing their inventions in the specifications of patent applications.

In the spirit of the Executive Order, the PTO reiterates and emphasizes strong encouragement for patent applicants to use the metric system of weights and measurements in patent applications. At some future time when there has been a sufficient conversion to metric usage by U.S. research and development industries, the PTO will consider making it a requirement that patent applicants use metric units in patent applications.

1. On page 54494, in the second column, at the end of the first partial paragraph, the following sentence should be added: "This final rulemaking also expands the acceptability of facsimile transmission to certain trademark documents which were not part of the proposed rulemaking."

2. On page 54495, in the second column, after the first full paragraph, the following paragraphs should be added: "This final rulemaking also expands the acceptability of facsimile transmissions to certain trademark documents, not included in the propsed rulemaking. These additional documents are:

Changes in Signature and Filing Requirements for Correspondence Filed in the Patent and Trademark Office

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce.
Action: Final Rule.
Summary: The Patent and Trademark Office (Office) is amending the rules of practice in patent and trademark cases to: specify the types of correspondence which will no longer require original signatures; provide for facsimile transmission of certain correspondence to the Office; discontinue use of the drop boxes at Crystal Plaza Building 3 and at the Department of Commerce Building in Washington, D.C.; and clarify other provisions with respect to practice before the Office.
Effective Date: November 22, 1993. These rules will be applicable to all correspondence filed with the Office on or after the effective date.
For Further Information Contact: Abraham Hershkovitz by telephone at (703) 305-9282, by facsimile transmission at (703) 305-8825, or by mail marked to his attention and addressed to Office of the Assistant Commissioner for Patents, Box DAC, Washington, D.C. 20231.
Supplementary Information: In a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking published in the Federal Register at 57 FR 36034 (August 12, 1992) and in the Patent and Trademark Office Official Gazette at 1142 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 8-13 (September 1, 1992), the Office proposed to amend the rules of practice in patent and trademark cases to simplify the manner in which correspondence may be transmitted to the Office and clarify other provisions with respect to practice before the Office. This rulemaking includes changes to expand those situations where a party can use the Certificate of Mailing or Transmission procedure, and minor technical modifications in Part 2 of Title 37 of the Code of Federal Regulations which were not part of the proposed rulemaking. This rule making also expands the acceptability of facsimile transmissions to certain trademark documents which were not part of the proposed rulemaking.

Written comments were submitted by twenty-two law firms, five individuals, nine corporations, two organizations and three agencies. An oral hearing was not conducted.

The following includes a discussion of the rules being changed and the reasons for those changes, and an analysis of the comments received in response to the notice of proposed rule-making.

Discussion of Specific Sections to be Changed or Added:

(1) Types of Correspondence No longer Requiring Original Signatures (Section 1.4)

Section 1.4 is amended to include a new paragraph (d) to specify that most correspondence filed in the Office, which requires a person's signature, may be an original, or a copy thereof. See §§ 1.4 (e) and (f) for types of correspondence where the original must be filed in the Office. The word original, as used in this rulemaking, is defined as correspondence which is personally signed in permanent ink by the person whose signature appears thereon. Where copies of correspondence are acceptable, photocopies or facsimile transmissions may be filed. For example, a photocopy or facsimile transmission of an original of an amendment, declaration, petition, issue fee transmittal form, authorization to charge a deposit account, etc., may be submitted in a patent or trademark application. Furthermore, where copies are permitted, second and further generation copies (i.e., copy of a copy) are acceptable. The original, if not submitted to the Office, should be retained as evidence of proper execution in the event that questions arise as to the authenticity of the signature reproduced on the photocopy or facsimile-transmitted correspondence. If a question of authenticity arises, the Office may require submission of the original.

Section 1.4(e) identifies types of correspondence in which an original must be submitted to the Office. Where an original is required, copies are not acceptable and will not be accorded a receipt date. Correspondence, as referred to in this section, includes application forms for registration to practice before the Office and data sheets for the register of patent attorneys and agents.

Section 1.4(f) provides that when a document that is required by statute to be certified must be filed (such as a certified copy of a foreign patent application, pursuant to 35 U.S.C. 119; a certified copy of an international application, pursuant to 35 U.S.C. 365; a certified copy of a foreign trademark registration, pursuant to 15 U.S.C. 1126(e); a certified copy of a final court order, pursuant to 15 U.S.C. 1119; or a certified copy of a U.S. trademark registration), a copy of the certification, including a photocopy or facsimile transmission, will not be acceptable. The requirement for an original certification does not apply to certifications such as required under §§ 1.8, 1.10, 1.60, 1.97(e) and 3.73(b), since these certifications are not required by statute.

(2) Identification of Applications (Section 1.5) Section 1.5(a) is amended to make reference to the certificate procedure under § 1.8 consistent with the new title for § 1.8.

(3) Receipt of Correspondence (Section 1.6)

A descriptive heading is added to each paragraph of § 1.6 to identify the content of that paragraph.

The phrase "correspondence" is used in § 1.6 since the terms "papers", "letters" and "fees" all fall within the generic definition of "correspondence".

Section 1.6(a) is amended to clarify that correspondence transmitted by facsimile on weekends or Federal holidays within the District of Columbia, will be accorded the next business day as the date of receipt.

Sections 1.6(b) and (c) are amended to clarify that weekdays refer to any day except a Saturday, Sunday, or Federal holiday within the District of Columbia.

Section 1.6(c) is amended to delete reference to the box locations in the lobby of Crystal Plaza Building 3, Arlington, Virginia, and at the Department of Commerce Building in Washington, D.C. The use of the drop boxes was discontinued on April 21, 1992, and the hours of operation for the attorney's window were extended to midnight, the same hours the drop boxes were available. The public can now deposit correspondence with the Office and obtain an acknowledgment of receipt after normal business hours. See "Changes in How Papers May Be Filed in the Patent and Trademark Office", 1137 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 7 (April 7, 1992).

Use of the drop boxes at Crystal Plaza Building 3 and Department of Commerce Building locations had caused problems for both the public and the Office. Occasionally, it had been difficult to determine the dates of actual deposit of correspondence in the boxes. On occasion, Office employees and/or members of the public had been denied access to the drop box at the Department of Commerce by building security guards due to a special event taking place at the Department. Additionally, there were instances of correspondence being found outside of the drop boxes (e.g., on the floor of the main lobby of the Department of Commerce Building, on the guard's desk, on a nearby table, etc.). As a result, on occasion, the Office lacked confidence in assigning correct dates of receipt to correspondence deposited in the boxes at Crystal Plaza Building 3 and at the Department of Commerce Building. Given these difficulties, and the fact that the necessity for these boxes has been greatly diminished as a result of the facsimile transmission and certificate of mailing procedures,1.6(c) is amended by deleting reference to the drop boxes at Crystal Plaza Building 3 and the Department of Commerce Building.

A new section 1.6(d) is added to specify the types of correspondence which may be transmitted by facsimile and former § 1.6(d) is revised to be consistent with § 1.8(b) and redesignated as § 1.6(e). The widespread use of facsimile transmission and the resulting time saved in correspondence between applicants and the Office prompted the Office to establish a trial program to accept facsimile transmission of certain correspondence. The policy on "Filing of Certain Papers and Authorizations to Charge Deposit Accounts by Facsimile Transmission" was published at 1096 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 30 (November 15, 1988) and was supplemented in the notice "Filing of Certain Papers with the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences by Facsimile Transmission" published at 1108 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 15 (November 14, 1989). The policy on "Filing of Certain Trademark Papers and Authorizations to Charge Deposit Accounts by Facsimile Transmission" was published at 1123 Off. Gaz. TM. Office 18 (February 12, 1991). In light of the success of the trial program, a policy on acceptance of facsimile transmission is incorporated into § 1.6(d). The situations where transmission of correspondence by facsimile is permitted have been increased over those permissible under the trial program outlined above. The situations where transmissions by facsimile remain prohibited are identified in 1.6(d)(1)-(9). Prohibitions cover situations where originals are required as specified in §§ 1.4 (e) and (f), and situations where accepting a facsimile transmission would be unduly burdensome on the Office. As a courtesy, the Office will attempt to notify senders whenever correspondence is sent to the Office by facsimile transmission that falls within one of these prohibitions. Senders are cautioned against submitting correspondence by facsimile transmission which is not permitted under § 1.6(d) since such correspondence will not be accorded a receipt date.

This final rulemaking expands the acceptability of facsimile transmission to certain patent interference proceedings, not included in the proposed rulemaking, to reflect the practice set forth at 1108 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 15 (November 14, 1989).

This final rulemaking also expands the acceptability of facsimile transmission to certain trademark documents, not include in the proposed rulemaking. These addditional documents are:

(1) An affidavit showing that a mark is still in use or containing an excuse for nonuse under section 8(a) or (b) or section 12(c) of the Trademark Act, 15 U.S.C. 1058(a), 1058(b), 1062(c);

(2) An application for renewal of a registration under section 9 of the Trademark Act, 15 U.S.C. 1059;

(3) In an application under section 1(b) of the Trademark Act, 15 U.S.C. 1051(b), the filing of an amendment to allege use in commerce under section 1(c) of the Trademark Act, 15 U.S.C. 1051(c); or the filing of a statement of use under section 1(d)(1) of the Trademark Act, 15 U.S.C. 1051(d)(1).

The Certificate of Mailing or Transmission provisions of § 1.8 do not apply to correspondence listed in (1)-(3) above, nor to the filing of correspondence in an international application before the U.S. Receiving Office, the U.S. International Searching Authority, or the U.S. International Preliminary Examining Authority or to the filing, in an application under section 1(b) of the Trademark Act, 15 U.S.C. 1051(b), of a request under section 1(d)(2) of the Trademark act, 15 U.S.C. 1051 (d)(2), for an extension of time to file a statement of use under section 1(d)(1) of the Trademark Act, 15 U.S.C. 1051 (d)(1). See §§ 1.8 (a)(2)(i)(E) and 1.8 (a)(2)(ii)(B), (C), (E) and (F). If the transmission of any of these documents is completed after midnight (Eastern time) of the due date, the papers are untimely.

Under § 1.6(d)(4) as adopted in this final rulemaking, drawings submitted under §§ 1.81, 1.83-1.85, 1.152, 1.165, 1.174, 1.437, or 2.21 may not be filed by facsimile in patent and trademark applications. The experience of the Office is that the quality of the drawings received by facsimile transmission is generally not sufficient to comply with the drawing requirements set forth in these rules. However, applicants may submit by facsimile transmission proposed drawing corrections for approval by the Office.

In trademark proceedings, the facsimile transmission of specimens in response to an Office action will be permitted. Facsimile-transmitted specimens must be legible in order to be accepted and examined as specimens. This final rulemaking also expands the acceptability of specimens filed in conjunction with amendments to allege use under section 1(c); statements of use under section 1(d); affidavits of use or excusable nonuse under section 8 (a) or (b) or 12(c); and applications for renewal under section 9 of the Trademark Act. 15 U.S.C. 1051 (c) and (d); 1058 (a) and (b); 1062(c) and 1059.

The date of receipt accorded to any correspondence permitted to be sent by facsimile transmission is the date the complete transmission is received by an Office facsimile unit, unless the transmission is completed on a Saturday, Sunday, or Federal holiday within the District of Columbia. Correspondence for which transmission was completed on a Saturday, Sunday, or Federal holiday within the District of Columbia, will be accorded a receipt date of the next succeeding day which is not a Saturday, Sunday, or Federal holiday within the District of Columbia. For example, a facsimile transmission to the Office from California starting on a Friday at 8:45 p.m. Pacific time and taking 20 minutes, would be completed at 9:05 p.m. Pacific time. The complete transmission would be received in the Office around 12:05 a.m. Eastern time on Saturday. The receipt date accorded to the correspondence is the date of the following business day, which in this case, would be Monday (assuming that Monday was not a Federal holiday within the District of Columbia).

The following lists itemize types of correspondence which may not be filed by facsimile transmission, and, if submitted by facsimile, will not be accorded a date of receipt:

Correspondence Relative to Patents and Patent Applications Where Filing by Facsimile Transmission is Not permitted

(1) A document that is required by statute to be certified;

(2) A national patent application specification and drawing or other correspondence for the purpose of obtaining an application filing date;

(3) Drawings submitted under §§ 1.81, 1.83-1.85, 1.152, 1.165, 1.174, or 1.437;

(4) Correspondence in an interference which an examiner-in-chief orders to be filed by hand or "Express Mail";

(5) Agreements between parties to an interference under 35 U.S.C. 135(c);

(6) Correspondence to be filed in an interference proceeding which consists of a preliminary statement under § 1.621; a transcript of a deposition under § 1.676 or of interrogatories, cross-interrogatories, or recorded answers under 1.684(c); or an evidentiary record and exhibits under § 1.653;

(7) Correspondence to be filed in a patent application subject to a secrecy order under §§ 5.1-5.8 of this chapter and directly related to the secrecy order content of the application;

(9) A copy of the international application and the basic national fee necessary to enter the national stage, as specified in § 1.494(b) or § 1.495(b);

(10) A request for reexamination under § 1.510.

Correspondence Relative to Trademark Registrations and Trademark Applications Where Filing by Facsimile Transmission is Not Permitted

(1) The filing of a trademark application;

(4) Request for cancellation or amendment of a registration under section 7(e) of the Trademark Act, 15 U.S.C. 1057(e); and certificates of registration surrendered for cancellation or amendment under section 7(e) of the Trademark Act, 15 U.S.C. 1057(e);

(5) Correspondence to be filed with the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board, except the notice of ex parte appeal.

Correspondence Relative to Practitioner Registrations, Investigations, and Disciplinary Proceedings Where Filing by Facsimile Transmission is Not Permitted

Correspondence requiring a person's signature and relating to:

(1) Registration to practice before the Patent and Trademark Office in patent cases;

(2) Enrollment and disciplinary investigations; or

(3) Disciplinary proceedings.

(4) Certificate of Mailing or Transmission Procedure

(Section 1.8)

The title of § 1.8 is changed from Certificate of Mailing to Certificate of Mailing or Transmission so as to include facsimile transmission.

Section 1.8(a) prescribes procedures for the use of a certificate of mailing or transmission to file papers or fees in the Office by first class mail or by facsimile transmission. The description of the Certificate of Mailing or Transmission practice is set forth in § 1.8(a)(1), and the list of exceptions to the certificate practice is found in § 1.8(a)(2). The phrase papers or fees"in § 1.8(a) is changed to correspondence" since both "papers and "fees" fall within the generic definition of correspondence. Paragraphs (a) and (b) of § 1.8 are amended to include correspondence transmitted by facsimile. In the event that correspondence is filed by facsimile transmission, it is recommended that the sending facsimile machine generate a report confirming transmission for each transmission session. This report should be retained by the applicant, along with the correspondence used as the original, as evidence of content and date of transmission. Paragraph (a)(2) of § 1.8 is amended to include separate headings for correspondence which relate to patents, trademarks and disciplinary proceedings. The sequence of some of the paragraphs found in 1.8(a)(2) has been changed in order to have those paragraphs listed under the appropriate heading. The ability to use the Certificate of Mailing or Transmission procedures has been expanded to the filing of an affidavit under section 15, subsection (3) of the Trademark Act, 15 U.S.C. 1065(3), the filing of a notice of election to proceed by civil action in an inter partes proceeding under 35 U.S.C. 141 or 15 U.S.C. 1071(a)(1), in response to another party's appeal to the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, the filing of a notice and reasons of appeal under 35 U. S.C. 142 or a notice of appeal under 15 U.S.C. 1071(a)(2), and the filing of a statement under 42 U.S.C. 2182 or 42 U.S.C. 2457(c).

Paragraph (a)(2)(vi) of § 1.8 is redesignated as paragraph (a)(2)(x) and amended to refer to section 14(1) or 14(2) of the Trademark Act, 15 U.S.C. 1064, to conform with the numbering of the Trademark Law Revision Act of 1988. Other sections of paragraph (a)(2) of § 1.8 are amended to identify the types of correspondence which will not receive the benefit of a certificate of mailing or transmission.

Paragraph (b) of § 1.8 outlines procedures to be followed to document the timely filing of correspondence in accordance with § 1.8(a) where such correspondence is not received by the Office. The phrase "correspondence or fees" in § 1.8(b) is changed to "correspondence" since "fees" fall within the generic definition of "correspondence". Before adoption of this final rule, 1.8(b) required that the party forwarding the correspondence or fee include a declaration, under §§ 1.68 or 2.20 of this chapter, attesting to the previous timely mailing or transmission. In order to be consistent with other sections in Parts 1 and 2 of this chapter, the practice under § 1.8(b) is amended to permit a practitioner, as defined in § 10.1(r), to submit a statement rather than an oath or declaration under §§ 1.68 or 2.20 of this chapter. New paragraph (c) of § 1.8 is added to explicitly provide for a requirement for additional evidence relating to the mailing or transmission of correspondence in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section. The Office may invoke this requirement when it is deemed appropriate to establish an actual date of mailing or transmission. See, e.g., In re Klein, 6 USPQ2d 1547 (Comm'r Pat. 1987), aff'd sub nom. Klein v. Peterson, 696 F. Supp. 695, 8 USPQ2d 1434 (D.D.C. 1988), aff'd 866 F.2d 412, 9 USPQ2d 1558 (Fed. Cir.), cert. denied, 490 U.S. 1091 (1989).

(5) Time for Appeal or Civil Action (Section 1.304)

In section 1.304. paragraphs (a) and (c) are amended to delete a statement that use of the certificate procedure under § 1.8 is prohibited so as to be consistent with changes to § 1.8. Also, a cross reference to 1.658 in paragraph (a) is clarified.

(6) Submission of Maintenance Fees (Section 1.366)

Section 1.366(b) is amended by deleting the words "of mailing" to conform with the new title for § 1.8.

(7) Filing Date of Application for Extension of Patent Term Section 1.741(a) Section 1.741(a) is amended to conform with the new title for the certificate procedure under § 1.8.

(8) Appeal to Court and Civil Action (Section 2.145)

Sections 2.145(c)(3) and 2.145(d)(1) are amended to conform with the revised list of types of correspondence excluded from the certificate of mailing or transmission procedure set out in § 1.8. Formerly, the notice of election to proceed by civil action in an inter partes proceeding under 35 U.S.C. 141 or section 21(a)(1) of the Trademark Act, 15 U.S.C. 1071(a)(1), and the filing of notice and reasons of appeal under 35 U.S.C. 142 or a notice of appeal under section 21(a)(2) of the Trademark Act, 15 U.S.C. 1071(a)(2), were specifically excluded, under §§ 1.8(a)(2) (viii) and (ix), respectively, from the certificate of mailing procedure. Since these notices are no longer excluded under amended § 1.8(a)(2), sections 2.145(c)(3) and 2.145(d)(1) are amended to conform with § 1.8 by deleting the last sentence which provided that the certificate of mailing procedure was not available.

(9) Reconsideration of Affidavit or Declaration (Section 2.165) Section 2.165(a)(1) is amended to refer to the new title for the certificate procedure under § 1.8 of this chapter.

(10) Signature and Certificate of Practitioner (Section 10.18) Section 10.18 is modified to clarify signature requirements for correspondence signed by practitioners. The reference to § 1.4 of this chapter will make it apparent that copies, including photocopies or facsimile transmissions, of correspondence signed by practitioners will be accepted under appropriate circumstances.

(11) Misconduct (Section 10.23(c))

Section 10.23(c) is amended to refer to the new title for the certificate procedure under § 1.8 of this chapter.

Response to Comments on the Rules

The comments received in response to the notice of proposed rulemaking have been given careful consideration and a number of the suggested modifications have been adopted. The comments and responses are discussed below.

Comment: In order to clarify how the Office will treat a copy of a paper, one comment suggested changing the second sentence in proposed § 1.4(d) to indicate that, except as provided in §§ 1.4 (e) and (f), a copy would be treated by the Office as if the original had been filed.

Response: While the suggested language was not adopted, the rule was modified to clarify that, except as provided in §§ 1.4 (e) and (f), an original or a copy thereof may be filed. The rules as stated in this final rulemaking are clear that, where an original is not required, a paper filed will be treated in the same way regardless of whether it is an original or a copy.

Comment: Five comments objected to a perceived requirement in § 1.4(d) that the color of ink used for signing a paper be different from the printing on the paper.

Response: Proposed § 1.4(d) did not require that the color of ink used for signing a paper be different from the printing on the paper. The suggested use of different colors of ink is a preferred procedure for distinguishing between an original and a copy. However, in order to avoid further confusion, the suggestion that a different color of ink be used has been deleted.

Comment: One comment recommended that the issue of signature authenticity end upon issuance of a patent in order to reduce the need to keep files in storage for long periods of time and to remove the burden on applicants of having to retrieve files from storage.

Response: Once a patent issues, the Office is not likely to inquire into any matters related to signature authenticity of correspondence filed in that patent application. Nevertheless, on rare occasions, a question of signature authenticity might arise after issuance of a patent. Applicants must therefore make their own decisions as to how long to retain originals.

Comment: Two comments questioned the justification for proposed § 1.4(e) requiring originals to be submitted in international patent applications.

Response: Section 1.4(e), as adopted, does not prohibit the filing of photocopies in an international patent application. With regard to facsimile transmissions, Patent Cooperation Treaty (PCT) Rule 92.4, as revised on July 1, 1992, permits the filing by facsimile of certain correspondence related to an international patent application. However, as indicated in §§ 1.6(d)(3), 1.8(a)(2)(iv) and 1.8(a)(2)(vi), the filing by facsimile is not permitted in the following situations relative to international applications for patent: (1) the filing of an international application for patent and (2) the filing of a copy of the international application and the basic national fee necessary to enter the national stage, as specified in §§ 1.494(b) or 1.495(b).

Applicants are cautioned, however, that the Certificate of Mailing or Transmission provisions of § 1.8 do not apply to correspondence filed in an international application before the U.S. Receiving Office, the U.S. International Searching Authority, or the U.S. International Preliminary Examining Authority, regardless of whether the correspondence was filed by mail or facsimile transmission. See § 1.8(a)(2)(5).

Comment: One comment suggested that, in applications filed under § 1.60, the certification that the application and papers being filed are true copies of those filed in the parent application should be excluded from the original signature requirement.

Response: Filing of copies of statements under § 1.60 as well as certifications under §§ 1.8, 1.10, 1.97(e) and 3.73(b) will be permitted. The certified documents referred to in § 1.4(f) are those which are required to be certified by statute (e.g., certified documents under 35 U.S.C. 119).

Comment: One comment questioned whether routine papers could be photocopied with a practitioner's signature thereon with appropriate information being filled in later by another person.

Response: Section 10.18(a) states that the signature of a practitioner, on correspondence filed, constitutes a certificate that the correspondence has been read by the practitioner. Accordingly, the photocopying of papers with a practitioner's signature thereon and subsequently having appropriate information filled in by another person, is not authorized or permitted under the rules.

Comment: One comment questioned whether a docket clerk could use a signature stamp of a registered attorney on a transmittal letter.

Response: Section 10.18(a) states that correspondence filed by a practitioner must be personally signed by that practitioner. Accordingly, use of a signature stamp of a registered attorney by a docket clerk would not be permitted.

Comment: Two comments suggested that the facsimile transmission practice be further liberalized to permit scanned-in signatures to be affixed to facsimile or electronically transmitted correspondence. The personal, handwritten signature would be affixed on a copy of the transmitted correspondence which would be kept by the applicant or his or her representative.

Response: The Office is actively considering acceptance of electronically filed applications and papers related thereto. See "Electronic Filing of Patent and Trademark Applications" published at 57 FR 56537 (November 30, 1992) and 1145 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 378 (December 22, 1992). Until an acceptable program is established, every paper, requiring a signature, filed in the Office, regardless of the manner in which it was transmitted, will have to be a paper which was signed by the person whose signature appears thereon, or be a copy thereof. Scanned signatures affixed to papers which were not personally signed will not be permitted at this time.

Comment: One comment indicated that proposed § 1.5(a) appeared to be contrary to PCT Article 27(1) in that it added the additional requirement not set forth in the PCT of requiring correspondence concerning an international application to identify the international application number.

Response: PCT Rule 92.1 requires any paper relating to an international application to identify the international application to which it relates. In order to ensure prompt and proper association of correspondence with the intended application file, it is essential to use the application number on all papers. The practice (which was not a new one added in this rulemaking) is a mere implementation of the requirement in PCT Rule 92.1 and is not contrary to PCT Article 27(1) as no additional requirement is being placed on applicants.

Comment: Two comments recommended an increase from two weeks to 30 days or one month in the period provided in § 1.5(a) for resubmission of correspondence.

Response: The two-week period provided in § 1.5(a) is to enable applicants to provide the necessary identifying data where such data was not provided during the original submission. This is intended to permit immediate resubmission and no additional time is deemed to be necessary. Extending this period to 30 days would unnecessarily delay prosecution of applications.

Comment: Section 1.5(a) suggests that all letters directed to the Office concerning applications for patents should also state "Patent Application". One comment suggested that § 1.5(a) be amended to replace the restrictive reference to a "Patent Application" to read "identifying the correspondence a relating to a patent application".

Response: In order to make it easier for Office employees handling incoming correspondence to direct mail, § 1.5(a) recommends that letters relating to a patent application should state "Patent Application". The suggestion in the comment was not adopted since uniformity in the reference to "Patent Application" is desirable. Furthermore, this suggested labeling is not a requirement as evidenced by the use of the word "should" rather than "must".

Comment: Section 1.5(a) states that "No correspondence relating to an application should be filed prior to when notification of the application number is received from the Patent and Trademark Office". One comment suggested that the phrase "notification of the application number" was not adequately defined as it was not clear if applicants had to wait for the official filing receipt before information disclosure statements or other papers could be filed.

Response: The phrase "notification of the application number" as used in 1.5(a) includes any manner in which an applicant becomes aware of the application number. The phrase is purposely broad and is not limited to the mailing of an official filing receipt. Rather, it includes a return post card which has an application number stamped thereon. The reasoning behind the statement in § 1.5(a) that no correspondence should be filed prior to notification of the application number is that correspondence received without an application number is difficult to match with the appropriate file. Further defining the phrase "notification of the application number" in 1.5(a) is not warranted.

Comment: One comment suggested defining a business day as Monday through Friday, except for Federal holidays in the District of Columbia.

Response: It is not clear which section the comment was directed to, but § 1.6 indicates that no correspondence will be received by the Office on Saturdays, Sundays or Federal holidays within the District of Columbia. Since the language has not created problems in the past, the suggestion will not be adopted.

Comment: Two comments suggested amending § 1.6(c) to indicate the hour of operation of the "walk-up window".

Response: Specifying in the regulations the hours of operation of the "walk-up window" is unnecessary. The hours of operation have been published in Official Gazette announcements and if those hours are changed in the future, the new schedule will published. Should the hours of operation of the "walk-up window" be changed due to unforeseen circumstances (i.e., snow emergency, etc.), a sign will be posted at the "walk-up window" giving an alternate location to deposit correspondence for the Office.

Comment: Two comments requested that the Office reconsider and withdraw the proposal to eliminate the mail drop box at the guard's desk at the Department of Commerce Building in Washington, D. C.

Response: As indicated in the notice of proposed rulemaking, members of the public were occasionally denied access to the drop box at the Department of Commerce. Additionally, the Office lacked confidence in assigning correct dates of receipt to correspondence deposited in the box as a result of instances when correspondence was found outside of the drop box. Further, since there are many ways to file papers with the Office (i.e., certificate of mailing or transmission, Express Mail, facsimile transmission, longer hours at the "walk-up-window"), there is no need to maintain an off-site drop box.

Comment: One comment suggested that the Office publish phone numbers for facsimile machines at various locations, (i.e., Publishing Division, various examining groups, etc.), in order to enable the public to direct their transmissions to a particular location, rather than a central location.

Response: The suggestion has been adopted. See "Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) Information Contacts", 1149 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 67 (April 27, 1993). The Office will publish in the Official Gazette periodic updates of this list.

Comment: Three comments advocated a further expansion of the facsimile transmission practice to permit transmission of any paper which did not require an original signature. According to the comment, it was difficult to understand why the Office would not permit facsimile transmission of certain papers directly to the Office, but would accept those same papers if transmitted by facsimile to a third party who then hand-delivered the papers to the Office.

Response: The only papers, not requiring an original signature or certification, which the Office will not accept by facsimile transmission are those which, for various reasons, would cause an undue burden on the Office. For example, papers submitted for the purpose of obtaining an application filing date are often rather voluminous difficult to collate and would create inefficiencies in tying up the Office facsimile machines for long periods of time. In addition, there is a time and content criticality to papers filed for the purpose of obtaining a filing date which is not shared by other types of papers. Another example would be drawings submitted under §§ 1.81, 1.83-1.85, 1.152, 1.165, 1.174, 1.437, or 2.21. Experience has shown that the quality of drawings received by facsimile transmission would typically result in an objection by the Official Draftsman. Disputes might arise at that point as to whether the cause of the poor quality was applicant's transmitting unit or the receiving unit of the Office. Hence, the Office will continue to prohibit facsimile transmission of certain papers as specified in § 1.6(d). However, the suggestion has been adopted to the extent that the office will accept, via facsimile transmission, an affidavit showing that a mark is still in use or containing an excuse for nonuse under section 8(a) or (b) or section 12 (c) of the Trademark Act, 15 U.S.C. 1058(a), 1058(b), 1062(c); an application for renewal of a registration under section 9 of the Trademark Act, 15 U.S.C. 1059; and in an application under section 1(b) of the Trademark Act, 15 U.S.C. 1051(b), the filing of an amendment to allege use in commerce under section 1(c) of the Trademark Act, 15 U.S.C. 1051(c); or the filing of a statement of use under section 1(d)(1) of the Trademark Act, 15 U.S.C. 1051 (d)(1).

Comment: Section 1.6(d) states that the receipt date accorded to a paper transmitted by facsimile will be the date on which the complete transmission is received in the Office. Three comments objected to this language by arguing that this practice discriminated against West Coast practitioners and gave an advantage to East Coast practitioners because the West Coast practitioners had only until 9 P.M. to complete a transmission in order to receive the benefit of that day's filing.

Response: The facsimile transmission practice is similar to regular mail practice. Thus, a West Coast practitioner depositing correspondence with the local postal service without a certificate of mailing will receive as a receipt date the date on which the Office receives the correspondence, rather than the date on which the correspondence was deposited. Similarly, a paper transmitted by facsimile will be accorded, as the date of receipt, the date on which the complete transmission was received in the Office, unless the date of receipt is a Saturday, Sunday, or Federal holiday within the District of Columbia, in which case, the date of receipt will be the next business day.

The certificate practice provided in § 1.8, on the other hand, permits the sender to indicate on the correspondence the date of mailing or transmission from the sender's perspective, which date would then be effective to meet a deadline set for response. Use of the certificate of mail or transmission is applicable to correspondence submitted by mail and correspondence transmitted by facsimile. If transmitted by facsimile, the person signing the certificate certifies the expectation that the transmission would be initiated before midnight, local time.

By way of example, a West Coast practitioner preparing a response on the last day of the period for response would have to use the § 1.8 certificate of mailing procedure or the § 1.10 Express Mail procedure, for the response to be considered timely, if the correspondence was sent by way of the U. S. Postal Service. If the practitioner chose to send the correspondence by facsimile on the last day for response and the transmission was started before 9:00 p.m. Pacific time, but was completed after 9:00 p.m. Pacific time, the Office would accord that correspondence a receipt date as of the next business day, which would be after the period for response expired because the Office would have received the correspondence after midnight Eastern time of the last day for response. However, if the practitioner affixed a certificate of transmission to the correspondence sent by facsimile transmission, indicating that the correspondence was being transmitted on the last day in the period for response, then the correspondence would be considered timely filed.

As another example, a transmission started before midnight, Pacific time, on the last day for response and having a certificate of transmission affixed thereto, would be considered timely filed even though the transmission was completed after midnight, Pacific time and was received in the Office the day after the deadline for response.

Comment: One comment suggested replacing "drawings" in § 1.6(d)(4) with "formal drawings" for clarity.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted because the phrase "formal drawings" does not find support or antecedent basis in sections referred to in § 1.6(d)(4).

Comment: One comment objected to the perceived requirement for a certificate of transmission in order for a facsimile-transmitted document to be accorded a date of receipt.

Response: The receipt date accorded to correspondence eligible for facsimile transmission, whether containing a certificate of transmission or not, will be the date of receipt in the Office of the complete transmission (unless that date is a Saturday, Sunday, or Federal holiday within the District of Columbia, in which case the date accorded will be the next business day). The certificate of transmission, if used, is for purposes of establishing timely filing if the correspondence is transmitted within the period for response but is (1) received in the Office after expiration of the period for response, or (2) lost or (3) not received by the Office.

Comment: One comment requested clarification as to what constituted a "complete transmission" as used in § 1.6(d).

Response: The context in which the phrase "complete transmission" was used in 1.6(d) was to indicate that the transmission was finished. For example, if page 1 of a ten-page facsimile transmission is received in the Office at 11:55 p.m. on a Tuesday and page 10 ofthat transmission is received at 12:05 a.m. Wednesday, the receipt date accorded to that correspondence will be the date of that Wednesday. (This example assumes that Wednesday is not a Federal holiday within the District of Columbia).

Comment: One comment questioned whether a confirmation in the sender's facsimile machine that the entire facsimile was received constituted sufficient proof that a transmission was complete.

Response: A confirmation by the sender's facsimile machine is evidence that a transmission was made. As such, the confirmation will be considered together with any other evidence presented when questions of filing by facsimile transmission arise. It is therefore suggested that a certificate of transmission be used to enable the sender to rely on the procedures set forth in § 1.8(b).

Comment: One comment requested clarification as to what constituted an incomplete, faulty or illegible facsimile. Also, if an incomplete transmission was sent near the end of the period for response, will the sender be able to rely on the date the facsimile was initially transmitted, or would the sender have to rely on § 1.137 to revive the application if it became abandoned?

Response: If an incomplete, faulty or illegible facsimile transmission is received, that correspondence will be treated by the Office in the same manner that a comparably incomplete, faulty or illegible piece of correspondence would be treated if the correspondence were hand-delivered or mailed to the Office. Whether the application would be held abandoned upon receipt of an incomplete facsimile transmission or whether an opportunity would be provided to complete the transmission will be decided on a case-by-case basis using the same standards that are currently used - for example, for incomplete responses to Office actions, see § 1.135(c).

Comment: One comment indicated that the proposed practice of not accepting papers related to international applications if transmitted by facsimile and the indication that papers transmitted by facsimile, when prohibited, may be disposed of is contrary to PCT practice wherein PCT expressly provides for facsimile transmission of such papers and when not acceptable, an opportunity to correct is provided.

Response: PCT does not mandate acceptance of facsimile transmissions; it merely authorizes their acceptance. See PCT Rule 92.4(h). Additionally, as indicated above, the suggestion that the Office permit facsimile transmission of correspondence relative to an already filed international application has been adopted to a large extent.

There is no provision in PCT to provide an opportunity for correction when correspondence is filed by facsimile in spite of a refusal by a national Office to accept that type of correspondence by facsimile. As with national applications, the Office will attempt to notify senders whenever a facsimile transmission received is of a type which the Office has not agreed to accept by facsimile. Senders are cautioned against submitting such correspondence by facsimile transmission since the correspondence will not be accorded a filing date or date of receipt in the Office.

Comment: One comment suggested changing the phrase "Certificate of Transfer" in § 1.8 to "Certificate of Transmittal" or "Certificate of Sending" because "transfer" typically implies transfer of ownership interest in patents or trademarks.

Response: While each phrase has its own advantages and drawbacks, the suggestion will not be adopted. Nevertheless, in order to avoid confusion, this rulemaking leaves the old "Certificate of Mailing" intact, while adding "or Transmission" to include correspondence filed by facsimile transmission.

Comment: In the notice of proposed rulemaking, it was recommended that the facsimile machine transmission report be retained by the sender along with the correspondence used as the original, as evidence of content and date of transfer. One comment indicated that the correspondence used as the original can only be retained using the older stand-alone type of facsimile machine, since there is no such physical document with the newer in-computer facsimile cards.

Response: Section 1.4(d)(2) provides for submission of copies, e.g., by facsimile, of originals as defined in § 1.4(d)(1). Section 1.4(d)(2) does not provide for transmission of unsigned correspondence from a computer. While 1.4(d)(2) does not require the sender to retain the original, there may be occasions when the sender will have to document the date and content of a document previously filed by facsimile transmission. The recommendation made in the notice of proposed rulemaking will apply to any situation where a paper document served as the original from which a facsimile was transmitted. If a facsimile transmission by using a computer is desired, a paper copy of the document to be transmitted may be printed out, signed and retained by the sender as evidence of content of the document transmitted. Once signed, if filing of a copy is permitted, the document could be scanned into the computer and facsimile transmitted to the Office.

Comment: In proposed section 1.8(a)(1) published in the Federal Register, paragraphs (i) and (ii) were joined with the alternative "or" to indicate that correspondence could be filed by being deposited with the U. S. Postal Service or transmitted by facsimile. This same section was published in the Official Gazette, by having paragraphs (i) and (ii) joined with the connective "and". Numerous comments, received apparently from individuals who saw the proposed rules in the Official Gazette, objected to the requirement that, in order to receive benefits under § 1.8, correspondence transmitted by facsimile also had to be mailed.

Response: Section 1.8(a)(1) as published in the Federal Register was correct, while the version published in the Official Gazette contained a typographical error. Hence, §§ 1.8(a)(1)(i) (A) and (B), as adopted in this rulemaking, make clear that the certificate of mailing or transmission practice will be applicable to correspondence mailed or sent by facsimile. The Office discourages the practice of having the same papers submitted by both methods as this practice would result in unnecessary duplication of papers and processing requirements.

Comment: One comment indicated that since all facsimile transmissions include the date and time of the actual facsimile transmission, the Office should not require a certificate of transmission, in order to get the benefit of an earlier filing date under § 1.8(a), when correspondence is transmitted by facsimile.

Response: The Office is concerned that some older machines may not print the date and time of the actual transmission. Furthermore, even on the new machines the date and time printed by the sending unit may not always be correct, particularly after a temporary electrical disconnection, change in time, etc. Hence, for purposes of being considered timely filed, if the sender wishes to obtain the benefits of a date earlier than the date the complete transmission is received in the Office, the correspondence must include a certification in accordance with § 1.8(a).

A suggested format for a Certificate of Mailing and a Certificate of Transmission under § 1.8, to be included with the correspondence, is reproduced below:

OTHER CONSIDERATIONS

The rule changes are in conformity with the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), Executive Orders 12291 and 12612 and the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et Seq.

The General Counsel of the Department of Commerce has certified to the Chief Counsel for Advocacy, Small Business Administration, that these rule changes will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities (Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 605(b)). The principal impact of these changes is to incorporate existing Office policy into the regulations, permit the filing of certain correspondence without an original signature and permit the filing of certain correspondence by facsimile transmission.

The Office has determined that these rule changes are not major rules under Executive Order 12291. The annual effect on the economy will be less than $100 million. There will be no major increase in costs or prices for consumers, individuals, industries, Federal, state or local government agencies, or geographic regions because most of the changes reduce procedural burdens. There will be no significant effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or on the ability of United States-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

The Office has also determined that these changes have no Federalism implications affecting the relationship between the National Government and the States as outlined in Executive Order 12612.

These rule changes contain collection-of-information requirements subject to the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S C. 3501 et seq., which have previously been approved by the Office of Management and Budget under Control Nos. 0651-0009 and 0651-0011. The public reporting burden for these collections of information for Certificates of Mailing or Transmission is estimated to average 0.1 hours each, including the time for reviewing instructions, searching existing data sources, gathering and maintaining the data needed, and completing and reviewing the collections of information. Send comments regarding these burden estimates, or any other aspect of these collections of information, including suggestions for reducing the burden, to Abraham Hershkovitz, Office of the Assistant Commissioner for Patents, Box DAC, Washington, D.C. 20231, and to the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs, Office of Management and Budget, Washington, D.C. 20503 (ATTN: Paperwork Reduction Act Projects 0651-0009 and 0651-0011).

For the reasons set out in the preamble, and pursuant to the authority contained in 15 U.S.C. 1123 and 35 U.S.C. 6, parts 1, 2 and 10 of title 37 of the Code of Federal Regulations are amended as set forth below:

PART 1 - RULES OF PRACTICE IN PATENT CASES

1. The authority citation for 37 CFR Part 1 continues to read as follows:
Authority: 35 U.S.C. 6, unless otherwise noted.

2. In Section 1.4, the title is revised and paragraphs (d) through (f) are added to read as follows:

§ 1.4 Nature of correspondence and signature requirements.

(d) Each piece of correspondence, except as provided in paragraphs (e) and (f) of this section, filed in a patent or trademark application, reexamination proceeding, patent or trademark interference proceeding, patent file or trademark registration file, trademark opposition proceeding, trademark cancellation proceeding, or trademark concurrent use proceeding, which requires a person's signature, must either:

(1) be an original, that is, have an original signature personally signed in permanent ink by that person; or

(2) be a copy, such as a photocopy or facsimile transmission (§ 1.6(d)), of an original. In the event that a copy of the original is filed, the original should be retained as evidence of authenticity. If a question of authenticity arises, the Patent and Trademark Office may require submission of the original.

(e) Correspondence requiring person's signature and relating to registration to practice before the Patent and Trademark Office in patent cases, enrollment and disciplinary investigations, or disciplinary proceedings must be submitted with an original signature personally signed in permanent ink by that person.

(f) When a document that is required by statute to be certified must be filed, a copy, including a photocopy or facsimile transmission, of the certification is not acceptable.

3. Section 1.5(a) is revised to read as follows:

§ 1.5 Identification of application, patent or registration.

(a) No correspondence relating to an application should be filed prior to when notification of the application number is received from the Patent and Trademark Office. When a letter directed to the Patent and Trademark Office concerns a previously filed application for a patent, it must identify on the top page in a conspicuous location, the application number (consisting of the series code and the serial number, e.g., 07/123,456), or the serial number and filing date assigned to that application by the Patent and Trademark Office, or the international application number of the international application. Any correspondence not containing such identification will be returned to the sender where a return address is available. The returned correspondence will be accompanied with a cover letter which will indicate to the sender that if the returned correspondence is resubmitted to the Patent and Trademark Office within two weeks of the mail date on the cover letter, the original date of (a) No correspondence relating to an application should be filed prior to when notification of the application number is received from the Patent and Trademark Office. When a letter directed to the Patent and Trademark Office concerns a previously filed application for a patent, it must identify on the top page in a conspicuous location, the application number (consisting of the series code and the serial number, e.g., 07/123,456), or the serial number and filing date assigned to that application by the Patent and Trademark Office, or the international application number of the international application. The returned correspondence will be accompanied with a cover letter which will indicate to the sender that if the returned correspondence is resubmitted to the Patent and Trademark Office within two weeks of the mail date on the cover letter, the original date of receipt of the correspondence will be considered by the Patent and Trademark Office as the date of receipt of the correspondence. Applicants may use either the Certificate of Mailing or Transmission procedure under § 1.8 or the Express Mail procedure under § 1.10 for resubmissions of returned correspondence if they desire to have the benefit of the date of deposit in the United States Postal Service. If the returned correspondence is not resubmitted within the two-week period, the date of receipt of resubmission will be considered to be the date of receipt of the correspondence. The two-week period to resubmit the returned correspondence will not be extended. If for some reason returned correspondence is resubmitted with proper identification later than two weeks after the return mailing by the Patent and Trademark Office, the resubmitted correspondence will be accepted but given its date of receipt. In addition to the application number, all letters directed to the Patent and Trademark Office concerning applications for patent should also state "PATENT APPLICATION," the name of the applicant, the title of the invention, the date of filing the same, and if known, the group art unit or other unit within the Patent and Trademark Office responsible for considering the letter and the name of the examiner or other person to which it has been assigned.

4. In section 1.6, is revised, to read as follows:

§ 1.6 Receipt of correspondence.

(a) Date of receipt and Express Mail date of deposit.
Correspondence received in the Patent and Trademark Office is stamped with the date of receipt except as follows:

(1) No correspondence is received in the Patent and Trademark Office on Saturdays, Sundays or Federal holidays within the District of Columbia;

(2) Correspondence filed in accordance with § 1.10 will be stamped with the date of deposit as "Express Mail" with the United States Postal Service unless the date of deposit is a Saturday, Sunday, or Federal holiday within the District of Columbia in which case the date stamped will be the next succeeding day which is not a Saturday, Sunday, or Federal holiday within the District of Columbia;

(3) Correspondence transmitted by facsimile to the Patent and Trademark Office will be stamped with the date on which the complete transmission is received in the Patent and Trademark Office unless that date is a Saturday, Sunday, or Federal holiday within the District of Columbia, in which case the date stamped will be the next succeeding day which is not a Saturday, Sunday, or Federal holiday within the District of Columbia.

(b) Patent and Trademark Office Post Office pouch.
Mail placed in the Patent and Trademark Office pouch up to midnight on any day, except Saturdays, Sundays and Federal holidays within the District of Columbia, by the post office at Washington, D.C., serving the Patent and Trademark Office, is considered as having been received in the Patent and Trademark Office on the day it was so placed in the pouch by the U.S. Postal Service.

(c) Correspondence delivered by hand.

In addition to being mailed, correspondence may be delivered by hand during hours the Office is open to receive correspondence.

(d) Facsimile transmission.

Except in the cases enumerated below, correspondence, including authorizations to charge a deposit account, may be transmitted by facsimile. The receipt date accorded to the correspondence will be the date on which the complete transmission is received in the Patent and Trademark Office, unless that date is a Saturday, Sunday, or Federal holiday within the District of Columbia. See § 1.6(a)(3). To facilitate proper processing, each transmission session should be limited to correspondence to be filed in a single application or other proceeding before the Patent and Trademark Office. The application number of a patent or trademark application, the control number of a reexamination proceeding, the interference number of an interference proceeding, the patent number of a patent, or the registration number of a trademark should be entered as a part of the sender's identification on a facsimile cover sheet. Facsimile transmissions are not permitted and if submitted, will not be accorded a date of receipt, in the following situations:

(1) Correspondence as specified in § 1.4(e), requiring an original signature;

(2) Certified documents as specified in § 1.4(f);

(3) Correspondence which cannot receive the benefit of the certificate of mailing or transmission as specified in §§ 1.8(a)(2)(i)(A) through (D) and (F); 1.8 (a)(2)(ii)(A) and (D); and 1.8 (a)(2)(iii)(A);

(4) Drawings submitted under §§ 1.81, 1.83 through 1.85, 1.152, 1.165, 1.174, 1.437, 2.51, 2.52, or 2.72;

(5) A request for reexamination under § 1.510;

(6) Correspondence to be filed in a patent application subject to a secrecy order under §§ 5.1 through 5.8 of this chapter and directly related to the secrecy order content of the application;

(7) Requests for cancellation or amendment of a registration under section 7(e) of the Trademark Act, 15 U.S.C. 1057(e); and certificates of registration surrendered for cancellation or amendment under section 7(e) of the Trademark Act, 15 U.S.C. 1057(e);

(8) Correspondence to be filed with the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board, except the notice of ex parte appeal;

(9) Correspondence to be filed in an interference proceeding which consists of a preliminary statement under § 1.621; a transcript of a deposition under § 1.676 or of interrogatories, cross-interrogatories, or recorded answers under § 1.684(c); or an evidentiary record and exhibits under § 1.653.

(e) Interruptions in U.S. Postal Service.

If interruptions or emergencies in the United States Postal Service which have been so designated by the Commissioner occur, the Patent and Trademark Office will consider as filed on a particular date in the Office any correspondence which is:

(1) Promptly filed after the ending of the designated interruption or emergency; and

(2) Accompanied by a statement indicating that such correspondence would have been filed on that particular date if it were not for the designated interruption or emergency in the United States Postal Service. Such statement must be a verified statement if made by a person other than a practitioner as defined in § 10.1(r) of this chapter.

5. Section 1.8 is revised to read as follows:

§ 1.8 Certificate of mailing or transmission.

(a) Except in the cases enumerated in paragraph (a)(2) of this section, correspondence required to be filed in the Patent and Trademark Office within a set period of time will be considered as being timely filed if the procedure described in this section is followed. The actual date of receipt will be used for all other purposes.

(1) Correspondence will be considered as being timely filed if:

(i) the correspondence is mailed or transmitted prior to expiration of the set period of time by being:

(A) deposited with the U.S. Postal Service with sufficient postage as first class mail addressed to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231; or

(B) transmitted by facsimile to the Patent and Trademark Office in accordance with § 1.6(d); and

(ii) the correspondence includes a certificate for each piece of correspondence stating the date of deposit or transmission. The person signing the certificate should have reasonable basis to expect that the correspondence would be mailed or transmitted on or before the date indicated.

(2) The procedure described in paragraph (a)(1) of this section does not apply to, and no benefit will be given to a Certificate of Mailing or Transmission on the following:

(i) Relative to Patents and Patent Applications

A. The filing of a national patent application specification and drawing or other correspondence for the purpose of obtaining an application filing date;

B. The filing of correspondence in an interference which an examiner-in-chief orders to be filed by hand or "Express Mail";

C. The filing of agreements between parties to an interference under 35 U.S.C. 135(c);

D. The filing of an international application for patent;

E. The filing of correspondence in an international application before the U.S. Receiving Office, the U.S. International Searching Authority, or the U.S. International Preliminary Examining Authority;

F. The filing of a copy of the international application and the basic national fee necessary to enter the national stage, as specified in § 1.494(b) or § 1.495(b).

(ii) Relative to Trademark Registrations and Trademark Applications

A. The filing of a trademark application;

B. The filing of an affidavit showing that a mark is still in use or containing an excuse for nonuse under section 8 (a) or (b) or section 12(c) of the Trademark Act, 15 U.S.C. 1058(a), 1058(b), 1062(c);

C. The filing of an application for renewal of a registration under section 9 of the Trademark Act, 15 U.S.C. 1059;

D. The filing of a petition to cancel a registration of a mark under section 14, subsection (1) or (2) of the Trademark Act, 15 U.S.C. 1064;

E. In an application under section 1(b) of the Trademark Act, 15 U.S.C. 1051(b), the filing of an amendment to allege use in commerce under section 1(c) of the Trademark Act, 15 U.S.C. 1051(c); or the filing of a statement of use under section 1(d)(1) of the Trademark Act, 15 U.S.C. 1051(d)(1);

F. In an application under section 1(b) of the Trademark Act, 15 U.S.C. 1051(b), the filing of a request under section 1(d)(2) of the Trademark Act, 15 U.S.C. 1051(d)(2), for an extension of time to file a statement of use under section 1(d)(1) of the Trademark Act, 15 U.S.C. 1051(d)(l).

(iii) Relative to Disciplinary Proceedings

A. Correspondence filed in connection with a disciplinary proceeding under Part 10 of this chapter.

B. Reserved.

(b) In the event that correspondence is considered timely filed by being mailed or transmitted in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section, but not received in the Patent and Trademark Office, and the application is held to be abandoned or the proceeding dismissed, terminated, or decided with prejudice, the correspondence will be considered timely if the party who forwarded such correspondence:

(1) informs the Office of the previous mailing or transmission of the correspondence promptly after becoming aware that the Office has no evidence of receipt of the correspondence,

(2) supplies an additional copy of the previously mailed or transmitted correspondence and certificate, and

(3) includes a statement which attests on a personal knowledge basis or to the satisfaction of the Commissioner to the previous timely mailing or transmission. Such statement must be a verified statement if made by a person other than a practitioner as defined in § 10.1(r) of this chapter. If the correspondence was sent by facsimile transmission, a copy of the sending unit's report confirming transmission may be used to support this statement.

(c) The Office may require additional evidence to determine if the correspondence was timely filed.

6. Section 1.304 paragraphs (a) and (c) are revised to read as follows:

§ 1.304 Time for appeal or civil action.

(a)(1) The time for filing the notice of appeal to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit (§ 1.302) or for commencing a civil action (§ 1.303) is two months from the date of the decision of the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences. If a request for reconsideration or modification of the decision is filed within the time period provided under § 1.197(b) or § 1.658(b), the time for filing an appeal or commencing a civil action shall expire two months after action on the request. In interferences, the time for filing a cross-appeal or cross-action expires:

(i) 14 days after service of the notice of appeal or the summons and complaint, or

(ii) Two months after the date of decision of the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences, whichever is later.

(a)(2) The time periods set forth in this section are not subject to the provisions of §§ 1.136, 1.550(c) or § 1.645 (a) or §§ (b). (a)(3) The Commissioner may extend the time for filing an appeal or commencing a civil action:

(i) For good cause shown if requested in writing before the expiration of the period for filing an appeal or commencing a civil action, or

(ii) Upon written request after the expiration of the period for filing an appeal or commencing a civil action upon a showing that the failure to act was the result of excusable neglect.

(c) If a defeated party to an interference has taken an appeal to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit and an adverse party has filed notice under 35 U.S.C. 141 electing to have all further proceedings conducted under 35 U.S.C. 146 (§ 1.303(c)), the time for filing a civil action thereafter is specified in 35 U.S.C. 141. The time for filing a cross-action expires 14 days after service of the summons and complaint.

7. Section 1.366(b) is revised to read as follows:

(b) A maintenance fee and any necessary surcharge submitted for a patent must be submitted in the amount due on the date the maintenance fee and any necessary surcharge are paid and may be paid in the manner set forth in § 1.23 or by an authorization to charge a deposit account established pursuant to § 1.25. Payment of a maintenance fee and any necessary surcharge or the authorization to charge a deposit account must be submitted within the periods set forth in § 1.362 (d), (e) or (f). Any payment or authorization of maintenance fees and surcharges filed at any other time will not be accepted and will not serve as a payment of the maintenance fee except insofar as a delayed payment of the maintenance fee is accepted by the Commissioner in an expired patent pursuant to a petition filed under § 1.378. Any authorization to charge a deposit account must authorize the immediate charging of the maintenance fee and any necessary surcharge to the deposit account. Payment of less than the required amount, payment in a manner other than that set forth in § 1.23, or the filing of an authorization to charge a deposit account having insufficient funds will not constitute payment of a maintenance fee or surcharge on a patent. The certificate procedures of either §§ 1.8 or 1.10 may be utilized in paying maintenance fees and any necessary surcharges.

8. Section 1.741, paragraph (a) is revised to read as follows:

§ 1.741 Filing date of application.

(a) The filing date of an application for extension of patent term is the date on which a complete application is received in the Patent and Trademark Office or filed pursuant to the "Certificate of Mailing or Transmission" provisions of 37 CFR 1.8 or "Express Mail" provisions of 37 CFR 1.10.

PART 2-RULES OF PRACTICE IN TRADEMARK CASES

9. The authority citation for 37 CFR Part 2 continues to read as follows:

Authority: 15 U.S.C. 1123; 35 U.S.C. 6, unless otherwise noted.

10. Section 2.145 is amended by revising Paragraphs C(3) and D(1) to read as follows:

§ 2.145 Appeal to Court and Civil Action.

(c) •••

(3) Any adverse party to an appeal taken to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit by a defeated party in an inter partes proceeding may file a notice with the Commissioner within twenty days after the filing of the defeated party's notice of appeal to the court (paragraph (b) of this section), electing to have all further proceedings conducted as provided in section 21(b) of the Act. The notice of election must be served as provided in § 2.119.

(d) Time for appeal or civil action.

(1) The time for filing the notice of appeal to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit (paragraph (b) of this section), or for commencing a civil action (paragraph (c) of this section), is two months from the date of the decision of the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board or the Commissioner, as the case may be. If a request for rehearing or reconsideration or modification of the decision is filed within the time specified in §§ 2.127(b), 2.129(c) or § 2.144, or within any extension of time granted thereunder, the time for filing an appeal or commencing a civil action shall expire two months after action on the request. In inter partes cases, the time for filing a cross-action or a notice of a cross-appeal expires

(i) 14 days after service of the notice of appeal or the summons and complaint; or

(ii) two months from the date of the decision of the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board or the Commissioner, whichever is later.

11. Section 2.165(a)(1) is revised to read as follows:

§ 2.165 Reconsideration of Affidavit or Declaration

(a)(l) If the affidavit or declaration filed pursuant to § 2.162 is insufficient or defective, the affidavit or declaration will be refused and the registrant will be notified of the reason. Reconsideration of the refusal may be requested within six months from the date of the mailing of the action. The request for reconsideration must state the grounds for the request. A supplemental or substitute affidavit or declaration required by section 8 of the Act of 1946 cannot be considered unless it is filed before the expiration of six years from the date of the registration or from the date of publication under section 12(c) of the Act. The Certificate of Mailing or Transmission" procedure provided by § 1.8 does not apply to affidavits or declarations or to supplemental or substitute affidavits or declarations filed under section 8(a) or (b) of the Act, but the certificate by "Express Mail" procedure provided by § 1.10 does apply thereto.

PART 10-REPRESENTATION OF OTHERS BEFORE THE PATENT AND TRADEMARK OFFICE

12. The authority citation for 37 CFR Part 10 continues to read as follows:

Authority: 5 U.S.C. 500; 15 U.S.C. 1123; 35 U.S.C. 6, 31, 32 41.

13. Section 10.18, is revised to read as follows:

§ 10.18 Signature and certificate of practitioner.

(a) Except where a copy, including a photocopy or facsimile transmission, of a personally signed piece of correspondence is permitted to be filed pursuant to § 1.4 of this chapter, every piece of correspondence filed by a practitioner on behalf of himself or herself or representing an applicant or a party to a proceeding in the Patent and Trademark Office must bear an original signature personally signed in permanent ink by such practitioner except for correspondence which is required to be signed by the applicant or party. The signature of a practitioner on correspondence filed by the practitioner, regardless of whether the correspondence has an original signature or is a copy, including a photocopy or facsimile transmission, of correspondence bearing an original signature, constitutes a certificate that:

(1) The correspondence has been read by the practitioner;

(2) The filing of the correspondence is authorized;

(3) To the best of practitioner's knowledge, information, and belief, there is good ground to support the correspondence, including any allegations of improper conduct contained or alleged therein; and

(4) The correspondence is not interposed for delay.

(b) Any practitioner knowingly violating the provisions of this section is subject to disciplinary action. See § 10.23(c)(15).

14. Section 10.23, paragraph (c)(9), is revised to read as follows:

10.23 Misconduct

(c) ***

(9) Knowingly misusing a "Certificate of Mailing or Transmission" under 1.8 of this chapter or a certificate of "Express Mail" under § 1.10 of this chapter.

Changes in Practice Relating to Filing Patent Applications

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce.
Action: Final Rule.
Summary: The Patent and Trademark Office (Office) is amending the rules of practice in patent cases to provide a uniform practice with respect to filing an oath or declaration and filing fees in continuing applications.
Effective Date: Jan. 4, 1993. These rules will be applicable to all papers and applications filed with the Office on or after the effective date.
For Further Information Contact: Jeffrey V. Nase by telephone at (703) 305-9282 or by mail marked to his attention and addressed to Office of the Assistant Commissioner for Patents, Box DAC, Washington, D.C. 20231.
Supplementary Information: In a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking published in the Federal Register (57 FR 31344) on July 15, 1992, and in the Patent and Trademark Office Official Gazette (1141 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 9) on Aug. 4, 1992, the Office proposed to amend § 1.60. The due date for submitting written comments was extended to Sept. 10, 1992, in an Extension of Comment Period published in the Federal Register (57 FR 38640) on Aug. 26, 1992.

One comment was received. The comment favored adoption of the proposed rule changes.

A continuation or divisional application filed under § 1.60 did not receive a filing date until a complete copy of the prior application was filed, including a true copy of the oath or declaration. Since the Office is in possession of the oath or declaration of the prior application, § 1.60 is being modified to be consistent with §§ 1.53 and 1.62 by permitting filing of a true copy of the oath or declaration within a time specified in a notice of missing parts mailed by the Office.

The specific revisions are discussed below:

(1) Correction of inventorship (§ 1.48)

Section 1.48(a) is amended to replace the designation by letter of various requirements therein with numbered designations so as to avoid confusion when making reference to this section.

(2) Procedures for completing applications filed under § 1.60

Section 1.60 outlines one of the procedures that may be followed by applicants to file a continuation or divisional application. One of the requirements under this section is that applicants file a true copy of the complete parent application as filed, including the oath or declaration. Paragraph (c) ofthis section had specified that a filing date would not be granted if applicant failed to file a complete application under this section. When the missing item was filed, a filing date was granted as of the date of receipt of the missing item. Practice under § 1.60 is being modified to be similar to the procedures for filing continuing applications under §§ 1.53(d) and continuation-in-part applications under § 1.62. More specifically, a new paragraph (d) is added in § 1.60 to indicate that if an application filed pursuant to § 1.60(b) is otherwise complete, but does not include the appropriate filing fee or a true copy of the oath or declaration from the prior complete application, a filing date will be granted. The copy of the oath or declaration, as well as payment of the appropriate filing fee must be submitted within a time period specified in a notice of missing parts mailed by the Office. In a manner similar to the practice under §§ 1.53(d) and 1.62(d), the appropriate oath or declaration and/or filing fee as well as the surcharge set forth in § 1.16(e) must be filed within the time period specified in the notice of missing parts in order to avoid abandonment of the application. Paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section are amended to make reference to the exception specified in paragraph (d) discussed above.

OTHER CONSIDERATIONS

The rule change is in conformity with the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), Executive Orders 12291 and 12612 and the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.

The General Counsel of the Department of Commerce has certified to the Chief Counsel for Advocacy, Small Business Administration, that these rule changes will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities (Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 605(b)). The principal impact of these changes is to accord a filing date to certain continuing applications which, through oversight, fail to include certain papers which can be submitted after the filing date.

The Office has determined that this rule change is not a major rule under Executive Order 12291. The annual effect on the economy will be less than $100 million. There will be no major increase in costs or prices for consumers; individuals; industries; Federal, state or local government agencies; or geographic regions most of the changes reduce procedural burdens. There will be no significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or on the ability of the United States-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

The Office has also determined that this notice has no Federalism implications affecting the relationship between the National Government and the States as outlined in Executive Order 12612.

The rule change will not impose a burden under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq., since no record keeping or reporting requirements within the coverage of the Act are placed upon the public.

List of Subjects

37 CFR Part 1

Administrative practice and procedure, Freedom of information, Inventions and patents, Reporting and record keeping requirements.

For the reasons set out in the preamble, and pursuant to the authority contained in 35 U.S.C. 6, part 1 of title 37 of the Code of Federal Regulations is amended as set forth below.

PART 1 - RULES OF PRACTICE IN PATENT CASES

1. The authority citation for 37 CFR Part 1 would continue to read as follows:

Authority: 35 U.S.C. 6, unless otherwise noted.

2. Section 1.48, paragraph (a) is revised to read as follows:

§ 1.48 Correction of inventorship

(a) if the correct inventor or inventors are not named in an application for patent through error without any deceptive intention on the part of the actual inventor or inventors, the application may be amended to name only the actual inventor or inventors. Such amendment must be diligently made and must be accompanied by:

(1) a petition including a statement of facts verified by the original named inventor or inventors establishing when the error without deceptive intention was discovered and how it occurred;

(2) an oath or declaration by each actual inventor or inventors as required by § 1.63;

(3) the fee set forth in § 1.17(h); and

(4) the written consent of any assignee.

When the application is involved in an interference, the petition shall comply with the requirements of this section and shall be accompanied by a motion under § 1.634.

* * * * *

3. In Section 1.60, paragraphs (b) and (c) are revised and paragraph (d) is added to read as follows:

§ 1.60 Continuation or divisional application for invention disclosed in a prior application.

(b) An applicant may omit signing of the oath or declaration in a continuation or divisional application (filed under the conditions specified in 35 U.S.C. 120 and 121 and § 1.78(a)) if:

(1) the prior application was a complete application as set forth in § 1.51(a),

(2) applicant indicates that the application is being filed pursuant to this section and files a true copy of the prior complete application as filed including the specification (with claims), drawings, oath or declaration showing the signature or an indication it was signed, and any amendments referred to in the oath or declaration filed to complete the prior application,

(3) the inventors named in the continuation or divisional application are the same or less than all the inventors named in the prior application, and

(4) the application is filed before the patenting or abandonment of or termination of proceedings on the prior application. The copy of the prior application must be accompanied by a statement that the application papers filed are a true copy of the prior application and that no amendments referred to in the oath or declaration filed to complete the prior application introduced new matter therein. Such statement must be by the applicant or applicant's attorney or agent and must be a verified statement if made by a person not registered to practice before the Patent and trademark Office. Only amendments reducing the number of claims or adding a reference to the prior application (2 1.78(a)) will be entered before calculating the filing fee and granted the filing date. If the continuation or divisional application is filed by less than all the inventors named in the prior application, a statement must accompany the application when filed requesting deletion of the names of the person or persons who are not inventors of the invention being claimed in the continuation or divisional application. Except as provided in paragraph (d) of this section, if a true copy of the prior application as filed is not filed with the application or if the statement that the application papers are a true copy is omitted, the application will not be given a filing date earlier than the date upon which the copy and statement are filed, unless a petition with the fee set forth in § 1.17(i)(1) is filed which satisfactorily explains the delay in filing these items.

(c) if an application filed pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section is incomplete for reasons other than those specified in paragraph (d) of this section, applicant will be notified and given a time period within which to complete the application in order to obtain a filing date as of the date of filing the omitted item provided the omitted item is filed before the patenting or abandonment of or termination or proceedings on the prior application. If the omission is not corrected within the time period set, the application will be returned or otherwise disposed of; the fee, if submitted, will be refunded less the handling fee set forth in § 1.21(n)

(d) If an application filed pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section is otherwise complete, but does not include the appropriate filing fee or a true copy of the oath or declaration from the prior complete application, showing the signature or an indication it was signed, a filing date will be granted and applicant will be so notified and given a period of time within which to file the fee, or the true copy of the oath or declaration and to pay the surcharge as set forth in § 1.16(e) in order to prevent abandonment of the application. The notification pursuant to this paragraph may be made simultaneously with any notification pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section.

(53) Applications Filed Under 37 CFR 1.60 on or After May 8, 1995, and Prior to June 8, 1995

The PTO has always required a proper continuation or divisional application filed under 37 CFR 1.60 to identify the application number (or serial number and filing date) of the prior application. The information is typically provided by the applicant in the application transmittal letter containing the request for processing under 37 CFR 1.60 or in a separate statement verifying the copy of the prior application supplied by the applicant as a "true copy".

As a result of the new 20-year patent term which was effective on June 8, 1995, a large number of continuation or divisional applications were received in the Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) during the weeks prior to June 8, 1995, using the procedure set forth in 37 CFR 1.60. Unfortunately, a number of these applications were incomplete under 37 CFR 1.60 because the applications failed to identify the application number (or serial number and filing date of the prior application. In some instances, the application number of the prior application could not be identified in the 37 CFR 1.60 application papers because the information concerning the application number assigned to the prior application by the PTO had not yet been supplied to the applicant by the PTO. A petition and payment of the $130.00 petition fee would normally be required to accord the application the original date of deposit as the filing date.

However, in view of the extraordinary circumstances which necessitated the filing of these continuation or divisional applications prior to June 8, 1995, the requirment that the application number of the prior application be supplied in the 37 CFR 1.60 application papers on filing is hereby waived, sua sponte, for all continuation or divisional applications filed under 37 CFR 1.60 which were filed in the PTO or deposited in the Express Mail service pursuant to 37 CFR 1.10 on or after May 8, 1995, and prior to June 8, 1995. No other requirement of 37 CFR 1.60 is being waived by this notice.

Where applicant receives a notice from the PTO in a continuation or divisional application under 37 CFR 1.60 filed on or after May 8, 1995, and prior to June 8, 1995, stating that the application is incomplete because the application number of the prior application was omitted, the delay in supplying the application number of the prior application will be excused without a petition or a petition fee being required, if applicant files a paper supplying the application number (or serial number and filing date) of the prior application within TWO MONTHS of the date of the notice mailed in the application or the publication date of this notice in the Official Gazette, whichever is later. If a petition fee has already been paid in such a case, the Office will refund the petition fee.

37 CFR Part 1
Changes in Patent Drawing Standards

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce
Action: Final Rule
Summary: The Patent and Trademark Office (Office) is amending the rules of practice regarding patent drawings to adopt international standards and to eliminate unnecessary requirements. The Office is amending the rules to provide clarification and adopt international standards; to delete the reference to changes by bonded draftsmen since the Office will no longer release drawings from patent applications and to include the option of submitting black and white photographs in lieu of black ink drawings.
Effective Date: October 1, 1993. These rules will be applicable to all drawings and papers filed with the Office on or after the effective date.
For Further Information Contact: Richard A. Bawcombe by telephone at (703) 305-8594, by mail marked to his attention addressed to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231, or by facsimile transmission to his attention at (703) 305-4372.
Supplementary Information: In a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking published in the Federal Register (57 FR 42721) on September 16, 1992, and in the Patent and Trademark Office Official Gazette (1143 Off. Gaz. Pat Office 13) on Oct. 6, 1992, the Office proposed to amend the rules of practice in patent drawings. Drawings acceptable for patent applications filed outside of the United States are not always acceptable in a patent application filed in the United States. Therefore, the rules relating to drawing requirements are being amended to enable the Office, when appropriate, to accept drawings that are capable of clear reproduction for the printing of any resulting patent. Drawings in compliance with the old § 1.84 will be in compliance with the new § 1.84. An oral hearing was not conducted. However, six written comments were submitted.

Response to Comments on the Rules

The comments received in response to the notice of proposed rulemaking have been given careful consideration and several of the suggested modifications have been adopted.

Another modification, since the "Notice of Proposed Rulemaking," is under § 1.84 wherein five sets of drawings were required, but the total has been decreased to three sets due to a reassessment of the need for the additional copies for Office use. The comments and responses are discussed below.

Comment: Three comments were received regarding the proposed changes within § 1.84(b). Three other comments were received regarding the proposed changes to § 1.165. All six comments suggested that the Office continue to accept mounted photographs.

Response: The Office will adopt the suggestion and continue to accept mounted photographs for utility, design, and plant patent applications. The initial reason the Office sought to change the rule was to overcome the problem of mounted photographs becoming detached and separated from the file. The apparent burden to applicants associated with the Office not accepting mounted photographs is the reason the Office will continue to permit mounted photographs provided they are permanently affixed.

Several of the commenters mentioned that they have never had problems with mounted photographs. As commentary on these remarks, it is not the person filing the drawings who would have problems with mounted photographs; it is the Office. And, indeed, the Office has, in the past, experienced problems with mounted photographs coming loose from the paper they are mounted on. When this happens, the photographs can become displaced from the file and lost. This has occurred many times, leading to frustration and wasted effort on the part of many practitioners, as well as on the part of Office personnel. If mounted photographs are to be used, they must be mounted in such a way that they cannot become loose from the bristol board to which they are mounted.

Comment: Two of the comments regarding 1.84(b) also mentioned that the proposed rules would not allow more than one figure on each sheet of drawings where photographs are being used, and sought relief from this proposed change.

Response: Since the Office will continue to accept mounted photographs, the Office will also accept sheets of drawings where more than one photograph appears on the drawing sheet provided that all other drawing requirements are met.

Comment: Two of the comments suggested that the Office not require photographs to be on A4 size paper.

Response: The Office will adopt the suggestion. The Office will accept photographs on one of the four paper sizes specified in § 1.84(f), as long as all sheets are the same size.

Comment: Regarding § 1.84(f), one comment suggested that the Office permit use of an additional size of paper, i.e., 21.6 cm. by 27.9 cm. (8 1/2 by 11 inches).

Response: The Office will adopt the suggestion. The adoption of the suggestion to add an additional paper size under § 1.84(f), results in the need for an additional margin size. Therefore, an additional paragraph is added to § 1.84(g) to state that "On 21.6 cm. by 27.9 cm. (8 1/2 by 11 inch) drawing sheets, each sheet must include a top margin of 2.5 cm. (1 inch) and bottom and side margins of .64 cm. (1/4 inch) from the edges, thereby leaving a sight precisely 20.3 by 24.8 cm. (8 by 9 3/4 inches)."

Comment: Regarding 1.84(p)(3), one comment suggested liberalization for drawings which include typewritten subject matter, such as gene or protein sequences that consist predominantly of letters, sometimes with underlining and boxes around them. Other situations cited were graphs and photographs of gels, which often appear in biotechnological inventions, which include typed matter as legends.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted because letters need to stand at the designated height to maintain legibility when reductions become necessary to accommodate the various photocomposed products.

Comment: Regarding § 1.84(w), one comment mentioned that correction fluid is not permanent and has a tendency to flake and fall from the surface it covers.

Response: Section 1.84(w) permits correction fluid to be used provided the correction fluid is durable and permanent. If correction fluid is used on drawings submitted to the Office, the applicant will be required by the Office to correct the drawings if the correction fluid becomes loose before the patent printing process is completed.

Comment: One comment suggested that § 1.152 was improper in permitting either ink drawings or photographs to be submitted with an application for a design patent, but not both, and in requiring any photographs submitted to show only the design claimed and none of the environment in which it is used. The comment argued that prohibition against using both ink drawings and photographs is inconsistent with 35 U.S.C. 112. Under that section of the statute, a design patent application must disclose the invention "in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as enable any person skilled in the art ... to make and use" the invention and "set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention."

Response: Section 1.152 is consistent with 35 U.S.C. 112. The introduction of both photographs and ink drawings in a design application would result in a high probability of inconsistencies between corresponding elements on the ink drawings as compared with the photographs. However, if special circumstances warrant use of both ink drawings and photographs, applicant can file a petition under § 1.183 to permit both in a design application if such drawings do not introduce inconsistencies between the views.

DISCUSSION OF SPECIFIC SECTIONS CHANGED OR ADDED:

Section 1.17(h) is amended to include a reference to § 1.84 for accepting color drawings or photographs in utility patent applications.

Section 1.19(a)(3) is amended to change the citation of § 1.84(p) to § 1.84(a)(2) in view of the amendments to § 1.84.

Section 1.71(d) is amended to change the citation of § 1.84(o) to § 1.84(s) in view of the amendments to § 1.84.

Section 1.84 is revised as follows:

(a) Drawings. This paragraph is added to classify drawings into two categories, i.e., black ink and color, and deletes the limitation that the use of white pigment to cover lines is not normally acceptable. The black ink drawing requirements are amended to allow computer-generated drawings to be accepted subject to the same standards applied to all black ink drawings. Color drawing requirements are moved from § 1.84(p) to § 1.84(a). Color drawings may be acceptable upon the granting of a petition filed under this paragraph explaining why the color drawings are necessary. A petition is required because the special handling necessary for color drawings is time consuming and the Office cannot permit such a special procedure except in extenuating circumstances. Since utility patents are not printed in color, 3 sets of color drawings are necessary for proper distribution within the Office. One color set will be attached to the Letters Patent for routing to the applicant. The remaining two color sets will be routed to (1) the patent file, and (2) the Office of Publication and Dissemination, Patent and Trademark Copy Sales, for copying purposes when a copy in color of a utility patent containing a color drawing, as provided for in § 119(a)(3), is requested.

(b) Photographs. This paragraph permits the acceptance of photographs upon granting of an applicant's petition. The Office will accept black and white and color photographs or photomicrographs (not photolithographs or other reproductions of photographs made by using screens) developed on double weight photographic paper or permanently mounted on bristol board, in lieu of ink drawings. The photographs must be of sufficient quality so that all details in the drawing are reproducible in the printed patent.

(c) Identification of drawings. This paragraph permits an applicant to provide proper identification information on the reverse side of each sheet of drawings. The identification information allows the Office to match drawing sheets with the proper application. The identification information should include the application number, if known, or the title of the invention, inventor's name, docket number (if any), and name and telephone number of the person to call if the drawings cannot be matched to the proper patent application. The Office will not object if identifying information is not present; however, if the drawings become separated, it will be virtually impossible for the Office to match the drawings with the application. This paragraph is restructured from previous § 1.84(l) and revised to state that the preferred placement of the information is on the back side of the drawing sheets.

(d) Graphic forms in drawings. This paragraph is added to set standards for chemical and mathematical formulae to align Office standards for formulae, tables, and waveforms with international standards.

(e) Type of paper. This paragraph is a revision of previous §1.84(a) to set forth the requirements for the type of paper to be used for drawings, including the type of paper for photographs.

(f) Size of paper. This paragraph clarifies Office requirements set forth in previous § 1.84(b) and permits one additional size of paper, i.e., 21.6 cm. by 27.9 cm. (8 1/2 by 11 inches) for drawings.

(g) Margins. This paragraph is restructured from previous § 1.84(b) to indicate how the size of the paper changes the margin requirements. The Office will accept four sizes of paper, however, the sight (i.e. the usable surface) is the same for two of the paper sizes, i.e., 21.6 cm. by 33.1 cm. (8 1/2 by 13 inches), and 21.6 cm. by 35.6 cm. (8 1/2 by 14 inches). The sight is 17 0 cm. by 26.2 cm. for DIN size A4 paper. The sight is 20.3 cm. by 24.8 cm. (8 by 9 3/4 inches) for the added paper size of 21.6 cm. by 27.9 cm. (8 1/2 by 11 inches).

(h) Views. This paragraph is added to reformat previous § 1.84(i) to provide a logical arrangement of the different views provided in the rules, to revise the standards for purposes of clarification, to include the standard for waveforms to show the relative timing, to provide clearer language relative to hatching shown on drawings, to set forth the standard for depicting hatching in sectional views as regularly spaced parallel oblique strokes which precludes use of cross-hatching strokes, and to include requirements pertaining to alternate positions. In addition, both Roman and Arabic numerals are acceptable to designate the section being illustrated.

(i) Arrangement of views. This paragraph is relocated from previous § 1.84(j) and revised to incorporate international standards. In addition, this paragraph is changed and broadened to provide for placement of words on drawings. One view is not to be superimposed within the outline of another. The changes expand the possibilities for presenting graphs to conform to standard scientific conventions, while using a format which is compatible with automated patent searching displays. See 1121 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 54 (Dec. 25, 1990) and 1129 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 22 (Aug. 13, 1991).

(j) View for Official Gazette. This paragraph is relocated from previous § 1.84(k).

(k) Scale. This paragraph is relocated from previous § 1.84(e) and § 1.84(i) and revised to indicate that the words "actual size" or "scale 1/2" on the drawings are not permitted since the meaning is lost in reduction/enlargement. The paragraph provides that elements of the same view must be in proportion to each other, unless a difference in proportion is indispensable for the clarity of the view. As a preferred alternative to a difference in proportion within one view for the purpose of achieving the necessary clarity, a supplementary view may be added giving a larger-scale illustration of an element from the initial view. When a supplementary view is included, it is recommended that the enlarged element shown in the second view be surrounded by a finely drawn or "dot-dash" circle in the first view pinpointing its location, without obscuring the view.

(l) Character of lines, numbers, and letters. This paragraph is relocated from previous § 1.84(c) and revised to indicate that lines and strokes of different thicknesses may be used in the same drawing where different thicknesses have different meanings. In addition, this paragraph is changed and broadened to allow drawings to be made by any process which will give them satisfactory reproduction characteristics.

(m) Shading. This paragraph is changed and broadened to expand definitions for shading and deletes the limitation that drawings transmitted to the Office should be sent flat, protected by a sheet of heavy binder's board, or rolled for transmission in a suitable mailing tube. This change provides the individual practitioner with greater discretion on how to send drawings. In addition, this paragraph is relocated from previous § 1.84(d) to separate shading requirements from hatching requirements by stating that shading may be used to indicate the surface or shape of spherical, cylindrical, and conical elements of an object, and that spaced lines are preferred for shading purposes. Solid black areas are not permitted, except when used to represent bar graphs or color.

(n) Symbols. This paragraph is relocated from previous § 1.84(g) to separate symbols requirements from legends requirements and enlarges the number of acceptable symbols. Known devices should be illustrated by symbols which have a universally-recognized meaning, and which are generally accepted in the art, provided no further detail is essential for understanding the subject matter of the claimed invention. Symbols which are not universally recognized may be used if they are not likely to be confused with existing conventional symbols and if they are readily identifiable, subject to approval by the Examiner.

(o) Legends. This paragraph is relocated from previous § 1.84(g) to separate legends requirements from symbols requirements and revised to integrate international standards. Where text matter is (1) deemed indispensable for understanding the drawing or (2) may be required by the Examiner, a minimum of words should be used. While such requirement by the Examiner was not contained in the "Notice of Proposed Rulemaking," it was contained in former § 1.84(g). Words should not be used to describe the figure itself, such as "this is a bar graph." All text legends are subject to approval by the examiner.

(p) Numbers, letters, and reference characters. This paragraph is relocated from previous § 1.84(f) and revised to include numbers and letters in the heading formerly designated "reference characters." This section has been reformatted into five subsections and revised to integrate international standards, where possible. Although the Latin alphabet is used in the international standard, the Office takes the view that the English alphabet is more universally acceptable for letters, except where another alphabet is customarily used, such as the Greek alphabet to indicate angles, wavelengths, and mathematical formulae. In addition, the characters used must be oriented in the same direction as the view so as to avoid having to rotate the sheet. Reference characters should be so arranged to follow the profile of the object depicted. See 1121 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 54 (Dec. 25, 1990) and 1129 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 22 (Aug. 13, 1991).

(q) Lead lines. This paragraph is added to integrate international standards, to incorporate brief language which appears in previous § 1.84(f), and to change and expand the definition for lead lines. Lead lines are those lines between the reference characters and the details referred to, and they must be executed in the same way as other lines in the drawing.

(r) Arrows. This paragraph is relocated from previous § 1.84(g) and revised to indicate the meaning of the use of arrows, and to show that they may be used at the end of lead lines only if their meaning is clear.

(s) Copyright or mask work notice. This paragraph is relocated from previous § 1.84(o).

(t) Numbering of sheets of drawings. This paragraph is relocated from previous § 1.84(n) and changed and broadened to allow for the placement of sheet numbers within the sight of the drawing. It is preferable that the sheets be numbered with two Arabic numerals placed on either side of an oblique line, with the first number being the sheet number and the second the total number of sheets of drawings.

(u) Numbering of views. This paragraph is relocated from previous § 1.84(i) and, for clarity, is separately identified in this new section. Use of the abbreviation "FIG." must precede all view numbers.

(v) Security markings. This paragraph is relocated from previous § 1.84(l) to provide that security markings may be placed on the drawings if they are outside the sight and preferably centered in the top margin.

(w) Corrections. This paragraph is added to provide that any corrections made on drawings submitted to the Office must be durable and permanent. The language is revised from previous 1.84(a) which prohibited the use of white pigment to cover lines.

(x) Holes. This paragraph is relocated from previous § 1.84(b) to permit two holes to be punched in the top margin of the drawings with their center lines spaced 7.0 cm. (2 3/4 inches) apart.

Section 1.88 is removed and reserved since the changes effective January 1, 1991, in § 1.85(b) make the regulation regarding the transfer of drawings unnecessary. Since the Office no longer releases drawings from patent applications, applicants are generally retaining the master copy of the drawings. Accordingly, applicants can easily file a copy of drawings in an application and therefore eliminate the need for the Office to transfer drawings. Any situations which present a hardship to applicants may be accommodated by the filing of a petition under § 1.182 requesting the transfer of the drawings.

Section 1.123 prescribes procedures for amending drawings. With the adoption of new rules for amending drawings effective January 1, 1989, the Office no longer requires the submission of formal drawings upon filing a patent application. See 1097 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 36 (Dec. 13, 1988). Since corrections are the responsibility of the applicant, the original drawing(s) should be retained by the applicant for future correction, if necessary.

As a result of adoption of the new rules in 1989 relating to drawings, the Office will no longer release to applicants, bonded drafting companies or others, drawings from patent applications. Effective January 1, 1991, § 1.85(b) prohibits release of drawings from all patent applications. Accordingly, the reference to changes by bonded draftsmen is deleted from § 1.123.

Section 1.152 is revised to provide that photographs and ink drawings must not be combined in one design application. The reason for this requirement is to avoid inconsistencies between the photograph and the drawing, and further eliminate views that may distort the proportionate relationship between the corresponding elements on the drawing and the photograph. All design photographs are limited to the design for the article claimed and are not to include environmental structure.

Color drawings and color photographs are not permissible in design patent applications. The submission of color photographs will be accepted for filing date purposes, in design patent applications, contrary to the requirement for black ink drawings. The Applications Processing Division has been authorized to construe the color photographs as informal drawings, rather than to hold the applications incomplete as filed. By so construing color photographs when filed as informal drawings, the Office will accept the applications without requiring applicants to file a petition to obtain the original deposit date as the filing date. During the course of prosecution, the Examiner will require properly executed formal black ink drawings or black and white photographs as a substitute for the originally filed color photographs prior to allowance of the claim. Solid black surface shading is not permitted on a design drawing, except when used to represent color contrast.

Section 1.165 is revised to provide that plant patent drawings must comply with the requirements of § 1.84. The current exception that plant patent drawings do not automatically require view numbers and reference characters is maintained. Two sets of the drawings are needed. One set will be forwarded to the Department of Agriculture and the other set will be routed to the Office of Publication and Dissemination, Patent and Trademark Copy Sales, for copying purposes.

OTHER CONSIDERATIONS

The rule change is in conformity with the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), Executive Orders 12291 and 12612, and the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.

The Acting General Counsel of the Department of Commerce has certified to the Chief Counsel for Advocacy, Small Business Administration, that these rule changes will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities (Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 605(b)). The principal impact of these changes is to revise and reformat the drawing standards to adopt international standards, to the extent possible, and to facilitate access to sections through inclusion of pertinent subsection headings, which should be helpful to small entities.

The Office has determined that these rule changes are not a major rule under Executive Order 12291 The annual effect on the economy will be less than $100 million. There will be no major increase in costs or prices for consumers, individuals, industries, Federal, state or local government agencies, or geographic regions because most of the changes reduce procedural burdens. There will be no adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or on the ability of United States-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

The Office has also determined that these rule changes have no Federalism implications affecting the relationship between the National Government and the States as outlined in Executive Order 12612.

These rule changes contain a collection of information requirements subject to the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq., which has previously been approved by the Office of Management and Budget under Control No. 0651-0011.

For example, " ©1983 John Doe" (17 U.S.C. 401) and "M John Doe" (17 U.S.C. 909) would be properly limited and, under current statutes, legally sufficient notices of copyright and mask work, respectively. Inclusion of a copyright or mask work notice will be permitted only if the authorization language set forth in paragraph (e) of this section is included at the beginning (preferably as the first paragraph) of the specification.

5. Section 1.84 is revised to read as follows:

§ 1.84. Standards for drawings.

(a) Drawings. There are two acceptable categories for presenting drawings in utility patent applications:

(1) Black ink. Black and white drawings are normally required. India ink, or its equivalent that secures solid black lines, must be used for drawings, or

(2) Color. On rare occasions, color drawings may be necessary as the only practical medium by which to disclose the subject matter sought to be patented in a utility patent application or the subject matter of a statutory invention registration. The Patent and Trademark Office will accept color drawings in utility patent applications and statutory invention registrations only after granting a petition filed under this paragraph explaining why the color drawings are necessary. Any such petition must include the following:

(i) The appropriate fee set forth in § 1.17(h);

(ii) Three (3) sets of color drawings; and

(iii) The specification must contain the following language as the first paragraph in that portion of the specification relating to the brief description of the drawing:

The file of this patent contains at least one drawing executed in color. Copies of this patent with color drawing(s) will be provided by the Patent and Trademark Office upon request and payment of the necessary fee."

If the language is not in the specification, a proposed amendment to insert the language must accompany the petition.

(b) Photographs.

(1) Black and white. Photographs are not ordinarily permitted in utility and design patent applications. However, the Office will accept photographs in utility and design patent applications only after granting a petition filed under this paragraph which requests that photographs be accepted. Any such petition must include the following:

(i) The appropriate fee set forth in 1.17(h); and

(ii) Three (3) sets of photographs. Photographs must either be developed on double weight photographic paper or be permanently mounted on bristol board. The photographs must be of sufficient quality so that all details in the drawing are reproducible in the printed patent.

(2) Color. Color photographs will be accepted in utility patent applications if the conditions for accepting color drawings have been satisfied. See paragraph (a)(2) of this section.

(c) Identification of drawings. Identifying indicia, if provided, should include the application number or the title of the invention, inventor's name, docket number (if any), and the name and telephone number of a person to call if the Office is unable to match the drawings to the proper application. This information should be placed on the back of each sheet of drawings a minimum distance of 1.5 cm. (5/8 inch) down from the top of the page.

(d) Graphic forms in drawings. Chemical or mathematical formulae, tables, and waveforms may be submitted as drawings, and are subject to the same requirements as drawings. Each chemical or mathematical formula must be labeled as a separate figure, using brackets when necessary, to show that information is properly integrated. Each group of waveforms must be presented as a single figure, using a common vertical axis with time extending along the horizontal axis. Each individual waveform discussed in the specification must be identified with a separate letter designation adjacent to the vertical axis.

(e) Type of paper. Drawings submitted to the Office must be made on paper which is flexible, strong, white, smooth, nonshiny, and durable. All sheets must be free from cracks, creases, and folds. Only one side of the sheet shall be used for the drawing. Each sheet must be reasonably free from erasures and must be free from alterations, overwritings, and interlineations. Photographs must either be developed on double weight photographic paper or be permanently mounted on bristol board. See paragraph (b) of this section for other requirements for photographs.

(f) Size of paper. All drawing sheets in an application must be the same size. One of the shorter sides of the sheet is regarded as its top. The size of the sheets on which drawings are made must be:

(1) 21.6 cm. by 35.6 cm. (8 1/2 by 14 inches),
(2) 21.6 cm. by 33.1 cm. (8 1/2 by 13 inches),
(3) 21.6 cm. by 27.9 cm. (8 1/2 by 11 inches), or
(4) 21.0 cm. by 29.7 cm. (DIN size A4).

(g) Margins. The sheets must not contain frames around the sight, i.e., the usable surface. The following margins are required:

(1) On 21.6 cm. by 35.6 cm. (8 1/2 by 14 inch) drawing sheets, each sheet must include a top margin of 5.1 cm. (2 inches), and bottom and side margins of .64 cm. (14 inch) from the edges, thereby leaving a sight no greater than 20.3 cm. by 29.8 cm. (8 by 11 3/4 inches).

(2) On 21.6 cm. by 33.1 cm. (8 1/2 by 13 inch) drawing sheets, each sheet must include a top margin of 2.5 cm. (1 inch) and bottom and side margins of .64 cm. (14 inch) from the edges, thereby leaving a sight no greater than 20.3 cm. by 29.8 cm. (8 by 11 3/4 inches).

(3) On 21.6 cm. by 27.9 Cm. (8 1/2 by 11 inch) drawing sheets, each sheet must include a top margin of 2.5 cm. (1 inch) and bottom and side margins of .64 cm. (1/4 inch) from the edges, thereby leaving a sight no greater than 20.3 cm. by 24.8 cm. (8 by 9 3/4 inches).

(4) On 21.0 cm. by 29.7 cm. (DIN size A4) drawing sheets. each sheet must include a top margin of at least 2.5 cm., a left side margin of 2.5 cm., a right side margin of 1.5 cm., and a bottom margin of 1.0 cm., thereby leaving a sight no greater than 17.0 cm. by 26.2 cm.

(h) Views. The drawing must contain as many views as necessary to show the invention. The views may be plan, elevation, section, or perspective views. Detail views of portions of elements, on a larger scale if necessary, may also be used. All views of the drawing must be grouped together and arranged on the sheet(s) without wasting space, preferably in an upright position, clearly separated from one another, and must not be included in the sheets containing the specifications, claims, or abstract. Views must not be connected by projection lines and must not contain center lines. Waveforms of electrical signals may be connected by dashed lines to show the relative timing of the waveforms.

(1) Exploded views. Exploded views, with the separated parts embraced by a bracket, to show the relationship or order of assembly of various parts are permissible. When an exploded view is shown in a figure which is on the same sheet as another figure, the exploded view should be placed in brackets.

(2) Partial views. When necessary, a view of a large machine or device in its entirety may be broken into partial views on a single sheet, or extended over several sheets if there is no loss in facility of understanding the view. Partial views drawn on separate sheets must always be capable of being linked edge to edge so that no partial view contains parts of another partial view. A smaller scale view should be included showing the whole formed by the partial views and indicating the positions of the parts shown. When a portion of a view is enlarged for magnification purposes, the view and the enlarged view must each be labeled as separate views.

(i) Where views on two or more sheets form, in effect, a single complete view, the views on the several sheets must be so arranged that the complete figure can be assembled without concealing any part of any of the views appearing on the various sheets.

(ii) A very long view may be divided into several parts placed one above the other on a single sheet. However, the relationship between the different parts must be clear and unambiguous.

(3) Sectional views. The plane upon which a sectional view is taken should be indicated on the view from which the section is cut by a broken line. The ends of the broken line should be designated by Arabic or Roman numerals corresponding to the view number of the sectional view, and should have arrows to indicate the direction of sight. Hatching must be used to indicate section portions of an object, and must be made by regularly spaced oblique parallel lines spaced sufficiently apart to enable the lines to be distinguished without difficulty. Hatching should not impede the clear reading of the reference characters and lead lines. If it is not possible to place reference characters outside the hatched area, the hatching may be broken off wherever reference characters are inserted. Hatching must be at a substantial angle to the surrounding axes or principal lines, preferably 45. A cross section must be set out and drawn to show all of the materials as they are shown in the view from which the cross section was taken. The parts in cross section must show proper material(s) by hatching with regularly spaced parallel oblique strokes, the space between strokes being chosen on the basis of the total area to be hatched. The various parts of a cross section of the same item should be hatched in the same manner and should accurately and graphically indicate the nature of the material(s) that is illustrated in cross section. The hatching of juxtaposed different elements must be angled in a different way. In the case of large areas, hatching may be confined to an edging drawn around the entire inside of the outline of the area to be hatched. Different types of hatching should have different conventional meanings as regards the nature of a material seen in cross section.

(4) Alternate position. A moved position may be shown by a broken line superimposed upon a suitable view if this can be done without crowding; otherwise, a separate view must be used for this purpose.

(5) Modified forms. Modified forms of construction must be shown in separate views.

(i) Arrangement of views. One view must not be placed upon another or within the outline of another. All views on the same sheet should stand in the same direction and, if possible, stand so that they can be read with the sheet held in an upright position. If views wider than the width of the sheet are necessary for the clearest illustration of the invention, the sheet may be turned on its side so that the top of the sheet, with the appropriate top margin to be used as the heading space, is on the right-hand side. Words must appear in a horizontal, left-to-right fashion when the page is either upright or turned so that the top becomes the right side, except for graphs utilizing standard scientific convention to denote the axis of abscissas (of X) and the axis of ordinates (of Y).

(j) View for Official Gazette. One of the views should be suitable for publication in the Official Gazette as the illustration of the invention.

(k) Scale.

(1) The scale to which a drawing is made must be large enough to show the mechanism without crowding when the drawing is reduced in size to two-thirds in reproduction. Views of portions of the mechanism on a larger scale should be used when necessary to show details clearly. Two or more sheets may be used if one does not give sufficient room. The number of sheets should be kept to a minimum.

(2) When approved by the examiner, the scale of the drawing may be graphically represented. Indications such as "actual size" or "scale 1/2" on the drawings, are not permitted, since these lose their meaning with reproduction in a different format.

(3) Elements of the same view must be in proportion to each other, unless a difference in proportion is indispensable for the clarity of the view. Instead of showing elements in different proportion, a supplementary view may be added giving a larger-scale illustration of the element of the initial view. The enlarged element shown in the second view should be surrounded by a finely drawn or "dot-dash" circle in the first view indicating its location without obscuring the view.

(l) Character of lines, numbers, and letters. All drawings must be made by a process which will give them satisfactory reproduction characteristics. Every line, number, and letter must be durable, clean, black (except for color drawings), sufficiently dense and dark, and uniformly thick and well-defined. The weight of all lines and letters must be heavy enough to permit adequate reproduction. This requirement applies to all lines however fine, to shading, and to lines representing cut surfaces in sectional views. Lines and strokes of different thicknesses may be used in the same drawing where different thicknesses have a different meaning.

(m) Shading. The use of shading in views is encouraged if it aids in understanding the invention and if it does not reduce legibility. Shading is used to indicate the surface or shape of spherical, cylindrical, and conical elements of an object. Flat parts may also be lightly shaded. Such shading is preferred in the case of parts shown in perspective, but not for cross sections. See paragraph (h)(3) of this section. Spaced lines for shading are preferred. These lines must be thin, as few in number as practicable, and they must contrast with the rest of the drawings. As a substitute for shading, heavy lines on the shade side of objects can be used except where they superimpose on each other or obscure reference characters. Light should come from the upper left corner at an angle of 45 Surface delineations should preferably be shown by proper shading. Solid black shading areas are not permitted, except when used to represent bar graphs or color.

(n) Symbols. Graphical drawing symbols may be used for conventional elements when appropriate. The elements for which such symbols and labeled representations are used must be adequately identified in the specification. Known devices should be illustrated by symbols which have a universally recognized conventional meaning and are generally accepted in the art. Other symbols which are not universally recognized may be used, subject to approval by the Office, if they are not likely to be confused with existing conventional symbols, and if they are readily identifiable.

(o) Legends. Suitable descriptive legends may be used, or may be required by the Examiner, where necessary for understanding of the drawing, subject to approval by the Office. They should contain as few words as possible.

(p) Numbers, letters, and reference characters.

(1) Reference characters (numerals are preferred), sheet numbers, and view numbers must be plain and legible, and must not be used in association with brackets or inverted commas, or enclosed within outlines, e.g., encircled. They must be oriented in the same direction as the view so as to avoid having to rotate the sheet. Reference characters should be arranged to follow the profile of the object depicted.

(2) The English alphabet must be used for letters, except where another alphabet is customarily used, such as the Greek alphabet to indicate angles, wavelengths, and mathematical formulas.

(3) Numbers, letters, and reference characters must measure at least .32 cm. (1/8 inch) in height. They should not be placed in the drawing so as to interfere with its comprehension. Therefore, they should not cross or mingle with the lines. They should not be placed upon hatched or shaded surfaces. When necessary, such as indicating a surface or cross section, a reference character may be underlined and a blank space may be left in the hatching or shading where the character occurs so that it appears distinct.

(4) The same part of an invention appearing in more than one view of the drawing must always be designated by the same reference character, and the same reference character must never be used to designate different parts.

(5) Reference characters not mentioned in the description shall not appear in the drawings. Reference characters mentioned in the description must appear in the drawings.

(q) Lead lines. Lead lines are those lines between the reference characters and the details referred to. Such lines may be straight or curved and should be as short as possible. They must originate in the immediate proximity of the reference character and extend to the feature indicated. Lead lines must not cross each other. Lead lines are required for each reference character except for those which indicate the surface or cross section on which they are placed. Such a reference character must be underlined to make it clear that a lead line has not been left out by mistake. Lead lines must be executed in the same way as lines in the drawing. See paragraph (1) of this section.

(r) Arrows. Arrows may be used at the ends of lines, provided that their meaning is clear, as follows:

(1) On a lead line, a freestanding arrow to indicate the entire section towards which it points;

(2) On a lead line, an arrow touching a line to indicate the surface shown by the line looking along the direction of the arrow; or

(3) To show the direction of movement.

(s) Copyright or Mask Work Notice. A copyright or mask work notice may appear in the drawing, but must be placed within the sight of the drawing immediately below the figure representing the copyright or mask work material and be limited to letters having a print size of .32 cm. to .64 cm. (1/8 to 1/4 inches) high. The content of the notice must be limited to only those elements provided for by law. For example, "© 1983 John Doe" (17 U.S.C. 401) and "M John Doe" (17 U.S.C. 909) would be properly limited and, under current statutes, legally sufficient notices of copyright and mask work, respectively. Inclusion of a copyright or mask work notice will be permitted only if the authorization language set forth in § 1.71(e) is included at the beginning (preferably as the first paragraph) of the specification.

(t) Numbering of sheets of drawings. The sheets of drawings should be numbered in consecutive Arabic numerals, starting with 1, within the sight as defined in paragraph (g) of this section. These numbers, if present, must be placed in the middle of the top of the sheet, but not in the margin. The numbers can be placed on the right-hand side if the drawing extends too close to the middle of the top edge of the usable surface. The drawing sheet numbering must be clear and larger than the numbers used as reference characters to avoid confusion. The number of each sheet should be shown by two Arabic numerals placed on either side of an oblique line, with the first being the sheet number, and the second being the total number of sheets of drawings, with no other marking.

(u) Numbering of views.

(1) The different views must be numbered in consecutive Arabic numerals, starting with 1, independent of the numbering of the sheets and, if possible, in the order in which they appear on the drawing sheet(s). Partial views intended to form one complete view, on one or several sheets, must be identified by the same number followed by a capital letter. View numbers must be preceded by the abbreviation "FIG." Where only a single view is used in an application to illustrate the claimed invention, it must not be numbered and the abbreviation "FIG." must not appear.

(2) Numbers and letters identifying the views must be simple and clear and must not be used in association with brackets, circles, or inverted commas. The view numbers must be larger than the numbers used for reference characters.

(v) Security markings. Authorized security markings may be placed on the drawings provided they are outside the sight, preferably centered in the top margin.

(w) Corrections. Any corrections on drawings submitted to the Office must be durable and permanent.

(x) Holes. The drawing sheets may be provided with two holes in the top margin. The holes should be equally spaced from the respective side edges, and their center lines should oe spaced 7.0 cm. (2 3/4 inches) apart.
(See § 1.152 for design drawings, § 1.165 for plant drawings, and § 1.174 for reissue drawings.)

6. Section 1.88 is removed and reserved.

§ 1.88 {Reserved}

7. Section 1.123 is revised to read as follows:

§ 1.123 Amendments to the drawing.

No change in the drawing may be made except with permission of the Office. Permissible changes in the construction shown in any drawing may be made only by the submission of a substitute drawing by applicant. A sketch in permanent ink showing proposed changes, to become part of the record, must be filed for approval by the examiner and should be a separate paper.

8. Section 1.152 is revised to read as follows:

§ 1.152 Design drawing.

The design must be represented by a drawing that complies with the requirements of § 1.84, and must contain a sufficient number of views to constitute a complete disclosure of the appearance of the article. Appropriate surface shading must be used to show the character or contour of the surfaces represented. Solid black surface shading is not permitted except when used to represent color contrast. Broken lines may be used to show visible environmental structure, but may not be used to show hidden planes and surfaces which cannot be seen through opaque materials. Alternate positions of a design component, illustrated by full and broken lines in the same view are not permitted in a design drawing. Photographs and ink drawings must not be combined in one application. Photographs submitted in lieu of ink drawings in design patent applications must comply with § 1.84(b) and must not disclose environmental structure but must be limited to the design for the article claimed. Color drawings and color photographs are not permitted in design patent applications.

9. Section 1.165 is revised to read as follows:

§ 1.165 Plant drawings.

(a) Plant patent drawings should be artistically and competently executed and must comply with the requirements of § 1.84. View numbers and reference characters need not be employed unless required by the examiner. The drawing must disclose all the distinctive characteristics of the plant capable of visual representation.

(b) The drawing may be in color and when color is a distinguishing characteristic of the new variety, the drawing must be in color. Two copies of color drawings or color photographs must be submitted.

(55) Temporary Suspension of "At Cost" Services for Orders for Certified Copies

Effective immediately, and until further notice, the Certification Division, Office of Public Records, will temporarily suspend accepting requests for "at cost" service for orders of certified copies of PTO documents except where the requester provides documentation that the copy is required for pending litigation.

The Certification Division's ability to provide "at cost" services is based upon the ready availability of source documents either on microform or via access to electronic images. Increased filings of both patent and trademark applications have resulted in more instances where requested documents are not yet available on film or electronic media to fill customer orders on an "at cost" basis efficiently and for a reasonable fee.

Orders for expedited service for certified copies of both patent and trademark applications-as-filed and trademark registrations will continue to be accepted. Customers will be advised within three working days if microform or electronic images are not available to fill their orders on an expedited basis, and the order will be filled as a request for regular service with an appropriate adjustment and/or credit for fees paid.

Customers are reminded that expedited service is provided on a "local basis" for those orders: (1) placed through the PTO's Public Service Windows located in the Patent Search Room and the Trademark Search Library; (2) hand-delivered to the Office of Public Records' (OPR) Service Counter in the North Tower building; (3) transmitted via fax directly to the Certification Division; or (4) received from an overnight delivery service at the OPR Service Counter. Requests for expedited service received through the US mail will be processed as regular orders.

In those cases where Certification Division cannot fill a customer order within 30 days of receipt due to unavailability of media or the source document itself, customers will be provided with a certified letter documenting their request and the Office's inability to fill the order as requested. These letters will be provided at no charge. The order itself will be closed and a full refund or credit made to the customer.

Customers placing orders for certified copies may use the following as guidelines for expected turnaround times from initial receipt of an order in PTO to mailing date from the Office:

Certified Product	Days to Mail
Patent Application-As-Filed, Expedited (microfiche available)	7
Patent Applications-As-Filed, Regular	17
Patent Related File Wrapper	25
Patent Copy	10
Trademark Application-As-Filed, Expedited (microfiche available)	7
Trademark Application-As-Filed, Regular	17
Trademark Related File Wrapper	25
Trademark Registration	10
Trademark Registration, Expedited	3

Delivery of any specific copy will vary based on the availability of microfilm products and/or file accessiblity. Customers are encouraged to fax orders for copies directly to Certification Division at (703) 308-9759 and to pay by PTO Deposit Account, MasterCard, or Visa to minimize processing time. Information on the status of pending orders may be obtained by calling (703) 308-9726 or 1 (800) 972-6382 (outside the Washington, D.C. Metro area).

(56) Use of Symbol "Ø" in Patent Applications

The Greek letter Phi has long been used as a symbol in equations in all technical disciplines. It further has special uses which include the indication of an electrical phase or clocking signal as well as an angular measurement. The recognized symbols for the upper and lower case Greek Phi characters, however, do not appear on most typewriters. This apparently has led to the use of a symbol composed by first striking a zero key and then backspacing and striking the "cancel" or "slash" key to result in "Ø" which is an approximation of accepted symbols for the Greek character Phi. In other instances the symbol is composed using the upper or lower case letter "O" with the "cancel" or "slash" superimposed thereon by backspacing or is simply handwritten in a variety of styles. These expedients result in confusion because of the variety of type sizes and styles available on modern typewriters.

In recent years, the growth of data processing has seen the increasing use of this symbol ("Ø") as the standard representation of zero. The "slashed" or "cancelled zero" is used to indicate zero and avoid confusion with the upper case letter "Ø" in both text and drawings.

Thus, when the symbol "Ø" in one of its many variations, as discussed above, appears in patent applications being prepared for printing, confusion as to the intended meaning of the symbol arises. Those (such as examiners, attorneys, and applicants) working in the art can usually determine the intended meaning of this symbol because of their knowledge of the subject matter involved, but editors preparing these applications for printing have no such specialized knowledge and confusion arises as to which symbol to print. The result, at the very least, is delay until the intended meaning of the symbol can be ascertained.

Since the Office does not have the resources to conduct a technical editorial review of each application before printing, and in order to eliminate the problem of printing delays associated with the usage of these symbols, any questions about the intended symbol will be resolved by the editorial staff of the Office of Publications by printing the symbol "Ø" whenever that symbol is used by the applicant. Any Certificate of Correction necessitated by the above practice will be at the patentee's expense (37 CFR 1.323) because the intended symbol was not accurately presented by the Greek upper or lower case Phi letters (I, Ø) in the patent application.

(57) U.S. Accession to Hague Convention Abolishing the Requirement of Legalization for Foreign Public Documents

On Oct. 15, 1981, the Hague "Convention Abolishing the Requirement of Legalization for Foreign Public Documents" entered into force between the United States and twenty-eight foreign countries that are parties to the Convention. The Convention applies to any document submitted to the United States Patent and Trademark Office for filing or recording, which is sworn to or acknowledged by a notary public in any one of the member countries. The Convention abolishes the certification of the authority of the notary public in a member country by a diplomatic or consular officer of the United States and substitutes certification by a special certificate, or apostille, executed by an officer of the member country. Accordingly, the Office will accept for filing or recording a document sworn to or acknowledged before a notary public in a member country if the document bears, or has appended to it, an apostille certifying the notary's authority. The requirement for a diplomatic or consular certificate, specified in 37 CFR 1.66 and note 1 of 37 CFR 3.45, will not apply to a document sworn to or acknowledged before a notary public in a member country if an apostille is used.

The member countries that are parties to the Convention are:

Austria	Italy	Spain
Bahamas	Japan	Suriname
Belgium	Lesotho	Swaziland
Botswana	Liechtenstein	Switzerland
Cyprus	Luxembourg	Tonga
Fiji	Malawi	U.K. of Great
France	Malta	Britain and
Germany	Mauritius	N. Ireland
Fed. Rep. of	Netherlands	United States
Hungary	Portugal	Yugoslavia
Israel	Seychelles

The Convention prescribes the following form for the apostille:

Model of certificate

The certificate will be in the form of a square with sides at least 9 centimetres long

Patent and Trademark Office
37 CFR Part 1 [Docket No. 71008-7208]

Variety Denomination Requirements for Plant Patent Applications

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce.
Action: Notice of proposed rulemaking.
Summary: The Patent and Trademark Office proposes to amend certain of the rules of practice applicable to the patenting of plants. Under the proposed rules of practice, an applicant for such a patent would, in addition to any requirements for obtaining a patent, also be required to record an identifying variety denomination for the plant. These proposed rules fulfill an obligation imposed by the Convention of the International Union for the Protection of New Plant Varieties (the UPOV Convention), to which the United States adheres.
Dates: Comments on the proposed rules must be submitted by Jan. 8, 1988, to assure their consideration in formulating the rules put into effect. A public hearing will be held on Jan. 15, 1988, beginning at 9:30 A.M., in the Commissioner's Conference Room, Crystal Plz. 3, the Patent and Trademark Office.
Addresses: Address comments to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Box 4, Washington, D.C. 20231. All comments received will be publicly available in the Patent and Trademark Office, Crystal Plz. 3, Arlington, Va., Rm. 11C28.
For Further Information Contact: Mr. Stanley D. Schlosser, Office of Legislation and International Affairs, by telephone at (703) 557-3065 or by mail addressed to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Box 4, Washington, D.C. 20231.
Supplementary Information: The UPOV Convention became applicable to the United States on Nov. 8, 1981, as a consequence of the President's exercise of authority to adhere to this international agreement. Under Articles 6 and 13 of the UPOV Convention, each plant variety for which protection is sought must be given a variety denomination and that denomination recorded ("registered" in the language of the Convention) at least by the time the patent is granted. It is left to each of the UPOV member states to determine how recordation is effected. For the United States, the issuance of a patent which includes the denomination of the variety would constitute recordation and registration for the purposes of compliance with UPOV Convention. The patent examining process would include consideration of the suitability for recordation of the proposed variety denomination.

Attention is called to two earlier Commissioner's Notices on this subject. The Notice of Oct. 20, 1981 (46 FR 51426) stated that appropriate rules for the registration of variety denominations, as required by the UPOV Convention, would be issued. The Commissioner's Notice, published in the Federal Register on Aug. 16, 1985, 50 FR 33062, proposed amendments to the Patent and Trademark Office's rules of practice to carry out this requirement. In light of public comments received, the earlier proposed rules are being withdrawn from consideration and replaced by these revised proposed rules. These would apply to plants patented under either 35 U.S.C. 101 or 161, but would not apply to any protection sought under the Plant Variety Protection Act (7 U.S.C. 2321 et seq.), administered by the United States Department of Agriculture.

These proposed rules, in accordance with the patent law requirements for providing a descriptive title for a patent application, would require the variety denomination proposed for recordation to be included in the title of the application. The denomination would be judged for recordability by the examiner assigned the application for examination, who would consult with appropriate trademark examination officials to determine if there exists a possibly conflicting trademark registration or application for registration.

The recordation of a variety denomination for purposes of compliance with UPOV Convention Article 13 is not to be understood as conveying any legal rights in that denomination. Recordation does no more than establish a prima facie case that can be asserted as evidence of the possible generic nature of the variety denomination, if genericness is not already established by its usage in the commercial market, advertising or publication.

Under the proposed rules, the Patent and Trademark Office in examining the recordability of variety denominations will, in addition to its trademark records, utilize the Office's compilation of denominations obtained from horticultural, agricultural, floral and other professionalsocieties, national breeders' rights offices, the UPOV Union's Secretariat, standard references and other available sources. Article 13 of the UPOV Convention requires that the variety denomination must enable the plant variety to be identified, that the denomination not consist solely of numbers except if this is shown to be an established practice for designating plant varieties, and that the denomination not be liable to mislead or cause confusion concerning the characteristics, value or identity of the variety or the identity of the breeder. No specific naming system is required by the Article. While a portion of the consuming public and others might prefer plant variety names conforming to the International Code of Nomenclature for Cultivated Plants or the UPOV Guidelines, common usage, code systems or other ways of identifying plants cannot be ignored.

The Patent and Trademark Office would accept for recordation a variety denomination complying with the requirements of the UPOV Convention's Articles 13(2) and 13(4). A number of variety denomination systems currently in use, such as the system described in the 1980 revision of the International Code of Nomenclature for Cultivated Plants, the UPOV Guidelines and various code systems may also meet these requirements. Sexually reproduced varieties could be named in compliance with the requirements of the Federal Seed Act. In the event the examiner does not approve a proposed variety denomination for recordation, the applicant could petition the Commissioner for approval. Thus, the examination and approval of variety denominations will be handled in the same way as other procedural and administrative requirements not relating to the merits of the invention, such as the requirement to provide an abstract of the disclosure or the requirement to provide a title. A final refusal by the Commissioner on petition would require submission of another proposed denomination for recordation.

The petition to the Commissioner will be subject to a fee and the other requirements relating to petitions. The Commissioner may in appropriate cases delegate to the Assistant Commissioner for Trademarks or other appropriate trademark officials the decision of such petitions, under 37 C.F.R. 1.181(g).

The UPOV Convention requires the applicant to identify the patented variety by the same variety denomination (or a translation thereof) in all UPOV member states. A different denomination may be recorded in a particular member state, however, in cases where the denomination registered in another member state is unsuitable for business or other reasons. An applicant may during the course of examination be required to inform the Office of any other denomination by which the variety is known.

While these rules provide for the recordation of variety denominations, they recognize at the same time that, in cases of conflict, previously established proprietary rights are paramount. Recordation is in legal effect, therefore, no more than publication of a denomination which is or may become the generic name of a plant variety.

Trademark owners, owners of other proprietary rights and patent applicants share a common interest in knowing as early as possible if a variety denomination proposed for recordation possibly conflicts with a trademark or other proprietary rights. Accordingly, each denomination proposed for recordation, along with the genus and species to which the variety belongs, shall be published in the Official Gazette as soon as reasonably possible after receipt of the application in the Office. The Commissioner has determined that publication of such information constitutes special circumstances under 35 U.S.C. 122.

The public may provide information to the Office concerning the recordability of a proposed denomination. Such information would be entered in the official file wrapper of the application and be available to the examiner. Such information shall be called to the attention of the applicant by the Office.

Also, the Official Gazette would list newly recorded denominations in United States patents in order for trademark owners to assert their rights in appropriate cases through private negotiations or judicially, as they may now do in trademark cases. Proceedings in the Office in regard to the registration of variety denominations, however, will be conducted ex parte.

Under the proposed rules, each applicant would be required to specify in an application for protection of a plant variety the date of first use of the denomination if used prior to filing of the patent application, or later to provide information about the date of first commercial use during pendency of the application. In cases of conflict between a trademark and a proposed variety denomination, the variety denomination will not be accepted for recordation unless its first commercial use clearly antedates another's established rights.

If a patentee learns of a conflict between a trademark and the recorded variety denomination after issuance of the patent, the patentee in order to resolve the conflict will be permitted to record a different denomination by means of the Certificate of Correction procedure. Also, a variety denomination found after issuance of a patent to be commercially unsuitable or ill-advised could be changed in a similar manner.

The Office now permits plants and plant varieties to be patented both specifically and broadly under patent 35 U.S.C. 101. In some cases, however, claims in an application will not be limited to a specific variety. These proposed rules would apply only to applications where a specific variety or varieties are claimed. Only these need be identified by a variety denomination, except where the number of varieties involved makes this impractical. In such a case, each claim directed to a specific variety would include its variety denomination, but these variety denominations could be omitted from the title of the patent. Variety denominations would not be required for microorganisms or microscopic plant parts.

Other Considerations: The proposed rule change is in conformity with the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (Pub. L. 96-354), Executive Order 12291 and the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq. This rule contains a collection of information requirement subject to the Paperwork Reduction Act. This colletion of information requirement has been cleared by OMB under control No. 0651-0011.

The General Counsel of the Department Commerce has certified to the Small Business Administration that the proposed rule changes will not have a significant adverse economic impact on a substantial number of small entities (Regulatory Flexibility Act, Pub. L. 96-354). The variety denomination requirement will not impose extra work on patent applicants (whether small or large businesses or individuals). The rules will help avoid burdensome and expensive litigation over trademark rights.

The Patent and Trademark Office has determined that this proposed rule change is not a major rule under Executive Order 12291. The annual effect on the economy will be less than $100 million. There will be no major increase in costs or prices for consumers, individual industries, federal, state, or local government agencies, or geographic regions. There will be no significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or on the ability of United States-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

List of Subjects in 37 CFR Part 1

Administrative practice and procedure, Courts, Inventions and patents.

For the reasons set out in the preamble, 37 CFR Part I is proposed to be amended by revising §§ 1.72, and 1.17 and adding a new § 1.168 as set forth below. All proposed additions are printed between arrows.

PART I -RULES OF PRACTICE IN PATENT CASES

1. The authority citation for 37 CFR Part 1 would continue to read as follows:

AUTHORITY: 35 U.S.C. 6 unless otherwise noted.

2. Section 1.17 is proposed to be amended by adding the following items in numerical order to the list in paragraph (h) to read as follows:

§ 1.17 Patent application processing fees.

* * * * *

(h) * * *

►§ 1.168(d) For petitioning the Commissioner to record a plant variety denomination . . .
§ 1.168(g) For petitioning the Commissioner to record a substitute plant variety denomination . . .◄

3. Section 1.72 is proposed to be amended by adding the following paragraph:

§ 1.72 Title and abstract.

►(c) In the case of an application for the patenting of a plant variety under the provisions of 35 U.S.C. 101 or 161, the title of the application must include a variety denomination for the specific new variety claimed, except as provided for in§ 1.168(b). The granting of the patent will be deemed the recordation of the variety denomination for purposes of compliance with Article 13 of the International Convention for the Protection of New Varieties of Plants, as revised on Oct. 23, 1978.

4. A new § 1.168 is proposed to be added, to read as follows:

►§ 1.168 Variety denomination, submission to the Office, examination.
(a) The variety denomination submitted by the patent applicant under § 1.72 will be examined for compliance with the International Convention for the Protection of New Varieties of Plants. Specifically, the denomination:

(1) must enable the plant variety to be identified;
(2) must not be likely to cause confusion, to cause mistake or to deceive concerning the characteristics, value or identity of the plant variety or the identity of the breeder;
(3) must not consist solely of numbers except if this is an established practice for designating plant varieties; and
(4) must not be likely to cause confusion or mistake or to deceive as to any prior right of a third party, and shall not affect prior rights of third parties.

(b) If a proposed variety denomination is not included as part of the title of the application, when filed, the examiner shall set a period of not less than thirty days to provide a variety denomination. If a plurality of plant varieties are claimed, which make it impractical to include each variety denomination in the title of the application, each claim directed to a specific plant variety shall instead include the denomination of the claimed plant variety. In cases where no specific plant variety is claimed, for example, a patent directed to the improvement of a plant species, the denomination requirement applicable to the patenting of a plant variety or varieties will be waived.
(c) If the examiner determines that a proposed variety denomination is not suitable for recordation, the examiner shall refuse recordation thereof and shall set forth in an Office action the reasons for such refusal. An applicant disagreeing with the reasons for such refusal may request reconsideration and withdrawal of the refusal, giving the reasons therefor. If the examiner's refusal to record a proposed variety denomination is repeated and made final, the examiner shall at the same time require the applicant to propose another variety denomination for recordation.
(d) After a final requirement by the examiner for submission of a proposed new variety denomination, the applicant, in addition to making any response due on the remainder of the action, may in lieu of proposing another variety denomination petition the Commissioner for review of the examiner's holding, upon payment of the fee set forth in § 1.17(h).
(e) The applicant is required to submit for recordation the same variety denomination (or, if not in English, a translation or transliteration thereof) as that previously registered or recorded, or proposed for registration in an earlier filed application for protection of the same variety in another member state of the International Union for the Protection of New Varieties of Plants. The applicant may submit another denomination for recordation, however, upon a showing satisfactory to the examiner as to why the denomination originally submitted or registered in another member state of the said Union is unsuitable for recordation in the United States. During pendency of an application, the examiner may require the applicant to provide information regarding all denominations for the same variety registered or proposed for registration in other member states of the said Union before the application was filed in the United States.
(f) The applicant shall indicate in the application the date of first commercial use in the United States if any, of the variety denomination proposed for recordation; or, if not commercially used prior to filing of the application, indicate during pendency of the application when the denomination has first been commercially used in this country. No variety denomination will be recorded if first commercially used after the establishment of third party proprietary rights to the denomination.
(g) A patentee in order to avoid a conflict between a recorded variety denomination and a trademark or other proprietary right, or where the recorded variety denomination is likely to be confused with another, or where business or marketing considerations dictate, may propose for recordation a substitute variety denomination for that already recorded. Such a proposal shall be in the form of a petition to the Commissioner together with the fee set forth in § 1.17(h). The proposed substitute denomination will be examined in the same manner as the denomination originally recorded, and upon recordation shall be promptly published in the Official Gazette. A Certificate of Correction indicating such substitute denomination shall be issued for the patent. If the patent has been assigned, only the assignee of record may apply for recordation of a substitute denomination.
(h) The Commissioner shall upon its receipt in the Office promptly publish in the Official Gazette each variety denomination proposed for recordation and the genus and species of the plant involved. Correspondence from the public objecting to the recordation of such denomination, if accompanied by reasons therefor, will be placed in the official file and considered by the examiner in an ex parte manner. An objection to recordation may be based on an earlier recorded or unrecorded variety denomination, a registered or common law trademark, a trade name or trade indicia, or other alleged prior right timely called to the Office's attention. The applicant shall be notified by the Office of the receipt of such correspondence. The secrecy of any pending application will be preserved in accordance with 35 U.S.C. 122◄

(59) Summary Results of 1991 Patent Action Survey

The Patent and Trademark Office conducted a survey in the March-June 1991 period to gather information from patent practitioners and other Office "customers" about the quality of Office actions. Approximately 27,000 questionnaires (survey forms) were mailed with Office actions. Each survey form included 10 specific questions and provided space to make general comments. Each survey form identified only the Examining Group to which the application was assigned so that all responses would be completely anonymous.

Approximately 4,200 survey forms were returned (16% return rate).

Results

I. A tabulation of respondents' answers to the 10 specific questions revealed the following compliance rates relative to the accompanying Office actions:

35 U.S.C. 103 Rejections:

1. 72% identify portion of references relied on.
2. 70% indicate how teachings of references are modified or combined.
3. 65% communicate the rationale why the claimed invention would have been obvious.

35 U.S.C. 112, 1st para. rejections:

4. 58% sufficiently explain "new matter" position.
5. 67% sufficiently explain "non-enabling" disclosure position.

Final Rejection Practice:

6. 56% respond to applicant's arguments.
7. 52% of Advisory Actions identify new issues and/or new matter when denying entry.

Allowance Practice:

8. 90% of reasons for allowance were clear.

Miscellaneous:

9. 45% clearly communicate reasons for finding declarations/affidavits unpersuasive.
10. 54% of Examiner's Answers address appellant's arguments.

The questions relating to "Final Rejection Practice" and to the "Miscellaneous" topic areas asked whether examiners respond to attorney arguments and how attorneys interpret the examiners' responses to their arguments. These topic areas and others where there are relatively low compliance rates have been identified as areas of Office practice needing improvement.

The responses to the 10 survey questions show that continuous improvement has been achieved in several areas. For example, the high percentage of affirmative responses in the area of explaining 35 U.S.C. 103 rejections (72%, 70%, and 65%) reflects a clear improvement over internal surveys made within the last several years, and reflects the effectiveness of recent extensive Office training programs in this area. It is also apparent there is still room for further improvement. Another positive result was that 90% of respondents, commenting on Reasons for Allowance, felt that the reasons given were clear.

II. Analysis of respondents' general comments:

Over 1800 survey forms were returned with comments (43% of total responses). While these comments were directed toward many different areas, two major categories were apparent:

Category A: 62% of the comments expressed the need for additional quality improvement of actions.

The most commonly expressed comments in this category indicate that the quality of Office actions can be improved by giving a better explanation of the rationale or reasons in support of rejections. Examples of comments received include: all elements of claims are not addressed in 35 U.S.C. 102(b) rejections; one of the references used in a 35 U.S.C. 103 rejection is not explained; features of dependent claims were not treated; claim limitations were ignored; "boilerplate" 35 U.S.C. 103 rejections were being given; and it was difficult to understand the rationale for the rejection, and, therefore, to file a proper and meaningful response.

The second most common type of comment in this category indicated that examiners misunderstand an essential feature. For example: actions reflect a misunderstanding by the examiner of the scope and content of the prior art, the presently claimed invention, or the original disclosure. Further, comments indicate that some cited references seem to have no bearing on the claimed invention because the rejection of the claims is not supported by the disclosure of the applied reference.

Category B: 20% of the comments had compliments about the quality of Office actions.

The compliments acknowledged actions which presented a thorough analysis of the claim language with respect to the prior art references; which included suggestions for amendments to the claims so as to place the application in condition for allowance; and/or which gave a "tough" examination which would result in a stronger patent.

It is significant that the most common type of comment indicated that enhanced explanations would improve the quality of Office actions, while, at the same time, the second most common type of comment indicated that the quality of Office actions is considered to be very good in this regard. This seems to indicate that the quality of many Office actions are good, but that additional emphasis is still needed in this area.

Planned Initiatives:

The answers to the 10 questions and the comments are considered vital to current Office efforts to improve the quality of patent examination. The data, where statistically reliable, has been analyzed on an examining corps and individual group basis and the following initiatives have been, or will be, taken:

1. Update our continuing legal education program for experienced examiners with extra emphasis being placed on areas where improved performance is needed, such as the need for better motivation statements in rejections. Specific courses have been developed to provide tailored training in important areas, such as treatment of algorithms in claims, evaluating evidence submitted by applicants, and responding to applicant's arguments.
2. Enhance the Patent Academy curriculum for training junior examiners to place greater emphasis on the areas of examination where improved performance is needed, such as in responding to amendments after final rejection.
3. Implement focused training in each Examining Group to address specific technological/group specific problems that have been indicated by the survey. The training has been implemented in a variety of ways including one-on-one, art unit and group level programs. Form paragraphs have been developed to help ensure that applicant's arguments are appropriately considered and responded to in Office actions.
4. Develop follow-up surveys in order to determine if the corrective actions were successful. In this regard the answers to the questions and the concerns raised by respondents in their comments will serve as baselines for improvement.

The relatively small number of responses (only 16%, 4,200 responses from 27,000 survey forms mailed) resulted in statistically insignificant data for analysis of some questions at the group level. In part, this may have been due to confusion with prior perception surveys, requiring only a single response from each practitioner involved. Unlike perception surveys, each Patent Action Survey is specific to the Office action that accompanies it, and requests a brief response for that action. Hence, a practitioner who received more than one Office action with a survey form was requested to complete a survey form for each accompanying Office action.

The Office is planning follow-up surveys in FY-1992 and 1993. These surveys will be more meaningful and reliable if respondents answer the questions in as objective a manner as possible. Thus, respondents should try to objectively evaluate the accompanying examiner's action to see if that particular action did or did not include the feature(s) addressed by the question rather than whether there is agreement or disagreement with the examiner's position. Further, since greater participation would yield more reliable statistics, patent practitioners are encouraged to respond to future surveys.

Questions about the FY-1991 Patent Action Surveys should be directed to John Terapane, Director Group 1200, or Carolyn Ballard, Patent Action Survey Coordinator, both at (703) 308-0193.

(60) Report on the Quality Reinforcement Program

The Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) has instituted a Quality Reinforcement Program to identify services offered by the PTO that are in need of improvement. As a part of this program, the Office, in cooperation with the American Intellectual Property Law Association (AIPLA), has completed an evaluation of selected practices performed by both patent examiners and representatives of patent applicants during the examination process. The results of this evaluation are detailed in Volume I of the PTO Report of the Quality Reinforcement Program. A summary of the findings of this report is presented below. This summary is presented to report on the findings and to solicit suggestions from both the public and employees of the Patent & Trademark Office on steps that might be taken to raise the level of performance of those practices found to be in need of improvement. The full report and evaluation, which is quite extensive with over 350 pages, is available at the PTO.

Address: Comments and inquiries should be addressed to: The Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231, to the attention of Edward Kubasiewicz, Director, Examining Group 250, Rm. CP4-9D19.

Date: Comments should be submitted by June 16, 1987.

Assistant Secretary and Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks.

Summary of Volume 1-Report on Current Level of Performance of Selected Patent Examining Corps Practices

This is a summary of Volume I of the Quality Reinforcement Program Report, which addresses the current level of performance of selected Patent Examining Corps practices. This summary presents a background of the Quality Reinforcement Program and a synopsis of conclusions reached for each selected practice.

Background of the Quality Reinforcement Program

On Feb. 25, 1986, President Reagan issued an executive order establishing a comprehensive program for the improvement of productivity throughout all of government. From this executive order the Department of Commerce evolved a Productivity Improvement Program entitled PROJECT PRIDE. The program was announced as encompassing productivity, quality excellence and client satisfaction.

The role of U.S. Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) in PROJECT PRIDE centers around quality, and is entitled the Quality Reinforcement Program.

The goal of the PTO program is to improve the quality of patent examining functions and the timeliness and quality of other public services. In particular, the program focuses on improving the quality of practices performed in three different areas of the PTO, i.e., the Patent Examining Corps, the Office of Administration and the Office of Documentation.

The quality of an issued patent and the record before the PTO in the patented file are extremely important to the patent owner and to others who may be competitors or otherwise affected by the patent. Investment decisions and the recoupment of research, development and marketing expenditures often depend upon patent protection. Potential licensees and infringers need to know where they stand in regard to an issued patent. Patent owners and others need to be able to have a high degree of confidence in the validity of a patent. Valid patents and a clear and correct file record will help to eliminate unnecessary and expensive patent litigation costs which are currently estimated to total at least $800 million per year.

The concern for productivity and productivity improvement is not a recent development at the PTO. During the past quarter of a century one of the most pressing problems for the Office has been a large and growing backlog of unexamined patent applications and the resulting long pendency time between filing an application and issuance of a patent. The average pendency of patent applications in 1964 was 37 months. However, average pendency dropped steadily in the 1970s until it culminated in an average pendency of 18 months in 1977. This pendency was shortlived due to a loss of adequate resources. However, pendency is once again falling and it is expected that an average pendency of 18 months will be achieved in 1989.

Historically, the Office has successfully responded to situations similar to the one in which it presently finds itself. Beginning in the 1960s when the backlog of new applications exceeded 200,000, a program designed to drastically increase the productivity of the Corps was initiated. Part of that program was what has since become known as "compact prosecution". An increased staff of examiners was reinstructed to take a new approach toward examining in which patentable subject matter was looked for and indicated as early in the prosecution of the case as possible, references were automatically furnished with actions, attorneys were urged to originally file claims of the broadest possible range of scope, telephonic prosecution was instituted, first actions and application disposals became the measure of examiners' performance, preprinted first action forms were designed, etc.

The question before the Office now is whether sufficient attention is being given to quality. The intent of the Quality Reinforcement Program, as it applies to the Patent Examining Corps, is to take stock of the present situation and to consider whether any corrective action needs to be taken to improve the quality of the examination process.

The Office is currently using and improving various tools to assure a quality examined patent. These tools include the quality review program, supervisory reviews of examiner work through the performance appraisal system and through the promotion and signatory authority programs, improved and expanded examiner training, development of the automated patent system to improve the quality of examiner searching, recruitment of "top-of-the-class" new examiners, and detailed and clear guidlines on examining policy and procedure.

The Quality Reinforcement Program is a new quality tool for improving the actual quality of the patents issued as well as the record behind the issuance of these patents. This new program differs from the quality review program in that this program looks at the key pieces of the patent examining process that contribute to and make up the end product or patent rather than looking only at the end product. The Quality Reinforcement Program focuses on the effectiveness and consistency with which examiners apply existing law and procedures and how they communicate their findings to applicants. The program also focuses on the attorney's contribution to this work product. Lastly, the program focuses on the timeliness of some of the services provided by the Corps' clerical support staff. Such focusing is not intended to be carried out one time only. Rather, the methodology used in this program will be applied to any key pieces, identified by PTO personnel or the bar in the future, as needing a review of the type dictated by this program. The aim in short is to build quality and timeliness from the ground up and to maintain them at a high level.

This report presents and analyzes the findings of the Quality Reinforcement Program only as the findings relate to practices performed in the Patent Examining Corps. The portion of the program reported in this volume represents a cooperative effort between the Corps and the American Intellectual Property Law Association (AIPLA) through its Ad Hoc Committee on Quality. The focus is on certain practices involved in the prosecution, examination and processing of patent applications by both the PTO and by patent applicants and their representatives.

Methodology

The methodology adopted for the program comprises the following process:

1. select target practices,

2. determine the current quality or performance level of the target practices,
3. compare the current performance of the target practices to the desired level of performance,
4. implement, where appropriate, steps to raise the current level of performance to the desired level,
5. subsequently, determine the level of performance of the target practices, and
6. compare the current level of performance to the subsequently determined level of performance to determine what, if any, change has occurred.

Target Practices

A number of practices were targeted for the program as a result of complaints and concerns, raised by the bar and PTO personnel. The targeted practices are identified as follows:

A. Explanations of Rejections

This program targeted examiner "explanations of rejections" as a practice to be reviewed based in part on a de-emphasis by the Office on the degree to which examiners were required to include detailed explanations of the supporting rationale behind their rejections during the 1970s. The PTO instituted the use of an abbreviated, handwritten form (PTO-1142) for the preparation of first Office actions during the early 1970s. The form provided for a cryptic description of how the references were being combined in a § 103 rejection and provided little space for explanation of the supporting rationale behind rejections. The form was mandatory for all first actions, and was discontinued in 1982 primarily due to complaints from the patent bar and the courts that examiner explanations of rejections were not sufficient. The inclusion of "explanations of rejections" as a targeted practice for this program enables the evaluation of whether further improvement is needed in this area.

B. Final Rejection Practice

This program targeted "final rejection practice" for review based in part on the conflicting needs of PTO and patent applicants/attorneys in this area of practice. In order to reduce the time applicants must wait to obtain a patent and to increase efficiency of the examination process, the PTO uses various incentives for examiners to make their rejections final early in the prosecution.

To the contrary, patent applicants often desire to have the examiner repeatedly reconsider his or her position or to continue to amend the claims. These conflicting incentives often lead to disputes relating to the propriety and/or timeliness of final rejections and to whether amendments are entered after an action has been made final.

C. Information Disclosure Statements

This program targeted "information disclosure statements" for review based upon concerns expressed by both applicants/attorneys and by the Patent Examining Corps over the submission of these statement.

Patent examiners, in the interest of efficiency and productivity, are benefited by the disclosure to the Office of all material information relating to the patentability of the application prior to their first Office action. However, this must be balanced against the practical reality that applicants/attorneys often don't become aware of material information until later in the prosecution, and don't have readily available translations of foreign documents or copies of documents for submission to the PTO. This practice looks at the extent to which the practical needs of both the PTO and the applicant/attorney are served by the procedures relating to "information disclosure statement".

D. Interviews

This program targeted "interviews" for review to determine the extent to which personal discussions are held between examiners and attorneys and to evaluate whether the parties consider personal interviews to be a productive or helpful means for clarifying issues that may not have been clearly communicated in earlier written communications. Selection of "interviews" as a targeted practice was based in part on isolated complaints by some examiners that interviews were not always productive for them and by some attorneys that some examiners are reluctant to hold interviews.

PTO procedures require that all business with the Office be conducted in writing (37 CFR § 1.2). To comply with this rule and still accommodate request for oral discussions with examiners, it is PTO policy that the substance of all personal interviews must be reduced to writing (see § 713.04 of the MPEP). Selection of "interviews" as a targeted practice was also based on concerns that the written record include an explanation of the substance of all oral interviews. Under this practice, the program focused on determining the perceptions of examiners and attorneys about interviews.

E. Responses by Applicant

This program targeted "responses by applicant" for review to determine the extent to which practitioners representing patent applicants submit responses to examiner actions that are complete and in compliance with current rules and procedures. Specific activities under this topic, such as the extent to which explanations of why claims are considered unobvious over the art cited by the examiner and the degree of compliance with 37 CFR § 1.116 when amendments are presented after a final rejection, were selected based upon some complaints by examiners about attorney responses in these areas.

F. Completeness of the Record

This program targeted "Completeness of the Record" for review based primarily upon the importance of a complete file record to those who must review patented files and make important decisions based upon the facts and determinations therein. The necessity of insuring a complete file record has been urged by such diverse interests as federal court judges, potential licensees, potential infringers, and those attempting to avoid infringement.

This topic looks at the extent to which examiners insure a complete file record by including a statement of reasons for allowance where appropriate, fully and properly record the search of the prior art, and check foreign priority information for accuracy and completeness. This topic does not look at the extent to which examiners explain their rejection; see targeted practice A, "Explanation of Rejections." The extent to which applicants file complete responses iscovered in targeted practice E, "Responses by Applicant."

G. Compact Prosecution

This program targeted "Compact Prosecution" for review based upon its importance as a key element in current PTO efforts to reduce pendency time of applications to an average of 18 months. The premise behind compact prosecution is that pendency time will be minimized if each stage of prosecution is fully and thoroughly conducted by both examiners and applicants. The demands of such a standard have inevitably led to complaints from each side relating to the completeness of considerations and the willingness to take that "extra step". Examiners have been criticized for confining searches to only what is literally claimed, and for failing to indicate possible areas of patentability at the earliest possible stage. Applicants have been criticized for failure to claim all limitations that might be considered patentable prior to the initial search by the examiner, for amending the claims to include these limitations only after first action, and for failing to correct significant formal deficiencies prior to initial examination.

H. Appeal Practice

This program targeted "Appeal Practice" for review primarily due to the recent and substantial increase in the backlog of appealed applications awaiting decision by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences. Primary emphasis was placed on determining the extent to which appellant's brief and the examiner's answer are formally complete so that expeditious consideration may be given by the Board.

As a result of the high priority being given by the PTO to reduce the backlog of cases at the Board, additional survey questions were included to determine the extent to which additional requirements beyond those currently in effect for the preparation of the appellant's brief and examiner's answer would be useful to examiners and the Board.

I. Allowances After Appeal Brief

This program targeted "Allowances after Appeal" for review in response to complaints that examiners often allow cases after appellant has filed a brief when the cases should have been allowed before the brief was filed.

J. Processing Times

This program targeted "Processing Times" for review based upon its importance to the PTO goal of reducing pendency of patent applications to 18 months.

DETERMINATION OF CURRENT LEVELS OF PERFORMANCE

The step of determining the current level of performance of the targeted practices was accomplished through a number of surveys.

One survey, called the Applications Survey, was an internal factual survey that involved selecting a sample of 150 applications on a random basis from all the examining groups. A survey team, comprising three Supervisory Patent Examiners (SPEs) and three reviewers from Quality Review, performed a detailed review of the applications according to a questionnaire, which was developed with the joint cooperation of the AIPLA Ad Hoc Quality Committee.

A second survey, called the AIPLA Survey, was an opinion questionnaire provided by the AIPLA to 5500 of its members. The questionnaire was developed jointly with the AIPLA Ad Hoc Quality Committee. The AIPLA questionnaire sought the perception of the attorneys of the quality of the work performed by the Corps relative to the targeted practices. Space was provided for the respondents to include comments on the questionnaire. Over 1100 attorneys responded to the questionnaire.

Another survey, called the Examiners Survey, was also an opinion questionnaire provided to all patent examiners and SPEs on a voluntary and anonymous basis. The questionnaire queried the examiners and SPEs about the practices of the practitioners before the PTO. Space was provided for the respondents to include comments on the questionnaire. Over 650 responses were received.

A fourth survey, called the Appeals Survey, was also an internal factual survey. The questionnaire was developed with the cooperation of the AIPLA Ad Hoc Quality Committee. The questionnaire sought data about the practices carried out in the appeal process in the PTO. For this survey, 60 applications were selected on a random basis from all the examining groups. The survey team performed a detailed review of the applications according to the questionnaire.

Three other surveys were used to gather data. All of these surveys were developed and conducted by the Office of Quality Review. Two surveys involved the review of 1878 allowed applications concerning information disclosure statements. Another survey involved the review of 290 applications allowed after appellant had filed an appeal brief, but before an examiner's answer was prepared.

Relative to the processing times, PALM reports were used to obtain data on the practices targeted for this activity.

COMPARISON OF CURRENT LEVELS TO DESIRED LEVELS

The step of comparing the current levels of performance to the desired or standard levels of performance was accomplished by setting out the desired or standard level for each target practice. Next, all the information provided by the surveys was analyzed for each target practice and compared to the desired or standard level for the target practice. The analysis resulted in the following general conclusions. (A detailed listing of all conclusions for each targeted practice is presented in Section VII of Volume I of the Quality Reinforcement Program Report.)

SUMMARY OF CONCLUSIONS

A. Explanations of Rejections

1. Identification of Statutory Basis for Rejection

Over 95% of the rejections under 35 USC §§ 103 and 112, second paragraph (clarity), cited the statutory basis for the rejection. With respect to rejections under 35 USC § 102, 92% of the rejections cited the statutory basis. Hence, no significant improvement is needed in specifying the statutory basis of a rejection based on 35 USC §§ 102, 103 or 112, second paragraph.

With respect to rejections under 35 USC § 112, first paragraph, 14-19% of the rejections based on a non-enabling disclosure and 42% of the rejections based on new matter failed to cite the statutory basis. Hence, improvement is needed in specifying that a rejection, based on new matter or the lack of an enabling disclosure, is under 35 USC § 112, first paragraph.

2. Explanation of Rejections Based on Prior Art

Approximately two-thirds of the rejections reviewed failed to explain why the claimed invention would have been obvious in view of the applied prior art. Over 75% of the attorneys responding to the AIPLA survey perceived rejections under 35 USC § 103 as lacking an explanation of why the claimed invention would have been obvious. Moreover, 70 comments from attorneys (the highest for any topic) were critical of the explanations of rejections under 35 USC § 103. Hence, significant improvement is needed to assure that rejections based on prior art appropriately communicate the rationale for such rejections.

3. Explanation of Rejections Under 35 USC § 112, First Paragraph, Non-Enabling Disclosure

Nineteen percent of all the non-enabling disclosure rejections reviewed failed to give reasons in support of the rejection. Hence, improvement is needed in explaining why a disclosure is non-enabling.

4. Explanation of Rejections Under 35 USC § 112, First Paragraph, New Matter

With respect to rejections based on new matter, 35% of the rejections reviewed failed to pointout the language considered to be new matter, and 40% of these rejections did not give a reason why the language was considered new matter. Hence, significant improvements are needed in pointing out the language that is considered to be new matter, and explaining why the new matter is not supported by the disclosure as originally filed.

5. Explanation of Rejections Under 35 USC § 112, Second Paragraph

Approximately 90% of the rejections reviewed pointed out the claim language considered unclear. Thus, no significant improvement is needed in pointing out what claim language is considered unclear in rejections under the second paragraph of § 112.

Twenty-three percent of the non-final rejections reviewed failed to explain why the language was considered unclear. In final actions, 8% of the rejections failed to explain why the language was considered unclear. Hence, improvement is needed in explaining why the claim language is considered unclear in rejections under the second paragraph of § 112.

6. Alternative Rejections Under 35 USC §§ 102/103

Three percent of the actions reviewed contained alternative rejections under 35 USC §§ 102, 103. Ten percent of the examiners' answers reviewed contained similar rejections. The number of alternative rejections under either § 102 or § 103 was sufficiently low so that no further action is required.

B. Final Rejection Practice

1. Timely Development of Issues in Examiner and Attorney Communications

The perception surveys indicate that examiner actions and attorney responses leading up to final rejection do not adequately develop the issues. The objective Applications Survey data indicate that 32% of examiners' non-final actions do not fully respond to all arguments raised by the applicant. Improvement is needed by both examiners and attorneys in fully developing the issues prior to final.

Final rejections were found to treat all claims, but were deficient in answering all arguments presented by the applicant and in treating affidavits and declarations submitted to overcome rejections. Improvement is needed in responding to all issues raised during the prosecution when making a final rejection.

2. Appropriateness of Final Rejection

Thirteen percent of the final actions surveyed were considered premature. However, 91% of the final rejections reviewed were considered to be reasonable. Thirty-nine percent of the attorneys responding to the AIPLA survey perceived final actions as proper only occasionally or rarely.

Though examiners appear to be doing an acceptable job in making reasonable and proper final rejections, some improvement is needed. However, attorney perception is substantially lower than the factual findings. This may be due to a desire by attorneys for a more liberal after final procedure rather than improper examiner application of the current procedure.

3. Advisory Actions

Advisory actions were found to be mailed in a timely manner.

Thirty-three percent of the amendments filed after final were improperly refused entry. Only 46% of the attorneys responding to the AIPLA survey perceived that reasons given by examiners for the non-entry of amendments after final were clear almost always or most of the time. Moreover, only 50% of these attorneys perceived their response to final rejections to have been given full consideration.

In only 39% of the instances when an amendment to existing claims was entered after final did the advisory action clearly specify the grounds of rejection applicable to the amended claims.

Hence, significant improvements are needed in assuring that amendments after final:

a. are not arbitrarily refused entry,
b. are given sufficient consideration, and
c. communicate the ground of rejection for any claim amended after the final rejection.

C. Information Disclosure Statements

1. Frequency and Timeliness of Submissions

Information disclosure statements are submitted either as statements in the specification or as separate papers in approximately 60% of the applications. Eighty-two percent of the statements are submitted prior to the first action. However, 47% are filed more than three months from the filing date. In 1978, just after 37 CFR § 1.56 was amended, only 21% of the statements were filed more than three months after the filing date. Twelve percent of applications on appeal had statements filed after the final rejection. Two percent of the statements are filed after the application has been allowed.

Only 11% of the statements filed more than three months after the filing date contained an explanation for the delay.

Hence, significant improvements are needed for assuring that information disclosure statements are filed in a timely manner, and with an explanation for the delay when filed late.

2. Submission Includes Explanation of Relevancy of Documents

The explanation of the relevance of the art is substantially below standard whether the citation is incorporated in the specification or is in a separate paper. Hence, significant improvement is needed in assuring that explanations of the relevance of documents cited in information disclosure statements are provided.

3. Copy of Documents Supplied

Copies of cited documents, regardless of type, are not provided in approximately 60% of cases when statements are incorporated into the specification. Even when eliminating those statements citing only U.S. patent documents, the Applications Survey still shows a 25% level of noncompliance for specification-incorporated statements. There is a need for improvement in supplying copies of documents cited in specification- incorporated statements.

4. Translation of Foreign Documents Provided

Either a translation or a statement that a translation is not readily available is generally not provided when the citation is incorporated in the specification. While compliance with the standard is better when the citation is in a separate paper, compliance is still poor. Improvement is needed.

5. Form PTO-1449 or Equivalent

Since the use of PTO form 1449 is not mandatory, this section merely reports the degree to which the form is voluntarily used and is thus informational only. Form PTO-1449 is used in about 70% of disclosure statement submissions when the submission is in a separate paper. The form is used in about 25% of the disclosure statements incorporated in the specification.

6. Miscellaneous

Examiners considered art submitted prior to first action in 93% of cases reviewed. Improvement is needed to insure 100% compliance.

While the survey results indicate a perception by examiners that related copending applications are not being fully disclosed, no objective survey data was recorded on this topic. Since attorneys are only required to cite related applications that are material, the survey question does not measure perceived performance against the current standard. No conclusions can be reached based upon the survey data.

D. Interviews

1. Interviews in General

The results of the AIPLA survey indicate that, of the attorneys responding to the survey,

a. 75% perceived interviews as productive,
b. 89% perceived interviews to be kept as scheduled,
c. 68% perceived examiners to be adequately prepared, and
d. 85% perceived the interview summary form to be completed adequately.

The results of the Examiners Survey indicate that, of the examiners responding to the survey,

a. 53% perceived interviews as productive,
b. 96% perceived interviews to be kept as scheduled,
c. 88% perceived attorneys to be adequately prepared, and
d. 67% perceived attorneys as making the substance of the interview of record.

The survey results indicate that attorneys perceive that examiners are willing to grant at least one interview if timely requested. No need for improvement would appear necessary. A substantial number of attorneys(approximately 30%) feel that examiners are only occasionally or rarely willing to discuss and attempt to resolve substantive issues at interviews. However,examiners often express the desire to reserve commitments until after an interview so that full consideration of all points could be made. It cannot be concluded from the survey data whether examiners could be making more substantive commitments at interviews. No need for improvement is indicated. Some improvement is needed by attorneys in ensuring that an adequate written record of the substance of all interviews is provided.

2. Telephone Restriction

As a general policy, the examiner should telephone the attorney of record and request an oral election when making a restriction requirement. In 62% of the restriction requirements reviewed, the policy was followed. However, the telephone is not required to be used when examiners know that an election will not be made by phone. The number of instances of the remaining 38% where no restriction was made for this reason was not determined. Hence, while it appears that some improvement is needed, the degree of need for improvement cannot be determined without further study.

E. Responses by Applicant

1. Responses under 37 CFR § 1.111

Approximately 90% of the responses reviewed were technically fully responsive to Office actions. However, the percentage of responses that explained why the claimed invention would have been unobvious in view of the prior art was significantly lower. Moreover, some of the comments from examiners indicate that they feel responses often argue references individually rather than address the combination of references set forth in the prior Office action. At least part of this may be due to the lack of an examiner explanation in rejections how references are used and combined.

Hence, no significant improvement is needed in assuring that responses under § 1.1 treat all objections and rejections. However, significant improvement is needed in assuring that responses include an explanation of why it would have been unobvious to combine or modify the references in the manner suggested by the examiner.

2. Responses Under 37 CFR § 1.116

Only 16% of the amendments filed after a final rejection that were reviewed presented a showing of good and sufficient reasons why they were necessary and why they were not presented earlier. Moreover, 48% of the examiners and SPEs responding to the Examiners Survey perceived that attorneys generally do not start serious prosecution or make substantial amendments until after the final rejection.

Hence, significant improvement is needed in assuring that responses under § 1.116 explain why an amendment was not presented earlier.

3. Appeal Briefs-Responses to Rejections

Ninety-four percent of the briefs reviewed contained an explanation why the examiner's modification of the references would have been unobvious. Hence, no significant improvement is needed in assuring that briefs adequately communicate why the examiner's rejection is considered improper.

4. Affidavits/Declarations Submitted to Overcome Rejections

Approximately 20% of affidavits/declarations are not filed in a timely manner. Hence, improvement is needed in assuring that affidavits/declarations are submitted in a timely manner.

Examiner perception of the sufficiency of affidavits to either establish proper "nexus" when asserting commercial success or to present evidence to substantiate an allegation of "secondary considerations" was very low, indicating a need for at least some attorney improvement.

F. Completeness of the Record

1. Reasons for Allowance

In 22% of the applications reviewed, the reason for allowance was not clear from the record. Moreover, only 50% of the attorneys responding to the AIPLA Survey perceived the reason for allowance made of record by the examiner, as clearly establishing why the claims were allowed. Hence, significant improvement is needed in assuring that the record clearly explain why the claims were allowed.

2. Recordation of Searches

Eighty-five percent of the applications surveyed had search boxes properly filled out by the examiner. Approximately 45% of the applications, wherein an automated search was made, were lacking information about the automated search. Hence, improvements are needed in assuring that the search data are recorded in a complete and accurate manner.

3. Foreign Priority Data Verified

The priority/PCT data appearing on the face of the file wrapper were not verified in 23% of the applications reviewed. Hence, a significant improvement is needed in assuring that the priority/PCT data appearing on the file jacket are verified.

G. Compact Prosecution

1. Adequacy of Applications Prior to First Action

Applications should be devoid of obvious informalities. Significant improvement is needed in foreign origin applications since 70% of the examiners surveyed perceived foreign applications as containing substantial formal deficiencies almost always or most of the time. However, only 16% of the examiners perceived U.S. origin applications as containing substantial formal deficiencies.

The disclosure should be readily understandable and the claims should clearly define the invention to enable the examiner to conduct an adequate search. Improvement is needed in foreign origin applications since 20% of the examiners surveyed perceive such applications as lacking an adequate disclosure to permit examination almost always or most of the time. However, 97% of these examiners perceive U.S. origin applications as containing an adequate disclosure.

Claims should be presented that range from the broadest to the most detailed that applicant is willing to accept. Substantial improvement is needed in this area since the Applications Survey shows that only approximately 60% of the applications surveyed contained such a range of claims.

2. Searches

The first search should cover the invention as described and claimed. Substantial improvement is needed in conducting a more thorough search at the time of the first action since 50% of the applications surveyed revealed newly applied art in subsequent actions that should have been applied in a previous action.

A search should be made in the issuing class/subclass. Improvement is needed in this area because 11% of the allowed applications reviewed did not indicate that the issuing class/subclass was searched.

3. Indication of Allowable Subject Matter

Examiners should communicate certain aspects or features of applicant's invention that if properly claimed would receive favorable consideration. Significant improvement is needed in this area since only 59% of the applications that were deemed appropriate for an indication of allowable subject matter had such an indication.

H. Appeal Practice

1. Appellant's Brief-Format

Ninety-five percent of the briefs reviewed contained a concise explanation of the invention. However, only 46% of the explanations contained a reference back to the drawings and/or specification. Hence, a significant improvement is needed in assuring that appellant's explanation of the invention refers to the drawing and/or specification. Ninety-five percent of the briefs reviewed contained a copy of the claims. Hence, no significant improvement is needed in assuring that appellants provide a copy of the claims on appeal.

In addition, formal matters that are not currently required in briefs were found to be included in the surveyed briefs to the following extent,

a. 27% of the briefs included a separate summary of the issues on appeal,
b. 53% of the briefs included a citation of the references as well as an explanation of each reference,
c. 7% of the briefs included a reference back to the drawings or specification in the copy of the claims presented in the brief; however, 58% of the examiners surveyed thought that an appeal brief would be more useful if the claims on appeal were read on the drawings or specification, and
d. 2% of the briefs pointed out an exemplary claim; however 60% of the examiners surveyed thought that an appeal brief would be more useful if appellant is required to state whether all the claims on appeal stand or fall together.

The formal requirements of the brief should be reviewed to determine if these additional requirements would improve the manner in which issues on appeal and evidence in support thereof are set forth in the brief.

2. Examiner's Answer-Format

Ninety percent of the answers surveyed identified the status of all the claims in the applications. One hundred percent of the answers cited all the references relied upon in the appeal and pointed out any deficiencies in the copy of the claims provided by appellant. Hence, no significant improvements are needed in the format of the examiners' answers, as measured against the formal requirements for examiner's answers.

In addition, formal matters that are not currently required in examiner's answers were found to be included in the surveyed answers to the following extent,

a. 15% of the answers included a summary of the issues on appeal,
b. 40% of the answers included an explanation of the invention, and
c. 28% of the answers included an explanation of the references.

The formal requirements of the examiner's answer should be reviewed to determine if these additional requirements would improve the manner in which issues on appeal and evidence in support thereof are set forth in the examiner's answer.

3. Examiner's Answer-Completeness

Seventy-two percent of the answers reviewed responded to every significant argument raised in the briefs. Hence, a significant improvement is needed in assuring that examiners' answers respond to every significant argument/issue raised by appellants.

4. Post Examiner's Answer Practice

The Appeals Survey shows that a substantial number of reply briefs are merely noted with no further comment by the examiner. The findings are inconclusive regarding the propriety of the reply briefs or whether reply briefs are being treated properly by examiners.

I. Allowance After Appeal Brief

Thirty-nine percent of applications allowed after an appeal brief had been filed were found to have no change in appellant's position. Hence, significant improvement is needed in assuring that applications are allowed at the earliest appropriate stage of prosecution.

J. Processing Times

1. 16 Mailing of Office Actions

Substantial improvement in mailing Office actions earlier than one month from the day when the examiners are given credit for the Office action has been accomplished since the inception of the Quality Reinforcement Program.

2. Mailing of Notices of Allowance

Substantial improvement in assuring that Notices of Allowances are mailed promptly has been accomplished since the inception of the Quality Reinforcement Program.

3. Responses to Amendments After Final

Substantial improvement in mailing responses to amendments after final has been accomplished since the inception of the Quality Reinforcement Program.

Perceptions

In addition to reaching conclusions on the current level of performance of each target practice, the program determined the opinions of patent examiners and representatives of applicants on various topics involved in the examination process. A summary of their perceptions is presented below.

Examiner legal proficiency was perceived by attorneys to be in definite need of improvement.

Examiner technical competency, care in doing the job, and neatness of attire were perceived by attorneys as more positive than negative, but in need of improvement.

Clerical competency and care in doing the job were perceived by attorneys to be in definite need of improvement.

Clerical functions including neatness of attire, cooperativeness, courteousness and availability were perceived as being more positive than negative, but with substantial room for improvement.

Attorney handling of foreign origin applications was perceived by examiners to be deficient in preparation of the case for examination. Attorney practices including continued prosecution after final, interview practice, submission of information disclosure statements and explanation of reasons for disagreement with § 103 rejections were also of concern to examiners.

(61) Diligence in Filing Petitions to Revive and Petitions to Withdraw the Holding of Abandonment

Once an application becomes inadvertently abandoned, it is incumbent on applicant to act with diligence in providing the response necessary to continue prosecution. Petitions to revive or to withdraw the holding of abandonment must be filed promptly after applicant is notified or otherwise becomes aware of the abandonment. Unless and until the Commissioner accepts applicant's response as sufficient and complete to revive the application or to withdraw the holding of abandonment, the application remains abandoned and the burden continues to rest with applicant to exercise diligence.

Some practitioners have demonstrated a lack of diligence in filing or renewing a petition to revive or a petition to withdraw the holding of abandonment. This appears to have been a conscious decision on the practitioners' part based on the belief that any delay in filing or renewing a petition could be cured by filing a terminal disclaimer equivalent to the period of delay in prosecuting the application. While the Office does have a policy of requiring a terminal disclaimer in those situations where there has been a delay of more than six months in filing a grantable petition to revive an application that has become abandoned [37 CFR 1.137(c), 1.316(d) and 1.317(c)], the terminal disclaimer has never been authorized or set forth in the rules as a substitute for diligence. Indeed, such an interpretation would be contrary to the traditional concept of reasonable diligence and is contrary to the explicit requirement of 37 CFR 1.137(a), 1.155(b), 1.181(f), 1.316(b) and 1.137(b) that a petition to revive be filed promptly. See In re Application of Takao, 17 USPQ2d 1155 (Comm'r. 1990).

Changes in Procedures for Revival of Patent Applications and Reinstatement of Patents

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce
Action: Final Rule
Summary: The Patent and Trademark Office (Office) is amending the rules of practice in patent cases to: modify the petition requirements for reviving abandoned applications; extend the provisions for revival under the unintentional standard to applications abandoned under § 1.53(d); modify the requirements for a petition to accept late payment of a maintenance fee filed more than six months after expiration of a patent; modify the requirements for a petition to accept unavoidably delayed payment of a maintenance fee; and provide for reinstatement of a patent where the delay in timely payment of a maintenance fee was unintentional. The Office is also establishing the amount for the surcharge for accepting a maintenance fee after expiration of a patent for non-timely payment of a maintenance fee where the delay in payment is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner to have been unintentional.
Effective Date: Sept. 20, 1993. These rules will be applicable to all papers filed with the Office on or after the effective date.
For Further Information Contact: Jeffrey V. Nase by telephone at (703) 305-9282 or by mail marked to his attention and addressed to Office of the Assistant Commissioner for Patents, Box DAC, Washington, D.C. 20231.
Supplementary Information: In a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking published in the Federal Register (57 FR 41899) on Sept. 14, 1992, and in the Patent and Trademark Office Official Gazette (1143 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 8) on October 6, 1992, the Office proposed to amend §§ 1.17, 1.137, 1.155, 1.316, 1.317 and 1.378. In an Interim Rule published in the Federal Register (57 FR 56448 on November 30, 1992, and in the Patent and Trademark Office Official Gazette (1145 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 339) on December 8, 1992, the Office, pursuant to Public Law 102-444 enacted October 23, 1992, established interim rules for reinstatement of a patent where the delay in timely payment of a maintenance fee was unintentional. The Office also established the amount for the surcharge for accepting a maintenance fee after expiration of a patent for non-timely payment of a maintenance fee where the delay in payment was shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner to have been unintentional. No oral hearing was held.

DISCUSSION OF SPECIFIC SECTIONS TO BE CHANGED OR ADDED:

(1) Post issuance fees. (§ 1.20)

Section 1.20(i) is amended to add a $1,500 surcharge fee for accepting the unintentionally delayed payment of a maintenance fee.

(2) Unavoidable or unintentional abandonment of an application

Sections 1.137, 1.155, 1.316 and 1 317 each provide for petitions to the Commissioner for relief from failure to timely comply with a requirement of the Office. Section 1.137 provides for petitions to revive patent applications abandoned for failure to prosecute where the delay in prosecution was unavoidable (§ 1.137(a)) or the delay was unintentional (§ 1.137(b)). Section 1.155 provides for petitions for acceptance of late payment of issue fees in applications for design patents as though no abandonment had ever occurred where the delay in payment was unavoidable (§ 1.155(b)) or unintentional (§ 1.155(c)). Section 1.316 provides for petitions for acceptance of late payment of issue fees in applications for patent as though no abandonment had ever occurred where the delay in payment was unavoidable (§ 1.316(b)) or unintentional (§ 1.316(c)). Section 1.317 provides for acceptance of late payment of the balance of issue fees in patents as though no lapse had ever occurred where the delay in payment was unavoidable (§ 1.317(b)) or unintentional (§ 1.317(c)).

In order to obtain relief under the unavoidable standard in the above-noted sections, the regulations continue to require the filing of a terminal disclaimer if the petition is filed more than six months after the date of abandonment. See §§ 1.137(c), 1.155(d), 1.316(d) and 1.317(d). The terminal disclaimer must disclaim a period equivalent to the period of abandonment. The period of abandonment is considered to be the number of months lapsed from the date of abandonment until the date of filing of a grantable petition.

Sections 1.137(c), 1.155(d) and 1.316(d) are amended to reflect the current practice that a terminal disclaimer filed for the purpose of reviving an application also applies to a patent granted on any continuing application entitled to the benefit of the filing date of the subject application under 35 U.S.C. 120.

Applicants may petition under the provisions of § 1.183 for a waiver of the requirement that a period equivalent to the period of abandonment be disclaimed if it can be shown that an extraordinary situation exists in which justice requires waiver of this requirement.

If petitions under the above-noted sections were not grantable because of insufficient evidence or petitioner's failure to comply with certain requirements, the Office dismissed the petitions. The dismissal indicated any missing items and warned petitioners that any renewed petition seeking reconsideration must be filed promptly. While the promptness requirement was not precisely defined, § 1.181(f) requires the filing of petitions within two months from an action complained of in order to avoid possible dismissal of the petition on the grounds that it was not timely filed. The above-noted sections are being amended to specify a two-month period or such time as may be set in the dismissal as being the appropriate deadline for requesting reconsideration. In those situations where petitioners require more time to gather additional evidence or items needed for reconsideration, an extension of time of up to four months may be obtained under the provisions of § 1.136(a). The filing of a renewed petition within the period specified in the decision or within the extended period permitted under § 1.136 will satisfy the promptness requirement of petitions under the unavoidable standard.

Upon failure to timely file a renewed petition under the unavoidable standard, the Office will require a showing of unavoidable delay for the entire period of abandonment. To be entitled to relief under the unavoidable standard, petitioner must be able to show unavoidable delay from a time prior to abandonment to the filing of a grantable petition. In re Application of Takeo, 17 USPQ2d 1155 (Comm'r Pat. 1990). Upon failure to timely file a renewed petition under the unintentional standard (see §§ 1.137(d), 1.155(e), 1.316(e) and 1.317(e)), petitioner may be subject to a loss of the right to proceed under the unintentional standard if more than one year lapsed between the date of abandonment and the date the renewed petition is filed.

The unintentional provisions specified in § 1.137(b) will apply to applications abandoned under § 1.53(d). Effective Nov. 5, 1990, the Commissioner waived, under § 1.183, the exception specified in § 1.137(b) as to applicability of petitions under the unintentional standards to applications abandoned under § 1.53(d). See "Petitions to Revive Patent Applications Waiver of Provisions of 37 CFR § 1.137(b)", 1121 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 6 (Dec. 4, 1990). Section 1.137(b) is amended to incorporate this new practice into the regulations.

The Office is amending § 1.137(b) to clearly require applicant to state that the delay was unintentional, rather than the abandonment was unintentional. The Office has withdrawn its proposal that would have amended the rules of practice to require a terminal disclaimer if a grantable petition to reinstate an abandoned application was not filed within six months from the date of abandonment. The terminal disclaimer proposal was withdrawn because of the burden that such a requirement would impose on applicants and the Office and because it is unnecessary to achieve its intended purpose. The Office had suggested the terminal disclaimer proposal to ensure that any petition to revive was promptly filed. However, the proposed terminal disclaimer requirement is unnecessary to ensure prompt filing of the petition to revive since the first sentence of § 1.137(b) states that an application may be revived if the delay was unintentional. Accordingly, the specific requirements for the unintentional petition to revive have been amended to correspond to the existing rule provision that revival is available if the delay was unintentional, not just that the abandonment was unintentional. A person seeking revival should not make a statement that the delay was unintentional unless the entire delay, including the delay from the date it was discovered that the application was abandoned up until the petition to revive was actually filed, was unintentional. For example, a statement that the delay was unintentional would not be proper when applicant becomes aware of an abandonment and then intentionally delays filing a petition to revive the application under § 1.137.

The Office adopted a policy wherein, under certain strictly limited conditions, the one-year period for requesting revival of an unintentionally abandoned application could be waived. Accordingly, the prohibition against requests for waiver found in §§ 1.137(b), 1.155(c), 1.316(c) and 1.317(c) has been deleted. See "Petitions Under 37 CFR 1.183 to Waive the One Year Time Period Requirement in 37 CFR 1.137(b), 1.155(c) and 1.316(c)" at 1059 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 4 (Oct. 1, 1985). However, applicants are cautioned that waiver of the one-year deadline under the unintentional standard will continue to be subject to strictly limited conditions.

(3) Issue and term of design patents (§ 1.155)

Section 1.155 is amended to be consistent with the changes to § 1.137. Paragraph (b) of § 1.155 is further modified to correct a typographical error. In the reference to the fee in § 1.17(1), the letter (l) should have appeared instead of the numeral (1).

(4) Application abandoned for failure to pay issue fee (§ 1.316)

Section 1.316 is amended to be consistent with the changes to § 1.137. Paragraph (b) of § 1.316 is further modified to correct a typographical error. In the reference to the fee in § 1.17(1), the letter (l) should have appeared instead of the numeral (1).

(5) Lapsed Patents; delayed payment of balance of issue fee (§ 1.317)

Section 1.317 contains a provision regarding issue fees paid prior to October 1, 1982. Prior to that date, the Office charged an initial base issue fee and, depending on the size of the specification and drawings printed, billed applicants for a balance of issue fee due. Subsequent to Oct. 1, 1982, all applicants were required to pay the same issue fee regardless of the size of the specification and drawings. Reference to the date in § 1.317 is being deleted at this point in time since it is no longer relevant to pending applications. However, practice under this section continues to be relevant when a fee change becomes effective before payment is received.

In order to satisfy the requirement of 35 U.S.C. 151, the Office mails out a Notice of Allowance which specifies the sum of the issue fee due. When the issue fee amount is changed, the sum specified on the Notice of Allowance is at times different from that required at the time payment is actually received in the Office. If applicants submit issue fee payments in the amount specified on the Notice of Allowance after the effective date of a fee increase, then a balance of issue fee is due. The Office will accept payment of the amount specified on the Notice of Allowance and process the application into a patent. In accordance with 35 U.S.C. 151 and 37 CFR 1.317, a notice is sent to applicants requesting payment of the balance of the issue fee due (the difference between the fee due at time of receipt of payment in the Office and the fee specified on the Notice of Allowance) and setting a three-month period for payment. See In re Mills, 12 USPQ2d 1847 (Comm'r Pat. 1989). Failure to pay the balance of the issue fee within the specified three-month period. result in lapse of the patent. Therefore, the reference to Oct. 1, 1982, in § 1.317 is being replaced by language specifying the consequences of failure to pay the issue fee due at the time payment is made.

Section 1.317 is amended to be consistent with the changes in § 1.137. Paragraph (b) of § 1.317 is further modified to correct a typographical error. In the reference to the fee in § 1.17(l), the letter (l) should have appeared instead of the numeral (1).

(6) Delayed payment of a maintenance fee (§ 1.378)

Public Law 102-444 amends subsection 41(c)(1) of title 35, United States Code, to permit the Commissioner to accept late payment of any maintenance fee filed within twenty-four months after the six-month grace period, if the delay in payment is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner to have been unintentional. In order to implement Public Law 102-444, paragraphs (a) and (c) of § 1.378 are amended to permit the filing of a petition to accept late payment of a maintenance fee, where the delay in payment was unintentional.

In addition to the timeliness deadline set forth in the preceding paragraph, a petition filed under the unintentional standard of § 1.378(c) would have to include the required maintenance fee set forth in § 1.20 (e) through (g), the surcharge for an unintentionally expired patent as set forth in § 1.20(i)(2), and a statement that the delay in payment of the maintenance fee was unintentional.

A person seeking reinstatement of an expired patent should not make a statement that the delay in payment of the maintenance fee was unintentional unless the entire delay, including the delay from the date it was discovered that the maintenance fee was not paid timely up until the maintenance fee was actually paid, was unintentional. For example, a statement that the delay in payment of the maintenance fee was unintentional would not be proper when patentee becomes aware of an unintentional failure to timely pay the maintenance fee and then intentionally delays filing a petition for reinstatement of the patent under § 1.378.

Petitions to accept delayed payment of a maintenance fee in an expired patent, prior to enactment of Public Law 102-444, required a showing of unavoidable delay. In the case of petitions filed more than six months after expiration of a patent, former § 1.378(c) further required a showing that the failure to timely pay the maintenance fee was beyond the control of the patentee. The Office had determined that the "beyond the control" standard did not find adequate support in the relevant statute (35 U.S.C. 41(c)) or in the legislative history of Public Law 97-247. See "Acceptance of Delayed Payment of Maintenance Fees in Expired Patents", 1115 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 18 (June 12, 1990). Therefore, former § 1.378(c) has been deleted in its entirety to be replaced by the unintentional delay provisions discussed above. Additionally, § 1.378(b) is amended to provide that the unavoidable delay provisions are available at any time following expiration of a patent for failure to pay a maintenance fee.

Furthermore, the practice of accepting late payment of maintenance fees is modified to be more analogous to the practice of reviving abandoned applications and accepting late payment of issue fees. Additionally, the public interest is best served by prompt reinstatement of a patent in which there was an unavoidable or unintentional delay in the timely payment of the maintenance fee.

The requirements for a petition to accept late payment of a maintenance fee, where the delay was unavoidable, are outlined in paragraph (b) of § 1.378. In addition to the maintenance fee and surcharge previously required, paragraph (b) is amended to require prompt filing of a petition after the patentee is notified, or otherwise becomes aware, of the expiration of the patent.

Response to Comments on the Rules

Four comments were received.

Comment 1: One comment questioned the time limits in proposed § 1.378(c)(5).

Reply: The proposed time limits will not be adopted because Public Law 102-444 sets the time limit for filing a petition to accept the delayed payment of a maintenance fee at twenty-four months after the six-month grace period provided in 35 U.S.C. 41(c).

Comment 2: One comment questioned the proposed terminal disclaimer requirement for petitions to revive an abandoned application under the unintentional standard.

Reply: The proposed terminal disclaimer requirement for petitions to revive an abandoned application under the unintentional standard will not be adopted. First, it has been determined that the proposed terminal disclaimer requirement would have created an unduly complex procedure for both the applicant and the Office. Second, the terminal disclaimer requirement is unnecessary to address a delay in filing a petition for unintentional abandonment since § 1.137(b) already indicates that the application may be revived if the delay was unintentional. If a delay in filing a petition was intentional, the petition would be denied. Third, the requirements for a petition have been amended to add the requirement for a statement that the delay in responding was unintentional so as to be consistent with the requirements of the first sentence of § 1.137(b). Finally, applicants are cautioned against intentionally delaying the filing of a petition to revive an abandoned application because it may preclude any revival from an abandoned status. Applicants have delayed filing a petition under the unintentional standard until after expiration of the one-year period because of a miscalculation of the one-year period. This miscalculation resulted in the applicant being unable to show that the delay was unavoidable. In re Application of S, 8 USPQ2d 1630 (Comm'r Pat. 1988).

Comment 3: One comment questioned whether Public Law 102-444 and therefore 37 CFR 1.378(c) were applicable to patents that had expired prior to Oct. 23, 1992, for failure to timely pay the required maintenance fee.

Reply: Section 1.378 has been established in accordance with the statutory mandate. Public Law 102-444 and 37 CFR 1.378(c) are effective as to any patent that would be covered by the literal language of the sections. Public Law 102-444 and interim rule 37 CFR 1.378(c) were effective Oct. 23, 1992. Since Public Law 102-444 provides up to a twenty-four month period after the six-month grace period provided in 35 U.S.C. 41(c) to seek reinstatement of an expired patent where the delay was unintentional, any patent that expired on or after Oct. 23, 1990, for failure to timely pay a maintenance fee is eligible for relief under 37 CFR 1.378(c). However, it should be noted that a petition to reinstate an unintentionally expired patent, the required maintenance fee, and the unintentional surcharge (37 CFR 1.20(i)(2)) must be filed within twenty-four months after the six-month grace period to be eligible for relief under the new unintentional provision.

Comment 4: One comment protested that the $1,500 surcharge established in § 1.20(i)(2) was too high.

Reply: The $1,500 surcharge established in § 1.20(i)(2) is proper. The amount of $1,500 was determined by considering: (1) the $1,170 petition fee for reinstating an unintentionally abandoned patent application, (2) the relationship imposed by statute between the $1,170 petition fee for reinstating an unintentionally abandoned patent application and the $110 petition fee for reinstating an unavoidably abandoned patent application, and (3) the $620 surcharge for reinstating an unavoidably expired patent. Additionally, the Office noted in its original request for comments on the desirability of permitting acceptance of unintentionally delayed payment of maintenance fees (see 1089 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 55, April 26, 1988) that the surcharge to accept an unintentionally delayed payment of a maintenance fee would be substantially higher than the surcharge to accept an unavoidably delayed payment of a maintenance fee. Not only was there no comment adverse to the suggestion of a higher fee, one comment suggested that the surcharge to accept an unintentionally delayed payment of a maintenance fee be set extremely high so that the Office could be assured that the late payment was, in fact, unintentional. The Office, after taking all of the above into consideration, determined that $1,500 was an appropriate amount to charge as the surcharge to accept an unintentionally delayed payment of a maintenance fee.

OTHER CONSIDERATIONS

The rule change is in conformity with the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601 et seq., Executive Orders 12291 and 12612, and the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.

The General Counsel of the Department of Commerce has certified to the Chief Counsel for Advocacy, Small Business Administration, that these rule changes will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities (Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 605(b)). The principal impact of these changes is to incorporate Public Law 102-444 into the regulations and will give relief to many small entities that do not now have a mechanism to reinstate their expired patent.

The Office has determined that this rule change is not a major rule under Executive Order 12291. The annual effect on the economy will be less than $100 million. There will be no major increase in costs or prices for consumers; individuals; industries; Federal, state or local government agencies; or geographic regions. There will be no significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or on the ability of United States-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

The Office has also determined that this notice has no Federalism implications affecting the relationship between the National Government and the States as outlined in Executive Order 12612.

These rule changes contain a collection of information requirements subject to the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq., which have previously been approved by the Office of Management and Budget under Control Nos. 0651-0016 and 0651-0031. The public reporting burden for these collections of information for abandoned applications and delayed maintenance fees is estimated to average 1.0 hour each including the time for reviewing instructions, searching existing data sources, gathering and maintaining the data needed, and completing and reviewing the collections of information. Send comments regarding these burden estimates, or any other aspect of these collections of information, including suggestions for reducing the burden, to Jeffrey V. Nase, Office of the Assistant Commissioner for Patents, Box DAC, Washington, D.C. 20231; and to the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs, Office of Management and Budget, Washington, D.C. 20503 (ATTN: Paperwork Reduction Act Project 0651-0011 and 0651-0016).

List of Subjects 37 CFR Part 1

Administrative practice and procedure, Freedom of information, Inventions and patents, Reporting and record keeping requirements.

For the reasons set out in the preamble, and pursuant to the authority contained in 35 U.S.C. 6, Part 1 of title 37 of the Code of Federal Regulations is amended as set forth below.

PART 1 - RULES OF PRACTICE IN PATENT CASES

1. The authority citation for 37 CFR Part 1 would continue to read as follows:

Authority: 35 U.S.C. 6, unless otherwise noted.

2. Section 1.20 is amended by revising paragraph (i) to read as follows:

§ 1.20 Post issuance fees.

• • • • •

(i) Surcharge for accepting a maintenance fee after expiration of a patent for non-timely payment of a maintenance fee where the delay in payment is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner to have been
(1) unavoidable $620.00
(2) unintentional $1,500.00

• • • • •

3. Section 1.137 is revised to read as follows:

(a) § 1.137 Revival of abandoned application.

(a) An application abandoned for failure to prosecute may be revived as a pending application if it is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner that the delay was unavoidable. A petition to revive an abandoned application must be promptly filed after the applicant is notified of, or otherwise becomes aware of, the abandonment, and must be accompanied by:
(1) a proposed response to continue prosecution of that application, or the filing of a continuing application, unless either has been previously filed;
(2) the petition fee as set forth in § 1.17(1); and
(3) a showing that the delay was unavoidable. The showing must be a verified showing if made by a person not registered to practice before the Patent and Trademark Office.
(b) An application unintentionally abandoned for failure to prosecute may be revived as a pending application if the delay was unintentional. A petition to revive an unintentionally abandoned application must be:
(1) accompanied by a proposed response to continue prosecution of that application, or the filing of a continuing application, unless either has been previously filed;
(2) accompanied by the petition fee as set forth in § 1.17(m);

The terminal disclaimer must also apply to any patent granted on any continuing application entitled under 35 U.S.C. 120 to the benefit of the filing date of the application for which revival is sought.
(d) Any request for reconsideration or review of a decision refusing to revive an application upon petition filed pursuant to paragraphs (a) or (b) of this section, to be considered timely, must be filed within two months of the decision refusing to revive or within such time as set in the decision.

(1) the issue fee, unless it has been previously submitted;
(2) the fee for delayed payment (§ 1.17(1)); and
(3) a showing that the delay was unavoidable. The showing must be a verified showing if made by a person not registered to practice before the Patent and Trademark Office.

(b) The Commissioner may accept the payment of the remaining balance of the issue fee later than three months after the mailing of the notice thereof as though no lapse had ever occurred if upon petition the delay in payment is shown to have been unavoidable. The petition to accept the delayed payment must be promptly filed after the applicant is notified of, or otherwise becomes aware of, the lapse, and must be accompanied by:
(1) the remaining balance of the issue fee, unless it has been previously submitted;

(2) accompanied by the fee for unintentionally delayed payment (§ 1.17(m));
(3) accompanied by a statement that the delay was unintentional. The statement must be a verified statement if made by a person not registered to practice before the Patent and Trademark Office. The Commissioner may require additional information where there is a question whether the delay in payment was unintentional; and
(4) filed either:
(i) within one year of the date on which the patent lapsed; or
(ii) within three months of the date of the first decision on a petition under paragraph (b) of this section which was filed within one year of the date on which the patent lapsed.
(d) Any petition pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section not filed within six months of the date of lapse of the patent, must be accompanied by a terminal disclaimer with fee under § 1.321 dedicating to the public a terminal part of the term of the patent equivalent to the period of lapse of the patent.
(e) Any request for reconsideration or review of a decision refusing to accept the delayed payment upon petition filed pursuant to paragraphs (b) or (c) of this section, to be considered timely, must be filed within two months of the decision refusing to accept the delayed payment or within such time as set in the decision.
(f) The time periods set forth in this section cannot be extended, except that the three-month period set forth in paragraph (c)(4)(ii) and the time period set forth in paragraph (e) of this section may be extended under the provisions of § 1.136.

7. Section 1.378, paragraphs (a), (b), (c) and (e) are revised to read as follows:

§ 1.378 Acceptance of delayed payment of maintenance fee in expired patent to reinstate patent.

(a) The Commissioner may accept the payment of any maintenance fee due on a patent after expiration of the patent if, upon petition, the delay in payment of the maintenance fee is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner to have been unavoidable (paragraph (b) of this section) or unintentional (paragraph (c) of this section) and if the surcharge required by § 1.20(i) is paid as a condition of accepting payment of the maintenance fee. If the Commissioner accepts payment of the maintenance fee upon petition, the patent shall be considered as not having expired, but will be subject to the conditions set forth in 35 U.S.C. 41(c)(2).
(b) Any petition to accept an unavoidably delayed payment of a maintenance fee filed under paragraph (a) of this section must include:
(1) the required maintenance fee set forth in § 1.20(e) through (g)
(2) the surcharge set forth in § 1.20(i)(1); and
(3) a showing that the delay was unavoidable since reasonable care was taken to ensure that the maintenance fee would be paid timely and that the petition was filed promptly after the patentee was notified of, or otherwise became aware of, the expiration of the patent. The showing must enumerate the steps taken to ensure timely payment of the maintenance fee, the date and the manner in which patentee became aware of theexpiration of the patent, and the steps taken to file the petition promptly.
(c) Any petition to accept an unintentionally delayed payment of a maintenance fee filed under paragraph (a) of this section must be filed within twenty-four months after the six-month grace period provided in § 1.362(e) and must include:
(1) the required maintenance fee set forth in § 1.20 (e) through (g);
(2) the surcharge set forth in § 1.20(i)(2); and
(3) a statement that the delay in payment of the maintenance fee was unintentional.

• • • • •

(e) Reconsideration of a decision refusing to accept a maintenance fee upon petition filed pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section may be obtained by filing a petition for reconsideration within two months of, or such other time as set in, the decision refusing to accept the delayed payment of the maintenance fee. Any such petition for reconsideration must be accompanied by the petition fee set forth in § 1.17(h). After decision on the petition for reconsideration, no further reconsideration or review of the matter will be undertaken by the Commissioner. If the delayed payment of the maintenance fee is not accepted, the maintenance fee and the surcharge set forth in § 1.20(i) will be refunded following the decision on the petition for reconsideration, or after the expiration of the time for filing such a petition for reconsideration, if none is filed. Any petition fee under this section will not be refunded unless the refusal to accept and record the maintenance fee is determined to result from an error by the Patent and Trademark Office.

RIN 0651-AA57

Changes in Procedures for Reinstatement of Patents

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce
Action: Interim Rule
Summary: The Patent and Trademark Office (Office) is amending the rules of practice in patent cases to provide for reinstatement of a patent where the delay in timely payment of a maintenance fee was unintentional. The Office is also establishing the amount for the surcharge for accepting a maintenance fee after expiration of a patent for non-timely payment of a maintenance fee where the delay in payment is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner to have been unintentional.
Dates: Interim rule effective Oct. 23, 1992. These rules will be applicable to all petitions to reinstate an expired patent filed with the Office on or after the effective date. The surcharge cited in sections 1.20(i)(2) and 1.378(c)(2) of title 37 of the Code of Federal Regulations will be effective thirty days from publication of this rulemaking in the Federal Register or the Official Gazette of the Patent and Trademark Office, whichever is later. Written comments on this rulemaking must be received on or before Jan. 8, 1993 to ensure consideration. An oral hearing will not be conducted.
Addresses: Address written comments on this interim rulemaking to Office of the Assistant Commissioner for Patents, Box DAC, Washington, D.C. 20231, marked to the attention of Jeffrey V. Nase. Correspondence may be sent by FAX to the attention of Jeffrey V. Nase at (703) 305-8825.
For Further Information Contact: Jeffrey V. Nase by telephone at (703) 305-9282 or by mail marked to his attention and addressed to Office of the Assistant Commissioner for Patents, Box DAC, Washington, D.C. 20231.
Supplementary Information: In a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking published in the Federal Register (57 FR 41899) on Sept. 14, 1992, and in the Patent and Trademark Office Official Gazette (1143 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 8) on Oct. 6, 1992, the Office proposed to amend the current regulations in the event that proposed statutory changes were enacted to allow for the reinstatement of a patent where the delay in timely payment of a maintenance fee was unintentional.

Section 41 of title 35, United States Code, establishes fees that the Commissioner shall charge for patent-related matters. A bill to amend title 35 with respect to the late payment of maintenance fees was introduced on June 4, 1992, in the House of Representatives as H.R. 5328 (hereafter, Bill). The Bill, as introduced, proposed to: (1) amend 35 U.S.C. § 41(c)(1) to permit reinstatement of a patent which expired unintentionally for failure to timely pay the maintenance fee, provided that the payment is made within eighteen months after the six-month grace period specified in 35 U.S.C. § 41(b); and (2) amend 35 U.S.C. § 41(a)(7) to require a petition fee for an unintentionally delayed payment for maintaining a patent in force. The Bill, with amendments, was enacted as Public Law No. 102-444 (hereafter, Act).

The Act amends 35 U.S.C. § 41(c)(1) to permit reinstatement of a patent which expired unintentionally for failure to timely pay the maintenance fee, provided that the payment is made within twenty-four months after the six-month grace period specified in 35 U.S.C. § 41(b).

Since the Act is effective on enactment and since it differs significantly from the Bill, as introduced, it is necessary to promulgate this interim rulemaking. This interim rulemaking implements the procedures the Office will follow to accept the unintentionally delayed payment of a maintenance fee. All aspects of this rulemaking either confer a benefit or are clearly and directly related to the benefit conferred. Therefore, this rulemaking is exempt from the Administrative Procedures Act's rulemaking requirements under the proprietary matters exception, 5 U.S.C. § 553(a)(2). Furthermore, any delay in the implementation of this interim rulemaking would be contrary to the public interest in granting relief by ensuring that patents unintentionally expired for failure to pay the required maintenance fee are promptly reinstated.

Under the Act, the Commissioner has authority to set a surcharge for accepting the unintentionally delayed payment of a maintenance fee. The Commissioner has determined that an interim surcharge of $1,500 is appropriate. If a surcharge in a lower amount is finally adopted (after review of public comments in response to this interim rulemaking), patentees will be refunded any excess payment. The $1,500 interim surcharge was determined to be the appropriate amount when compared to the existing $620 surcharge for accepting the unavoidably delayed payment of a maintenance fee. The higher interim surcharge is appropriate since a petition to accept the unintentionally delayed payment of a maintenance fee will require only a statement that the delay in payment of the maintenance fee was unintentional, not a showing of facts sufficient to establish unavoidable delay. Furthermore, the higher amount for relief based on the unintentional delay relative to those based on unavoidable delay is similar to the statutory difference in fees for petitioning to revive an abandoned application.

The $1,500 interim surcharge will not take effect until the date thirty days from publication of this interim rulemaking in the Federal Register or the Official Gazette of the Patent and Trademark Office, whichever is later. Section 1.378(c)(2) is waived until the $1,500 surcharge becomes effective. However, petitions to accept the delayed payment of a maintenance fee should not be delayed for that thirty-day period. The surcharge for the acceptance of a maintenance fee resulting from a petition filed under this waiver will be due when the petition is granted.

One comment on the proposed § 1.378 has been received.

Comment: The comment questioned the time limits proposed for § 1.378(c)(5).
Reply: The proposed time limits will not be adopted because the Act sets the time limit for filing a petition to accept the delayed payment of a maintenance fee.

Any final rule will treat both the comments made to the proposed rules and to these interim rules.

DISCUSSION OF SPECIFIC SECTIONS TO BE CHANGED OR ADDED:

(1) Post issuance fees. (§ 1.20)

Section 1.20(i) is amended to add a $1,500 surcharge fee for accepting the unintentionally delayed payment of a maintenance fee. This amendment will not become effective until the date thirty days after Publication of this interim rulemaking in the Federal Register or in the Official Gazette of the Patent and Trademark Office, whichever is later.

(2) Delayed payment of a maintenance fee (§ 1.378)

The Act amends subsection 41(c)(1) of title 35, United States Code, to permit the Commissioner to accept late payment of any maintenance fee filed within twenty-four months after the six-month grace period, if the delay in payment is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner to have been unintentional. In order to implement the Act, paragraphs (a) and (c) of § 1.378 are amended to permit the filing of a petition to accept late payment of a maintenance fee, where the delay in payment was unintentional.

In addition to the timeliness deadlines set forth in the preceding paragraph, a petition filed under the unintentional standard of § 1.378(c) would have to include the required maintenance fee set forth in § 1.20(e) through (g), the surcharge for an unintentionally expired patent as set forth in § 1.20(i)(2), and a statement that the delay in payment of the maintenance fee was unintentional. The requirement of § 1.378(c)(2) that the petition must include the surcharge will be waived until the date thirty days after publication of this interim rulemaking in the Federal Register or in the Official Gazette of the Patent and Trademark Office, whichever is later. The surcharge for the acceptance of a maintenance fee resulting from a petition filed under this waiver will be due when the petition is granted.

A statement that the delay in payment of the maintenance fee was unintentional would not be appropriate unless the entire delay, up until the maintenance fee was actually paid, was unintentional. For example, a statement that the delay in payment of the maintenance fee was unintentional would not be proper when patentee becomes aware of an unintentional failure to timely pay the maintenance fee and then intentionally delays filing a petition for reinstatement of the patent under § 1.378.

Petitions to accept delayed payment of a maintenance fee in an expired patent, prior to enactment of the Act, required a showing of unavoidable delay. In the case of petitions filed more than six months after expiration of a patent, current § 1.378(c) further required a showing that the failure to timely pay the maintenance fee was beyond the control of the patentee. The Office has determined that the "beyond the control" standard does not find adequate support in the relevant statute (35 U.S.C. 41(c)) or in the legislative history of Public Law 97-247. See "acceptance of Delayed Payment of Maintenance Fees in Expired Patents", 1115 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 18 (June 12, 1990). Therefore, current § 1.378(c) is being deleted in its entirety to be replaced by the unintentional delay provisions discussed above. Additionally, § 1.378(b) is amended to provide that the unavoidable delay provisions are available at any time following expiration of a patent for failure to pay a maintenance fee.

OTHER CONSIDERATIONS

The rule changes is in conformity with the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601 et. seq.), Executive Orders 12291 and 12612 and the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.

The General Counsel of the Department of Commerce has certified to the Chief Counsel for Advocacy, Small Business Administration, that these rule changes will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities (regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 605(b)). The principal impact of these changes is to incorporate the Act into the regulations and will give relief to many small entities that do not now have a mechanism to reinstate their expired patent.

The Office has determined that this rule change is not a major rule under Executive Order 12291. The annual effect on the economy will be less than $100 million. There will be no major increase in costs or prices for consumers; individuals; industries; Federal, state or local government agencies; or geographic regions. There will be no significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or on the ability of United States-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

The Office has also determined that this notice has no Federalism implications affecting the relationship between the National Government and the States as outlined in Executive Order 12612.

These rule changes contain a collection of information requirement subject to the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq., which has previously been approved by the Office of Management and Budget under Control Nos. 0651-011 and 0651-0016.

(64) Withdrawing the Holding of Abandonment When Office Actions Are Not Received

The purpose of this notice is to announce a practice that will minimize costs and burdens to the practitioner and the Office when an application has become abandoned due to a failure to receive an Office action.

A petition to withdraw the holding of abandonment in accordance with Delgar Inc. v. Schuyler, 172 USPQ 513 (D.D.C.

1971) is burdensome to the practitioner since the practitioner must overcome a strong presumption that an Office action duly addressed and indicated as mailed was timely delivered to the addressee. To overcome this presumption, a practitioner is currently required to submit a persuasive showing that would permit the Office to conclude that the Office action was not received. Accordingly, evidence which is typically required includes: copies of records which would disclose the receipt of other correspondence mailed from the Patent and Trademark Office on or about the mail date of the non-received Office action, but fail to disclose receipt of the Office action mailed that date; copies of records on which the Office action would have been entered had it been received (e.g., a copy of the outside of the file jacket maintained by the practitioner); and verified statements from persons who would have handled the Office action (e.g., mail clerks, docket clerks, secretary, etc.).

In order to minimize costs and burdens to the practitioner and the Office when an application has become abandoned due to a failure to receive an Office action, the Office is modifying the showing required to make a petition to withdraw the holding of abandonment grantable. The showing required to establish the failure to receive an Office actio must consist of a statement from the practitioner stating that the Office action was not received by the practitioner and attesting to the fact that a search of the file jacket and docket records indicates that the Office action was not received. A copy of the docket record where the non-received Office action would have been entered had it been received and docketed must be attached to and referenced in practitioner's statement.

The showing outlined above may not be sufficient if there are circumstances that point to a conclusion that the Office action may have been lost after receipt rather than a conclusion that the Office action was lost in the mail, e.g., if the practitioner has a history of not receiving Office actions. Two additional procedures are available for reviving an application that has become abandoned due a failure to respond to an Office Action: (1) a petition based on unintentional abandonment or delay; and (2) a petition based on unavoidable delay. See Manual of Patent Examining Procedure § 711.03(c).

(65) Viewing of Video Tapes During Interviews

The Patent and Trademark Office has video tape equipment available in the facilities of the Patent Academy for viewing video tapes from applicants during interviews with patent examiners.

The video tape equipment may use VHS and UHS (3/4 inch tape) cassettes.

Attorneys or applicants wishing to show a video tape during an examiner interview must be able to demonstrate that the content of the video tape has a bearing on an outstanding issue in the application and its viewing will advance the prosecution of the application. Prior approval of viewing of a video tape during an interview must be granted by the SPE. Also, use of the room and equipment must be granted by the Training Manager to avoid any conflict with the Patent Academy.

Requests to use video tape viewing equipment for an interview should be made at least one week in advance to allow the Patent Academy staff sufficient time to ensure the availability and proper scheduling of both a room and equipment.

Interviews using Office video tape equipment will be held only in the Academy facilities located in One Crystal Park, Rm. 502. Attorneys or applicants should not contact the Patent Academy directly regarding availability and scheduling of video equipment. All scheduling of rooms and equipment should be done through and by the examiner conducting the interview.

(66) Procedures for Restarting Response Periods

The purpose of this notice is to announce revised procedures for restarting response periods set in patent related matters. Occasionally, mail from the Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) is received late at the correspondence address or the mail is delayed in leaving the PTO.

The following revised procedures are effective immediately and will be followed in processing a petition to reset a period for response due to late receipt of a PTO action or due to a postmark date which is later than the mail date printed on a PTO action. The authority to decide such petitions is delegated to the Group Director, where the PTO action involved in the petition was mailed by a patent examining group.

Petition to reset a period for response due to late receipt of a PTO action

The PTO will grant a petition to restart the previously set period for response to a PTO action to run from the date of receipt of the PTO action at the correspondence address when the following criteria are met: (1) the petition is filed within two weeks of the date of receipt of the PTO action at the correspondence address; (2) a substantial portion of the set response period had elapsed on the date of receipt (e.g., at least one month of a two or three month response period had elapsed); and (3) the petition includes (a) evidence showing the date of receipt of the PTO action at the correspondence address (e.g., a copy of the PTO action having the date of receipt of the PTO action at the correspondence address stamped thereon, a copy of the envelope (which contained the PTO action) having the date of receipt of the PTO action at the correspondence address stamped thereon, etc.), and (b) a statement (verified if made by other than a registered practitioner) setting forth the date of receipt of the PTO action at the correspondence address and explaining how the evidence being presented establishes the date of receipt of the PTO action at the correspondence address.

There is no statutory requirement that a shortened statutory period of longer than thirty days to respond to a PTO action be reset due to delay in the mail or in the PTO. However, when a substantial portion of the set response period had elapsed on the date of receipt at the correspondence address (e.g., at least one month of a two or three month response period had elapsed), the procedures set forth above for late receipt of a PTO action are available. Where a PTO action was received with less than two months remaining in a shortened statutory period of three months, the period may be restarted from the date of receipt. Where the period remaining is between two and three months, the period will be reset only in extraordinary situations—e.g., complex PTO action suggesting submission of comparative data.

Petitions to reset a period for response due to a postmark date later than the mail date printed on a PTO action

The PTO will grant a petiton to restart the previously set period for response to a PTO action to run from the postmark date shown on the PTO mailing envelope which contained the PTO action when the following criteria are met: (1) the petition is filed within two weeks of the date of receipt of the PTO action at the correspondence address; (2) the response period was for payment of the issue fee[1]; or the response period set was one month or thirty days[2]; and (3) the petition includes (a) evidence showing the date of receipt of the PTO action at the correspondence address (e.g., a copy of the PTO action having the date of receipt of the PTO action at the correspondence address stamped thereon, etc.), (b) a copy of the envelope which contained the PTO action showing the postmark date, and (c) a statement (verified if made by other than a registered practitioner) setting forth the date of receipt of the PTO action at the correspondence address and stating that the PTO action was received in the post-marked envelope.

The provision of 37 CFR 1.8 and 1.10 apply to the filing of the above-noted petitions with regard to the requirement that the petition be filed within two weeks of the date of receipt of the PTO action.

The showings outlined above may not be sufficient if there are circumstances that point to a conclusion that the PTO action may have been delayed after receipt rather than a conclusion that the PTO action was delayed in the mail or in the PTO.

Duty of Disclosure

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce
Action: Notice of final rulemaking.
Summary: The Patent and Trademark Office (Office) is amending the rules of practice in patent cases to (1) clarify the duty of disclosure for information required to be submitted to the Office; (2) provide flexible time limits for submitting information disclosure statements including the requirement for a fee in certain cases; (3) eliminate consideration of duty of disclosure issues by the Office except in disciplinary and interference proceedings, and under other limited circumstances; and (4) eliminate the striking of patent applications which are improperly executed. The Office further is amending the Patent and Trademark Office Code of Professional Responsibility to define as misconduct a failure to comply with the rules on duty of disclosure. The rules as adopted strike a balance between the need of the Office to obtain and consider all known relevant information pertaining to patentability before a patent is granted and the desire to avoid or minimize unnecessary complications in the enforcement of patents.
Effective Date: March 16, 1992. These rules will be applicable to all applications and reexamination proceedings pending or filed after the effective date.
For Further Information Contact: By telephone Charles E. Van Horn (703-305-9054) or J. Michael Thesz (703-305-9384) or by mail addressed to Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231, and marked to the attention of Charles E. Van Horn (Crystal Park 2 - Room 919).
Supplementary Information: A notice of proposed rulemaking on duty of disclosure and practitioner misconduct published in the Federal Register at 54 FR 11334 (March 17, 1989), and in the Patent and Trademark Office Official Gazette at 1101 Off. Gaz. Pat. Off. 12 (April 4, 1989), was withdrawn. On August 6, 1991, the Office published in the Federal Register a notice of proposed rulemaking relating to duty of disclosure. 56 FR 37321 The notice was also published in the Official Gazette. 1129 Off. Gaz. Pat. Off. 52 (August 27, 1991). Sixty written comments were received in response to the notice of proposed rulemaking. A public hearing was held on October 8, 1991. Eleven individuals offered oral comments at the hearing. The sixty written comments and a copy of the transcript of the hearing are available for public inspection in the Office of the Assistant Commissioner for Patents, Room 919, Crystal Park II, 2121 Crystal Drive, Arlington, VA.

Familiarity with the notice of proposed rulemaking is assumed. Changes in the text of the rules published for comment in the notice of proposed rulemaking are discussed. Comments received in writing and at the public hearing in response to the notice of proposed rulemaking are discussed.

The rules as adopted shall take effect as to all applications and reexamination proceedings either pending or filed on or after the effective date of these rules. Thus, any information disclosure statement that is filed on or after that date must comply with the provisions of §§ 1.97 and 1.98 to be entitled to consideration.

Changes in Text: The final rules contain several changes to the text of the rules as proposed for comment. Those changes are discussed below.

Section 1.17(i)(1) has been changed from the proposed text to reflect the recent increase in the amount of the fee for filing a petition from $120.00 to $130.00.

Section 1.56(a) has been clarified to indicate that the duty of an individual to disclose information is based on the knowledge of that individual that the information is material to patentability. A sentence has been added to § 1.56(a) to express the principle that the Office does not condone the granting of a patent on an application in connection with which fraud on the Office was practiced or attempted or the duty of disclosure was violated through bad faith or intentional misconduct. In addition, § 1.56(a) as proposed has been changed to indicate that if all information material to patentability of any claim issued in a patent is cited by the Office or submitted to the Office in the manner prescribed by §§ 1.97(b)-(d) and 1.98, the Office will consider as satisfied the duty to disclose to the Office all information known to be material to patentability, as contrasted to the broader duty of candor and good faith. This rule does not attempt to define the spectrum of conduct that would lack the candor and good faith in dealing with the Office which is expected of individuals who are associated with the filing or prosecution of a patent application.

In § 1.56(b), the phrase "or being made of record" has been inserted to make it clear that information is not material to patentability within the meaning of § 1.56 if it is cumulative to either information already of record in the application or contemporaneously being made of record by applicant. For example, there would be no benefit to the Office for applicant to submit to the Office 10 different documents having the same teaching simply because the information was not cumulative to the information already of record.

The term "creates" has been replaced by the term "establishes" in § 1.56(b)(1). In addition, the definition of a prima facie case of unpatentability, as set out in the preamble of the notice of proposed rulemaking, has been incorporated into the rule itself. A prima facie case of unpatentability of a claim is established when the information compels a conclusion that the claim is unpatentable

(1) under the preponderance of evidence, burden-of-proof standard,
(2) giving each term in the claim its broadest reasonable construction consistent with the specification, and
(3) before any consideration is given to evidence which may be submitted in an attempt to establish a contrary conclusion of patentability.

This prima facie standard conforms to the standard used by an examiner to determine whether a claim is prima facie unpatentable.

Section 1.56(b)(2) has been modified from the text of the proposed rule. The focus of this paragraph has been changed so that it now relates to information which either refutes, or is inconsistent with, a position that applicant takes in either

(1) opposing an argument of unpatentability relied on by the Office, or
(2) asserting an argument of patentability.

The change from the proposed rule makes clear that information is material when it either refutes, or is inconsistent with, a position taken by applicant before the Office.

Section 1.97(e) has been changed from the proposed text to make it clear that a certification could contain either of two statements. One statement is that each item of information in an information disclosure statement was cited in a search report from a patent office outside the U.S. not more than three months prior to the filing date of the statement. Under this certification, it would not matter whether any individual with a duty actually knew about any of the information cited before receiving the search report. In the alternative, the certification could state that no item of information contained in the information disclosure statement was cited in a communication from a foreign patent office in a counterpart foreign application or, to the knowledge of the person signing the certification after making reasonable inquiry, was known to any individual having a duty to disclose more than three months prior to the filing of the statement.

[1] 35 USC 151 permits payment of the issue fee within three months of the date that the Notice of Allowance is mailed to the applicant.

[2] 35 USC 133 does not permit a response period to be less than thirty days from the date the PTO action is given or mailed to the applicant.

The changes to the text of § 1.97(e) as proposed place the appropriate priority on getting relevant information to the Office promptly, with minimum burden to applicant. The text of the proposal has also been changed by adding the phrase "after making reasonable inquiry" to make it clear that the individual making the certification has a duty to make reasonable inquiry regarding the facts that are being certified. For example, if an inventor gave a publication to the practitioner prosecuting an application with the intent that it be cited to the Office, the practitioner should inquire as to when that inventor became aware of the publication before submitting a certification under § 1.97(e)(ii) to the Office.

A new paragraph (h) has been added to the text of proposed § 1.97. The purpose of new paragraph (h) is to ensure that no one could construe the mere filing of an information disclosure statement as an admission that the information cited in the statement is, or is considered to be, material to patentability as defined in § 1.56(b). It is in the best interest of the Office and the public to permit and encourage individuals to cite information to the Office without fear of making an admission against interest.

In § 1.98(a)(2)(iii), the wording has been changed to make it clear that the requirement to submit a copy of each item of information listed in an information disclosure statement does not apply to the citation of a U.S. patent application.

The requirement in proposed § 1.98(a)(3) for a concise explanation of the relevance of each item of information has been substantially changed by limiting the requirement in two significant ways. First, as adopted, the requirement is limited to information that is not in the English language. Second, the explanation required is limited to the relevance as understood by the individual designated in § 1.56(c) most knowledgeable about the content of the information at the time the information is submitted to the Office. Where the information listed is not in the English language, but was cited in a search report by a foreign patent office, the requirement for a concise explanation of relevance is satisfied by submitting an English language version of the search report.

In § 1.98(d), the proposed text has been changed by adding the phrase "cited by or" to make it clear that legible copies of information listed in an information disclosure statement need not be submitted in a continuing application provided the information was either cited by or submitted to the Office in a prior application. A distinction between information cited by the Office or supplied by applicant to the Office serves no useful purpose in this situation.

The text of proposed § 1.555 has been modified to limit the definition of information material to patentability in a reexamination proceeding to the types of information that an examiner could use in a reexamination proceeding to determine whether a claim was patentable, and to adopt other changes that parallel changes made in § 1.56. Proposed § 1.555(a) has been divided into two paragraphs. Paragraph (a), as adopted, substantially parallels the text of § 1.56(a) as adopted. It indicates that the duty to disclose information to the Office in a reexamination proceeding is a part of the duty of candor and good faith that is owed to the Office by individuals transacting business with the Office. It further states one way that an individual may discharge the duty to disclose information material to patentability in a reexamination proceeding - i.e., by filing an information disclosure statement with the items listed in § 1.98(a) as applied to individuals associated with the patent owner in a reexamination proceeding. Finally, the text of the rule has been changed to add a sentence that expresses the principle that a patent should not be granted on an application in connection with which fraud was practiced or attempted on the Office or there was any violation of the duty of disclosure through bad faith or intentional misconduct.

New paragraph (b) of § 1.555 has been adopted to define information material to patentability in a reexamination proceeding. Much like the definition in § 1.56(b), information is not material when it is cumulative to information of record or being made of record in the reexamination proceeding. Information is considered material when it satisfies either or both of the definitions in § 1.555(b). Under § 1.555(b)(1), information is material when it is a patent or printed publication that establishes, by itself or in combination with other patents or printed publications, a prima facie case of unpatentability of a claim. This definition is limited to patents or printed publications because a reexamination proceeding must be based on patents or printed publications. 35 U.S.C. 302.

The definition of a prima facie case of unpatentability of a claim pending in a reexamination proceeding has been provided in the rule. A prima facie case of unpatentability is established when the information compels a conclusion that a claim is unpatentable under the same principles that are applicable during ex parte examination of a patent application; namely

(1) under the preponderance of evidence, burden-of-proof standard,
(2) giving each term in the claim its broadest reasonable construction consistent with the specification, and
(3) before any consideration is given to evidence which may be submitted in an attempt to establish a contrary conclusion of patentability.

Finally, the definition of information material to patentability in § 1.555(b)(2) has been added to parallel the provision in § 1.56(b)(2).

After reviewing the Office policy on whether to consider duty of disclosure and other inequitable conduct issues in interference proceedings under 35 U.S.C. 135(a), including comments from the public directed to the statement in the notice of proposed rulemaking that the Office will not consider, evaluate, or decide fraud or other inequitable conduct issues during an interference proceeding, a new Office policy has been adopted. Effective October 24, 1991, fraud and inequitable conduct issues will be considered when properly raised inter partes in patent interference cases. 1132 Off. Gaz. Pat. Off. 33 (November 19, 1991). In addition, the Chairman of the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences has issued a notice that provides guidance on how an issue of fraud or other inequitable conduct can be raised in an interference proceeding. 1133 Off. Gaz. Pat. Off. 21 (December 10, 1991).

Response to and Analysis of Comments: Sixty (60 written comments were received in response to the notice of proposed rulemaking. These comments, along with those made at the public hearing, have been analyzed. Some suggestions made in the comments have been adopted and others have been rejected. Responses to the comments follow.

Comment 1. Nine comments indicated that the Office should not amend § 1.56 since it is presently in conformance to the materiality standard being applied by the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit. One comment questioned what practical value of the proposed rule would justify the burden of the change.

Reply: The amendment to § 1.56 was proposed to address criticism concerning a perceived lack of certainty in the materiality standard. The rule as promulgated will provide greater clarity and hopefully minimize the burden of litigation on the question of inequitable conduct before the Office, while providing the Office with the information necessary for effective and efficient examination of patent applications.

Comment 2. One comment stated that the present rules should be maintained and strengthened since the public interest is hurt more by an unjustly issued patent than by an unjustly denied patent. Another comment disagreed and argued that an unjustly denied patent can do great harm to society.

Reply: The Office strives to issue valid patents. The Office has both an obligation not to unjustly issue patents and an obligation not to unjustly deny patents. Innovation and technological advancement are best served when an inventor is issued a patent with the scope of protection that is deserved. The rules as adopted serve to remind individuals associated with the preparation and prosecution of patent applications of their duty of candor and good faith in their dealings with the Office, and will aid the Office in receiving, in a timely manner, the information it needs to carry out effective and efficient examination of patent applications.

Comment 3. Two comments stated that the rule should not permit applicants to draft claims and a specification to avoid a prima facie case of obviousness over a reference and then to be able to withhold the reference from the examiner.

Reply: The comments reflect a correct reading of the rule in that information is not material unless it comes within the definition of § 1.56(b)(1) or (2). If information is not material, there is no duty to disclose the information to the Office. The Office believes that most applicants will wish to submit the information, however, even though they may not be required to do so, to strengthen the patent and avoid the risks of an incorrect judgment on their part on materiality or that it may be held that there was an intent to deceive the Office.

Comment 4. One comment stated that promulgation of the proposed rule would result in a significant decrease in the quantity of art cited to the Office because there will be no duty to cite art relevant to a pending claim.

Reply: The Office does not anticipate any significant change in the quantity of information cited to the Office after promulgation of amended § 1.56. Presumably, applicants will continue to submit information for consideration by the Office in applications rather than making and relying on their own determinations of materiality. An incentive remains to submit the information to the Office because it will result in a strengthened patent and will avoid later questions of materiality and intent to deceive. In addition, the new rules will actually facilitate the filing of information since the burden of submitting information to the Office has been reduced by eliminating, in most cases, the requirement for a concise statement of the relevance of each item of information listed in an information disclosure statement.

Comment 5. Several comments stated that an objective "but for" standard would be preferable to the proposed rule. The objective "but for" standard would presumably consider information as a court does in an infringement proceeding with a clear and convincing, burden-of-proof standard, giving the terms in each claim a narrow construction where necessary to uphold validity.

Reply: The Office believes that amended § 1.56 will provide a reasonable balance between the needs of applicants and of the Office. The suggested "but for" standard would not cause the Office to obtain the information it needs to evaluate patentability so that its decisions may be presumed correct by the courts. If the Office does not have needed information, meaningful examination of patent applications will take place for the first time in an infringement case before a district court. Courts will become increasingly less confident of the Office's product if they get the impression that practitioners and inventors can routinely withhold information from the Office, or that practitioners and inventors can make up their own minds about what is patentable. The Office should decide, in the first instance, what is patentable and any decision should be made with the best information available, including that known by the applicant. The Office notes that the House of Delegates of the American Bar Association twice, once in 1990 and again in 1991, refused to adopt a resolution favoring adoption of the "but for" standard.

Comment 6. One comment argued that proposed § 1.56 does not relate to "the conduct of proceedings in the Patent and Trademark Office" (35 U.S.C. 6(a)) since the Office does not intend to reject applications as indicated by the cancellation of paragraphs (c) through (i) of current § 1.56.

Reply: The amendment to § 1.56 comes within the authority of the Commissioner for establishing regulations. Norton v. Curtiss, 433 F.2d 779, 167 USPQ 532 (CCPA 1970). The Office has reserved its inherent authority to reject an application under appropriate circumstances where fraud or other inequitable conduct has occurred. Also, the Office will consider fraud and inequitable conduct when properly raised in interference proceedings under 35 U.S.C. 135(a). The Office will also consider fraud and inequitable conduct in connection with attorney conduct under § 10.23(c).

Comment 7. One comment stated that § 1.56 should require only anticipatory art to be submitted during examination of an application, with a procedure such as reexamination being used after discovery in any litigation on the patent has revealed all available art.

Reply: An application is examined under all appropriate sections of Title 35, United States Code, and a presumption of validity attaches to a patent with regard to all aspects of patentability, including anticipation. 35 U.S.C. 282. Therefore, § 1.56 should address more than just the submission of anticipatory information, including information relevant to patentability under 35 U.S.C. 103 and 35 U.S.C. 112.

Comment 8. One comment suggested that proposed § 1.56 has some dangerous implications since courts are going to find violations of the duty of disclosure if §§ 1.97 and 1.98 are not complied with completely.

Reply: Section 1.56 provides that the duty of disclosure can be met by submitting information to the Office in the manner prescribed by §§ 1.97 and 1.98. Sections 1.97 and 1.98 are being amended so that information will be submitted to the Office in the manner and at the time which will facilitate consideration by the examiner. Applicants are provided certainty as to when information will be considered, and applicants will be informed when information is not considered. The Office does not believe that courts should, or will, find violations of the duty of disclosure because of unintentional noncompliance with §§ 1.97 and 1.98. If the non-compliance is intentional, however, the applicant will have assumed the risk that the failure to submit the information in a manner that will result in its being considered by the examiner may be held to be a violation.

Comment 9. Two comments stated that the Office should not delete the offense of attempted fraud from the § 1.56. The comments stated that elimination of the reference to "gross negligence" in current § 1.56 would be sufficient to protect the practitioner who delays submission of information with no intent to deceive the Office. One of the comments stated that the disciplinary rules alone are not sufficient to deter attempted fraud or inequitable conduct.

Reply: The language of §§ 1.56(a) and 1.555(a) has been modified to retain the provisions of prior § 1.56(d) to indicate that the Office does not condone fraud, attempted fraud, or violation of the duty of disclosure through bad faith or intentional misconduct.

Comment 10. One comment stated that the appropriate standards for the duty of candor are analogous to fiduciary law which requires the fiduciary to disclose not only known facts, but also facts which it should have known, i.e., a negligence standard. The comment argued that it was undesirable to measure duty of candor or fraud by a reduced measure of "intent" instead of an objective negligence standard since the Office is not bound by the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit decision in Kingsdown Medical Consultants, Ltd. v. Hollister, Inc., 863 F.2d 867, 9 USPQ2d 1384 (Fed. Cir. 1988) (en banc), cert. denied, 490 U.S. 1067 (1989), and since the proposed standard is no more objective than alternative standards but is simply narrower and more certain. Another comment suggested that the Office should indicate that there is no intention to change the Kingsdown ruling.

Reply: Section 1.56 has been amended to present a clearer and more objective definition of what information the Office considers material to patentability. The rules do not define fraud or inequitable conduct which have elements both of materiality and of intent. The Office does not advocate any change to the Kingsdown ruling.

Comment 11. Two comments stated that the proposed modification of § 1.56 would make submission of information to the Office an implied admission of the prima facie unpatentability of a claim. Several comments suggested that a sentence should be added to proposed § 1.56 to specify that submission of information to the Office under this section shall not be deemed to be an admission or representation that the information is material to patentability.

Reply: The suggestions in the comments have been adopted by modifying § 1.97 which deals with submission of information to the Office. Paragraph (h) of § 1.97 now provides that the filing of an information disclosure statement shall not be considered to be an admission that the information cited in the statement is, or is to be considered to be, material to patentability as defined in § 1.56.

Comment 12. One comment stated that the proposed § 1.56 definition would be difficult to apply in litigation in which a different burden-of-proof standard is applied.

Reply: The definition of information material to patentability includes standards which are familiar to the Federal courts and which are capable of being handled like other issues.

Comment 13. One comment suggested that the last sentence of proposed § 1.56(a), in which the Office encourages applicants to carefully examine prior art cited in foreign search reports and the closest known information, be removed from the rule and be placed in the preamble discussion so as to avoid the interpretation that the sentence creates a duty for applicants.

Reply: The suggestion is not adopted. The sentence does not create any new duty for applicants, but is placed in the text of the rule as helpful guidance to individuals who file and prosecute patent applications.

Comment 14. Three comments stated that the language of proposed § 1.56(a) required revision to remove all statements or suggestions which might allow a court to consider a pending (i.e., unissued) claim for the purpose of determining whether the duty of disclosure requirement was met in view of the fact that the proposed rule was intended to indicate that there is no duty to disclose information which is material to a pending claim unless that claim ultimately issues in a patent. One comment argued that a court might interpret "the duty of candor and good faith" to be broader than the particular duty of disclosure specified in other portions of the proposed rule.

Reply: The language of §§ 1.56 and 1.555 has been modified to emphasize that there is a duty of candor and good faith which is broader than the duty to disclose material information. Section 1.56 further states that "no patent will be granted on an application in connection with which fraud on the Office was practiced or attempted or the duty of disclosure was violated through bad faith or intentional misconduct."

Comment 15. One comment suggested that proposed § 1.56(a) be modified to clarify that both information and its materiality must be known before there is a duty to disclose the information.

Reply: The Office considers the language of § 1.56(a) to be sufficiently clear in referring to a "duty to disclose to the Office all information known to that individual to be material to patentability as defined in this section." If information is known to be material, it inherently must be known. Likewise, if information is not known to an individual, there is no duty to disclose the information whether it is material or not.

Comment 16. One comment stated that it should be made clear that "known" is limited to contemporaneous knowledge since a practitioner may have known something ten years ago but may not remember it presently.

Reply: Section 1.56 states that each individual associated with the filing and prosecution of a patent application has a duty to disclose all information known to that individual to be material to patentability as defined in the section. Thus, the duty applies to contemporaneously or presently known information. The fact that information was known years ago does not mean that it was recognized that the information is material to the present application.

Comment 17. One comment suggested that proposed § 1.56(a) be modified to state that the duty of disclosure ends when an application becomes abandoned or allowed.

Reply: Paragraph (a) of § 1.56 states that the duty to disclose information exists until the application becomes abandoned. The duty to disclose information, however, does not end when an application becomes allowed but extends until a patent is granted on that application. The rules provide for information being considered after a notice of allowance is mailed and before the issue fee is paid (§ 1.97(d)) and for an application to be withdrawn from issue after the issue fee has been paid. An application may be withdrawn from issue because one or more claims are unpatentable (§ 1.313(b)(3)) or an application may be withdrawn from issue and abandoned so that information may be considered in a continuing application before a patent issues (§ 1.313(b)(5)).

Comment 18. Three comments stated that the first two sentences of proposed § 1.56(a) should be deleted since rules should simply instruct practitioners what to do without discussion of why they should do it or the philosophy involved.

Reply: The suggestion has not been adopted since the sentences aid in the understanding of the rule and will provide those involved in enforcing patents with an indication of the policy on which the rule is based.

Comment 19. One comment stated that §§ 1.56(a)(2) and (c) should be modified to refer to "individuals substantively associated with" the filing or prosecution of the patent application.

Reply: The suggestion is not adopted since the proposed rule language is clear and the suggested modification would create a redundancy with the language of § 1.56(c)(3). The individuals designated in §§ 1.56(c)(1) and (2) as being associated with the filing or prosecution of a patent application within the meaning of the section are inherently substantively involved in the preparation or prosecution of the application.

Comment 20. One comment stated that proposed § 1.56(b) should be modified to clarify that information is not material if it is cumulative to information already of record in an application or to information concurrently being made of record.

Reply: The suggestion has been adopted by adding a reference to information being made of record with regard to cumulative information in §§ 1.56(b) and 1.555(b).

Comment 21. One comment stated that the preamble discussion (of § 1.56(b)) should indicate that test results in situations such as tests involving biological systems may properly be submitted as averages rather than as individual test runs.

Reply: Whether test results can be submitted as averages rather than as individual test runs depends on whether doing so would provide to the Office the information needed to make a proper determination on patentability. If the actual results are provided, the examiner can make an independent determination on whether some rejection is appropriate. In some cases providing averages might be misleading, but in other cases providing averages might be appropriate.

Comment 22. One comment stated that the definition of materiality in proposed § 1.56(b) imposes substantial new burdens on applicants who would be required to disclose failed experiments, papers published less than one year prior to filing and experimental public uses even if they clearly are refutable and will not affect patentability. One comment stated that the proposed rule would require applicants to incur added expense for affidavits and comparison tests. Five comments stated that the Office should not require applicants to present results from clearly invalid tests since this would be contrary to usual scientific practice. One comment argued that information should not be required to be submitted if there was no doubt that it would not preclude patentability, e.g., where common ownership existed so that the exception of 35 U.S.C. 103, second paragraph, would apply.

Reply: The definition of materiality in § 1.56 does not impose substantial new burdens on applicants, but is intended to provide the Office with the information it needs to make a proper and independent determination on patentability. It is the patent examiner who should make the determination after considering all the facts involved in the particular case. The comments reflect that the Office objective of clarifying what information the Office considers to be material has been accomplished by the amendment of the rules.

Comment 23. One comment suggested that § 1.56 should confine the duty of disclosure to references known to applicant or the practitioner representing applicant and not found in prior art materials in the Office.

Reply: This suggestion is not adopted since information may be in the Office but not in the application file. It is not reasonable to assume that an examiner knows of a particular item of information or appreciates its relevance to a particular invention simply because it exists somewhere in the Office.

Comment 24. One comment stated that the language "or in combination with other information" should be removed from proposed § 1.56(b)(1) because it was unworkable to require an applicant to combine references against its own claims, especially since, according to the commentator, examiners and the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences frequently misapply the law. Another comment stated that the language creates an open field for litigators to claim that an inordinate number of references could be combined.

Reply: The rule does not require an applicant to combine references against its own claims. The applicant can submit information to the Office for the examiner's consideration whether the information is considered material or not. The fact that the teachings of a large number of references must be combined for a prima facie case of obviousness does not by itself weigh against a holding of obviousness. See In re Gorman. 933 F.2d 982, 18 USPQ2d 1885 (Fed. Cir. 1991).

Comment 25. Four comments stated that the definition of "prima facie case of unpatentability" § 1.56(b)(1)) should be included in the rule itself. One comment said that the definition should not be included in the rule.

Reply: The definition has been included in the rule for clarity.

Comment 26. One comment stated that the proposed § 1.56(b)(1) placed a burden on the practitioner to analyze references that is inappropriate and contradictory to a practitioner's responsibility to his client.

Reply: The rule itself does not place a burden on the practitioner to analyze references. Information can be submitted to the Office in accordance with §§ 1.97 and 1.98, and the examiner will consider the references.

Comment 27. One comment questioned whether an applicant would be charged with withholding material information if the "other information" (§ 1.56(b)(1)) necessary to cause an undisclosed reference to become material is unknown to the applicant. Another comment suggested that the language should be changed to read "other known information" to show that the information must be known to applicant to give rise to a duty of disclosure.

Reply: Paragraph (b) of § 1.56 defines information material to patentability. While information may be material under the definition, there is no duty on an individual to disclose the information if the information is unknown to the individual (§ 1.56(a)).

Comment 28. One comment suggested that defining materiality in § 1.56(b) in terms of prima facie unpatentability would permit a conspiracy of silence in which (1) the applicant knows of information but is incapable of making the legal analysis to determine whether the information is material and (2) the patent practitioner, who is equipped to determine whether information is material, does not know of the information and does not ask. Thus, it is argued there would be no violation of the duty of disclosure which requires knowledge of both information and its materiality.

Reply: The Office has set forth what information should be submitted so that the Office can make a proper determination on patentability. The term "conspiracy" has the connotation of unlawfulness which would not be consistent with the duty of candor and good faith required in dealings with the Office.

Comment 29. One comment suggested that proposed § 1.56(b)(1) should be revised to read "in combination with other information already of record in the application" to avoid the possibility that undisclosed material could be considered material in subsequent litigation when combined with information not known at the time of the prosecution to any person substantively involved in the preparation or prosecution of the application.

Reply: Paragraph (a) of § 1.56 makes it clear that the Office recognizes that the duty to disclose material information is limited to such information which is known by an individual substantively involved in the preparation or prosecution of the application. Thus, while information may be material under the definition of § 1.56(b)(1), there can be no duty to disclose the information if it is material only in combination with unknown information.

Comment 30. One comment stated that proposed § 1.56(b) should be modified so that paragraph (b)(1) refers to information that renders a claim unpatentable ("but for"), paragraph (b)(2) remains as proposed, and a paragraph (b)(3) is added to include the definition of materiality as "the closest information over which any pending claim patentably defines." This comment suggested that this modified definition would have the advantage of not requiring the applicant to submit references which applicant knows are immaterial and to then engage in "straw man" arguments based on such references.

Reply: The suggested modification to § 1.56 has not been adopted. The suggested language would seemingly require information to be filed in each application, whether the information is relevant or not, since the "closest information" would be required. Section 1.56 does not require information which is not relevant to be submitted, but only information which meets the definition of material as set out in the rule.

Comment 31. One comment stated that if proposed § 1.56(b)(1) is promulgated, there would be no need for proposed § 1.56(b)(2) with regard to information which would make a prima facie case of unpatentability and other information required by paragraph (b)(2) might be obscure. Another comment argued that paragraph (b)(2) was unnecessary, confusing and ambiguous and suggested changes in the language to make the requirement clear and less ambiguous.

Reply: The suggestion as to the language change to § 1.56(b)(2) has been adopted. The final rule language avoids the perceived problem of requiring an applicant to submit information supporting a position taken by the examiner. It is not appropriate, however, to eliminate paragraph (b)(2) because it is an essential part of the definition of information material to patentability and will help to ensure that all material facts are brought to the attention of the examiner during the examination process.

Comment 32. One comment questioned the language of proposed § 1.56(b)(2) as to how an applicant could consider a prior art reference as supporting a position of unpatentability taken by the Office while at the same time disputing that interpretation.

Reply: The language of § 1.56(b)(2) has been modified to clarify that information is material to patentability if it refutes, or is inconsistent with, a position the applicant takes in (1) opposing an argument of unpatentability relied on by the Office, or (2) asserting an argument of patentability.

Comment 33. One comment stated that § 1.56(b)(2) was flawed in requiring a duty to conduct a file search to make sure that no information exists which even arguably contradicts a position taken or to be taken in response to the examiner, or which supports the examiner's position which may be improper.

Reply: Section 1.56(b)(2) does not require a search of files. Under § 1.56(a), the duty of disclosure is confined to that information which is known to an individual to be material as defined in paragraph (b).

Comment 34. One comment stated that proposed § 1.56(c) should be modified so that the duty of any individual designated as having a duty of disclosure would terminate when such individual ceases to be substantively involved in the preparation or prosecution of the application. The comment used, as an example, an inventor who would not be aware of art cited by the examiner which would cause information known to the inventor to fall within the definition of materiality for the first time.

Reply: The suggestion in the comment is not adopted. The duty to disclose information material to patentability rests on the individuals designated in § 1.56(c) until the application issues as a patent or becomes abandoned. Paragraph (a) of § 1.56 makes it clear, however, that each individual has a duty to disclose only information which is known to that individual to be material.

Comment 35. One comment stated that proposed § 1.56(c)(3) should not include the assignee, or anyone to whom there is an obligation to assign the application, in the class of those who have a duty to disclose material information since there might be a "witch hunt" during litigation to find one employee with knowledge of, or possession of, information that should have been disclosed.

Reply: No modification to § 1.56(c)(3) is needed since § 1.56 sets forth that only individuals who are associated with the filing and prosecution of a patent application have a duty of candor and good faith, including a duty to disclose to the Office all information known to be material to patentability.

Comment 36. One comment stated that proposed § 1.56(d) should be revised to expressly allow an inventor to satisfy the duty by disclosing information to the practitioner who prepares or prosecutes the application so that redundant information disclosure statements will not be required from both the inventor and the attorney or agent.

Reply: The suggestion in the comment is not adopted since the duty as described in § 1.56 will be met as long as the information in question was cited by the Office or submitted to the Office in the manner prescribed by §§ 1.97(b)-(d) and 1.98 before issuance of the patent. Statements from both an inventor and the practitioner are not required to be submitted.

Comment 37. One comment stated that proposed §§ 1.52(c) and 1.67(c) should be modified to either (1) expressly permit alterations to be made in an application subsequent to the signing of the oath or declaration if a supplemental oath or declaration is later submitted, or (2) more properly, prohibit such alterations since if alterations are desirable, they can be made and the application can be filed with an unsigned oath or declaration. Another comment stated that willfully filling out false oaths should never be condoned.

Reply: The Office does not condone willfully filling out false oaths. Further, § 10.23(c)(11) indicates that the Office considers it misconduct for a practitioner to knowingly file or cause to be filed an application containing a material alteration made after the signing of an accompanying oath or declaration without identifying the alteration. The Office will not consider striking an application in which an alteration was made, but a supplemental oath or declaration is required to be filed in an application containing alterations made after the signing of the oath or declaration.

Comment 38. One comment stated that the implementation of proposed §§ 1.63(b)(3) and 1.175(a)(7) allows for a two-month delay in the deadline for requiring declarations complying therewith.

Reply: The averments in oath or declaration forms presently in use that comply with the previous § 1.63 or § 1.175 will also comply with the requirements of the new rules. Therefore, the Office will continue to accept the old oath or declaration forms as complying with the new rules.

Comment 39. Five comments questioned the need for the proposed rules since statistics show that information disclosure statements are submitted early in prosecution and questioned what new service is being provided for the proposed fee in § 1.97.

Reply: The Office desires to continue to encourage information to be submitted promptly so that it can be considered by the examiner when the first Office action is prepared. Some people have expressed a desire to have the option of waiting to submit information until after the first Office action, without concern that they will be subject to a charge of inequitable conduct. Section 1.97(c), as amended, will provide this option to applicants in that information will be considered later than three months after the filing date of the application (§ 1.97(a) prior to amendment) without a showing of promptness (prior § 1.99). The fee will compensate the Office for the added expense caused by the late submission of the information and will serve as a disincentive to the intentional withholding of information even for a short period of time.

Comment 40. Two comments suggested that proposed § 1.97(a) be modified so that the mechanism of proposed § 1.98 would not be the only acceptable technique for submitting information.

Reply: The Office has set forth the minimum requirements for information to be considered in §§ 1.97 and 1.98. These rules will provide certainty for the public of exactly what the requirements are, when the Office will consider information and when the Office will not consider information. Thus, applicants are provided with means for complying with the duty of disclosure by following the rules. If information is submitted in a manner so that it is not considered by the Office, applicant will assume the risk that a court might find a violation of the duty of candor and good faith which includes the duty to disclose material information.

Comment 41. Four comments suggested that information which is recognized by applicant as being material after the period set in proposed § 1.97(b) as the result of prior art cited by the examiner should be permitted to be submitted to the Office without the fee set forth in 1.17(p), the certification or the petition fee required by § 1.97.

Reply: The suggestion in the comments is not adopted since it would require a certification, e.g., why the information was just recognized as being material, and would unduly complicate the rules and the procedures for considering information submitted by applicant. Applicants can avoid or, at least, minimize the problem by submitting information which is known to be relevant to the application even though it is not yet recognized as being required to be submitted because it is material to patentability. The fees charged are to compensate the Office for the additional work that will be necessary when information is submitted during an advanced stage of the examination process.

Comment 42. Two comments suggested that the period for submitting information set in proposed § 1.97(b) be changed to be two months from the issuance of the Official Filing Receipt to avoid information disclosure statements being misrouted in the Office.

Reply: The suggestion in the comment is not adopted. The date that the Filing Receipt is mailed is not maintained in the application file so there would be administrative difficulty in determining when a fee or certification is required to be filed under the new rule. An application can be filed with a self-addressed return postcard so that applicant can obtain the serial number assigned to the application very soon after filing. Further, information may be filed under § 1.97(b) before the mailing of a first Office action on the merits even if this occurs later than three months after the application filing date.

Comment 43. One comment questions whether § 1.97(b) or § 1.97(d) applies in the event of issuance of a final rejection within three months of the filing of an application. The comment indicated that paragraph (b) should apply in this situation.

Reply: Paragraph (b) would apply in this situation since the paragraph specifies that information may be filed within three months of the filing date of the application or before the mailing date of a first Office action on the merits, whichever event occurs last. Thus, information would be considered pursuant to § 1.97(b) if it was filed within three months of the filing date of the application even if a final rejection was mailed prior to three months from the filing date.

Comment 44. One comment stated that proposed § 1.97(b)(1) should be clarified to indicate that "the filing of a national application" includes "a continuing application which replaces the original application."

Reply: The suggested modification has not been adopted since it is not necessary for clarity. The term "national application" includes continuing applications in this and the other patent rules. It is not desirable to add the suggested language to all occurrences of the term "application" in the rules or to raise the implication that continuing applications are not included in the term in other rules by adding the suggested language to this rule.

Comment 45. One comment stated that proposed § 1.97 should be changed to state that if a responsible party becomes aware of material information less than three months before issuance of an Office action, that information will be considered timely filed if it is submitted together with the response to the action. The comment also stated that the Office could go farther and implement a rule which specifies that such information will be considered timely submitted if it reaches the examiner before the response to the Office action is taken up for consideration. Three other comments stated that the Office should accept information disclosure statements with responses to Office actions, with one comment arguing that there is no benefit in submitting two papers where one would suffice.

Reply: The suggestions in the comments are not adopted. The rule as proposed and promulgated has the advantage of being relatively easy to comply with and administer. Information should be submitted promptly so that the examiner will have the option of reviewing the information and withdrawing or revising the Office action. Requiring information to be submitted promptly contributes to the efficiency of the examination process.

Comment 46. One comment stated that there should be no fee in § 1.97 associated with the filing of an information disclosure statement since this might impact negatively on the submission of material information; rather, it would be sufficient to permit material information submitted subsequent to a non-final action to support a final rejection in the next action, in the absence of the certification proposed in the rules. Another comment, however, stated that the proposed fee requirement would not be a disincentive to submission of prior art, but would force examiners to consider certain art which under current practice often is not made of record, but instead, requires the filing of a continuation application.

Reply: The fee required in the rule will serve both to cover additional expense caused the Office by the late submission of information and will also serve as a disincentive to failing to cooperate in submitting information early in the prosecution of an application rather than as a disincentive to submitting information at all.

Comment 47. One comment questioned whether information in an information disclosure statement submitted during the period set forth by proposed § 1.97(c) could be used by an examiner to make the next action final if the statement was submitted with a certification under § 1.97(e).

Reply: Information submitted with a certification during the period set forth in § 1.97(c) will not be used to make the next Office action final on unamended claims since in this situation it is clear that applicant has submitted the information to the Office promptly after it has become known and the information is being submitted prior to a final determination on patentability by the Office.

Comment 48. One comment stated that it was unfair for the Office to require a fee for considering information pursuant to proposed § 1.97(c) and then also be able to use the information in making the Office action final.

Reply: The policy is not considered to be unfair. If information is submitted during the period set forth in § 1.97(c) without the certification, the fee will compensate the Office for extra work that may be caused by the failure to submit information promptly. If the cost for this extra work were not placed upon the applicant in this situation, the cost would have to be borne by all applicants through payment of higher fees. The possibility that the next Office action may be made final will further encourage prompt disclosure of information to the Office.

Comment 49. One comment suggested that information should be considered (§ 1.97(c)) after final rejection, since this is different from after allowance when the Office would have to go back and reconsider its work. Two comments stated that proposed § 1.97(c)(1) should not penalize applicants who receive a foreign search report after a final rejection is made in the application and that the certification under § 1.97(e) should be available until an advisory action after final rejection or a notice of allowability occurs in the application. Another comment stated that final action may not even be on the merits but merely administrative.

Reply: The suggestions in the comments are not adopted. Both a notice of allowance and a final rejection represent a final Office decision on patentability. Information considered after either of these actions may require the Office to alter its position. After either of these actions, information will be considered only if it is submitted promptly in accordance with § 1.97(d) or is submitted in a refiled application. It should be noted that information cited in a foreign search report, if cited to the Office within three months of the date on the search report, will be considered by the Office if filed before payment of the issue fee.

Comment 50. One comment stated that proposed § 1.97(d) would result in unequal treatment of U.S. inventors who file first in the Office as compared to foreign inventors who file first in a foreign country since the latter will have the results of the search made by the foreign examining country earlier in the pendency of the U.S. application. Six comments suggested that a U.S. inventor should have the ability to make the certification of § 1.97(e) and to have the Office consider the information, regardless of the stage of prosecution at which information from a foreign office is submitted.

Reply: It should be noted that the certification of § 1.97(e) can be made and information considered by the Office until the issue fee is paid on the application. After the issue fee has been paid on an application, it is impractical for the Office to attempt to consider newly submitted information. The application may be withdrawn from issue at this point, however, pursuant to § 1.313(b)(5) so that the information can be considered in a continuing application, or pursuant to § 1.313(b)(3) if applicant states that one or more claims are unpatentable over the information that is cited. It is further noted that it is applicants, not the Office, who make decisions on when and in which countries to file an application. U.S. inventors who may desire to seek patent protection in foreign countries have the ability to utilize the provisions of the Patent Cooperation Treaty and to delay the requirement to enter the national stage until after a search report on the invention is made.

Comment 51. One comment questioned whether a certification under § 1.97(e) could properly be made in situations where information known by the applicant but not considered material is cited by a foreign patent office more than three months later than the first knowledge by applicant.

Reply: The language of § 1.97(e) has been modified to permit a certification to be made in the situation described in the comment. If an item of information is submitted within three months of being cited in a communication from a foreign patent office in a counterpart foreign patent application, the certification can be properly made regardless of any individual's previous knowledge of the information.

Comment 52. One comment stated that the three-month time period for submitting information from foreign patent offices under proposed § 1.97(e) might be too short because not all foreign offices provide copies of references and that the Office should provide for a petition in unusual circumstances. Five comments stated that a three-month time limit for filing foreign search reports is not reasonable but rather that six months would be more reasonable.

Reply: The Office has chosen the three month time period as appropriate in view of all the factors involved in obtaining information and in the examination process. It should be noted that Office actions typically set a three-month shortened statutory period for response. A response to an Office action generally requires more time for preparation than is involved in the submitting of a foreign search report and copies of the documents cited.

Comment 53. Five comments suggested that § 1.97(e) should permit a certification to be made if an individual knew of information for more than three months before it was filed but did not recognize its materiality or relevance to the application.

Reply: The suggestion in the comments is not adopted. The Office desires to encourage prompt evaluation of information as to materiality by applicants and the Office so as to contribute to the efficiency and effectiveness of the examination process. It should be noted that an applicant is not required to delay the submission of information while evaluating materiality, but can submit the information pursuant to §§ 1.97 and 1.98.

Comment 54. One comment stated that proposed § 1.97(e) should be clarified to specify that the certificates can be made regardless of the source of the information being submitted, so long as it is disclosed within three months of receipt. One comment stated that the three-month period of proposed § 1.97(e) should be measured from the receipt date of a communication from a foreign patent office.

Reply: A certification under § 1.97(e) can be made if each item of information was cited in a communication from a foreign patent office in a counterpart foreign application not more than three months prior to filing the statement. A certification can also be made if no item of information was cited in a communication from a foreign patent office in a counterpart foreign application or was known to any individual designated in § 1.56(c) more than three months prior to filing the information disclosure statement. The Office wishes to encourage prompt evaluation of the relevance of information and to have a date certain for determining if a certification can properly be made. Although it is recognized that an individual actually becomes aware of the information in the communication from a foreign patent office sometime after it was mailed, the mailing date of such a communication, if it occurs prior to a first awareness of the same information, would determine the date for filing of an information disclosure statement without a fee. The Office is willing to absorb any additional cost in considering such information relevant to patentability after the time set in proposed paragraph (b) only when it is clear that an applicant is diligent in providing the information to the Office.

Comment 55. One comment stated that the cost of making a certification under § 1.97(e) would be more than the $200.00 fee proposed where no certification is made due to difficulties in obtaining information from foreign clients. The comment suggested that the rule provide for (1) the opportunity to provide documentation (as opposed to certification) illustrating when the information was received, and (2) the opportunity to submit information with increasing fees depending on when in the periods of § 1.97(c) and (d) the information is submitted.

Reply: The suggestions in the comment are not adopted since they would add undue complexity to the rules and procedures. Further, the suggested provision of documentation, which presumably would be reviewed by someone in the Office, would probably add considerably to the overall expense of filing an information disclosure statement. No other comments indicated a desire for increasing fees depending on when the information is submitted.

Comment 56. Two comments stated that proposed § 1.97(e) is ambiguous in using the language "to the knowledge of the person signing the certification" in that it could refer to "information and belief," "actual knowledge of the facts" or "no knowledge to the contrary." One comment stated that certifications should be able to be made on information and belief by a U.S. attorney or agent submitting a material reference received from a foreign patent attorney or agent, rather than requiring a certification from the foreign individual. Another comment suggested that the period should be calculated from when the applicant either knew or could have known of the reference because the U.S. attorney should not be penalized for delays from their foreign patent associates.

Reply: The certification under § 1.97(e) should be made by a person who has knowledge of the facts being certified. The certification can be made by a practitioner who represents a foreign client and who relies on statements made by the foreign client as to the date the information first became known. A practitioner who receives information from a client without being informed whether the information was known for more than three months, however, cannot make the certification without making reasonable inquiry.

Comment 57. One comment stated that the language of proposed § 1.97(e) would preclude the use of the certification in an application by corporations whose practitioners have over the years reviewed thousands of patents and technical publications, even though they are unaware of the relevance of any one thereof to the application.

Reply: The language of § 1.97(e) is not intended to preclude use of the certification by representatives of corporations. The certification can be based on present, good faith knowledge about when information became known without a search of files being made. The Office, however, does desire to have information considered promptly by applicants as to materiality and to have information submitted to the Office early in the prosecution of an application.

Comment 58. One comment suggested that proposed § 1.97(e) should permit certification only as to information submitted within four months of receipt from a foreign patent office, with all other late-submitted information requiring a fee so as to not open a legal quagmire implicit in the proposed certification requirement.

Reply: The suggestion in the comment is not adopted. The certification set forth in § 1.97(e) is preferable since it provides the avoidance of the payment of a fee by a person who is submitting information promptly to the Office. An applicant has the option under the circumstances described in § 1.97(c), however, to not make the certification and to pay the fee instead if so desired.

Comment 59. One comment suggested that proposed § 1.97(f) be modified to specify that not less than one month will be given if a bona fide attempt is made to comply with § 1.98 but part of the required content is omitted. Another comment suggested that § 1.97(f) should state that the Office will give (rather than may give) additional time for compliance with § 1.98.

Reply: The suggestions in the comments are not adopted. The language of § 1.97(f) parallels present § 1.135(c) since the practice and considerations are similar for both rules. The Office intends to provide one month to comply with § 1.98 where a bona fide attempt has been made to do so.

Comment 60. One comment stated that proposed § 1.97(f) should specify that the Office shall inform the applicant if a reference will not be considered due to noncompliance with § 1.98 so as to avoid any argument in litigation that a certain reference was not considered due to clerical noncompliance.

Reply: The Office plans to notify applicants in accordance with §§ 1.97(f) and (i) if submitted information will not be considered. The examiner will also indicate in the application record what information has been considered. Further details will appear in the Manual of Patent Examining Procedure in due course.

Comment 61. One comment suggested that proposed § 1.97(g) should be modified to state that the filing of an information disclosure statement shall not be construed as a representation that no other material information exists such as is set forth in current § 1.97(b).

Reply: The suggestion in the comment has not been adopted since referring to "no other material information" would imply that the information being submitted was admitted to be material. There is no requirement that information being submitted be material to the application.

Comment 62. One comment suggested that proposed § 1.97(h) be modified to state that information not considered by the Office will be deemed in all respects to have not been submitted by the applicant since this would make a noncompliant submission clearly not a fulfillment of the duty of candor.

Reply: The suggestion in the comment is not adopted. The Office has no need or desire to rule on lack of fulfillment of the duty of candor in such a situation. The rules are drafted such that § 1.56 sets forth what information is material to patentability and §§ 1.97 and 1.98 set forth procedures to assure consideration of information by the Office.

Comment 63. One comment stated the Office has a duty to consider information even if this involves withdrawing an application from issue or publishing a cancellation notice and that proposed § 1.97(h) should be changed to so state. Another comment stated that it would be an abdication of the duty that the Office owes to the public for information in the file to be ignored since issuance of an invalid patent can be used to discourage others in the field. The comment suggested that the Office should leave in doubt whether the information will be considered or not.

Reply: It is necessary for the Office to balance its need and desire to consider all information relevant to an application with its need for an efficient operation and its capability to consider information at various stages in the prosecution of an application. The Office is setting forth when information will and will not be considered to provide certainty for the public.

Comment 64. One comment requested information on how a United States patent application or other information (§ 1.98(a)(1)(iii)) should be listed on a PTO 1449 form.

Reply: The PTO 1449 has been drafted so as to provide spaces for listing documents which are available to the public and which will be printed on the patent at issuance. Other information should be listed separately from the PTO 1449 form.

Comment 65. One comment stated that § 1.98(a)(2)(i) should not require the submission by applicants of United States patents listed in an information disclosure statement since the Office is better equipped to provide examiners with copies of those documents than inventors and their attorneys. Alternatively, the comment suggested that the Office should establish a procedure whereby an order for the Office to provide the copies of the patents at the usual fee can accompany the information disclosure statement.

Reply: At the present time, when the Automated Patent System has not been fully implemented, the overall cost of the Office obtaining copies of patents and associating them with application files would be greater than for applicants to provide copies with information disclosure statements. Presumably, the applicant would be using a copy of the patent in preparing the statement and could easily make a copy for submission to the Office.

Comment 66. One comment suggested that § 1.98(a)(2)(iii), as proposed, be clarified by substituting "except that no copy of a U.S. patent application need be included" for the proposed phrase "except a U.S. patent application."

Reply: The suggested clarification to the language of the rule has been adopted.

Comment 67. A number of comments objected to the requirement in § 1.98(a)(3) for a concise explanation of the relevance of all items of information being submitted.

Reply: In response to the comments, § 1.98(a)(3) has been modified to require a concise explanation only of patents, publications or other information listed in an information disclosure statement that are not in the English language. Applicants may, if they wish, provide concise explanations of why English-language information is being submitted and how it is understood to be relevant. Concise explanations are helpful to the Office, particularly where documents are lengthy and complex and applicant is aware of a section that is highly relevant to patentability.

Comment 68. Five comments stated that the proposed rules should be modified to state that if information is being submitted from a foreign search report, the requirement for a concise explanation in proposed § 1.98(a)(3) may be satisfied by submitting an English-language version of the search report.

Reply: The language of § 1.98(a)(3) has been modified so that no concise explanation is required for information submitted in the English language. The concise explanation requirement for non-English language information may be met by the submission of an English language version of the search report indicating the degree of relevance found by the foreign office. It is not necessary that this detail be included in the rule.

Comment 69. Five comments questioned whether the requirement in proposed § 1.98(a)(3) would be satisfied by a statement that the references were cited in the prosecution of a parent application.

Reply: The requirement in § 1.98(a)(3) for a concise explanation of non-English language information would not be satisfied by a statement that a reference was cited in the prosecution of a parent application. The concise explanation must explain the relevance as presently understood by the person designated in § 1.56(c) most knowledgeable about the content of the information.

Comment 70. One comment suggested that proposed § 1.98(a)(3) should be modified to require a concise explanation of "what is believed to be" the relevance of information listed to avoid the accusation of violation of duty of disclosure merely because more relevant portions of the information are later found. Another comment suggested that the concise explanation should state what is "reasonably understood by the person submitting the statement." Another comment stated that the applicant should be required to explain (1) only what is understood or believed about the item of information at the time the disclosure is made, or (2) why the item is listed.

Reply: The suggestions in the comments have been substantially adopted in modifying the language of § 1.98(a)(3).

Comment 71. One comment stated that proposed § 1.98(b) should not require the date (unless material) and place of publication of journal articles since such information is not given on search reports from foreign patent offices or on journals published by the American Chemical Society, which just give the year. Another comment indicated that sometimes it is not clear where the place of publication is.

Reply: The suggestions in the comments are not adopted. The date of publication is necessary for the Office to be able to determine if the information may be used in a rejection of the claims in an application. The place of publication refers to the name of the journal, magazine or other publication in which the article was published, which should be available in the vast majority of cases.

Comment 72. One comment suggested that § 1.98(c) should not require a translation of a non-English language document to be filed if a translation is within the possession, custody or control of an individual designated in § 1.56(c) because such person may not recall that there is a translation somewhere in the records of the individual, perhaps having been made for another application years earlier.

Reply: The requirement of the rule for a translation to be submitted under limited conditions is not a change in practice. See prior §§ 1.56(j) and 1.97(b). Since the requirement has caused little, if any, problem in the past, the suggestion of the comment is not adopted.

Comment 73. One comment suggested that § 1.98(c) should be revised to make it clear that a reference that is essentially cumulative to another reference need not be listed in an information disclosure statement.

Reply: The concept that cumulative information is not material is set forth in § 1.56(b). Section 1.98 does not deal with what information must be submitted, but provides an exception for cumulative information to the requirement for a copy to be submitted of each item of information listed in an information disclosure statement.

Comment 74. One comment stated that a sentence in the preamble discussion of proposed § 1.98(c) was burdensome because it would require submission of incomplete or inexact translations which may have been made of an item of information. The sentence in question reads:

> "But if the individual has the ability to translate the non-English language into English and has done so for the purposes of reviewing the information relative to the claimed invention, the translation would be considered 'readily available.'"

Another comment stated that proposed § 1.98(c) should be modified to require a translation if the non-English language document is to be considered by the examiner since the attorney would want to prepare an accurate translation of particularly relevant references. One comment suggested that § 1.98(c), or the preamble discussion, should make it clear that an English-language translation of a foreign language material reference need not be submitted where an individual merely reads in the reference in its original language and translates it mentally but does not prepare a written translation. Five other comments requested clarification on this point.

Reply: The Office does not intend to require translations unless they have been reduced to writing and are actually translations of what is contained in the non-English language information. Applicants should note, however, that most examiners do not have the ability to understand information which is not in English and that the Office will not routinely translate information submitted in a non-English language. The examiner will consider the information insofar as it is understood on its face, e.g., drawings, chemical formulas, English-language abstracts, but will not have the information translated unless it appears to be necessary to do so. Applicants are required to aid the examiner by complying with the requirements for a concise explanation in § 1.98(a)(3) for information submitted in a non-English language.

Comment 75. One comment stated that § 1.98(d) should be clarified to state that a copy of an item of information listed in an information disclosure statement need not be submitted if the reference was cited by the Office or previously submitted to the Office in connection with a prior application.

Reply: The suggestion in the comment is adopted. The language of § 1.98(d) has been modified to state that a copy of an item of information is not required if it was previously cited by the Office or previously submitted to the Office in a prior application being relied on for an earlier filing date under 35 U.S.C. 120.

Comment 76. One comment suggested that proposed § 1.98(d) should be revise d to not require the submission of a copy of the information listed in an information disclosure statement if a copy of the information has previously been submitted to the Office in a prior application, whether or not the earlier application is being relied upon for an earlier filing date under 35 U.S.C. 120.

Reply: The suggestion in the comment is not adopted. The exception to the requirement for a copy of each item of information to be submitted has been made with regard to prior applications which will normally be available to, and considered by, the examiner. It would not be efficient for the examiner to be required to seek out unrelated application files to obtain a copy of an item of information when a copy could easily be submitted by applicant.

Comment 77. One comment questioned what would be considered "timely" under § 1.291 so that information would be considered by the examiner without payment of a fee, in contrast to proposed § 1.97 which may require a fee.

Reply: Section 1.291 has not been amended to redefine timeliness. The comment seems to imply that the fee requirements of § 1.97 can be avoided through the use of a protest submitting information, but such a course of action might raise questions regarding compliance with the duty of candor and good faith required in dealings with the Office.

Comment 78. One comment stated that the Office should not drop the acknowledgment of a protest having been filed under § 1.291 in a reissue application because the acknowledgment served as an indication that the protest had been received in the examining group from the mail room.

Reply: The suggestion in the comment is not adopted. Any perceived benefit from retaining the acknowledgment is outweighed by the administrative burden it causes. There is no good reason to treat the filing of protests in reissue applications differently from the filing of protests in original applications or from the filing of other papers in the Office.

Comment 79. One comment questioned whether an application could be withdrawn from issue pursuant to proposed § 1.313(b)(5) without admitting unpatentability.

Reply: There is no requirement that unpatentability must be admitted before an application can be withdrawn from issue pursuant to § 1.313(b)(5). The rule provides for applications to be withdrawn from issue and abandoned for consideration of information in a continuing application. This differs from a petition under § 1.313(b)(3) based on unpatentability of one or more claims.

Comment 80. One comment questioned whether, if an application is withdrawn from issue pursuant to proposed § 1.313(b)(5), an information disclosure statement can be submitted in the continuing application under § 1.97(b) without a certification.

Reply: A continuing application is treated like any other application with regard to the times set forth in § 1.97(b). Thus, for example, an information disclosure statement could be filed without a fee or certification in a continuing application within three months of the filing date of the continuing application.

Comment 81. One comment questioned whether an application withdrawn from issue pursuant to § 1.313(b)(5) could have new art and amendments considered in that application rather than in a continuing application. The comment also questioned the handling of applications withdrawn from issue pursuant to Reply: The language of § 1.313(b)(5) makes it clear that an application withdrawn from issue thereunder is to be abandoned without further prosecution. This differs from an application withdrawn from issue pursuant to § 1.313(b)(3) because applicant had admitted the unpatentability of one or more claims.

Comment 82. One comment questioned whether the continuing application mentioned in proposed § 1.313(b)(5) could be a file wrapper continuing application under § 1.62 and how applicants can accomplish the withdrawal from issue under proposed § 1.313(b) late in the prosecution of an application.

Reply: The continuing application mentioned in § 1.313(b)(5) can be a file wrapper continuing application under § 1.62. Even though § 1.62 requires a file wrapper continuing application to be filed before the payment of the issue fee, the Office will consider the filing of a petition to withdraw from issue under § 1.313(b)(5) as sufficient grounds to waive that requirement of § 1.62. Late in the prosecution of an application, the Office has difficulty in matching papers with the application file. Papers requesting that an application be withdrawn from issue after the issue fee is paid should be directed, or preferably hand-carried, to the Office of Petitions in the Office of the Assistant Commissioner for Patents.

Comment 83. Seven comments suggested that § 1.555(a) should not be amended to require the submission of "all information material to patentability" since a reexamination proceeding is limited to consideration of patents and printed publications.

Reply: The suggestion in the comments has been adopted. A paragraph (b), which defines what information is material to patentability in a reexamination proceeding, has been added to the rule.

Comment 84. One comment suggested that proposed § 1.555(a) should be modified to make clear that there is no duty of disclosure on employees of a corporate patent owner if the employees are not substantively involved in the preparation of the reexamination request or the reexamination proceeding.

Reply: The suggestion in the comment to modify the language in § 1.555(a) has not been adopted. The rule refers to individuals who are substantively involved on behalf of the patent owner in a reexamination proceeding.

Comment 85. Two comments stated that the Office should consider fraud or other inequitable conduct issues in interference proceedings.

Reply: The suggestion in the comments has been adopted. The Office will consider inequitable conduct issues in interference proceedings as announced on November 19, 1991, in the Official Gazette of the Patent and Trademark Office at 1132 Off. Gaz. Pat. Off. 33.

Comment 86. One comment requested more examples with regard to proposed § 10.23(c)(10) of what alteration or combination of alterations in a declaration would be considered material.

Reply: It is not the function of the rules or the rulemaking process to provide a detailed listing of what alterations may be considered to be improper. This consideration will necessarily be made in view of the totality of the circumstances involved. Practitioners would be well advised to avoid filing applications which contain alterations which have not been initialed and dated.

Comment 87. Two comments stated that § 10.23(c)(10) should be amended to prohibit knowingly attempting to mislead the Office in the drafting or prosecution of a patent application. One comment stated that attempted fraud or inequitable conduct would not be prohibited by proposed 10.23(c)(10) because such conduct would not be a violation of proposed §§ 1.56 or 1.555.

Reply: No amendment is necessary to the language of § 10.23(c)(10). It should be noted that the duty of candor and good faith in dealing with the Office is included in §§ 1.56 and 1.555. This duty includes a prohibition against knowingly attempting to mislead the Office.

Comment 88. Five comments stated that it would be unfair to impose the new disclosure requirements and fees on applications that are pending before the Office on the effective date of the new rule. Another comment stated that the rules should be immediately effective for all pending applications with some grace period for making the initial disclosure without penalty and without fee.

Reply: The Office will apply the new rules to all applications pending on, or filed on or after, the effective date of the rules. While this implementation may cause some burden on some applicants, other applicants will obtain benefits not otherwise available. This decision will also ease the administrative burden on the Office in implementing the new rules.

Other Considerations

The rule change is in conformity with the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 601 et seq., Executive Orders 12291 and 12612, and the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.

The General Counsel of the Department of Commerce has certified to the Small Business Administration that the rule change will not have a significant adverse economic impact on a substantial number of small entities (Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 605(b)) because the rules as adopted do not require individuals to submit information that they are not already aware of and are not already under an obligation to provide to the Office. The rules further promote the efficiency of the examination process by encouraging a timely submission of an information disclosure statement and by substantially eliminating rejections based on inequitable conduct, thereby reducing the costs to all patent applicants.

The Patent and Trademark Office has determined that this rule change is not a major rule under Executive Order 12291. The annual effect on the economy will be less than $100 million. There will be no major increase in costs or prices for consumers, individual industries, Federal, state or geographic regions. There will be no significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity or innovation, or on the ability of the United States-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

The Patent and Trademark Office has also determined that this rule change has no Federalism implications affecting the relationship between the National Government and the States as outlined in Executive Order 12612.

This rule contains a collection of information requirement subject to the Paperwork Reduction Act, which has previously been approved by the Office of Management and Budget under Control No. 0651-0011. Each information disclosure statement is estimated to take approximately 30 minutes, including time for reviewing instructions, gathering and maintaining data needed, and completing and reviewing the collection of information. The time estimate has been reduced from that stated in the proposal since the requirement for a concise explanation of the relevance of each item of information cited in an information disclosure statement has been limited to information submitted in a language other than English. Send comments regarding this burden estimate Patent and Trademark Office, Office of Management and Organization, and to the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs, Office of Management and Budget, Washington, D.C. 20503. 6. Section 1.56 is revised to read as follows:

§ 1.56 Duty to disclose information material to patentability.

(a) A patent by its very nature is affected with a public interest. The public interest is best served, and the most effective patent examination occurs when, at the time an application is being examined, the Office is aware of and evaluates the teachings of all information material to patentability. Each individual associated with the filing and prosecution of a patent application has a duty of candor and good faith in dealing with the Office, which includes a duty to disclose to the Office all information known to that individual to be material to patentability as defined in this section. The duty to disclose information exists with respect to each pending claim until the claim is cancelled or withdrawn from consideration, or the application becomes abandoned. Information material to the patentability of a claim that is cancelled or withdrawn from consideration need not be submitted if the information is not material to the patentability of any claim remaining under consideration in the application. There is no duty to submit information which is not material to the patentability of any existing claim. The duty to disclose all information known to be material to patentability is deemed to be satisfied if all information known to be material to patentability of any claim issued in a patent was cited by the Office or submitted to the Office in the manner prescribed by §§ 1.97(b)-(d) and 1.98. However, no patent will be granted on an application in connection with which fraud on the Office was practiced or attempted or the duty of disclosure was violated through bad faith or intentional misconduct. The Office encourages applicants to carefully examine; (1) prior art cited in search reports of a foreign patent office in a counterpart application, and (2) the closest information over which individuals associated with the filing or prosecution of a patent application believe any pending claim patentably defines, to make sure that any material information contained therein is disclosed to the Office.

(b) Under this section, information is material to patentability when it is not cumulative to information already of record or being made of record in the application, and

(1) it establishes, by itself or in combination with other information, a prima facie case of unpatentability of a claim; or

(2) it refutes, or is inconsistent with, a position the applicant takes in:

(i) opposing an argument of unpatentability relied on by the Office, or

(ii) asserting an argument of patentability.

A prima facie case of unpatentability is established when the information compels a conclusion that a claim is unpatentable under the preponderance of evidence, burden-of-proof standard, giving each term in the claim its broadest reasonable construction consistent with the specification, and before any consideration is given to evidence which may be submitted in an attempt to establish a contrary conclusion of patentability.

(c) Individuals associated with the filing or prosecution of a patent application within the meaning of this section are:

(1) each inventor named in the application;

(2) each attorney or agent who prepares or prosecutes the application; and

(3) every other person who is substantively involved in the preparation or prosecution of the application and who is associated with the inventor, with the assignee or with anyone to whom there is an obligation to assign the application.

(d) Individuals other than the attorney, agent or inventor may comply with this section by disclosing information to the attorney, agent, or inventor.

7. Section 1.63, paragraphs (b)(3) and (d) are revised to read as follows:

§ 1.63 Oath or declaration.

* * * * *

(b) * * *

(3) Acknowledges the duty to disclose to the Office all information known to the person to be material to patentability as defined in § 1.56.

(d) In any continuation-in-part application filed under the conditions specified in 35 U.S.C. 120 which discloses and claims subject matter in addition to that disclosed in the prior copending application, the oath or declaration must also state that the person making the oath or declaration acknowledges the duty to disclose to the Office all information known to the person to be material to patentability as defined in § 1.56, which became available between the filing date of the prior application and the national or PCT international filing date of the continuation-in-part application.

8. Section 1.67 is amended by adding a new paragraph (c) to read as follows:

§ 1.67 Supplemental oath or declaration.

* * * * *

(c) A supplemental oath or declaration meeting the requirements of § 1.63 must also be filed if the application was altered after the oath or declaration was signed or if the oath or declaration was signed:

(1) in blank;

(2) without review thereof by the person making the oath or declaration; or

(3) without review of the specification, including the claims, as required by § 1.63(b)(1).

9. Section 1.97 is revised to read as follows:

§ 1.97 Filing of information disclosure statement.

(a) In order to have information considered by the Office during the pendency of a patent application, an information disclosure statement in compliance with § 1.98 should be filed in accordance with this section.

(b) An information disclosure statement shall be considered by the Office if filed:

(1) within three months of the filing date of a national application;

(2) within three months of the date of entry of the national stage as set forth in § 1.491 in an international application; or

(3) before the mailing date of a first Office action on the merits, whichever event occurs last.

(c) An information disclosure statement shall be considered by the Office if filed after the period specified in paragraph (b) of this section, but before the mailing date of either

(1) a final action under § 1.113 or

(2) a notice of allowance under § 1.311,

whichever occurs first, provided the statement is accompanied by either a certification as specified in paragraph (e) of this section or the fee set forth in § 1.17(p).

(d) An information disclosure statement shall be considered by the Office if filed after the mailing date of either

(1) a final action under § 1.113 or

(2) a notice of allowance under § 1.311, whichever occurs first, provided the statement is accompanied by:

(i) a certification as specified in paragraph (e) of this section,

(ii) a petition requesting consideration of the information disclosure statement, and

(iii) the petition fee set forth in § 1.17(i)(1).

(e) A certification under this section must state either

(1) that each item of information contained in the information disclosure statement was cited in a communication from a foreign patent office in a counterpart foreign application not more than three months prior to the filing of the statement, or

(2) that no item of information contained in the information disclosure statement was cited in a communication from a foreign patent office in a counterpart foreign application or, to the knowledge of the person signing the certification after making reasonable inquiry, was known to any individual designated in § 1.56(c) more than three months prior to the filing of the statement.

(f) No extensions of time for filing an information disclosure statement are permitted under § 1.136. If a bona fide attempt is made to comply with § 1.98, but part of the required content is inadvertently omitted, additional time may be given to enable full compliance.

(g) An information disclosure statement filed in accordance with this section shall not be construed as a representation that a search has been made.

(h) The filing of an information disclosure statement shall not be construed to be an admission that the information cited in the statement is, or is considered to be, material to patentability as defined in § 1.56(b).

(i) Information disclosure statements, filed before the grant of a patent, which do not comply with this section and § 1.98 will be placed in the file, but will not be considered by the Office.

10. Section 1.98 is revised to read as follows:

§ 1.98 Content of information disclosure statement.

(a) Any information disclosure statement filed under § 1.97 shall include:

(1) A list of all patents, publications, or other information submitted for consideration by the Office;

(2) A legible copy of:

(i) Each U.S. and foreign patent;

(ii) Each publication or that portion which caused it to be listed; and

(iii) All other information or that portion which caused it to be listed, except that no copy of a U.S. patent application need be included; and

(3) A concise explanation of the relevance, as it is presently understood by the individual designated in § 1.56(c) most knowledgeable about the content of the information, of each patent, publication, or other information listed that is not in the English language. The concise explanation may be either separate from the specification or incorporated therein.

(b) Each U.S. patent listed in an information disclosure statement shall be identified by patentee, patent number and issue date. Each foreign patent or published foreign patent application shall be identified by the country or patent office which issued the patent or published the application, an appropriate document number, and the publication date indicated on the patent or published application. Each publication shall be identified by author (if any), title, relevant pages of the publication, date and place of publication.

(c) When the disclosures of two or more patents or publications listed in an information disclosure statement are substantively cumulative, a copy of one of the patents or publications may be submitted without copies of the other patents or publications provided that a statement is made that these other patents or publications are cumulative. If a written English-language translation of a non-English language document, or portion thereof, is within the possession, custody or control of, or is readily available to any individual designated in § 1.56(c), a copy of the translation shall accompany the statement.

(d) A copy of any patent, publication or other information listed in an information disclosure statement is not required to be provided if it was previously cited by or submitted to the Office in a prior application, provided that the prior application is properly identified in the statement and relied upon for an earlier filing date under 35 U.S.C. 120.

11. Section 1.99 is removed and reserved.

12. Section 1.175, paragraph (a)(7), is revised to read as follows:

§ 1.175 Reissue oath or declaration.

(a) * * *

(7) Acknowledging the duty to disclose to the Office all information known to applicants to be material to patentability as defined in § 1.56.

* * * * *

13. Section 1.193(c) is removed and reserved.

§ 1.193 Examiner's Answer.

14. Section 1.291, paragraphs (a) and (c), are revised to read as follows:

§ 1.291 Protests by the public against pending applications.

(a) Protests by a member of the public against pending applications will be referred to the examiner having charge of the subject matter involved. A protest specifically identifying the application to which the protest is directed will be entered in the application file if:

(1) the protest is timely submitted; and

(2) the protest is either served upon the applicant in accordance with § 1.248, or filed with the Office in duplicate in the event service is not possible.

Protests raising fraud or other inequitable conduct issues will be entered in the application file, generally without comment on those issues. Protests which do not adequately identify a pending patent application will be disposed of and will not be considered by the Office.

* * * * *

(c) A member of the public filing a protest in an application under paragraph (a) of this section will not receive any communications from the Office relating to the protest, other than the return of a self-addressed postcard which the member of the public may include with the protest in order to receive an acknowledgment by the Office that the protest has been received. The Office may communicate with the applicant regarding any protest and may require the applicant to respond to specific questions raised by the protest. In the absence of a request by the Office, an applicant has no duty to, and need not, respond to a protest. The limited involvement of the member of the public filing a protest pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section ends with the filing of the protest, and no further submission on behalf of the protestor will be considered unless such submission raises new issues which could not have been earlier presented.

15. Section 1.313, paragraph (b), is revised to read as follows:

§ 1.313 Withdrawal from issue.

* * * * *

(b) When the issue fee has been paid, the application will not be withdrawn from issue for any reason except:

(1) a mistake on the part of the Office;

(2) a violation of § 1.56 or illegality in the application;

(3) unpatentability of one or more claims;

(4) for interference; or

(5) for abandonment to permit consideration of an information disclosure statement under § 1.97 in a continuing application.

16. Section 1.555 is revised to read as follows:

§ 1.555 Information material to patentability in reexamination proceedings.

(a) A patent by its very nature is affected with a public interest. The public interest is best served, and the most effective reexamination occurs when, at the time a reexamination proceeding is being conducted, the Office is aware of and evaluates the teachings of all information material to patentability in a reexamination proceeding. Each individual associated with the patent owner in a reexamination proceeding has a duty of candor and good faith in dealing with the Office, which includes a duty to disclose to the Office all information known to that individual to be material to patentability in a reexamination proceeding. The individuals who have a duty to disclose to the Office all information known to them to be material to patentability in a reexamination proceeding are the patent owner, each attorney or agent who represents the patent owner, and every other individual who is substantively involved on behalf of the patent owner in a reexamination proceeding. The duty to disclose the information exists with respect to each claim pending in the reexamination proceeding until the claim is cancelled. Information material to the patentability of a cancelled claim need no be submitted if the information is not material to patentability of any claim remaining under consideration in the reexamination proceeding. The duty to disclose all information known to be material to patentability in a reexamination proceeding is deemed to be satisfied if all information known to be material to patentability of any claim in the patent after issuance of the reexamination certificate was cited by the Office or submitted to the Office in an information disclosure statement. However, the duties of candor, good faith, and disclosure have not been complied with if any fraud on the Office was practiced or attempted or the duty of disclosure was violated through bad faith or intentional misconduct by, or on behalf of, the patent owner in the reexamination proceeding. Any information disclosure statement must be filed with the items listed in § 1.98 as applied to individuals associated with the patent owner in a reexamination proceeding, and should be filed within two months of the date of the order for reexamination, or as soon thereafter as possible.

(b) Under this section, information is material to patentability in a reexamination proceeding when it is not cumulative to information of record or being made of record in the reexamination proceeding, and

(1) it is a patent or printed publication that establishes, by itself or in combination with other patents or printed publications, a prima facie case of unpatentability of a claim; or

(2) it refutes, or is inconsistent with, a position the patent owner takes in:

(i) opposing an argument of unpatentability relied on by the Office, or

(ii) asserting an argument of patentability.

A prima facie case of unpatentability of a claim pending in a reexamination proceeding is established when the information compels a conclusion that a claim is unpatentable under the preponderance of evidence, burden-of-proof standard, giving each term in the claim its broadest reasonable construction consistent with the specification, and before any consideration is given to evidence which may be submitted in an attempt to establish a contrary conclusion of patentability.

(c) The responsibility for compliance with this section rests upon the individuals designated in paragraph (a) of this section and no evaluation will be made by the Office in the reexamination proceeding as to compliance with this section. If questions of compliance with this section are discovered during a reexamination proceeding, they will be noted as unresolved questions in accordance with § 1.552(c).

(69) Implementation of Rules on Information Disclosure Statements

New rules on the duty of disclosure and information disclosure statements, effective March 16, 1992, were published in the Federal Register at 57 FR 2021 (Jan. 17, 1992) and in the Official Gazette at 1135 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 13 (Feb. 4, 1992).

The procedures for handling information disclosure statements (37 CFR 1.97 and 1.98) will be set forth in Section 609 of the Manual of Patent Examining Procedure (MPEP). A copy of the instructions being given to examiners for handling information disclosure statements under the new rules is being published for the benefit of the public. Also being published is a sample declaration form which incorporates language conforming to the amendment to 37 CFR 1.63 contained in the new rules. Declaration forms acceptable under the rules in effect prior to the change effective March 16, 1992, will continue to be acceptable under the new rules.

The Office is considering changing its policy regarding the printing on patents of citations of information considered in patent applications. The proposed change will not affect consideration by the examiner of information submitted to the Office in compliance with 37 CFR 1.97(b)-(d) and 1.98. The proposed change affects only the information printed on the patent. Presently, as set forth in the last paragraph of the instructions which follow, information properly submitted by applicant and considered by the examiner will be printed on the patent along with the references cited by the examiner in Office actions. It has been suggested that it would be more helpful to the Office and to the public in using a patent for future search purposes if only the references cited and/or relied upon by the examiner in Office actions were listed on the printed patent. Alternatively, it has been suggested that the references listed on a patent be differentiated as to whether they were cited and/or relied on by the examiner or cited by applicant but not relied on by the examiner. The Office has a preference for the option that lists only the information cited and/or relied on by the examiner because it reduces printing costs (some citations by applicants now add several additional pages to the patent grant) and minimizes processing problems associated with correcting incomplete or inaccurate citations before the patent is printed. Public comment on these proposals is welcomed and should be directed to J. Michael Thesz (703-305-9384) or by mail directed to Mr. Thesz in the Office of the Assistant Commissioner for Patents. Comments should be received before May 29, 1992.

Applicants and other individuals substantively involved with the preparation and/or prosecution of a patent application have a duty to submit to the Office information which is material to patentability as defined in 37 CFR 1.56. These individuals also may want the Office to consider information for a variety of other reasons, e.g., without first determining whether the information meets any particular standard of materiality, or because another patent office considered the information to be relevant in a counterpart or related patent application filed in another country, or to make sure that the examiner has an opportunity to consider the same information that was considered by the individuals that were substantively involved with the preparation or prosecution of a patent application.

An information disclosure statement filed in accordance with the provisions of 37 CFR 1.97 and 1.98 provides the procedure available to an applicant to submit information to the Office so that information will be considered by the examiner assigned to the application. The requirements for the content of a statement have been simplified in the new rules effective March 16, 1992, to encourage individuals associated in a substantive way with the filing and prosecution of a patent application to submit information to the Office so the examiner can determine its relevance to the claimed invention. The procedure for submitting an information disclosure statement under the new rules are designed to encourage individuals to submit information to the Office promptly.

In order to have information considered by the Office during the pendency of a patent application, an information disclosure statement in compliance with 37 CFR 1.98 as to content must be filed in accordance with the procedural requirements of 37 CFR 1.97. The requirements as to content are discussed in A below. The requirements based on the time of filing the statement are discussed in B below. Examiner handling of information disclosure statement is discussed in C below.

The Office has set forth the minimum requirements for information to be considered in 37 CFR 1.97 and 1.98. Once the minimum requirements are met, the examiner has an obligation to consider the information. These rules provide certainty for the public by defining what the requirements are, when the Office will consider information and when the Office will not consider information.

The filing of an information disclosure statement shall not be construed as a representation that a search has been made. 37 CFR 1.97(g). There is no requirement that an application for a patent make a patentability search. Further, the filing of an information disclosure statement shall not be construed to be an admission that the information cited in the statement is, or is considered to be, material to patentability as defined in 37 CFR 1.56(b). 37 CFR 1.97(h). See MPEP 706.02(b) regarding admissions by applicant.

Multiple information disclosure statements may be filed in a single application, and they will be considered, provided each is in compliance with the appropriate requirements. Use of form PTO-1449, "Information Disclosure Citation," is encouraged as a means providing the required list of information. See C(2) below.

Information which is cited or submitted to the Office in the parent application of a file wrapper continuing application under 37 CFR 1.62 will be part of the file before the examiner and need not be resubmitted in the continuing application. Likewise, the examiner will consider information cited or submitted to the Office in a parent application when examining a continuing application and thus this information need not be resubmitted unless applicant desires the information to be printed on the patent.

A. Content

An information disclosure statement must comply with the provisions of 37 CFR 1.98 as to content in order to be considered by the Office. Each information disclosure statement must comply with the applicable provisions of A(1), A(2) and A(3) below.

A(1) Each information disclosure statement must include a list of all patents, publications, or other information submitted for consideration by the Office.

Paragraph (b) of 37 CFR 1.98 requires that each U.S. patent listed in an information disclosure statement be identified by patentee, patent number and issue date. Each foreign patent or published foreign patent application must be identified by the country or patent office which issued the patent or published the application, an appropriate document number, and the publication date indicated on the patent or published application. Each publication must be identified by author (if any), title, relevant pages of the publication, date (at least month and year) and place of publication. The place of publication refers to the name of the journal, magazine or other publication in which the information being submitted was published.

The list may not be incorporated into the specification but must be submitted in a separate paper. A separate list is required so that it is easy to confirm that applicant intends to submit an information disclosure statement, and because it provides a readily available checklist for the examiner to indicate which identified documents have been considered. A copy of a separate list will also provide a simple means of communication to applicant to indicate the listed documents that have been considered and those listed documents that have not been considered. Use of form PTO-1449, "Information Disclosure Citation," is encouraged. See C(2) below.

A(2) In addition to the list, each information disclosure statement must also include a legible copy of:

(i) Each U.S. and foreign patent;

(ii) Each publication or that portion which caused it to be listed; and

(iii) All other information or that portion which caused it to be listed, except that no copy of a U.S. patent application need be included.

There are exceptions to this general rule that a copy must be provided. First, paragraph (d) of 37 CFR 1.98 states that a copy of any patent, publication or other information listed in an information disclosure statement is not required to be provided if it was previously cited by or submitted to the Office in a prior application, provided that the prior application is properly identified in the statement and relied upon for an earlier filing date under 35 U.S.C. 120. The examiner will consider information cited or submitted to the Office in a prior application relied on under 35 U.S.C. 120. This exception to the requirement for copies of information does not apply to information which was cited in an international application under the Patent Cooperation Treaty.

Second, paragraph (c) of 37 CFR 1.98 states that when the disclosures of two or more patents or publications listed in an information disclosure statement are substantively cumulative, a copy of the one of the patents or publications may be submitted without copies of the other patents or publications provided that a statement is made that these other patents or publications are cumulative. The examiner will then consider only the patent or publication of which a copy is submitted and will so indicate on the list or form PTO-1449 submitted, e.g., by crossing-out the listing of the cumulative information.

Paragraph (c) of 37 CFR 1.98 further states that if a written English language translation of a non-English language document, or portion thereof, is within the possession, custody or control of, or is readily available to any individual designated in 37 CFR 1.56(c), a copy of the translation shall accompany the statement. Translations are not required to be filed unless they have been reduced to writing and are actually translations of what is contained in the non-English language information. If no translation is submitted, the examiner will consider the information in view of the concise explanation and insofar as it is understood on its face, e.g., drawings, chemical formulas, English language abstracts, in the same manner that non-English language information in Office search files is considered by examiners in conducting searches.

A(3) Each information disclosure statement must further include a concise explanation of the relevance, as it is presently understood by the individual designated in 37 CFR 1.56(c) most knowledgeable about the content of the information, of each patent, publication, or other information listed that is not in the English language. The concise explanation may be either separate from the specification or incorporated therein.

The requirement for a concise explanation of relevance is limited to information that is not in the English language. The explanation required is limited to the relevance as understood by the individual designated in 37 CFR 1.56(c) most knowledgeable about the content of the information at the time the information is submitted to the Office. If a translation of the information into English is submitted with the foreign language information, no concise explanation is required. There is no requirement for the translation to be verified. Where the information listed is not in the English language, but was cited in a search report by a foreign patent office in a counterpart foreign application, the requirement for a concise explanation of relevance can be satisfied by submitting an English language version of the search report which indicates the degree of relevance found by the foreign office. The requirement for a concise explanation of non-English language information would not be satisfied by a statement that a reference was cited in the prosecution of a parent, related, or copending United States application.

The concise explanation may indicate that a particular figure or paragraph of the patent or publication is relevant to the claimed invention. It might be a simple statement pointing to similarities between the item of information and the claimed invention. It is permissible but not necessary to discuss differences between the cited information and the claims.

Applicants may, if they wish, provide a concise explanation of why English-language information is being submitted and how it is understood to be relevant. Concise explanations are helpful to the Office, particularly where documents are lengthy and complex and applicant is aware of a section that is highly relevant to patentablilty or where a large number of documents are submitted and applicant is aware that one or more are highly relevant to patentability.

B. Time for Filing

The procedure and requirements for submitting an information disclosure statement are linked to four stages in the processing of a patent application: (1) within three months of filing, or before first Office action, whichever is later; (2) after the period in (1), but before final Office action or a Notice of Allowance, whichever is earlier; (3) after the period in (2) but on or before the issue fee is paid; and (4) after the period in (3) and up to the time the patent application can be effectively withdrawn from issue. The procedures and requirements apply to applications filed under 35 U.S.C. 111 (utility), 161 (plants), 171 (designs), and 251 (reissue), as well as international applications entering the national stage under 35 U.S.C. 371.

The requirements based on the time when the information disclosure statement is filed are summarized as follows:

Time when IDS is filed	37 CFR 1.97 Requirements
(1) Within 3 months of filing or before first Office action on the merits, whichever is later.	None (always considered).
(2) After (1) but before final action or notice of allowance.	Certification or 1.17(p) fee.
(3) After final action or notice of allowance and before payment of issue fee.	Certification, petition, and petition fee.

B(1) Statement filed BEFORE first action on the merits or within three (3) months of actual filing date (37 CFR 1.97(b)).

An information disclosure statement will be considered by the examiner if filed:

(i) within three months of the filing date of a national application;

(ii) within three months of the date of entry of the national stage as set forth in 37 CFR 1.491 in an international application; or

(iii) before the mailing date of a first Office action on the merits, whichever event occurs last. A statement filed within this period requires neither a fee nor a certification of prompt filing.

The term "national application" includes continuing applications (continuations, divisions, continuations-in-part) so three-months will be measured from the actual filing date of an application as apposed to the effective date of a continuing application.

All information disclosure statements that comply with the content requirements of 37 CFR 1.98 and are filed within three months of the filing date will be considered by the examiner, regardless of whatever else has occurred in the examination process up to that point in time. Thus, in the rare instance that a final Office action or a notice of allowance is prepared and mailed prior to a date which is three months from the filing date, any information contained in a complete information disclosure statement filed within that three-month window will be considered by the examiner.

Likewise, an information disclosure statement will be considered if it is filed later than three months after the filing date but before the mailing date of a first Office action on the merits. An action on the merits means an action which treats the patentability of the claims in an application, as opposed to only formal or procedural requirements. An action on the merits would, for example, contain a rejection or indication of allowability of a claim or claims rather than just a restriction requirement (37 CFR 1.142) or just a requirement for additional fees to have a claim considered (37 CFR 1.16(d)). Thus, if an application was filed on Jan. 1 and the first Office action on the merits was not mailed until six months later on July 1, the examiner would be required to consider any proper information disclosure statement filed prior to July 1.

An information disclosure statement will be considered to have been filed on the day it was received in the Office, or on an earlier date of mailing if accompanied by a properly executed certificate of mailing under 37 CFR 1.8, or Express Mail certificate under 37 CFR 1.10. An Office action is mailed on the date indicated in the Office action.

B(2) Statement filed after B(1), but BEFORE mailing of final action or Notice of Allowance (37 CFR 1.97(c)).

An information disclosure statement will be considered by the examiner if filed after the period specified in B(1) above, but before the mailing date of either a final action under 37 CFR 1.113 or a notice of allowance under 37 CFR 1.311,

whichever occurs first, provided: (1) the statement is accompanied by either a certification as specified in 37 CFR 1.97(e) or (2) the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(p). If a final action or notice of allowance is mailed in an application and later withdrawn, the application will be considered as not having had a final action or notice of allowance mailed for purposes of considering an information disclosure statement.

(i) If information submitted during the period set forth in 37 CFR 1.97(c) with a certification is used in a new ground of rejection on unamended claims, the next Office action will not be made final since in this situation it is clear that applicant has submitted the information to the Office promptly after it has become known and the information is being submitted prior to a final determination on patentability by the Office. However, the information submitted with a certification can be used in a new ground of rejection and the next Office action made final. If the new ground of rejection was necessitated by amendment of the application by applicant. Where the information is submitted during this period with a fee, the examiner may use the information submitted, e.g., printed publication or evidence of public use, and make the next Office action final whether or not the claims have been amended, provided that no other new ground of rejection which was not necessitated by amendment to the claims is introduced by the examiner. See MPEP 706.07(a). If a new ground of rejection is introduced that is neither necessitated by an amendment to the claims nor based on the information submitted with the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(p), the Office action shall not be made final.

(ii) A certification under 37 CFR 1.97(e) must state either

(a) that each item of information contained in the information disclosure statement was cited in a communication from a foreign patent office in a counterpart foreign application not more than three months prior to the filing of the statement, or

(b) that no item of information contained in the information disclosure statement was cited in a communication from a foreign patent office in a counterpart foreign application or, to the knowledge of the person signing the certification after making reasonable inquiry, was known to any individual designated in 37 CFR 1.56(c), more than three months prior to the filing of the statement.

A certification can contain either of two statements. One statement is that each item of information in an information disclosure statement was cited in a communication, such as a search report, from a patent office outside the U.S. in a counterpart foreign application not more than three months prior to the filing date of the statement. Under this certification, it does not matter whether any individual with a duty of disclosure actually knew about any of the information cited before receiving the search report. The date on the communication by the foreign patent office begins the three-month period in the same manner as the mailing of an Office action starts a three-month shortened statutory period for response. The date starting the three-month period is not the date the communication was received by a foreign associate or the date it was received by a U.S. registered practitioner. Likewise, the statement will be considered to have been filed on the date the statement was received in the Office, or on an earlier date of mailing if accompanied by a properly executed certificate of mailing under 37 CFR 1.8, or Express Mail certificate under 37 CFR 1.10.

The term counterpart foreign patent application means that a claim for priority has been made in either the U.S. application or a foreign application based on the other, or that the disclosures of the U.S. and foreign patent applications are substantively identical (e.g., an application filed in the European Patent Office claiming the same U.K. priority as claimed in the U.S. application).

In the alternative, a certification can be made if no item of information contained in the information disclosure statement was cited in a communication from a foreign patent office in a counterpart foreign application and, to the knowledge of the person signing the certification after making reasonable inquiry, neither was it known to any individual having a duty to disclose more than three months prior to the filing of the statement.

The phrase "after making reasonable inquiry" makes it clear that the individual making the certification has a duty to make reasonable inquiry regarding the facts that are being certified. The certification can be made by a registered practitioner who represents a foreign client and who relies on statements made by the foreign client as to the date the information first became known. A registered practitioner who receives information from a client without being informed whether the information was known for more than three months, however, cannot make the certification without making reasonable inquiry. For example, if an inventor gave a publication to the attorney prosecuting an application with the intent that it be cited to the Office, the attorney should inquire as to when that inventor became aware of the publication and should not submit a certification under 37 CFR 1.97(e)(2) to the Office until a satisfactory response is received. The certification can be based on present, good faith knowledge about when information became known without a search of files being made.

Certification need not be in the form of an oath or a declaration under 37 CFR 1.68. Certification by a registered practitioner or any other individual that the statement was filed within the three-month period of either first citation by a foreign patent office or first discovery of the information will be accepted as dispositive of compliance with this provision in the absence of evidence to the contrary. For example, a certification could read as follows:

"I hereby certify that each item of information contained in this information disclosure statement was cited in a communication from a foreign patent office in a counterpart foreign application not more than three months prior to the filing of this statement.", or

"I hereby certify that no item of information in the Information Disclosure Statement filed herewith was cited in a communication from a foreign patent office in a counterpart foreign application or, to my knowledge after making reasonable inquiry, was known to any individual designated in 37 CFR 1.56(c) more than three months prior to the filing of this Information Disclosure Statement."

An information disclosure statement may include two list and two certifications, similar to the above examples, in situations where some of the information listed was cited in a communication from a foreign patent office not more than three months prior to filing the statement and some was not, but was not known more than three months prior to filing the statement.

A copy of the foreign search report need not be submitted with the certification, but an individual may wish to submit an English-language version of the search report to satisfy the requirement for a concise explanation where non-English language information is cited. The time at which information "was known to any individual designated in 37 CFR 1.56(c)" is the time when the information was discovered in association with the application even if awareness of the materiality came later. The Office wishes to encourage prompt evaluation of the relevance of information and to have a date certain for determining if a certification can properly be made. A statement on information and belief would not be sufficient. Examiners should not remind or otherwise make any comment about an individual's duty of candor and good faith, but questions about the adequacy of any certification received in writing by the Office should be directed to the Office of the Assistant Commissioner for Patents.

B(3) Statement filed after B(2), but Prior to Payment of Issue Fee (37 CFR 1.97(d)).

An information disclosure statement will be considered by the examiner if filed after the mailing date of either a final action under 37 CFR 1.113 or a notice of allowance under 37 CFR 1.311, whichever occurs first, but before or simultaneous with payment of the issue fee, provided the statement is accompanied by:

(i) a certification as specified in 37 CFR 1.97(e) (see the discussion in B(2)(ii) above),

(ii) a petition requesting consideration of the information disclosure statement, and

(iii) the petition fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(i)(1).

These requirements are appropriate in view of the late stage of prosecution when the information is being submitted, i.e., after the examiner has reached a final determination on the patentability of the claims presented for examination. The petition should be directed to the Group Director of the examining group handling the application. The petition need do nothing more than request consideration of the information being submitted. Payment of the petition fee (37 CFR 1.17(i)(1)) and submission of the appropriate certification (37 CFR 1.97(e)) are the essential elements for having information considered at this advanced stage of prosecution.

The requirements of 37 CFR 1.97 provide for consideration by the Office of information which is submitted within a reasonable time, i.e., within 3 months after an individual designated in 37 CFR 1.56(c) becomes aware of the information or within 3 months of the information being cited in a communication from a foreign patent office in a counterpart foreign application. This undertaking by the Office to consider information would be available throughout the pendency of the application until the point where the patent issue fee was paid. If an applicant chose not to comply, or could not comply, with the requirements of 37 CFR 1.97(d), a continuing application could be filed to have the information considered by the examiner. The parent application could be permitted to become abandoned by not paying the issue fee required in the Notice of Allowance, for example, or by the filing of a file wrapper continuing application under 37 CFR 1.62. It would not be proper to make final a first Office action in the continuing application if the information submitted is used in a new ground of rejection.

B(4) Statement filed after Payment of Issue Fee.

After the issue fee has been paid on an application, it is impractical for the Office to attempt to consider newly submitted information. Information disclosure statements filed after payment of the issue fee in an application will not be considered but will merely be placed in the application file. See C below. The application may be withdrawn from issue at this point, however, pursuant to 37 CFR 1.313(b)(5) so that the information can be considered in a continuing application. In this situation, a file wrapper continuing application under 37 CFR 1.62 could be filed even though the issue fee had already been paid. The Office will consider the filing of a petition under 37 CFR 1.313(b)(5) as sufficient grounds to waive the requirement that an application under 37 CFR 1.62 be filed before payment of the issue fee. Alternatively, for example, a petition pursuant to 37 CFR 1.313(b)(3) could be filed if applicant states that one or more claims are unpatentable. This statement that one or more claims are unpatentable over the information must be unequivocable. A statement that a serious question as to patentability of a claim has been raised, for example, would not be acceptable to withdraw an application from issue under 37 CFR 1.313(b)(3).

If an application has been withdrawn from issue under one of the provisions of 37 CFR 1.313(b)(1)-(4), it will be treated as though no notice of allowance had been mailed and the issue fee had not yet been paid with regard to the time for filing information disclosure statements. Petitions under 37 CFR 1.313(b) should be directed to the Office of Petitions in the Office of the Assistant Commissioner for Patents.

B(5) Extensions of Time (37 CFR 1.97(f))

No extensions of time for filing an information disclosure statement are permitted under 37 CFR 1.136(a) or (b). If a bona fide attempt is made to comply with the content requirements of 37 CFR 1.98, but part of the required content is inadvertently omitted, additional time may be given to enable full compliance.

C. Examiner Handling of Information Disclosure Statements

Information disclosure statements will be reviewed for compliance with the requirements of 37 CFR 1.97 and 1.98 as discussed in A and B above. Applicant will be notified of compliance and non-compliance with the rules as discussed below.

C(1) Non-complying statements

Pursuant to 37 CFR 1.97(i), submitted information, filed before the grant of a patent, which does not comply with 37 CFR 1.97 and 1.98 will be placed in the file, but will not be considered by the Office. Information submitted after the grant of a patent must comply with 37 CFR 1.501.

(i) If an information disclosure statement does not comply with the requirement based on the time of filing the statement as discussed in B above, including the requirements for fees and/or certification, the statement will be placed in the application file, but none of the information will be considered by the examiner. The examiner may use form paragraph 6.49 which is reproduced below to inform applicant that the information has not been considered. Applicant may then file a new information disclosure statement or correct the deficiency in the previously filed statement but the date of that the statement or correction is filed will be the date of the statement for purposes of determining whether the requirements based on the time of filing the statement (37 CFR 1.97) have been complied with.

The examiner should write "not considered" on an information disclosure statement where none of the information listed complies with the requirements, e.g., no copies of listed items submitted. The paper containing the disclosure statement or list will be placed in the record in the application file. The examiner will inform applicant that the information has not been considered and the reasons why by using form paragraph 6.49. If the improper citation appears as part of another paper, e.g., an amendment, which may be properly entered and considered, the portion of the paper which is proper for consideration will be considered.

6.49 Information Disclosure Statement Not Considered

The information disclosure statement filed[1] fails to comply with the provisions of MPEP 609 because[2]. It has been placed in the application file, but the information referred to therein has not been considered as to the merits.

Examiner Note:
See MPEP 609 for situations where use of this paragraph would be appropriate.

(ii) If an information disclosure statement complies with the requirements based on the time of filing the statement as discussed in B above, including the requirements for fees and/or certification, but part of the content requirements as discussed in A above has been inadvertently omitted, the examiner may set a one-month time period to correct the omission. Form paragraph 6.51 may be used for this purpose.

6.51 Time Limit for Completing Information Disclosure Statement

The Information Disclosure Statement filed on[1] does not comply with the requirements of 37 CFR 1.98 because[2]. Since the submission appears to be bona fide, but through an apparent oversight or inadvertence failed to comply with the necessary requirements, applicant is required to complete the statement within a time limit of one month from the date of this letter. NO EXTENSION OF THIS TIME LIMIT MAY BE GRANTED UNDER EITHER 37 CFR 1.136(a) OR (b). Failure to comply with this notice will result in the Information Disclosure Statement being placed in the application file with the non-complying information not being considered.

Examiner Note:
This practice does not apply where there has been a deliberate omission of some necessary part of an information disclosure statement or where the requirements based on the time of filing the statement as set forth in 37 CFR 1.97 have not been complied with.

If a statement fails to comply with requirements as discussed in this section for an item of information, that item of information in the statement will not be considered and a line should be drawn through the citation to show that it has not been considered. However, other items of information that do comply with all the requirements will be considered by the examiner.

If information is listed in the specification rather than in a separate paper, or if the other content requirements as discussed in A above are not complied with, the examiner will notify applicant in the next Office action that the information has not been considered. It should be noted, however, that no copy of a U.S. patent application is required to be submitted. See A(2)(iii) above. Where a U.S. patent application is properly cited, the examiner should obtain access to that file within the Office.

C(2) Complying Statements

The information contained in information disclosure statements which comply with both the content requirements as discussed in A above and the requirements based on the time of filing the statement as discussed in B above will be considered by the examiner.

Applicants, patent owners, reexamination requesters, protesters and others are encouraged to use form PTO-1449, "Information Disclosure Citation," when preparing an information disclosure statement. A copy of this form is reproduced in this section to indicate how the form should be completed. This form will enable persons to comply with the requirements to list each item of information being submitted and to provide the Office with a uniform listing of citations and with a ready way to indicate that information has been considered.

Examiners must consider all citations submitted in conformance with the rules and this section and place their initials adjacent the citations on a list or in the boxes provided on a form PTO-1449. If the citations are submitted on a list other than on a form PTO-1449, the examiner may write "all considered" and his or her initials to indicate that all citations have been considered. If any of the citations are considered, a copy of the submitted list or form, as reviewed by the examiner, will be returned to the applicant with the next communication. The original copy of the form will be entered into the application file. The copy returned to applicant will serve both as acknowledgement of receipt of the information disclosure statement and as an indication that the references were considered by the examiner. Forms PTO-326 and PTOL-37 include a box to indicate the attachment of form PTO- 449.

Information which complies with requirements as discussed in this section but which is in a non-English language will be considered in view of the concise explanation submitted (A(3) above) and insofar as it is understood on its face, e.g., drawings, chemical formulas, in the same manner that non-English language information in Office search files is considered by examiners in conducting searches. The examiner need not have the information translated unless it appears to be necessary to do so. The examiner will indicate that the non-English language information has been considered in the same manner as consideration is indicated for information submitted in English. The examiner should not require that a translation be filed by applicant. The examiner should not make any comment such as that the non-English language information has only been considered to the extent understood, since this fact is inherent.

Since information is required to be listed in a separate paper rather than in the specification, there is no need to mark "All checked" or "Checked" in the margin of a specification containing citations.

If a statement fails to comply with the requirements as discussed in this section for an item of information, a line should be drawn through the citation to show that it has not been considered. The other items of information listed that do comply with the rules and this section will be considered by the examiner and will be appropriately initialed.

D. Information Printed on Patent

A citation listed on form PTO-1449 and considered by the examiner in accordance with this section will be printed on the patent. A citation listed in a separate paper, equivalent to but not on form PTO-1449, and considered by the examiner in accordance with this section will be printed on the patent if the list is on a separate sheet which is clearly identified as an information disclosure statement and the list lends itself to easy capture of the necessary information by the Office printing contractor, i.e., each item of information is listed on a single line, the lines are at least double-spaced from each other, the information is uniform in format for each listed item, the list includes a column for the examiner's initials to indicate that the information was considered. If a citation is not printed on the patent but has been considered by the examiner in accordance with this section, the patented file will reflect that fact as noted in C(2) above.

Supplementary Information

I. Issues for Public Comment

The PTO is inviting written public comments on the administration and relevance of the existing statutory and regulatory requirements for obtaining the right of priority of an earlier filed foreign application and/or issues associated with the electronic exchange of priority documents between the Trilateral Offices (PTO, EPO, and JPO). Questions included at the end of this section are intended to illustrate the types of issues upon which the PTO is particularly interested in obtaining public comment. This notice has been determined to be not significant for the purposes of Executive Order 12866.

A. The Requirement for a Certified Copy of the Foreign Application Unless Deemed Necessary.

Currently, the Trilateral Offices are reconsidering the need that a certified copy of the foreign application be submitted in all cases. 35 U.S.C. 119 requires that a certified copy of a foreign application be submitted in all cases in order to obtain the right of priority. Specifically, 35 U.S.C. 119(b) requires that the applicant file a claim for the right of priority and a certified copy of the original foreign application before the grant of the patent, or at any time during the pendency of the application as required by the Commissioner, but not earlier than six months after the filing of the application in this country. The Commissioner may currently require a translation of the papers filed if not in the English language.

37 CFR 1.55, which implements 35 U.S.C. 119(b), requires that the claim for priority and the certified copy of the foreign application must be filed in all cases before the grant of the patent in order to be entitled to the right of priority, and requires a claim for priority or certified copy of the foreign application filed after payment of the issue fee to be accompanied by a petition (and fee under 37 CFR 1.17(i)) requesting entry. However, the certified copy of the foreign application may be required earlier during the pendency of the application in the case of an interference, when necessary to overcome the date of a reference relied upon by the examiner, or when specifically required by the examiner. If the certified copy of the foreign application is not in the English language, a translation will not be required except in the case of an interference, when necessary to overcome the date of a reference relied upon by the examiner, or when specifically required by the examiner.

Consequently, by statute and regulation, the certified copy of the foreign application must be filed in all cases during the pendency of the application even though it may be unnecessary to the examination of the application. Unless a substantive review of the certified copy of the foreign application, or a translation of such, is necessary to the examination of the application, e.g., during an interference or when necessary to overcome an intervening reference, the claim to priority and the certified copy of the foreign application are merely reviewed to determine whether the certified copy of the foreign application corresponds in number, date, and country to the application identified in the oath or declaration and that there are no obvious formal defects. There is generally no examination of the certified copy of the foreign application to determine whether the applicant is entitled to the benefit of the foreign filing date on the basis of the disclosure of the document. Thus, an unnecessary burden is placed upon applicants to obtain certified copies of the priority documents from the appropriate office and then submit them to the PTO in instances in which the PTO does not substantively examine such documents, especially in view of the fact that such documents do not qualify as prior art in the United States. Further, an unnecessary burden is placed upon the PTO in the processing of such documents.

This right of priority originated in a multilateral treaty of 1883, i.e., the Paris Convention for the Protection of Industrial Property (Paris Convention), to which the United States adhered in 1887. The Paris Convention, however, merely requires that a person who wishes to take advantage of a previous filing make a declaration indicating the date of such filing and the country in which it was filed. The Paris Convention permits, but does not require, the countries of the Union to require a certified copy of the foreign application of the application as previously filed. Under the Paris Convention, the countries may also require that a translation accompany the certified copy of the foreign application. See Questions # 1, 2, and 3.

B. Electronic Exchange of Priority Documents.

The PTO also requests written public comment on issues associated with the electronic exchange of priority documents between the PTO, EPO, and JPO. Currently, the Trilateral Offices are considering the implementation of procedures that would allow for the direct exchange of priority documents in electronic form between the office of first filing and the offices of subsequent filings. See Question # 4. The PTO is interested in how the public views such electronic exchanges of priority documents, including the evidentiary effect of an electronic document constituting the official PTO record of the priority document. See Questions # 5 and 6.

It is anticipated that it will be some time before the PTO will have an electronic data base containing the content of applications-as-filed in a word-recognizable format, e.g., applications captured by optical character recognition (OCR). As such, any electronic exchange, at least initially, would be in the form of digital images of the applications-as-filed.

It is contemplated that under a system authorizing the exchange of priority documents, an applicant would have to request that an office forward the priority document directly to another office in electronic form, rather than having the certified copy go to the applicant, who in turn would forward it to the other office. The PTO is also considering providing a return receipt to indicate to the applicant that the request to forward the priority document was received by the PTO and that the PTO has forwarded the priority document to the office(s) designated by the applicant.

The cost to the PTO of processing requests and forwarding priority documents to the designated office(s), and of generating and mailing return receipts, would be recovered through service fees. See Questions # 7 and 8.

Nevertheless, such a direct exchange of priority documents for a service fee should result in an overall reduction in costs and administrative work for applicants, as well as cost reductions in the conversion from paper to electronic form.

II. Questions

1. (a) Does the requirement that a certified copy of the foreign application be submitted in all cases before the grant of a patent in order to be entitled to the right of priority serve any useful purpose? If yes, please provide those useful purposes.

(b) Is your answer affected by the fact that such documents may qualify as novelty defeating prior art in other countries?

2. (a) Notwithstanding the existing requirements, when should an applicant be required to submit a certified copy of the foreign application?

(b) Would you continue to submit a certified copy of the foreign application even if not specifically required?

(c) Should any action taken by the U.S. Government be contingent on action in the other Trilateral countries?

3. When the foreign application is not in the English language and an English translation is deemed necessary, should both a certified copy of the foreign application and an English language translation accompanied by a verified statement that the translation is an accurate translation of the certified copy of the foreign application be required, or should only an English language translation of the foreign application accompanied by a verified statement that the translation is accurate be required?

4. What significant problems, either legal or technical, would need to be solved to permit the offices of subsequent filing to receive the priority documents directly from the office of first filing rather than from the applicant?

5. Should the PTO, EPO, and JPO electronically exchange priority documents at the request of applicant? Would most applicants take advantage of this service? What disadvantages, if any, are there in the electronic transmission of priority documents among the PTO, EPO, and JPO?

6. Will the filing of a priority document in electronic form by the office of first filing, rather than in paper form by the applicant, affect the legal admissibility of the priority document?

7. If there was a service fee for the direct exchange of priority documents among the PTO, EPO, and JPO, which was higher than the current fee charged for a certified copy of the application, would most applicants still take advantage of this service? At what fee amount would most applicants choose to request the direct exchange of priority documents?

8. If providing a return receipt resulted in an increase in the service fee for the direct exchange of priority documents among the PTO, EPO, and JPO, would a return receipt be desirable? Against the background that increasing the information provided on such a return receipt would increase the cost of generating such return receipt, and thus increase the service fee, what information should be included on the return receipt?

(72) Using Certificate of Correction to Perfect Claim for Priority Under 35 USC 119

Under 35 USC 119, an applicant may assert a right of priority and claim the benefit of an earlier filing date in a foreign country. In this regard, 35 USC 119 states:

> No application for patent shall be entitled to this right or priority unless a claim therefor and a certified copy of the original foreign application, specification and drawings upon which it is based are filed in the Patent and Trademark Office before the patent is granted. . . .

The failure to perfect a claim to foreign priority benefits prior to issuance of the patent may be cured by filing a reissue application; Brenner v. State of Israel,158 USPQ 584 (CA DC 1968).

However, under certain conditions, this failure may also be cured by filing a Certificate of Correction request under 35 USC 255 and 37 CFR 1.323. For example, in the case of In re Van Esdonk, 187 USPQ 671 (Comr. 1975), the Commissioner granted a request to issue a Certificate of Correction in order to perfect a claim to foreign priority benefits. In that case, a claim to foreign priority benefits had not been filed in the application prior to issuance of the patent. However, the application was a continuation of an earlier application in which the requirements of 35 USC 119 had been satisfied. Accordingly, the Commissioner held that the "applicants' perfection of a priority claim under 35 USC 119 in the parent application will satisfy the statute with respect to their continuation application."

Although In re Van Esdonk involved the patent of a continuation application filed under 37 CFR 1.60, it is proper to apply the holding of that case in similar factual circumstances to any patented application having benefits under 35 USC 120. This is primarily because a claim to foreign priority benefits in a continuing application, where the claim has been perfected in the parent application, constitutes in essence a mere affirmation of the applicant's previously expressed desire to receive benefits under 35 USC 119 for subject matter common to the foreign, parent, and continuing applications.

In summary, a Certificate of Correction under 35 USC 255 and 37 CFR 1.323 may be requested and issued in order to perfect a claim to foreign priority benefits in a patented continuing application if the requirements of 35 USC 119 had been satisfied in the parent application prior to issuance of the patent and the requirements of 37 CFR 1.55(a) are met.

However, a claim to foreign priority benefits cannot be perfected via a Certificate of Correction if the requirements of 35 USC 119 had not been satisfied in the patented application, or its parent, prior to issuance and the requirements 37 CFR 155(a) are not met. In this latter circumstance, the claim to foreign priority benefits can be perfected only by way of a reissue application in accordance with the rationale set forth in Brenner v. State of Israel, supra.

RIN: 0651-AA13
Deposit of Biological Materials for Patent Purposes

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce
Action: Final Rule
Summary: The Patent and Trademark Office (Office) is amending its rules of practice in patent cases to define procedures to govern the deposit of biological materials for patent purposes. Where an invention is or relies on a biological material which cannot be described in writing alone, and access to the biological material is necessary to satisfy the statutory requirements for patentability under 35 U.S.C. 112, these rules prescribe the procedures and conditions for making a deposit that will satisfy these requirements. These rules also prescribe examining procedures that will be used to address deposit issues, and the procedures pertaining to access to a deposit once a patent is granted.

Effective Date: January 1, 1990.
For Further Information Contact: Charles E. Van Horn or Harris A. Pitlick by telephone at [703] 557-4035 or by mail marked to his attention and addressed to Box 8, Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231.
Supplementary Information:

Every patent must contain a written description of the invention sufficient to enable a person skilled in the art to which the invention pertains to make and use the invention. Where the invention involves a biological material and words alone cannot sufficiently describe how to make and use the invention in a reproducible or repeatable manner, access to the biological material is necessary for the satisfaction of the statutory requirements for patentability under 35 U.S.C. 112. The rules set forth examining procedures and conditions of deposit which must be satisfied in the event a deposit is required to provide the necessary access. The rules do not address the substantive issue of whether a deposit is required under any particular set of facts.

These rules will be effective for all applications filed on or after January 1, 1990, and for all reexamination proceedings in which the request for reexamination was filed on or after January 1, 1990, except that deposits made prior to the effective date which are acceptable under current practice will be acceptable in such applications and proceedings. Since most of the provisions reflect existing policy and practice, little change to existing practice or burden on applicants for patent and patent owners relying on the deposit of biological material is anticipated. Applicants and patent owners are encouraged to comply with these rules prior to the effective date.

The final rules on the deposit of biological materials for patent purposes have evolved over several years of actual experience in administering the guidelines set forth in Section 608.01(p) of the Manual of Patent Examining Procedure, including several administrative and judicial decisions, and interaction with interested public, bar and industry groups. A draft policy statement on the deposit of biological materials was circulated among interested bar and industry groups and published in the BNA-Patent, Trademark and Copyright Journal on May 22, 1986. An advance notice of proposed rulemaking setting forth rules being considered for deposits of biological material was published in the Federal Register, 52 FR 34080 (September 9, 1987), and in the Official Gazette, 1082 O.G. 47 (September 29, 1987). Finally, a notice of proposed rulemaking relating to the deposit of biological materials for patent purposes was published in the Federal Registar 53 FR 39420 (October 6, 1988), and in the Official Gazette, 1095 O.G. 47 (October 25, 1988).

In this notice of final rulemaking, a description of the changes in the text of the proposed rules is provided along with an explanation of the reasons supporting the changes. In addition, comments received in response to the notice of proposed rulemaking are analyzed. Finally, an explanation of the content of the final rules is provided, together with a compilation of relevant comments and responses that have been made during the rulemaking process. This explanation and compilation of previous comments and responses will serve as a set of guidelines that will be reproduced in the Manual of Patent Examining Procedure in due course.

Changes in Text of Proposed Rules

Several changes have been made in the text of the final rules from the text of the proposed rules which were published for comment in the notice of proposed rulemaking. Those changes are discussed below.

Section 1.200 as proposed has been renumbered as § 1.801 as adopted and the term "patent purposes" as proposed has been replaced with the term "purposes of patents for inventions under 35 U.S.C. 101" as adopted to clarify that the regulations pertaining to the deposit of biological material do not apply for purposes other than patents for inventions. Thus, these regulations are not applicable to applications for plant patents under 35 U.S.C. 161-164.

Section 1.201 as proposed has been renumbered as § 1.802 as adopted and the term "or Opportunity" in the heading thereof has been inserted after "Need" to reflect the permissive nature of a deposit when not necessary to satisfy 35 U.S.C. 112.

Paragraph (a) thereof as proposed provided that where a claimed invention is or relies on a biological material, the disclosure may include a deposit of the biological material deposited in a depository and under conditions complying with these regulations, provided a precondition was satisfied. The precondition was that the biological material not be known and readily available to the public and not be describable in writing alone. Paragraph (a) as adopted eliminates this precondition, does not require that the biological material be, or be used for, a claimed invention, does not require that the deposit be made in a depository and under conditions complying with these regulations, and more accurately states that the disclosure may include reference to a deposit, since the deposit is not physically part of the disclosure. Paragraph (a) as adopted merely provides that where an invention is, or relies on, a biological material, the disclosure may include reference to a deposit of such biological material.

Paragraph (b) of § 1.802 prescribes that biological material need not be deposited unless access to the material is necessary to satisfy 35 U.S.C. 112. If a deposit is necessary, it shall be acceptable if made in accordance with these regulations. Proposed paragraph (b) made no reference to 35 U.S.C. 112. Situations where a biological material is known and readily available to the public or can be made or isolated without undue experimentation are now listed as some, but not an exhaustive set, of the circumstances where deposit need not be made. The term "from known and readily available material" has been dropped from the end of the term "can be made or isolated without undue experimentation" as redundant. Paragraph (b) as adopted also prescribes that once deposited in a depository complying with these regulations, a biological material will be considered to be readily available even though some requirement of law or regulation permits access only under conditions imposed for safety, public health or similar reasons. Proposed paragraph (b) did not include the condition of deposit in a depository complying with these regulations.

Proposed paragraph (c) thereof was limited to reference to a specific organism or other biological material in a specification disclosure as not creating a presumption that the material was necessary to satisfy 35 U.S.C. 112 or that a deposit thereof is required. Paragraph (c) as adopted eliminates the term "specific organism or other" as redundant and also includes the act of deposit by an applicant or patent owner as not creating a presumption that the deposit is or was required.

Section 1.202 as proposed has been renumbered as § 1.803 as adopted.

Paragraph (a) thereof as proposed prescribed that a deposit shall be made in any International Depositary Authority (IDA) or any other depository recognized as suitable by the Office. Paragraph (a) as adopted now specifies that such deposits shall be recognized for the purpose of these regulations so as not to preclude deposits made for other reasons such as a gratuitous disclosure. Paragraph (a)(2) as adopted eliminates the requirement in the proposed rule that impartial consultants be from the biotechnology industry or governmental agencies. Paragraph (a)(2) as adopted also contains new sub-subparagraph (vii) as a requirement which a suitable depository must meet, viz.,that it promptly notify depositors of its inability to furnish samples, and the reasons why. This requirement appeared, in essence, in proposed § 1.204(a).

Proposed paragraph (b) thereof has not been adopted. Replacement of deposits is governed solely by § 1.805, infra.

Proposed paragraph (c) thereof has been adopted as paragraph (b). In subparagraph (2) thereof, "(b)" has been changed to "(a)(2)" to correct an inadvertent error in the proposed rule.

Proposed paragraph (d) thereof has been adopted as paragraph (c) except that the reference to paragraph (a) has been changed to paragraph (a)(2) to more clearly delineate which category of depository is intended to be covered by this paragraph of § 1.803 and all references to other paragraphs whose designations have been changed by adoption of these rules have been changed accordingly.

Proposed paragraph (e) thereof has been adopted as paragraph (d).

Section 1.203 as proposed has been renumbered as § 1.804 as adopted.

Paragraph (a) thereof prescribed that an original deposit of a biological material may be made before filing an application for patent or, pursuant to a requirement that will be made by the examiner no later than the date the Notice of Allowance and Issue Fee Due is mailed, during pendency of the application for patent. Paragraph (a) as adopted adds a precondition to making an original deposit that the biological material be specifically identified in the application as filed. Since proposed paragraph (a) did not address original deposits made during the pendency of an application that were not made pursuant to a requirement of an examiner, the rule as adopted states that original deposits may be made during pendency of an application for patent, subject to 1.809, infra, which prescribes, inter alia, when during the pendency of an application for patent a deposit shall be made when made pursuant to a requirement by the examiner.

Paragraph (b) thereof as proposed required a statement that, for an original deposit made after the effective filing date of an application for patent, the biological material deposited was the same biological material described in the application as filed. Paragraph (b) as adopted substitutes the word "a" for the word "the" since more than one biological material may be referred to in the application as filed, drops the word "same" and requires the statement that the biological material deposited is a biological material specifically identified in the application as filed.

Section 1.204 as proposed has been renumbered as § 1.805 as adopted and a reference to supplemental deposits has been added to the heading thereof. Paragraphs (a) and (b) of the section as proposed have been substantially rewritten as paragraphs (a), (b) and (c). New elements have been added and some eliminated, although some elements of the proposed rule on replacement deposits have been adopted, either with similar language or different language.

Elements of the proposed rule on replacement deposits which have not been adopted include a requirement that replacement deposits be made or be made within a specific time limit. Ramifications in Office proceedings from not making a replacement deposit, or in the case of a patent, not diligently making a replacement deposit, are stated.

A requirement in the proposed section that depositories promptly notify depositors of an inability to furnish samples has been adopted as 1.803(a)(2)(vii), supra.

Paragraph (a) of § 1.805 requires a depositor, after receiving notice during the pendency of an application for patent, application for reissue patent or reexamination proceeding, that the depository possessing a deposit either cannot furnish samples thereof or can furnish samples thereof but the deposit has become contaminated or has lost its capability to function as dscribed in the specification, to notify the Office in writing, in each application for patent or patent affected. In such a case, or where the Office otherwise learns, during the pendency of an application for patent, application for reissue patent or reexamination proceeding, that the depository possessing a deposit either cannot furnish samples thereof or can furnish samples thereof but the deposit has become contaminated or has lost its capability to function as described in the specification, the need for making a replacement or supplemental deposit will be governed by the same considerations governing the need for making an original deposit under the provisions set forth in § 1.802(b). A replacement or supplemental deposit made during the pendency of an application for patent shall not be accepted unless it meets the requirements for making: an original deposit under these regulations, including the requirement set forth under § 1.804(b). A replacement or supplemental deposit made in connection with a patent, whether or not made during the pendency of an application for reissue patent or a reexamination proceeding or both, shall not be recognized by the Office unless a certificate of correction under § 1.323 is requested by the patent owner which meets the terms of paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section. The proposed rules did not provide for certificates of correction relating to replacement or supplemental deposits.

Paragraph (b) of § 1.805 prescribes that a request for certificate of correction under this section shall not be granted unless the certificate identifies the accession number for the replacement or supplemental deposit; the date of the deposit; and the name and address of the depository.

Paragraph (c) of § 1.805 prescribes that a certificate of correction under this section shall not be granted unless the request therefor is made promptly after the replacement or supplemental deposit has been made and includes a verified statement of the reason for making the replacement or supplemental deposit; a verified statement from a person in a position to corroborate the fact, and shall state, that the replacement or supplemental deposit is of a biological material which is identical to that originally deposited; a verified showing that the patent owner acted diligently - in the case of a replacement deposit, in making the deposit after receiving notice that samples could no longer be furnished from an earlier deposit, or in the case of a supplemental deposit, in making the deposit after receiving notice that the earlier deposit had become contaminated or had lost its capability to function as described in the specification; a verified statement that the term of the replacement or supplemental deposit expires no earlier than the term of the deposit being replaced or supplemented; and otherwise establishes compliance with these regulations, except that if the person making one or more of the required statements or showing is an attorney or agent registered to practice before the Office, that statement or showing need not be verified.

Paragraph (d) of § 1.805 prescribes that a depositor's failure to replace a deposit, or in the case of a patent, to diligently replace a deposit and promptly thereafter request a certificate of correction which meets the terms of paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, after being notified that the depository possessing the deposit cannot furnish samples thereof, shall cause the application or patent involved to be treated in any Office proceeding as if no deposit were made.

Paragraph (e) as adopted is identical to proposed paragraph (d) except that the word "the" before "patent" has been replaced with "a" because the term "the patent" had no antecedent basis, and the term "according to these regulations" has been inserted after the word "replaced" to make it clear that the rebuttable presumption according to this paragraph applies only where the replacement deposit has been made according to these regulations.

Paragraph (f) as adopted is substantially similar to proposed paragraph (e) with respect to an applicant's ability to make a replacement for any reason during the pendency of an application for patent. Paragraph (f) extends such applicant's ability to supplemental deposits as well. The first two sentences of proposed paragraph (e) prescribing when a replacement deposit shall be made while an application is still pending and that an applicant notify the Office when a replacement deposit is necessary have been adopted in § 1.805(a), supra.

Paragraph (g) as adopted is identical to proposed paragraph (f) except that supplemental deposits are also included and the reference to another section therein has been changed to reflect its renumbering.

Paragraph (h) as adopted is substantially similar to proposed paragraph (g) except for two changes. One is that the word "the" before "biological material" has been changed to "a" because the term "the biological material" had no antecedent basis. The other change is replacement of the term "viable deposit is in the depository" with the term "depository can furnish samples thereof". The term "in the depository" was not clear. The word "viable" before "deposit" would have excluded biological materials not capable of reproduction either directly or indirectly. For biological materials which are so capable of reproduction, samples of viable deposits thereof which become non-viable cannot be furnished by the depository.

Paragraph (i) as adopted modifies paragraph (h) as proposed. Whereas the proposed rule proscribed a patentee from replacing a viable deposit where the depository can furnish samples, the rule as adopted states that the Office will not recognize in any Office proceeding a replacement deposit of a biological material made by a patent owner where the depository could furnish samples of the deposit being replaced.

Section 1.205 as proposed has been renumbered as § 1.806 as adopted. The proposed rule had set the term of deposit as, inter alia, at least thirty years after the date of a viable deposit. The rule as adopted sets the thirty-year term to begin after a deposit, before or during pendency of an application for patent, is made. The term of a deposit made by a patent owner is not prescribed. However, § 1.805(a), supra. prescribes that a replacement or supplemental deposit made in connection with a patent will not be recognized in any Office proceeding unless a certificate of correction under § 1.323 is requested by the patent owner which meets the terms of paragraphs (b) and (c) of § 1.805, one of which terms is a verified statement by the patent owner that the term of the new deposit expires no earlier than the term of the deposit being replaced or supplemented. An additional change in the rule as adopted is the replacement of the term "deposited biological material" with the word "deposit" since the former term had no antecedent basis.

Section 1.206 as proposed has been renumbered as § 1.807 as adopted. The rule as adopted is identical to the rule as proposed except for the reference to a rule which has been renumbered.

Section 1.207 as proposed has been renumbered as § 1.808 as adopted.

In paragraph (a) thereof, first word, "The" as proposed has been replaced with "A" because "The" had no antecedent basis.

In view of the non-adoption of proposed § 1.207(c), infra, paragraph (a)(2) as adopted refers to only paragraph (b), not paragraphs (b) and (c).

Paragraph (b)(1) as proposed permitted a depositor to require, inter alia, that a depository furnish samples only if a request for a sample is in writing and signed.

Paragraph (b) as adopted permits a depositor to require a request to be in writing or other tangible form. The signing requirement, however, has not been adopted.

Paragraph (b)(3) as proposed permitted a depositor to require, inter alia, that a depository furnish the depositor with a copy of the request. This requirement has not been adopted.

Paragraph (c) as proposed has not been adopted.

Paragraph (d) as proposed, with one change, has been adopted as paragraph (c). The change is the insertion of the term "made to the Office" after the term "Upon request" to make it clear that certification imposes no burden on a depository.

Section 1.208 as proposed has been renumbered as § 1.809 as adopted.

The term "required" when referring to "deposit" in proposed paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) thereof has been changed to "needed" as adopted for purposes of consistency with § 1.802. The term "in case one has not been made, or" as proposed in paragraph (a) has been replaced with "and if needed," as adopted for purposes of clarification. The statement as proposed that a deposit accepted in any acceptable depository under § 1.202(a) shall be accepted for patent purposes if made under conditions complying with § 1.207(a) has not been adopted. The statement is redundant in view of the provision in § 1.802(b) as adopted that a deposit necessary for the satisfaction of 35 U.S.C. 112 shall be acceptable if made in accordance with these regulations. Since the question of deposits may come up in reissue applications and reexamination proceedings as well as in applications for patents, paragraph (a) as adopted covers examination of all such applications and proceedings. Paragraph (a) as adopted also refers to supplemental deposits since issues of the need for a deposit may arise where a deposit has lost its capability to function as described in the specification. Paragraph (a) as proposed prescribed that affected claims would be rejected in an Office action. Paragraph (a) as adopted drops "in an Office action" and instead prescribes that the claims would be rejected "where appropriate."

Paragraph (b)(1) as proposed was limited to applicants. Paragraph (b)(1) as adopted covers applicants for patents and patent owners involved in specified Office proceedings. The provision for applicants for patents in paragraph (b)(1) as adopted is identical to the provision for applicants in paragraph (b)(1) as proposed except for the additional adoption of a reference to supplemental deposits. Paragraph (b)(1) as adopted additionally provides for patent owners responding to a rejection under paragraph (a) of this section by requesting a certificate of correction of the patent which meets the terms of paragraphs (b) and (c) of § 1.805.

Paragraph (b)(2) as proposed has not been adopted. Subparagraph (3) has therefore been renumbered as (2) and the reference therein to paragraph (b)(2) has been eliminated. Two additions have been made. One, since the question of deposit may come up in connection with a reissue application or reexamination proceeding, the term "or patent" has been inserted after "application" in the first sentence. Two, since paragraph (a) provides for a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 112 when a deposit actually made cannot be accepted, it is considered an appropriate response that a deposit actually made should be accepted. Thus, the term "and/or why a deposit actually made should be accepted" has been inserted at the end of the first sentence of paragraph (b)(2) as adopted.

Paragraph (c) as proposed has been adopted except that the term "for patent" has been inserted after "application" in the first sentence to make it clear that this paragraph does not apply to other applications, such as applications for reissues. Additionally, the word "the" before the proposed term "required deposit" has been changed to "a" because the term "the required deposit" had no antecedent basis. Finally, the term "37 CFR" preceding "1.136" in the proposed rule has been replaced with "§" as adopted to be consistent with standard nomenclature.

Paragraph (d)(3) as proposed required a taxonomic description of the deposit. Paragraph (d)(3) as adopted requires a description of the deposited biological material sufficient to specifically identify it and to permit examination. Paragraphs (d)(1), (d)(2), (d)(3) and (d)(4) have otherwise been adopted exce'pt for the addition of prefatory articles "The" or "A".

Response to and Analysis of Comments

Written comments from sixteen (16) sources were received in response to the notice of proposed rulemaking. Some suggestions made in comments have been adopted as presented or in modified form and others have not been adopted. A detailed analysis of the comments follows.

Comment: The proposed rule numbers, except § 1.200, are the same as those of the old interference rules, and it appears to be Office practice to normally avoid using rule numbers which end in "00," especially for a rule, viz., 1.200, which is the first of a group of rules. The rules, if adopted, should have different numbers.

Response: The suggestion has been adopted. Proposed §§ 1.200 through 1.208 have been renumbered as §§ 1.801 through 1.809 as adopted, respectively.

Comment: Two comments ask whether the rules will apply retroactively. One comment suggests that they should and further, that the benefits provided for depositors in proposed §§ 1.207(b) and (c) take effect immediately so that those patent applicants who would benefit from them will be encouraged not to delay in filing or obtaining a patent until a final rule takes effect.

Response: To the extent the rules codify existing Office practice, they are already effective. Otherwise, the rules will be effective in applications for patent or for reissue of patent filed on or after January 1, 1990, and in reexamination proceedings in which the request for reexamination was filed on or after January 1, 1990, except that deposits made prior to the effective date which are acceptable under current practice will be acceptable in such applications and proceedings. Applicants and patent owners are encouraged to comply now with those requirements of the rules not required by existing Office practice.

Comment: A sentence should be added at the end of proposed § 1.200 to clarify that the rule does not preclude the possibility of depositing other biological materials for patent purposes, such as plants per se, even though not within the scope of the term "biological material" as defined by the rule. Adding such a sentence would be consistent with previous concerns expressed to the Office over the possible requirement for deposits with respect to plant patents. With the added sentence, the rule would not address any kind of requirement for deposit in plant patents.

Response: In a response to a comment in the notice of proposed rulemaking, it was stated that the Office did not intend to propose rules on deposits under the Plant Patent Act (35 U.S.C. 161-164) at this time, nor will the Office take the position that a deposit is required under the present provisions of 35 U.S.C. 162. The text of the rule adopted in § 1.801 is the same as proposed in § 1.200 except that the rule now explicitly states that the regulations are for purposes of patents for inventions under 35 U.S.C. 101. Thus, these regulations do not and are not intended to address the question of deposits in plant patent applications.

Comment: One comment suggests that the language in § 1.200 should be expanded to make it clear that other biological materials, such as plants per se, are not precluded from being deposited. Another comment assumes that the Office intends to limit the scope of "biological material" as defined by this rule. The rules and commentary should indicate that the scope and effect of the rules are limited to biological materials as defined in the rules. This rule is acceptable provided it simply defines what constitutes biological material.

Response: None of the suggestions have been adopted. In a response to a comment in the notice of proposed rulemaking, it was stated that biological material is defined in the proposed rule in terms of a non-exhaustive list of what it includes and that no materials were explicitly excluded. The response also stated that the Office does not contemplate that there would be many situations where a material that is not capable of self-replication either directly or indirectly would be acceptable as a deposit under these regulations but that an applicant was not precluded in any given case from attempting to show why such a material should be acceptable. Plants per se are an example of such materials.

Comment: The proposed rules do not, but should, address a problem associated with marine sponges and other marine macroorganisms. These materials and their natural location can be adequately described so that one skilled in the art could obtain them using the necessary equipment. But their taxonomy is in a developmental stage and scientific names are subject to revision. Deposit and maintenance of these materials in viable form is not practical. They can and have been deposited in non-viable form, preserved or fixated in a suitable non-destructive medium, where their shelf life is expected to be at least 30 years.

Response: See the response to the previous comment. As stated in a response to a comment in the advance notice of proposed rulemaking, the PTO Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences held that a description of the precise geographic location of marine tunicates used in a claimed invention was adequate to satisfy the enablement requirement of 35 U.S.C. 112. Ex Parte Rinehart, 10 USPQ2d 1719 (PTO Bd. Pat. App. & Int. 1985). It was also stated in that response that the term "readily" as used in the term "known and readily available" appearing in the proposed rules is considered appropriate to define that degree of availability which would be reasonable under the circumstances. Since the comment states that the subject materials and their natural location can be adequately described so that one skilled in the art could obtain them using the necessary equipment, the disclosure would appear to be sufficient to meet the enablement requirements of 35 U.S.C. 112 without a deposit so long as their degree of availability is reasonable under the circumstances.

Comment: In a response to a comment in the notice of proposed rulemaking which was in response to a solicitation for comments in the advance notice of proposed rulemaking on the setting of an appropriate minimum number of seeds to ensure availability of the seed through the enforceable life of the patent, it was stated that the Office does not intend to propose rules quantifying a minimum number of seeds but that the Office will consider 2500 to be a minimum number in the normal case and will provide an applicant an opportunity to provide justification why a lesser number would be suitable under the circumstances of a particular case. One comment suggests that 2500 may present problems where the normal yield of a plant is only a few seeds. A more reasonable minimum is 1250. Another comment suggests that there be no minimum number but an obligation on the part of the depositor to replace a seed each time one is requested.

Response: Since the Office has stated that an applicant will be provided an opportunity to show why a lesser amount than 2500 seeds would be appropriate in a particular case, the policy of requiring minimum number of 2500 is adhered to. An obligation on the part of the depositor to replace a seed each time one is requested is simply impractical.

Comment: The title of proposed § 1.201 should be changed from "Need to make a deposit" to "Opportunity to make a deposit" since the provision states that "the disclosure may include a deposit of a biological material . . . ."

Response: The suggestion has been adopted in part. Since § 1.802 applies to situations both when a deposit may be made (optional) and when a deposit is necessary, the heading of the rule states both need and opportunity in the alternative.

Comment: Proposed § 1.201(a) should state that the disclosure may include reference to a deposit, rather than that the disclosure may include a deposit.

Response: The suggestion has been adopted in § 1.802(a).

Comment: Proposed § 1.201(a) does not clearly permit deposits where conditions enumerated therein do not apply. The proposed rule should be revised by eliminating the requirement that the biological material not be known and readily available to the public before a deposit may be made. The proposed revision would make clear that an applicant has a universal and unconditional right to make a deposit of a biological material whenever the biological material cannot be described in writing alone, regardless of whether the material is known and readily available. The rule as proposed is not consistent with the permissive use of deposits where they might not be mandated. The proposed revision would dispel any suggestion or implication that the legal standard under which deposits are mandated is that the biological material be neither known nor readily available. Obviously, such materials even if unknown and not readily available might be enabled solely through a written description, rendering deposit unnecessary.

Response: The suggestion has been adopted in § 1.802(a). In addition, the rule as adopted permits deposits even where the biological material can be described in writing alone and even where the claimed invention is not, or does not rely on, the biological material. Section 1.802(a) as adopted permits reference in the disclosure to a deposit of a biological material, the only precondition being that an invention is or relies on that material. The requirement in the proposed rule that the biological material not be known and readily available to the public and not be describable in writing alone, and that the material be, or be used for, the claimed invention, has notbeen adopted.

Comment: Two comments suggest that § 1.201(a) refer to 35 U.S.C. 112. One comment suggests that § 1.201(a) should make some reference to 35 U.S.C. 112 for completeness. Another comment suggests that proposed § 1.201(a) contains no standard and should thus make reference to 35 U.S.C. 112, for example, by inserting words to the effect that the biological material cannot be described in writing alone to satisfy the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 112.

Response: The suggestions have not been adopted. But see the response to the next comment.

Comment: Proposed § 1.201(b) should be revised by stating that biological material need not be deposited unless necessary for the satisfaction of the statutory requirements of 35 U.S.C. 112. Thus, the rule would state that the ultimate reason for a requirement for a deposit would be to satisfy 35 U.S.C. 112. Further, the rule should state one circumstance, among others, where a biological material need not be deposited, viz., where it is known and readily available to the public or can be made or isolated without undue experimentation. The last sentence of proposed § 1.201(b) should state a precondition that a deposit of the biological material be made in a depository complying with these regulations.

Response: The suggestions have been adopted in § 1.802(b).

Comment: Proposed § 1.201(c) should be revised by stating that the actual deposit of a biological material referred to in a specification disclosure also does not create a presumption that the material is necessary to satisfy 35 U.S.C. 112 or that the deposit is or was required. The proposed revision would recognize that the act of deposit does not and should not constitute an admission by the applicant that the deposit was made because it was necessary to satisfy 35 U.S.C. 112. For example, deposit may be necessary in the United States prior to the time a patent application is filed in order for an applicant to be entitled to assert a priority right under patent laws of a foreign country based on a United States application which makes reference to such deposit. Additionally, applicants ought to be encouraged to make deposits in questionable cases without such act being construed as an admission of any sort.

Response: The suggestion has been adopted in § 1.802(c).

Comment: The term "or other biological material" in proposed § 1.201(c) should be changed to "or any other biologial material" to make sure that all biological materials that would normally be considered for deposits are included.

Response: The comment is not understood. Nevertheless, it is moot. The term "specific organism or other biological material" in proposed § 1.201(c) has been changed to "biological material" in § 1.802(c) as adopted.

Comment: Two comments suggest that proposed § 1.202(a)(2) unnecessarily limits who may be consulted in determining the suitability of a depository to be recognized by the Office to those in the biotechnology industry or Government agencies. Views from academia may be wanted. One of the comments suggests, therefore, that the term "from the biotechnology industry or governmental agencies" be deleted from § 1.202(a)(2).

Response: The suggestions have been adopted in § 1.803(a)(2).

Comment: Proposed § 1.202(a) should be revised to state that a deposit shall be recognized for the purposes of these regulations if made in a depository according to subparagraph (1) or (2) thereof. The proposed revision would allow for deposits other than in Office-recognized depositories, but give deposits in Office-recognized depositories the "safe harbor" advantages of these regulations.

Response: The suggestion has been adopted in § 1.803(a). Simply put, the rules do not prohibit deposits made under any conceivable conditions. The Office will treat a deposit not made according to these regulations, however, as if no deposit had been made.

Comment: The provision set forth in proposed § 1.202(c)(3), i.e., that a depository seeking status under paragraph (a)(2) indicate that it intends to be available, for the purposes of deposit, to any depositor under these same conditions, should also be listed in § 1.202(a)(2), which enumerates the qualifications for a depository seeking recognition as suitable by the Office.

Response: The suggestion is not being adopted. The requirement in proposed § 1.202(a)(2)(v), and § 1.803(a)(2)(v) as adopted, that the depository be impartial and objective, is inclusive of a requirement that it be available, for purposes of deposit, to any depositor under these same conditions.

Comment: One comment suggests that the proposed rules do not adequately define the term "depositor". It could be the inventor, the assignee, one to whom the inventor has an obligation to assign, or the individual who signs the deposit form. In the case of joint inventors with different institutional ties, who is the depositor? Assuming that where the inventor is a university professor, the depositor is the university, deposit in that university's depository would be precluded by proposed § 1.202(a)(2)(ii) and possibly 1.202(a)(2)(v). An exception should be made for non-profit organizations. They should be allowed to "self-deposit" since it is highly improbable that they would refuse to provide samples to third parties. The availability of a strain from a university was found to satisfy 35 U.S.C. 112 in Merck and Co., Inc. v. Chase Chemical Co., 273 F.Supp. 68, 77, 92, 155 USPQ 139, 146, 159 (D.N.J. 1967). Another comment suggests that it is not clear, where the depositor is a separate, independent division of a particular entity and the depository is another separate, independent division of the same entity, whether this arrangement meets the terms of proposed § 1.202(a)(2)(ii).

Response: None of the suggestions have been adopted. In § 1.803(a)(2)(ii) as adopted, a depository recognized to be suitable by the Office and not otherwise an IDA must exist independent of the control of the depositor. In a response to a comment in the notice of proposed rulemaking, it was stated that the term "depositor" is intended to include the party on whose behalf the deposit is made. It was further stated in that response that the rationale of the Office in requiring that a depository, if not an IDA, be independent of the depositor was adequately discussed in the advance notice of proposed rulemaking. The advance notice stated:

> The concept of an independent depository or an IDA as an acceptable depository is based on the need and desire to ensure the safe and reliable storage of a deposited biological material under circumstances that are free of the opportunity for intentional or negligent handling of the deposited material. The use of an independent depository or an internationally recognized depository will tend to preserve the integrity of the deposit process against those that may accidentally alter the deposited material, may wish to tamper with the deposited material or may wish to resume control of its availability when the patent is no longer enforceable, and to preserve the interest of the public in the free access to the biological material for any purpose once the term of the patent expires. Further, while the PTO is constrained to approve independent depositories other than an IDA, the PTO has neither the resources nor capability to assess the individual capability of any party that wishes to act as its own depository. The rules under consideration are intended to minimize depositories that will be found acceptable.

The above discussion applies to non-profit organizations as well as for-profit organizations. Moreover, it is clear from the discussion above that the scope of the term "depositor" is limited only by the requirement that the depositor have no control over the depository. Such a relationship is not necessarily inconsistent with one where there is some legal relationship between depositor and depository. The Merck case cited above does not stand for the proposition that a university is necessarily an acceptable depository because it makes available samples of a biological material. In Merck, the availability of the biological material from the university was evidence that the biological material was known and readily available. While a deposit by an applicant in a depository under the applicant's control will not be recognized by the Office as a deposit under these regulations, an applicant is not precluded from showing that the deposited material, by virtue of conditions of public knowledge of unrestricted availability of samples of the deposit, is known and readily available to the public. However, depositors should be aware that relying on such a showing rather than making a deposit according to these regulations involves a risk that the biological material might in the future not be readily available. The university relied on in the Merck case, for example, eventually ceased its practice of making biological materials readily available.

Comment: Proposed § 1.202(b) is intended to apply in the event that a depository ceases to enjoy the status of a recognized depository. The manner of making a substitute deposit in such a situation would not seem to be fully explained by a reference to proposed § 1.204. For example, if a depository were to cease operation, it might not be able to, in the words of proposed 1.204(a), "promptly after having noted its inability to furnish samples, notify the depositor of such inability". Second, the rule as proposed is difficult to follow. For example, it indicates that a substitute deposit "must be viable if the biological material is of a kind capable of self-replication". The implication that certain deposits might be non-viable is at best confusing in the absence of a definition for viability.

Response: Proposed § 1.202(b) has not been adopted. Section 1.805, the rule as adopted on replacement deposits, puts the burden exclusively on the applicant or patent owner, whatever the case may be, to both make a replacement deposit and make the necessary showing that such a deposit complies with these regulations. Viability is dealt with exclusively by § 1.807 as adopted.

Comment: Three comments suggest that it be a requirement of the rules that the biological material have been in existence at the time of filing the patent application. One comment suggests that a sentence be added to proposed 1.208(a) to require that the application as filed state that the biological material is in existence. The other comments suggest that proposed § 1.203 require an averment that the deposited biological material was in existence at the time the application was filed.

Response: None of the suggestions have been adopted. Patent law does not require an actual reduction to practice as a condition precedent to filing a patent application. While few, if any, situations can be imagined where the description requirement of 35 U.S.C. 112 can be satisfied where the biological material was not in existence at the time of filing, the rules do not preclude such a situation. But see the response to the next comment.

Comment: Proposed § 1.203(a) should require that a biological material may be deposited only if an adequate antecedent basis exists in the specification as filed, i.e., the biological material to be deposited must be specifically identified therein.

Response: The suggestion has been adopted in § 1.804(a). It must be clear from the application as filed that the invention claimed and described in the specification "was fully capable of being reduced to practice (i.e., no technological problems, the resolution of which would require more than ordinary skill and reasonable time, remained in order to obtain an operative, useful process)." Feldman v. Aunstrup 517 F.2d 1351, 1355, 186 USpQ 108, 113 (CCPA 1975), cert. denied, 424 U.S. 912

(1976). Accord, In re Lundak, 773 F.2d 1216, 1221, 227 USPQ 90, 94 (Fed. Cir. 1985).

Comment: Two comments suggest that proposed § 1.203(a) be revised so that it addresses the permissible situation where a deposit is made during the pendency of an application for patent not pursuant to a requirement made by an examiner.

Response: The suggestion has been substantially adopted in § 1.804(a). An original deposit may be made, subject to § 1.809, during pendency of the application for patent. Where § 1.809 does not apply, i.e., where a deposit is ultimately not required, a deposit may be made at any time during pendency.

Comment: The Office should discuss in the commentary accompanying the notice of proposed § 1.203(b) as a final rule the meaning and intent behind the requirement that the deposited biological material be the "same" as the material described in the specification. For example, does the Office contemplate that the statement constitute a representation that the deposited material is in essentially the same form as was in existence at the time of the filing of the patent specification, and, accordingly as specifically described therein?

Response: Proposed § 1.203(b) has been adopted as § 1.804(b) but with the word "same" deleted and the term "described" replaced with "specifically identified." Under § 1.804(b), the biological material deposited must be a biological material specifically identified in the application as filed.

Comment: One comment asks whether a patent which is defective because of the lack of a deposit can be rectified by making the deposit in connection with a reissue application. Another comment points out that the issue of post-grant original deposits is not addressed by these regulations and the Office is urged to comment to this effect in the final promulgation of the rules.

Response: It is assumed from the comment that a deposit was necessary at the time the patent issued. A patent defective because of lack of a necessary deposit is necessarily fatally defective for failure to comply with the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112. Reissue is not available in such cases. See In re Hay, 534 F.2d 917, 189 USPQ 790 (CCPA), cert. denied, 429 U.S. 977 (1976). Whether reissue is available where a biological material necessary for compliance with 35 U.S.C. 112 was known and readily available at the time of issuance of the patent and subsequently ceased to be readily available is not addressed by this response. Nor do the rules address the question of post-issue original deposits, whether necessary or not to comply with the patent statutes.

Comment: Many comments were received regarding proposed § 1.204 and the subject of replacement deposits. One comment suggests that the time limits in proposed § 1.204(a) for making replacement deposits, specifically as they apply post-grant, are totally arbitrary. For example, a replacement deposit made four months after notice from the depository, without a suitable petition for extension of time, could not be relied on. A number of comments suggest that in proposed § 1.204(a), it is not clear who is required to petition whom in order to obtain an extension of time' in which to make a replacement deposit. A depository is not equipped to deal with the legalities of such matters. If the petition is filed with the Office, there will be administrative burdens. Another comment suggests that instead of specified time limits and petitions for extensions of time, the rule should state that where a patentee makes a replacement deposit, the patentee shall promptly request a certificate of correction identifying the particulars of the replacement deposit and that no certificate of correction shall be granted unless the request includes, inter alia, a verified showing that the patentee acted diligently in making the replacement deposit. A certificate of correction in providing the particulars of the new deposit (depository and accession number) would provide the simplest and most straightforward vehicle under which the patentee could assure continuing public notice (and accordingly public access) to particular biological materials described in the specification. Corrections to the issued patent would be made subject to all conditions of these deposit regulations and an additional specific requirement that the replacement deposit be made diligently after the notification is received that samples cannot be furnished from the deposit. This generalized requirement of diligence is preferable to the more rigid and cumbersome procedures set forth in the rules as proposed.

Response: The provisions of a three-month time limit for making a replacement deposit and petitioning for extensions of time t extend the limit in proposed § 1.204(a) applied by their terms only to patentees or patent owners. These provisions have not been adopted. Except in reexamination and reissue applications, it is beyond the rulemaking authority of the Office to regulate issued patents. Thus, instead of requiring patent owners to make replacement, or supplemental, deposits and to make them within a specified time, or to require them to request certificates of correction, paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) of § 1.805 as adopted specify that a replacement or supplemental deposit made in connection with a patent, whether or not made during the pendency of an application for reissue patent or a reexamination proceeding or both, shall not be recognized in any Office proceeding unless the patent owner requests a certificate of correction under § 1.323 provided certain specified conditions are met, including that the patent owner acted diligently in making the replacement or supplemental deposit and promptly thereafter requested the certificate of correction.

Comment: The rules should indicate that replacement deposits made during the pendency of an application will be treated in exactly the same way as any other deposit made after the filing date.

Response: The suggestion has been essentially adopted in § 1.805(a) which states, inter alia, that a replacement or supplemental deposit made in connection with an application for patent shall be accepted if it meets the requirements for making an original deposit under these regulations, including the requirement set forth under § 1.804(b).

Comment: The rules should address a situation where the deposit is of a non-viable biological material, such as a marine sponge or other marine macroorganism. Filling requests for samples can ultimately consume the entire deposit. Two other comments suggest that a depositor be permitted to charge the requesting party a fee sufficient to cover the cost of replacing the deposit. A competitor could "drain off" the store of deposit and thereby require replacement at significant economic hardship to the depositor.

Response: Where the biological material deposited is capable of self-replication either directly or indirectly, exhaustion of the deposit would appear to be highly unlikely. Regardless of the type of biological material deposited, however, the depositor must assure that samples thereof be available beyond the enforceable life of any patent relying on the material.

Comment: Nothing in the regulations which define the suitability of a depository requires that the depository itself must provide notice to depositors in the event of an inability to furnish samples yet proposed 1.204(a) does.

Response: The suggestion has been adopted in § 1.803(a)(2)(vii).

Comment: A number of comments suggest that the legal ramifications of an additional deposit made pursuant to proposed § 1.204(h), i.e., made where an earlier deposit has become contaminated or has lost its capability to function as described in the specification, are not clear. Some of the same comments go on to suggest that the deposit provided for in § 1.204(h) be termed a "supplemental" deposit rather than an "additional" deposit to emphasize the relationship between it and the earlier deposit, that such a deposit have the same legal effect as the earlier deposit provided the patent holder provides a verified statement that it is identical to the earlier deposit, and that it have the same accession number as the earlier deposit, perhaps with a suffix modification. One comment suggests that the rules require that a deposit under paragraph (h) be assigned the same accession number but with an appropriate suffix. A depository commentator asks that where a deposit under paragraph (h) is made, which deposit — the earlier or the later one — should be made available to the public. Currently, this depository advises a requesting party that there are two deposits.

Response: The suggestion of replacing the term "additional" with the term "supplemental" has been adopted but in a somewhat different setting. Whereas proposed § 1.204(h) stated that nothing in the regulations was intended to prohibit a patentee from making an additional deposit, paragraphs (a), (b), (c), (f) and (g) of § 1.805 as adopted provide for patent owners as well as patent applicants making supplemental deposits of a biological material earlier deposited from which a depository can still furnish samples. These paragraphs provide for supplemental deposits similar to the provisions in these paragraphs for replacement deposits, including the requirement of showing diligence in making the deposit in connection with a patent, except that instead of making the deposit after receiving notice that samples could no longer be furnished from an earlier deposit, as in the case of a replacement deposit, the deposit is made after receiving notice that the earlier deposit had become contaminated or had lost its capability to function as described in the specification. While the rules specify that the Office in any Office proceeding will recognize supplemental deposits if made under certain conditions, it is not known what legal effect a court will give to such recognition. As far as what accession number a depository should give to a supplemental deposit, this is a matter within the discretion of the depository. As to which deposit, either an earlier deposit or a supplemental deposit, should be made available to the public, this would depend on the accession number requested. A supplemental deposit made according to these regulations would be freely available to the public to the same extent as an original deposit made according to these regulations. Obviously, nothing in these regulations prohibits a depository from advising a requesting party that there is more than one deposit of a particular biological material.

Comment: To the extent proposed § 1.204 regulates the effects on patents, in other than certain statutorily defined situations such as reexamination and reissue, for failure to make replacement deposits according to the rule, it exceeds the rulemaking authority of the Office. An example is proposed 1.204(c).

Response: Section 1.805 as adopted, to the extent it addresses replacement deposits made by patent owners, contains no affirmative provisions requiring or prohibiting replacement deposits. Rather, it prescribes what an applicant or patent owner may do vis-a-vis the Office if a replacement deposit is made and what the ramifications are in any Office proceeding if a replacement deposit is not made or improperly made. Proposed § 1.204(c) was, and § 1.805(d) as adopted is, limited to Office proceedings. The provision that a patentee may not replace a viable deposit where the depository can furnish samples in proposed 1.204(h) has been replaced in § 1.805(i) as adopted with the provision that the Office will not recognize in any Office proceeding a replacement deposit made by a patent owner where the depository could furnish samples of the deposit being replaced.

Comment: One comment suggests that the term of deposit in proposed § 1.205 is excessive. The term should be through the expiration of the patent plus 10 years. Another comment suggests that § 1.205 be adopted except that the last sentence should be deleted and the term "viable" before "deposit" be dropped. The term "viable" should be deleted as viability is dealt with elsewhere, e.g., proposed § 1.206. The last sentence should be deleted because, while the Office may set what it considers adequate terms of deposit on or before patent grant, it has no statutory authority or mechanism for supervising the term of the agreement of the deposit. The last sentence is also highly indefinite in failing to indicate how far beyond the enforceable life of a patent the deposit must be maintained.

Response: The suggestions have been adopted in part. Proposed § 1.205, including the last sentence, has been adopted as § 1.806 except that the thirty-year term applies to any deposit made before or during pendency of an application for patent. No requirement of viability is stated in the rule. The Office agrees that once a patent issues, it has no authority or mechanism for supervising the term of the agreement of the deposit. But the Office does have the authority to set the term of deposit while an application is still pending. That is all § 1.806 does. In almost all cases, the term of deposit as set forth in the first sentence of § 1.806 will extend beyond the enforceable life of the patent for which a deposit was made. The last sentence of § 1.806 is intended to cover those rare circumstances where extended prosecution in the Office results in expiration of the term of deposit as set forth in the first sentence while the patent is still enforceable. At this time, there appears to be no need to specify any finite time period beyond the enforceable life of a patent. If experience demonstrates that the public interest is not being served by the present provisions, an appropriate amendment will be proposed.

Comment: A depository commentator suggests that the requirement in proposed § 1.207(b)(1) that a request for a sample of the deposited material be signed poses an administrative burden on depositories which accept telephone, telex and electronic mail requests for samples. Requiring that a request be signed can and will delay the receipt of samples by many days. The signing requirement should not be adopted.

Response: The suggestion has been adopted in § 1.808(b)(1).

Comment: A depository commentator suggests that the requirement in proposed § 1.207(b)(3) that a copy of the request be provided to the depositor poses a problem since most requests also include a request for samples of many other deposited biological materials. For such a request, it would be necessary to send a copy to each depositor, blanking out the other deposits not made by that depositor. It should be sufficient that the depositor is notified to whom and the date a sample was provided. The cost will be much greater if a copy has to be supplied.

Response: The suggestion has been adopted in § 1.808(b)(3).

Comment: A depository commentator suggests that in proposed § 1.207(b), it is not clear, after the term of the patent, whether the deposit is again restricted as it was before the patent was granted, i.e., not furnished unless the requesting party has the proper authorization from the depositor or the Commissioner, or whether the deposit is no longer subject to subparagraphs (1), (2) and (3) thereof and can be furnished without any specific identification or notification. It is suggested that either a statement be added as to what happens after the term of the patent or the term "during the term of the patent" be deleted.

Response: The suggestions have not been adopted. Section 1.808(a)(2) requires that subject to paragraph (b) thereof, all restrictions imposed by the depositor on the availability to the public of the deposited material will be irrevocably removed upon the granting of the patent. Paragraph (b), by its terms, is limited to the term of the patent. A contract between a depositor and a depository according to paragraph (b) but which extends beyond the term of the patent would violate paragraph (a)(2). It should be self-evident that for deposits in compliance with these regulations, samples of the deposit may be furnished without any specific identification or notification for requests made after the term of the patent.

Comment: While many comments suggest adoption of a rule restricting the transfer of a sample of a deposited material to a third party without the depositor's permission, such as proposed § 1.207(c), as well as the adoption of a rule requiring other restrictions on access to deposited material, two comments suggest that such rules not be adopted. The rationale is that if a deposit is basically a replacement for that which could not be adequately written in the patent specification itself, no specific statutory authority exists for restricting access to the deposited material any more than the patent law would countenance restrictions on access to the written description itself. If abuses exist by virtue of the absence of limitations on access to deposited materials, then the remedy for patent infringement is as applicable to deposited material as it is to infringers acting from knowledge of the written description itself. Accordingly, unrestricted access to deposits should be allowed. One of the comments suggests further that if there are to be some restrictions to access, proposed § 1.207(c) is otherwise problematic and ineffective. For example, the limitation on access applies to "derived" materials which could include wholly noninfringing derivatives which might themselves constitute a patentable invention of a third party requester. The proposed rule would deny the third party requester the right to what ought to be an unrestricted right to sell or otherwise dispose of this derivative material to third parties. Moreover, the proposed rule is remediless since the Office neither has continuing jurisdicton over the patentee nor a third party requester. Two depository commentators expressed reservations about proposed 1.207(c). One suggests that the first sentence therein is in direct contradiction to the long-standing policies of both NRRL and ATCC. Most depositories no longer require this type of guarantee from requesting parties as they find it almost impossible to enforce. The other suggests that the administrative burden to the depository in handling agreements made pursuant to the proposed rule will be great and the cost will be borne by the depositor. At $10 an agreement and 300 requests a year for a particular deposit, the cost to the depositor would be $3,000 a year. If § 1.207(c) is adopted, there should be some mention that if a depository charges a fee for this service, the fee must be paid or the depository will not be obligated to provide the service. In the European Patent Office (EPO), which has a similar provision, the EPO, not the depository, obtains the agreement and advises the depository to make the sample available. The comment asks if the Office is prepared to do this. Additional comments ask what rules govern a new deposit for patent purposes of the same or derived biological material by a requesting party if the substance of proposed § 1.207(c) is adopted. Some comments were in response to a solicitation in the notice of proposed rulemaking for alternative approaches and suggessted appropriate definition of "essential characteristics" with respect to derived material in proposed § 1.207(c).

Response: The Office has decided not to adopt a rule permitting a depositor to require that a sample of a deposited biological material shall be furnished only if the requesting party has agreed not to make the material or a derivative thereof available to a third party without the depositor's permission. Thus, proposed § 1.207(c) has not been adopted. The Office agrees with many of the comments about shortcomings in the proposed rule. Fundamentally, however, the proposed rule has not been adopted in view of the rationale stated in the comment that no greater restriction on access to a deposit should be permitted than is permitted on access to the written description itself, even considering that the practical value of access to a deposit may be substantially greater than access to the written description and that infringement may be more difficult to police. While it might be argued that the adoption of proposed § 1.207(b) with revisions as § 1.808(b) is inconsistent with this rationale, the Office believes that permitting the depositor to require a requesting party, in essence, to identify itself is not unreasonable under the circumstances and is consistent with international practice as embodied in the Budapest Treaty.

Comment: Many comments which suggest the adoption of the substance of proposed § 1.207(c) also suggest the adoption of rules incorporating the recommendations made in the April 8, 1987 World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO) report on the Industrial Property Protection of Biotechnological Inventions (1) to use the biological material only for experimental purposes concerning the invention, and (2) not to export the biological material except to a country for which a relevant patent has been granted. The reasons generally given were that it is necessary to protect the patentee and enhance the patentee's ability to enforce a patent relying on a deposited material. One comment suggests that incorporating the recommendation on experimental use would clarify what is permitted by law. In the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking, 53 Fed. Reg. at 39423-24, the Office described the difficulties in drafting a regulation incorporating these recommendations and requested specific suggestions as to how to draft a regulation which both accomplishes the intended purpose and is not inconsistent with law. No specific suggestions were received, although one comment suggests that where a deposited material is covered by an unexpired U.S. patent, a rule be adopted permittinq the depositor to require the requesting party to agree to comply with the provisions of 35 U.S.C. 271. Another comment suggests that legislation is necessary to deal with the problems addressed by the WIPO recommendations. A restriction against exports could be considered to be violative of 35 U.S.C. 112 since foreign requesters would be denied access to deposits where a patentee had never sought foreign patent protection. A restriction to experimental purposes only, while more justifiable, raises two problems. One is that "experimental purposes" have not been defined and the term has been open to several interpretations. The other is that the proper redress for non-experimental use is a suit for patent infringement, not a suit based on the requester's promise to the depo comment suggests that a rule be adopted permitting the depositor to require that a requesting party acknowledge that the furnishing of a sample of the deposited biological material does not constitute a license, express or implied, to use that sample for any purpose.

Response: None of the suggestions have been adopted for essentially the same rationale discussed in the response to the previous comment. None suggest how to draft a regulation which both accomplishes the intended purpose and is not inconsistent with law, and which provides a compelling justification and rationale for departing from present policy and practice. The suggestion that a requesting party agree to comply with 35 U.S.C. 271 as a condition precedent to obtaining a sample of deposited biological material is interpreted as an agreement not to infringe a corresponding valid patent, something which a requesting party is already bound not to do under law. The suggestion that a depositor be permitted to require a requesting party to acknowledge that there is no express or implied license to use a sample for any purpose exceeds the rulemaking authority of the Office since certain unlicensed uses of patented subject matter have been found by the courts to be permissible.

Comment: Many of the comments suggesting adoption of the substance of § 1.207(c) and/or the WIPO recommendations on experimental use and export also suggest adoption of rules permitting additional restrictions. One comment suggests requiring the recipient of biological material to report, at least annually, to the patent holder, on the research and other results obtained by use of the biological material. The same commentator suggests that even after patent expiration, an unlicensed recipient should not be permitted to use the biological material for other than experimental purposes absent agreement from the depositor. The commentator would prohibit commercial use of the biological material without permission of the depositor. Another comment suggests that the policy consideration for permitting deposits is to insure that the patented invention can be practiced after patent expiration. Requiring a requesting party to enter into an agreement with the depositor defining the terms and conditions under which a sample of the deposited material would be used making an accounting of such use, and proof of compliance, is neither unreasonable nor contrary to law. It would not place an administrative burden on the Office since the depository could be permitted to release samples only if the requesting party signs a license. Any attempt by the depositor to impose an unlawful restriction and withhold release would be a matter for the courts, not the Office. Another comment suggests various additional restrictions be adopted. These are (1) that the requesting party have residence in the U.S. or in the country where the depository is located, if different; (2) that the patentee be given the option to restrict furnishing of samples to independent experts only for the duration of the patent; and (3) that the deposit be released only if the depositor expressly consents (in the absence of which validity of the patent must be resolved without recourse to the deposit). Restriction (1) should be adopted so that the deposit cannot be legally exported to a country where the patent owner has no enforceable rights. Restriction (2) should be adopted to prevent access of the deposited material to potential infringers. Its adoption should be coupled with a statement that a deposit released to an expert shall be regarded as being available to the public. Restriction (3) should be adopted as an extension to the description in proposed § 1.201 that the disclosure "may include a deposit." In other words, the patentee at any time during the patent term should be able to rely on the written description alone for satisfying 35 U.S.C. 112, such as where the reasons for requiring a deposit originally no longer exist.

Response: None of the suggestions have been adopted for essentially the same reasons discussed in the responses to the previous two comments.

Comment: A depository commentator suggests that proposed § 1.207(d) needs further deliberation. Now, publication in a U.S. patent of a deposit and accession number is sufficient for that depository (ATCC) to make samples available. The Office should be prepared to receive several thousand requests for certification under § 1.207(d) if adopted. If the Office is going to certify the availability of deposits, it should certify the availability of all deposits. Easier than the proposed rule would be to include a statement in the patent that there is a deposit, its accession number and where it is deposited, and that it has been made under the condition that it is available upon publication of the issued patent.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. The comment appears to be interpreting the term "Upon request" at the beginning of proposed § 1.207(d) to mean "Upon request to a depository for a sample of a deposited material", or in other words, the commentator appears to have interpreted the proposed language as requiring the depository to request certification from the Office each time a request for a sample of a deposit is made. It was not intended to impose such a burden on depositories. Rather, it was intended that the term "Upon request" refer to a request made to the Office. Therefore, proposed § 1.207(d), revised by inserting the term "made to the Office" after "Upon request", has been adopted as § 1.808(c).

Comment: One comment suggests that there is no apparent reason for the use of the different words " [e]stablishing" and "[a]rguing", in proposed paragraphs (b)(2) and (b)(3), respectively, of § 1.208 since the same meaning is intended by each.

Either word alone should be used in both subparagraphs (2) and (3). The same comment goes on to suggest that the reference to paragraph (b)(2) in the last sentence of proposed § 1.208(b)(3) is redundant since the examiner may be convinced that a deposit is not required where the applicant has established that the involved biological material is known and readily available to the public. A comment along the same lines suggests that paragraph (b)(2) is unnecessary. As a purely logical matter, an applicant ought to be entitled to reply to a rejection either by making an acceptable deposit or arguing why a deposit is not required under the circumstances. Proposed 1.208(b)(2) is merely one possibility for an argument that a deposit is not required.

Response: The suggestions have been adopted. Proposed § 1.208(b)(2) has not been adopted and proposed § 1.208(b)(3) has been substantially adopted as 1.809(b)(2). In addition, § 1.809(b)(2) provides for examination with respect to a patent, since deposit issues may arise in connection with a reissue application and/or a reexamination proceeding, and provides also for an argument that a deposit actually made should be accepted.

Comment: A number of comments suggest that the term "taxonomic description" in proposed § 1.208(d)(3) is unclear and inappropriate in some cases. One comment suggests that it is not clear how complete a description is required. If construed in its broadest sense, it could have the undesirable effect of delaying filing of an application until taxonomic characteristics have been determined. Some biological materials within the scope of the proposed rules, such as plasmids, are not susceptible of taxonomic description. The requirement that the specification contain a taxonomic description should not be adopted since such a description may not be possible and since the availability of a deposit makes such a description superfluous, since the taxonomy is inherent in the deposit. The response to comments made earlier regarding the taxonomic description requirement is inconsistent with the proposed rule. The response states that the extent to which a taxonomic description is required will depend on the facts of the case yet the proposed rule states that the specification shall contain such a description. The response states that the taxonomic description must be sufficient for purposes of 35 U.S.C. 112 yet the requirement of a deposit presupposes that a written description alone will not satisfy the statute. The need to verify that the deposited biological material is that disclosed in the specification arises only when the deposit is made after the filing date. That situation can be dealt with by deleting the taxonomic description requirement from § 1.208(d) and adding a new subparagraph (e) which would provide that in cases where a deposit is made after the filing date and where the nature of the material permits, a taxonomic description is required in addition to the items specified in subparagraph (d). Another comment suggests that the term "taxonomic" be deleted since it is irrelevant to many types of deposits and would provide greater clarity to the rules. Another comment suggests that the current language in proposed § 1.208 (d)(3) be replaced with "Fully identify and describe the deposited material".

Response: The suggestions have been adopted in part. Section 1.809(d)(3) as adopted requires a description of the deposited biological material sufficient to specifically identify it and to permit examination. While the rule does not by its terms require a taxonomic description, such a description should satisfy the rule as adopted in cases where the biological material deposited admits of a taxonomic description.

Comment: The Office should petition the Budapest Assembly to address the same issues dealt with in the proposed rules so that they apply to both U.S. and foreign filings. Uniformity in the rules is important, especially for U.S. inventors who file here and abroad.

Response: While uniformity in both U.S. and foreign rules is desirable, this is not deemed to be the appropriate forum in which to address the suggestion.

Discussion of Specific Sections

BIOLOGICAL MATERIAL [§ 1.801]:

The section indicates that the rules pertaining to deposits for purposes of patents for inventions under 35 U.S.C. 101 are intended to relate to biological material. For the purposes of these rules, the term "biological material" is defined in terms of a non-exhaustive list of representative materials which can be deposited in accordance with the procedures defined in these rules. Since these rules are intended to address procedural matters in the deposit of biological material for patent purposes, and are not designed to decide such substantive issues such as whether a deposit of a particular organism or material would be recognized or needed to be made for the purposes of satisfying the statutory requirements for patentability under 35 U.S.C. 112, the definition provided in this section is intended to be permissive - specifically defining materials which can be deposited.

Biological material includes material that is capable of self-replication either directly or indirectly. Direct self-replication includes those situations where the biological material reproduces by itself. Representative examples of materials capable of self-replication are defined in the rule. Indirect self-replication is meant to include those situations where the biological material is only capable of replication when another self-replicating biological material is present. Self-replication after insertion in a host is one example of indirect self-replication. Examples of indirect replicating biological materials include viruses, phages, plasmids, symbionts, and replication defective cells. The list of representative examples of each type of replicating material includes viruses to demonstrate that the lists are not intended to be mutually exclusive.

Although plant material is included within the scope of the definition of biological material for purposes of patents for inventions under 35 U.S.C. 101, these rules on deposits are not applicable to applications filed under the Plant Patent Act (35 U.S.C. 161-164). The Office is of the view that a deposit is not required under the present provisions of 35 U.S.C. 162. Thus, no plant patent granted under the provisions of 35 U.S.C. 161-164 need be supported by a deposit. As with other biological material deposited for purposes of patents for inventions under 35 U.S.C. 101, the deposit of plant material together with the written specification must enable those skilled in the art to make and use the claimed invention.

As with some types of reproducible biological material, seeds can be reproduced only after a growing season which may be relatively long. Although the rules do not specify a specific number of seeds to be deposited to meet the requirements of these rules, the Office will consider 2500 to be a minimum number in the normal case, but will give an applicant the opportunity to provide justification why a lesser number would be suitable under the circumstances of a particular case. The Department of Agriculture requires a deposit of 2500 seeds for the grant of a Plant Variety Protection Certificate. As the reproduction of seeds will often take a substantial period of time, the Office will require, at a minimum, a number of seeds that is likely to satisfy demand for samples once the patent is granted.

Section 1.801 does not attempt to identify what biological material either needs to be or may be deposited to comply with the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 112. For the most part, this issue must be addressed on a case-by-case basis. Thus, while the Office does not presently contemplate that there would be any situations where a material that is not capable of self-replication either directly or indirectly would be acceptable as a deposit, an applicant is clearly not precluded in any given application, by these rules, from attempting to show why the deposit of such a material should be acceptable to satisfy the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 112.

NEED OR OPPORTUNITY TO MAKE A DEPOSIT [§ 1.802]

This section permits a deposit of a biological material to be referenced in a patent application where an invention is, or relies on, a biological material. The invention may rely on a biological material for the purposes of making or using the invention, either as a preferred mode or an alternative mode of operation. It is not necessary, for the purposes of paragraph (a), that a deposit be required to satisfy the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 112 before a reference to a deposit is permitted in the specification.

There is no necessary implication or presumption that can or should be made about the need for a deposit simply because reference to a deposit is made in an application disclosure. As noted in paragraph (b), biological material need not be deposited unless access to such material is necessary for the satisfaction of the statutory requirements for patentability under 35 U.S.C. 112 and that access is not otherwise available in the absence of a deposit. Where a deposit is required to provide the necessary access, a deposit is acceptable for patent purposes only where it is made in accordance with these regulations. Even where access to biological material is required to satisfy these statutory requirements, a deposit may not be necessary if access sufficient to satisfy these requirements is otherwise available.

For example, applicant could show that the biological material is known and readily available to the public. The concepts of "known and readily available" are considered to reflect a level of public accessibility to a necessary component of an invention disclosure that is consistent with an ability to make and use the invention. To avoid the need for a deposit on this basis, the biological material must be both known and readily available - neither concept alone is sufficient. A material may be known in the sense that its existence has been published, but is not available to those who wish to obtain that particular known biological material. Likewise, a biological material may be available in the sense that those having possession of it would make it available upon request, but no one has been informed of its existence.

By showing that a biological material is known and readily available or by making a deposit in accordance with these rules, applicant does not guarantee that such biological material will be available forever. Public access during the term of the patent may affect the enforceability of the patent. Although there is a public interest in the availability of a deposited biological material during and after the period of enforceability of the patent, the examiner need not be unduly concerned about continued access to the public. Unless there is a reasonable basis to believe that the biological material will cease to be available during the life of the patent, the examiner should accept current availability as satisfying the requirement. The incentives provided by the patent system should not be constrained by the mere possibility that a disclosure that was once enabling would become non-enabling over a period of time through no fault of the patentee. In re Metcalfe, 410 F.2d 1378, 161 USPQ 789 (CCPA 1969).

There are many factors that may be used as indicia that a biological material is known and readily available to the public. Relevant factors include commercial availability, references to the biological material in printed publications, declarations of accessibility by those working in the field, evidence of predictable isolation techniques, or an existing deposit made in accordance with these rules. Each factor may or may not be sufficient alone to demonstrate that the biological material is known and readily available. Those applicants that rely on evidence of accessibility other than a deposit take the risk that the patent may no longer be enforceable if the biological material necessary to satisfy the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 112 ceases to become accessible.

The Office will accept commercial availability as evidence that a biological material is known and readily available only when the evidence is clear and convincing that the public has access to the material. A product could be commercially available but only at a price that effectively eliminates accessibility to those desiring to obtain a sample. The relationship between an applicant relying on a biological material and the commercial supplier relied upon is one factor that would be considered in determining whether the biological material was known and readily available. However, the mere fact that the biological material was available only through the patent holder or the patent holder's agents or assigns shall not, by itself, justify a finding that the necessary material is not readily available, absent reason to believe that access to the biological material would later be improperly restricted.

The mere reference to a deposit or the biological material itself in any document or publication does not necessarily mean that the deposited biological material is readily available. Even a deposit made under the Budapest Treaty and referenced in a United States or foreign patent document would not necessarily meet the test for known and readily available unless the deposit was made under conditions which are consistent with those specified in these rules, including the one that requires, with one possible exception, that all restrictions on the accessibility will be irrevocably removed upon the granting of the patent.

Applicant may show that a deposit is not necessary even though specific biological materials are required to practice the invention if those biological materials can be made or isolated without undue experimentation. Deposits may be required to support the claims if an isolation procedure requires undue experimentation to obtain the desired biological material. Ex Parte Jackson, 217 USPQ 804 (PTO Bd. Pat. App. 1982) No deposit is required, however, where the required biological materials can be obtained from publicly available material with only routine experimentation and a reliable screening test. Tabuchi v. Nubel, 559 F.2d 1183, 194 USPQ 521 (CCPA 1977); Ex Parte Hata, 6 USPQ 2d 1652 (PTO Bd. Pat. App. & Int. 1987).

Once a deposit is made in a depository complying with these rules, and under conditions complying with these rules, a biological material will be considered to be readily available even though some requirement of law or regulation in the United States or in the country where the depository institution is located permits access to the material only under conditions imposed for health, safety or similar reasons. This provision is consistent with the Budapest Treaty (Article 5) and is designed to permit the patenting of inventions involving materials having restricted distribution, where the restrictions are imposed for the public, as opposed to the private, welfare.

Paragraph (c) specifically provides that the mere reference to a deposit of biological material in the specification disclosure or the actual deposit of such material does not create any presumption that such referenced or deposited material is necessary to satisfy 35 U.S.C. 112, or that a deposit in accordance with these regulations is or was required. Since reference to a biological material cannot be added to a specification disclosure after filing an application without risking the prohibited introduction of new matter (35 U.S.C. 132), applicants must be permitted to address the need to make a deposit in accordance with these regulations without jeopardizing a filing date. Thus, the examiner has the burden of showing that a deposit is required to satisfy 35 U.S.C. 112, and cannot rely on whether a deposit has been made or has been referenced in the specification disclosure to establish a prima facie case that the disclosure does not comply with 35 U.S.C. 112 without deposit.

ACCEPTABLE DEPOSITORY [§ 1.803]

This section indicates that a depository will be recognized as acceptable for the purposes of these regulations if it is either an International Depositary Authority (IDA) established under the Budapest Treaty, or if it is a depository recognized as suitable by the Commissioner. After the effective date of these regulations, a deposit of biological material which is made in a depository which is not recognized as acceptable under this regulation will not be considered as satisfying the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 112. On the other hand, if a deposit is not required to satisfy the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 112, it is permissible to make reference to such a deposit even though it may not be in a depository or made under the conditions which are acceptable under these regulations. As new depositories are accepted under the Budapest Treaty or are recognized as suitable by the Commissioner, their identity will be announced in the Official Gazette.

An organization may be recognized as suitable by the Office if the procedure and conditions specified in paragraphs (a)(2) and (b) are followed. Generally, it is not the intention of the Office to recognize as suitable any organization where the need for a suitable depository for patent purposes is being met by depositories recognized as IDAs under the Budapest Treaty. Suitability will be judged by the Commissioner, based on need and the information supplied by the organization seeking status, and information obtained from other sources that may be consulted.

While there is a desire to provide flexibility to a patent applicant in selecting an appropriate depository, these rules are not intended to permit each patent applicant to become its own depository since both the patent owner and the public have an interest in the continued availability and accessibility of the deposit during the enforceable life of the patent, and the public has a continuing interest in its availability when the patent is no longer enforceable. The concept of a depository independent of the control of the depositor or an IDA as an acceptable depository is based on the need and desire to ensure the safe and reliable storage of a deposited biological material under circumstances that are substantially free of the opportunity for intentional or negligent handling of the deposited material. The use of an independent depository or internationally recognized depository will tend to preserve the integrity of the deposit process against those that may accidentally alter the deposited material, may wish to tamper with the deposited material or may wish to resume control of its availability when the patent is no longer enforceable, and to preserve the interest of the public in the access to the biological material once the term of the patent expires.

When a depository having status under paragraph (a)(2) of this regulation seeks to change the kinds of biological materials that it will accept and maintain for the purposes of these rules, a communication requesting such a change should be directed to the Commissioner containing the information requested in paragraph (b). When such a change is requested, the requesting organization should provide a complete list of the kinds of biological materials it will accept.

Paragraph (d) of this section indicates that once a depository is recognized as suitable for the purposes of this rule, or has defaulted or discontinued its performance under this section, notice thereof will be published in the Official Gazette of the Patent and Trademark Office. A current list of IDAs recognized under the Budapest Treaty is as follows:

TIME OF MAKING AN ORIGINAL DEPOSIT [§ 1.804]

This section specifies the time for making an original deposit to fulfill the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 112. Paragraph (a) specifies not only a permissible time frame for making an original deposit, but also specifies that the biological material deposited must be specifically identified in the application for patent as filed. The requirement for a specific identification is consistent with the description requirement of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112, and to provide an antecedent basis for the biological material which either has been or will be deposited before the patent is granted.

The description in the Lundak application as filed (now patent 4,594,325) provides a suitable illustration of the specific identification and description which is required in an application for patent as filed. In that application, an immortal B-cell line was disclosed and claimed. The cell line was referred to in the application as filed as WI-L2-729 HF2. The methods of obtaining and using this cell line were also described in the application as filed. A deposit of the cell line was made with the American Type Culture Collection (ATCC) about a week after the application was filed in the United States. The United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit held that the requirements of access by the Office to a sample of the cell line during pendency, and public access after grant, were met by Lundak's procedures. The Court further held that the addition of information designating the depository, accession number, and deposit date of the deposited cell line in ATCC after the filing date did not violate the prohibition against new matter in 35 U.S.C. 132. In re Lundak, 773 F.2d 1216, 227 USPQ 90 (Fed Cir. 1985). It must be clear from the application as filed that the invention claimed and described in the specification "was fully capable of being reduced to practice (i.e., no technological problems, the resolution of which would require more than ordinary skill and reasonable time, remained in order to obtain an operative, useful process)." Feldman v. Aunstrup, 517 F.2d 1351, 1355, 186 USPQ 108, 113 (CCPA 1975), cert. denied, 424 U.S. 912 (1976).

When the original deposit is made after the effective filing date of an application for patent, applicant is required to promptly submit a verified statement from a person in a position to corroborate that the biological material which is deposited is a biological material specifically identified in the application (the filing date of which is relied upon) as filed. The nature of this corroboration will depend on the circumstances in the particular application under consideration, including the length of time between the application filing date and the date of deposit. While few, if any, situations can be imagined where the description requirement of 35 U.S.C. 112 can be satisfied where the biological material was not in existence at the time of filing, the rules do not preclude such a situation. There is no requirement in the patent law that an actual reduction to practice occur as a condition precedent to filing a patent application. The requirement for a verified statement is not necessary under paragraph (b) of this section if the person making the statement is an attorney or agent registered to practice before the Office.

For the purposes of complying with the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 112, a deposit of a biological material may be made at any time before filing the application for patent or during the pendency of the application subject to the conditions of § 1.809. Where the deposit is needed to satisfy the requirement of 35 U.S.C. 112 and is made during the pendency of the application, it must be made no later than the time period set by the examiner at the time the Notice of Allowance and Issue Fee Due is mailed. A necessary deposit need not be made by applicant until the application is in condition for allowance so long as applicant provides a written assurance that an acceptable deposit will be made on or before the payment of the issue fee. This written assurance must provide sufficiently detailed information to convince the examiner that there is no outstanding issue regarding deposits that needs to be resolved.

Those applicants intending to file patent applications in a country foreign to the United States relying upon biological material that must be deposited to satisfy the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 112 when the application is filed in the United States are cautioned that in many countries the deposit must be made before the filing date of the priority application in order to obtain foreign priority rights. Thus, while the deposit of a biological material subsequent to the effective filing date of a United States application is sufficient to comply with 35 U.S.C. 112, an applicant may not be able to rely on the filing date of such a U.S. application if a patent is sought in a country foreign to the United States.

REPLACEMENT OR SUPPLEMENT OF DEPOSIT [§ 1.805]

This section relates to the deposit of a biological material to replace or supplement a previous deposit. The term "replacement" is directed to those situations where one deposit is being substituted for another. An applicant may have greater latitude in replacing a deposit during the pendency of an application than after the patent is granted. Replacement will typically take place where the earlier deposit is no longer viable. The term "supplement" is directed to those situations where the earlier deposit is still viable in the sense that it is alive and capable of replication either directly or indirectly, but has lost a quality (e.g., purity, functionality) it allegedly possessed at the time the application was filed. The procedures in these rules contemplate that only the original depositor would have a right to replace or supplement the original deposit.

Paragraph (a) relates to the procedure for replacing or supplementing a deposit with respect to a pending application or a patent. An applicant for patent or patent owner whose patent is the subject of a reissue application or reexamination proceeding is required to notify the Office when it obtains information that the depository possessing a deposit either cannot furnish samples thereof or can furnish samples thereof but the deposit has become contaminated or has lost its capability to function as described in the specification. When the Office is so notified or otherwise becomes aware of such information, the need for making a replacement or supplemental deposit will be determined by the same considerations used to determine the need for an original deposit under § 1.802(b).

A replacement or supplemental deposit made in connection with a pending application for patent will be accepted if it meets all the requirements for making an original deposit. It should be noted that for a pending application for patent, applicant need not replace or supplement the identical material previously deposited, but may make an original deposit of a biological material which is specifically identified and described in the application as filed. Whether this alternative deposit will meet the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 112 with respect to the claimed subject matter must be resolved by the examiner on a case-by-case basis.

A replacement or supplemental deposit made in connection with a patent, whether or not it is the subject of a pending reissue application or reexamination proceeding, shall not be recognized in any Office proceeding unless a certificate of correction under § 1.323 is requested by the patent owner which meets the terms of paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section. These paragraphs specify the procedures that a patent owner must follow to ensure both that a replacement or supplemental deposit will be recognized in any Office proceeding and that a certificate of correction under this section containing "up to date" information about a deposited biological material will be granted. The term "recognized in any Office proceeding" as used in this section includes the proceeding in which a request for certificate of correction under this section is acted upon. Paragraph (b) describes the information which must be contained in the certificate of correction, whereas paragraph (c) describes when the request must be made and the information which must be provided in the request to make the correction. The rules require, inter alia, that replacement or supplement of a deposit be made diligently, followed by prompt request thereafter for a certificate of correction, as conditions precedent to being recognized in any Office proceeding. Thus, for example, if a patent owner learns early during the term of the patent that the depository cannot furnish samples of a deposit described in the patent and the patent owner fails to both diligently make a replacement deposit and promptly thereafter request a certificate of correction under these rules, a replacement deposit made years later when the patent becomes the subject of a reissue application or reexamination proceeding will not be recognized by the Office nor will any request for certificate of correction in connection with that deposit be granted.

Where a proper request for certificate of correction is made and has been granted, any correction made to the original patent will be automatically incorporated into any reissued or reexamined patent unless changes are made during examination of the reissue application or reexamination proceeding.

Paragraph (d) of § 1.805 sets forth the Office position that the failure to make a replacement deposit or, in the case of a patent, diligently make a replacement deposit and promptly thereafter request a certificate of correction which meets the terms of paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, after notification that samples of an earlier deposit cannot be furnished, shall cause the application or patent involved to be treated in any Office proceeding as if no deposit were made.

Paragraph (e) thereof indicates that the Office will apply a rebuttable presumption of an identity between the replacement deposit and an original deposit where a patent making reference to the deposit is relied on during any Office proceeding. This means that where a replacement deposit is permitted and made, the examiner will assume that the same material as described in the patent is accessible from the identified depository unless evidence to the contrary comes to the attention of the Office.

An applicant for patent may make a replacement or supplemental deposit during the pendency of the application for any reason. The provisions of paragraph (f) of § 1.805 recognize that since an original deposit may be made during the pendency of the application subject to the conditions of § 1.809, a replacement or supplemental deposit logically cannot be held to any higher standard or any further requirements. Likewise, the provisions of paragraph (g) indicate that neither a replacement nor a supplemental deposit need be made where, at the point in time when replacement or supplement would otherwise be necessary, access to the necessary biological material was otherwise available. For example, a replacement or supplemental deposit would not be required under the circumstances where access to the necessary biological material was established through commercial suppliers.

The provisions of paragraph (h) of § 1.805 indicate that a replacement deposit is not required even though the depository cannot furnish samples, under certain conditions, to those requesting a sample outside of the jurisdiction where the depository is located. The conditions are specified in this paragraph as being limited to national security, health or environmental safety reasons.

Finally, paragraph (i) of this section indicates that the Office will not recognize in any Office proceeding a replacement deposit made by the patent owner where the depository could furnish samples of the deposit being replaced. The best evidence of what was originally deposited should not be lost through destruction or replacement if made in association with an existing patent. A supplemental deposit may be accepted in an Office proceeding, however, depending on the circumstances in each case.

TERM OF DEPOSIT [§ 1.806]

The term of deposit must satisfy the requirements of the Budapest Treaty which sets a term of at least 30 years from the date of deposit and at least five (5) years after the most recent request for the furnishing of a sample of the deposit was received by the depository. In the event that the 30-year term covers the 17-year term of the patent plus six (6) years to include the Statute of Limitations, no further requirement is necessary. The mere possibility of patent term extension or extended litigation involving the patent should not be considered in this analysis.

In the event that the 30-year term of deposit measured from the date of deposit would necessarily terminate within the period of enforceability of the patent (normally the 17-year term plus six (6) years), samples must be stored under agreements that would make them available beyond the enforceable life of the patent for which the deposit was made. No requirement should be made as to any particular period of time beyond the enforceable life of the patent. The purpose of the requirement is to insure that a deposited biological material necessary for the practice of a patented invention would be available to the public after expiration of the patent for which the deposit was made. The term of the deposit must comply with the requirements of each sentence of § 1.806 whether or not the deposit is made under the Budapest Treaty. A specific statement that the deposit complies with the second sentence of this section is required only where the 30-year term would terminate within the enforceable life of the patent.

VIABILITY OF DEPOSITS [§ 1.807]

This section requires that the deposit of biological material that is capable of self-replication either directly or indirectly must be viable at the time of deposit and during the term of deposit. This requirement for viability is essentially a requirement that the deposited material is capable of reproduction. For the purpose of making a deposit under these rules, there is no requirement that evidence be provided that the deposited material is capable or has the ability to perform any function described in the patent application. However, as with any other issue of description or enablement, if the examiner has evidence or reason to question the objective statements made in the patent application, applicants may be required to demonstrate that the deposited biological material will perform in the manner described.

Under the Budapest Treaty, there is a requirement that the deposit be tested for viability before it is accepted. Thus, a mere statement by applicant, an authorized representative of applicant or the assignee that the deposit has been accepted under the Budapest Treaty would satisfy § 1.807.

For each deposit which is not made under the Budapest Treaty, a viability statement must be filed in the patent application and contain the information listed in paragraph (b) of this section. Under paragraph (c), the examiner will accept the conclusion set forth in a viability statement which is issued by a depository recognized under § 1.803(a). If the viability test indicates that the deposit is not viable upon receipt, or the examiner cannot for scientific or other valid reasons accept the statement of viability received from the applicant, the examiner shall so notify the applicant stating the reasons for not acepting the statement and proceed with the examination process as if no deposit had been made.

FURNISHING OF SAMPLES [§ 1.808]

This section requires that the deposit of biological material be made under two (2) conditions:

(1) access to the deposit will be available during pendency of the patent application making reference to the deposit to one determined by the Commissioner to be entitled thereto under § 1.14 and 35 U.S.C. 122, and

(2) with one exception, that all restrictions imposed by the depositor onthe availability to the public of the deposited biological material will be irrevocably removed upon the granting of the patent.

The one exception that is permitted is specified in paragraph (b) of this section which permits the depositor to contract with the depository to require that samples of a deposited biological material shall be furnished only if a request for a sample, during the term of the patent meets any one or all of the three conditions specified in this paragraph. These conditions are:

(1) the request is in writing or other tangible form and dated; and/or

(2) the request contains the name and address of the requesting party and the accession number of the deposit; and/or

(3) the request is communicated in writing by the depository to the depositor along with the date on which the sample was furnished and thename and address of the party to whom the sample was furnished.

It should be noted that this exception to the general rule that all restrictions will be removed must be strictly followed and that no variations of this explicit exception will be accepted as meeting the conditions of this section. This exception is consistent with the provisions in the Budapest Treaty and its implementing regulations (Rule 11.4).

Since the mere description of a deposit or identity of a deposit in a patent specification is not necessarily an indication that a requirement for deposit was made or that a deposit which complies with these rules has been made, accessibility to a deposited material referenced in a patent may depend on the satisfaction of conditions not apparent on the face of the patent. For these reasons, and upon request made to the Patent and Trademark Office, the Office will certify whether a deposit has been stated to have been made under conditions which would make it available to the public as of the issue date of the patent grant provided the request is made to the Director of Patent Examining Group 180, and contains the following information:

(1) the name and address of the depository
(2) the accession number given to the deposit
(3) the patent number and issue date of the patent referring to the depositand
(4) the name and address of the requesting party.

For those deposits made pursuant to the Budapest Treaty, the World Intellectual Property Organization provides a form (Form BP-12) for requesting a certification of the availability of samples of deposited microorganisms pursuant to Rule 11.3(a) of the regulations under the Budapest Treaty. Copies of this form are available from the Director of Patent Examining Group 180.

EXAMINATION PROCEDURES [§ 1.809]

This section sets forth procedures that will be used by the examiner to address a deposit issue. Deposit issues may arise in the examination of claims in applications for patent and for reissue of a patent, and in the examination of new or amended claims in a reexamination proceeding. The burden is initially on the Office to establish that access to a biological material is necessary for the satisfaction of the statutory requirements for patentability under 35 U.S.C. 112. Once the Office has met this burden, the burden shifts to the applicant or patent owner to demonstrate that access to such biological material either is not necessary or is already available, or that a deposit of such material is being or will be made, replaced or supplemented in accordance with these regulations.

Under paragraph (a) of this section, once the examiner has determined that access to a biological material is necessary, and that access is not presently available in accordance with these regulations, the examiner should make an appropriate rejection under 35 U.S.C. 112.

The applicant or patent owner may respond, pursuant to paragraph (b)(2) of this section, to a rejection made under paragraph (a) thereof by arguing why a deposit is not needed under the circumstances and/or why a deposit actually made should be acceptable. Other prescribed responses which are available to such a rejection depend upon whether the rejection is made in an application for patent, on the one hand, or in a proceeding involving a patent, i.e., an application for reissue patent or reexamination proceeding, on the other hand.

In an application for patent, applicant may respond, pursuant to paragraph (b)(1) of this section, by either making an acceptable original, replacement or supplemental deposit in accordance with these regulations, or assuring the Office in writing that an acceptable deposit will be made on or before the date of payment of the issue fee. In a proceeding involving a patent, the patent owner may respond, pursuant to paragraph (b)(1) of this section, by requesting a certificate of correction of the patent which meets the terms of paragraphs (b) and (c) of § 1.805. In all cases, any other response shall be considered non-responsive. The rejection will be repeated and made final until the requirements of paragraph (b)(1) of this section are satisfied or the examiner is convinced that a deposit. is not required for the claimed subject matter.

As set forth in paragraph (c) of this section, in the event that an application for patent is otherwise in condition for allowance except for a needed deposit and the Office has received a written assurance that an acceptable deposit will be made, the Office will mail to the applicant a requirement that the needed deposit be made within three (3) months together with the Notice of Allowance and Issue Fee Due. Although the period for paying the issue fee cannot be extended under the provisions of § 1.136, the period for satisfying the requirement to make an acceptable deposit may be extended under the provisions of that section. Failure to make the needed deposit in accordance with this requirement may be considered a failure to prosecute the application under 35 U.S.C. 133 and result in abandonment of the application.

The type of written assurance which will be considered acceptable by the Office that an acceptable deposit will be made within the required time must include sufficient information to conclude that there is no outstanding issue with regard to the deposit of an appropriate biological material under conditions which satisfy these rules.

In a proceeding involving a patent, it may not be possible to request a certificate of correction of the patent which meets the terms of paragraphs (b) and (c) of § 1.805. For example, if the patent owner is on notice that samples of an original deposit can no longer be furnished by the depository, failure to diligently make a replacement deposit will preclude grant of a certificate of correction. A replacement deposit subsequently made will not be recognized by the Office nor will a request for certificate of correction, even if made promptly thereafter, be granted. It would also not be possible to request a certificate of correction of the patent which meets the terms of paragraphs (b) and (c) of § 1.805 where no original deposit was made before or during the pendency of the application which matured into the patent.

A patent defective because of lack of a necessary deposit is necessarily fatally defective for failure to comply with the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112. Reissue is not available in such cases. See In re Hay, 534 F.2d 917, 189 USPQ 790 (CCPA 1976). Whether reissue is available where a biological material necessary for compliance with 35 U.S.C. 112 was known and readily available at the time of issuance of the patent and subsequently ceased to be readily available is problematic. Nevertheless, the rules do not provide for post-issue original deposits.

Where an applicant for patent has any doubt whether access to a biological material specifically identified in the specification is necessary to satisfy 35 U.S.C. I12 or whether such a material, while presently freely available, may become unavailable in the future, the applicant would be well-advised to make a deposit thereof before any patent issues. Similarly, where a patent owner has any doubt whether a deposit referred to in the specification is of a biological material necessary to satisfy 35 U.S.C. 112 and, if the material is necessary, whether it is otherwise known and readily available, the patent owner would be well-advised to follow the procedures set forth in paragraphs (b) and (c) of 1.805 after receiving the notice specified in those paragraphs.

Paragraph (d) of this section sets forth the requirements for the content of the specification with respect to a deposited biological material. Specifically, the specification shall contain the accession number for the deposit, the date of the deposit, the name and address of the depository, and a description of the deposited biological material sufficient to specifically identify it and to permit examination. The description must be sufficient to permit verification that the deposited biological material is in fact that disclosed. Once the patent issues, the description must be sufficient to aid in the resolution of questions of infringement. As a general rule, the more information that is provided about a particular deposited biological material, the better the examiner will be able to compare the identity and characteristics of the deposited biological material with the prior art.

OTHER CONSIDERATIONS

The rules are in conformity with the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (Pub. L. 96-354), Executive Orders 12291 and 12612 and the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.

The General Counsel has certified to the Chief Counsel for Advocacy, Small Business Administration, that this rule change is not expected to have a significant adverse economic impact on a substantial number of small entities (Regulatory Flexibility Act, Pub. L. 96-354). The deposit practice will not impose extra work on patent applicants (whether small or large businesses or individuals).

The Patent and Trademark Office has determined that this rule change is not a major rule under Executive Order 12291. The annual effect on the economy will be less than $100 million. There will be no major increases in costs or prices for consumers, individual industries, Federal, State or local government agencies, or geographic regions. There will be no adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or on the ability of United States based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

The Patent and Trademark Office has also determined that this notice has no Federalism implications affecting the relationship between the National Government and the States as outlined in Executive Order 12612.

These rules contain a collection of information requirement subject to the Paperwork Reduction Act which has been approved by the Office of Management and Budget under Control No. 0651-0022. Public reporting burden for this collection of information is estimated to average one hour per response, including the time for reviewing instructions, searching existing data sources, gathering and maintaining the data needed to make a deposit or request a sample, and completing and reviewing the collection of information. It is further estimated that a respondent depository would spend about five hours collecting and submitting the necessary information to be recognized as a suitable depository by the Office. Send comments regarding this burden estimate or any other aspect of this collection of information, including suggestions for reducing this burden, to the Office of Management and Organization, Patent and Trademark Office, Washington, D.C. 20231, and to the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs, Office of Management and Budget, Washington, D.C. 2050 (Paperwork Reduction Project 0651-0022). No comments regarding this burden estimate or any other aspect of this collection of infomation, including suggestions for reducing this burden, were received in response to the notice of proposed rulemaking.

Deposit of Biological Material

§ 1.801 Biological material.

For the purposes of these regulations pertaining to the deposit of biological material for purposes of patents for inventions under 35 U.S.C. 101, the term biological material shall include material that is capable of self-replication either directly or indirectly. Representative examples include bacteria, fungi including yeast, algae, protozoa, eukaryotic cells, cell lines, hybridomas, plasmids, viruses, plant tissue cells, lichens and seeds. Viruses, vectors, cell organelles and other non-living material existing in and reproducible from a living cell may be deposited by deposit of the host cell capable of reproducing the non-living material.

§ 1.802 Need or Opportunity to make a deposit.

(a) Where an invention is, or relies on, a biological material, the disclosure may include reference to a deposit of such biological material.

(b) Biological material need not be deposited unless access to such material is necessary for the satisfaction of the statutory requirements for patentability under 35 U.S.C. 112. If a deposit is necessary, it shall be acceptable if made in accordance with these regulations. Biological material need not be deposited, inter alia, if it is known and readily available to the public or can be made or isolated without undue experimentation. Once deposited in a depository complying with these regulations, a biological material will be considered to be readily available even though some requirement of law or regulation of the United States or of the country in which the depository institution is located permits access to the material only under conditions imposed for safety, public health or similar reasons.

(c) The reference to a biological material in a specification disclosure or the actual deposit of such material by an applicant or patent owner does not create any presumption that such material is necessary to satisfy 35 U.S.C. 112 or that deposit in accordance with these regulations is or was required.

§ 1.803 Acceptable depository.

(a) A deposit shall be recognized for the purposes of these regulations if made in

(1) any International Depositary Authority (IDA) as established under the Budapest Treaty on the International Recognition of the Deposit of Microorganisms for the Purposes of Patent Procedure, or

(2) any other depository recognized to be suitable by the Office. Suitability will be determined by the Commissioner on the basis of the administrative and technical competence, and agreement of the depository to comply with the terms and conditions applicable to deposits for patent purposes. The Commissioner may seek the advice of impartial consultants on the suitability of a depository. The depository must:

(i) Have a continuous existence;

(ii) Exist independent of the control of the depositor;

(iii) Possess the staff and facilities sufficient to examine the viability of a deposit and store the deposit in a manner which ensures that it is kept viable and uncontaminated;

(iv) Provide for sufficient safety measures to minimize the risk of losing biological material deposited with it

(v) Be impartial and objective;

(vi) Furnish samples of the deposited material in an expeditious and proper manner; and

(vii) Promptly notify depositors of its inability to furnish samples, and the reasons why.

(b) A depository seeking status under paragraph (a)(2) of this section must direct a communication to the Commissioner which shall:

(1) Indicate the name and address of the depository to which the communication relates;

(2) Contain detailed information as to the capacity of the depository to comply with the requirements of paragraph (a)(2) of this section, including information on its legal status, scientific standing, staff and facilities;

(3) Indicate that the depository intends to be available, for the purposes of deposit, to any depositor under these same conditions;

(4) Where the depository intends to accept for deposit only certain kinds of biological material, specify such kinds;

(5) Indicate the amount of any fees that the depository will, upon acquiring the status of suitable depository under paragraph (a)(2) of this section, charge for storage, viability statements and furnishings of samples of the deposit.

(c) A depository having status under paragraph (a)(2) of this section limited to certain kinds of biological material may extend such status to additional kinds of biological material by directing a communication to the Commissioner in accordance with paragraph (b) of this section. If a previous communication under paragraph (b) of this section is of record, items in common with the previous communication may be incorporated by reference.

(d) Once a depository is recognized to be suitable by the Commissioner or has defaulted or discontinued its performance under this section, notice thereof will be published in the Official Gazette of the Patent and Trademark Office.

§ 1.804 Time of making an original deposit.

(a) Whenever a biological material is specifically identified in an application for patent as filed, an original deposit thereof may be made at any time before filing the application for patent or, subject to § 1.809, during pendency of the application for patent.

(b) When the original deposit is made after the effective filing date of an application for patent, the applicant shall promptly submit a verified statement from a person in a position to corroborate the fact, and shall state, that the biological material which is deposited is a biological material specifically identified in the application as filed, except if the person is an attorney or agent registered to practice before the Office, in which case the statement need not be verified.

§ 1.805 Replacement or supplement of deposit.

(a) A depositor, after receiving notice during the pendency of an application for patent, application for reissue patent or reexamination proceeding, that the depository possessing a deposit either cannot furnish samples thereof or can furnish samples thereof but the deposit has become contaminated or has lost its capability to function as described in the specification, shall notify the Office in writing, in each application for patent or patent affected. In such a case, or where the Office otherwise learns, during the pendency of an application for patent, application for reissue patent or reexamination proceeding, that the depository possessing a deposit either cannot furnish samples thereof or can furnish samples thereof but the deposit has become contaminated or has lost its capability to function as described in the specification, the need for making a replacement or supplemental deposit will be governed by the same considerations governing the need for making an original deposit under the provisions set forth in § 1.802(b). A replacement or supplemental deposit made during the pendency of an application for patent shall not be accepted unless it meets the requirements for making an original deposit under these regulations, including the requirement set forth under § 1.804(b). A replacement or supplemental deposit made in connection with a patent, whether or not made during the pendency of an application for reissue patent or a reexamination proceeding or both, shall not be accepted unless a certificate of correction under § 1.323 is requested by the patent owner which meets the terms of paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section.

(b) A request for certificate of correction under this section shall not be granted unless the certificate identifies:

(1) The accession numter for the replacement or supplemental deposit;

(2) The date of the deposit; and

(3) The name and address of the depository.

(c) A request for a certificate of correction under this section shall not be granted unless the request is made promptly after the replacement or supplemental deposit has been made and:

(1) Includes a verified statement of the reason for making the replacement or supplemental deposit;

(2) Includes a verified statement from a person in a position to corroborate the fact, and shall state, that the replacement or supplemental deposit is of a biological material which is identical to that originally deposited;

(3) Includes a verified showing that the patent owner acted diligently—

(i) In the case of a replacement deposit, in making the deposit after receiving notice that samples could no longer be furnished from an earlier deposit, or

(ii) In the case of a supplemental deposit, in making the deposit after receiving notice that the earlier deposit had become contaminated or had lost its capability to function as described in the specification;

(4) Includes a verified statement that the term of the replacement or supplemental deposit expires no earlier than the term of the deposit being replaced or supplemented; and

(5) Otherwise establishes compliance with these regulations, except that if the person making one or more of the required statements or showing is an attorney or agent registered to practice before the Office, that statement or showing need not be verified.

(d) A depositor's failure to replace a deposit, or in the case of a patent, to diligently replace a deposit and promptly thereafter request a certificate of correction which meets the terms of paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, after being notified that the depository possessing the deposit cannot furnish samples thereof, shall cause the application or patent involved to be treated in any Office proceeding as if no deposit were made.

(e) In the event a deposit is replaced according to these regulations, the Office will apply a rebuttable presumption of identity between the original and the replacement deposit where a patent making reference to the deposit is relied upon during any Office proceeding.

(f) A replacement or supplemental deposit made during the pendency of an application for patent may be made for any reason.

(g) In no case is a replacement or supplemental deposit of a biological material necessary where the biological material, in accordance with 1.802(b), need not be deposited.

(h) No replacement deposit of a biological material is necessary where a depository can furnish samples thereof but the depository for national security, health or environmental safety reasons is unable to provide samples to requesters outside of the jurisdiction where the depository is located.

(i) The Office will not recognize in any Office proceeding a replacement deposit of a biological material made by a patent owner where the depository could furnish samples of the deposit being replaced.

§ 1.806 Term of deposit.

A deposit made before or during pendency of an application for patent shall be made for a term of at least thirty (30) years and at least five (5) years after the most recent request for the furnishing of a sample of the deposit was received by the depository. In any case, samples must be stored under agreements that would make them available beyond the enforceable life of the patent for which the deposit was made.

§ 1.807 Viability of deposit.

(a) A deposit of biological material that is capable of self-replication either directly or indirectly must be viable at the time of deposit and during the term of deposit. Viability may be tested by the depository. The test must conclude only that the deposited material is capable of reproduction. No evidence is necessarily required regarding the ability of the deposited material to perform any function described in the patent application.

(b) A viability statement for each deposit of a biological material defined in paragraph (a) of this section not made under the Budapest Treaty on the International Recognition of the Deposit of Microorganisms for the Purposes of Patent Procedure must be filed in the application and must contain:

(1) The name and address of the depository;
(2) The name and address of the depositor;
(3) The date of deposit;
(4) The identity of the deposit and the accession number given by the depository;
(5) The date of the viability test;
(6) The procedures used to obtain a sample if the test is not done by the depository; and
(7) A statement that the deposit is capable of reproduction.

(c) If a viability test indicates that the deposit is not viable upon receipt, or the examiner cannot, for scientific or other valid reasons, accept the statement of viability received from the applicant, the examiner shall proceed as if no deposit has been made. The examiner will accept the conclusion set forth in a viability statement issued by a depository recognized under § 1.803(a).

§ 1.808 Furnishing of samples.

(a) A deposit must be made under conditions that assure that:

(1) Access to the deposit will be available during pendency of the patent application making reference to the deposit to one determined by the Commissioner to be entitled thereto under § 1.14 and 35 U.S.C. 122, and

(2) Subject to paragraph (b) of this section, all restrictions imposed by the depositor on the availability to the public of the deposited material will be irrevocably removed upon the granting of the patent.

(b) The depositor may contract with the depository to require that samples of a deposited biological material shall be furnished only if a request for a sample, during the term of the patent:

(1) Is in writing or other tangible form and dated;

(2) Contains the name and address of the requesting party and the accession number of the deposit; and

(3) Is communicated in writing by the depository to the depositor along with the date on which the sample was furnished and the name and address of the party to whom the sample was furnished.

(c) Upon request made to the Office, the Office will certify whether a deposit has been stated to have been made under conditions which make it available to the public as of the issue date of the patent grant provided the request con tains:

(1) The name and address of the depository;
(2) The accession number given to the deposit;
(3) The patent number and issue date of the patent referring to the deposit; and
(4) The name and address of the requesting party.

§ 1.809 Examination procedures.

(a) The examiner shall determine pursuant to § 1.104 in each application for patent, application for reissue patent or reexamination proceeding if a deposit is needed, and if needed, if a deposit actually made is acceptable for patent purposes. If a deposit is needed and has not been made or replaced or supplemented in accordance with these regulations, the examiner, where appropriate, shall reject the affected claims under the appropriate provision of 35 U.S.C. 112, explaining why a deposit is needed and/or why a deposit actually made cannot be accepted.

(b) The applicant for patent or patent owner shall respond to a rejection under paragraph (a) of this section by

(1) In the case of an applicant for patent, making an acceptable original or replacement or supplemental deposit or assuring the Office in writing that an acceptable deposit will be made on or before the date of payment of the issue fee, or, in the case of a patent owner, requesting a certificate of correction of the patent which meets the terms of paragraphs (b) and (c) of § 1.805, or

(2) Arguing why a deposit is not needed under the circumstances of the application or patent considered and/or why a deposit actually made should be accepted. Other replies to the examiner's action shall be considered non-responsive. The rejection will be repeated until either paragraph (b)(1) of this section is satisfied or the examiner is convinced that a deposit is not needed.

(c) If an application for patent is otherwise in condition for allowance except for a needed deposit and the Office has received a written assurance that an acceptable deposit will be made on or before payment of the issue fee, the Office will mail to the applicant a Notice of Allowance and Issue Fee Due together with a requirement that the needed deposit be made within three months. The period for satisfying this requirement is extendable under § 1.136. Failure to make the needed deposit in accordance with this requirement will result in abandonment of the application for failure to prosecute.

(d) For each deposit made pursuant to these regulations, the specification shall contain:

(1) The accession number for the deposit;
(2) The date of the deposit;
(3) A description of the deposited biological material sufficient to specifically identify it and to permit examination; and
(4) The name and address of the depository.

(74) Means Or Step Plus Function Limitation Under 35 U.S.C. § 112, 6th Paragraph

The following guidelines have been distributed to patent examiners for guidance on examining practice and procedure relating to limitations falling under 35 U.S.C. § 112, 6th paragraph, after In re Donaldson, 29 USPQ2d 1845 (Fed. Cir.1994). These guidelines will be incorporated into the Manual of Patent Examining Procedure.

Patent Policy and Projects Administrator

Examination Guidelines For Claims Reciting A "Means or Step Plus Function" Limitation In Accordance With 35 U.S.C. § 112, 6th Paragraph

The purpose of this memo is to set forth guidelines for the examination of § 112, 6th paragraph "means or step plus function" limitations in a claim. The court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, in its en banc decision In re Donaldson, 29 USPQ2d 1845 (Fed. Cir. 1994), decided that a "means-or-step-plus-function" limitation should be interpreted in a manner different than patent examining practice has dictated for at least the last forty-two years. The Donaldson decision affects only the manner in which the scope of a "means or step plus function" limitation in accordance with § 112, 6th paragraph, is interpreted during examination. Donaldson does not directly affect the manner in which any other section of the patent statutes is interpreted or applied. When making a determination of patentability under 35 U.S.C. §§ 102 or 103, past practice was to interpret a "means or step plus function" limitation by giving it the "broadest reasonable interpretation." Under the PTO's long-standing practice this meant interpreting such a limitation as reading on any prior art means or step which performed the function specified in the claim without regard for whether the prior art means or step was equivalent to the corresponding structure, material or acts described in the specification. However. in Donaldson the Federal Circuit stated that: Per our holding. the "broadest reasonable interpretation" that an examiner may give means-plus-function language is that statutorily mandated in paragraph six. Accordingly, the PTO may not disregard the structure disclosed in the specification corresponding to such language when rendering a patent ability determination.[1] Thus, effective immediately, examiners shall interpret a § 112, 6th paragraph "means or step plus function" limitation in a claim as limited to the corresponding structure, materials or acts described in the specification and equivalents thereof in accordance with the following guidelines.

I. Identifying a § 112, 6th paragraph limitation

Although there is no magic language that must appear in a claim in order for it to fall within the scope of § 112, 6th paragraph, it must be clear that the element in the claim is set forth, at least in part, by the function it performs as opposed to the specific structure, material, or acts that perform the function. Limitations that fall within the scope of § 112, 6th paragraph include: (1) a jet driving device so constructed and located on the rotor as to drive the rotor . . .[2] ["means" unnecessary]

(2) "printing means" and "means for printing" would have the same connotations[3]

(3) force generating means adapted to provide . . .[4]

(4) call cost register means, including a digital display for providing a substantially instantaneous display for . . .[5]

(5) reducing the coefficient of friction of the resulting film[6] [step plus function; "step" unnecessary], and

(6) raising the Ph of the resultant pulp to about 5.0 to precipitate . . .[7]

In the event that it is unclear whether the claim limitation falls within the scope of § 112, 6th paragraph, a rejection under § 112, 2d paragraph may be appropriate. Donaldson does not affect the holding of In re Hyatt, 708 F.2d 712, 218 USPQ 195 (Fed. Cir. 1983) to the effect that a single means claim does not comply with the enablement requirement of § 112, first paragraph. As Donaldson applies only to an interpretation of a limitation drafted to correspond to § 112, 6th paragraph, which by its terms is limited to "an element in a claim to a combination," it does not affect a limitation in a claim which is not directed to a combination.

II. Examining procedure

A. Scope of the Search and Identification of the Prior Art

As noted above, in Donaldson the Federal Circuit recognized that it is important to retain the principle that claim language should be given its broadest reasonable interpretation. This principle is important because it helps insure that the statutory presumption of validity attributed to each claim of an issued patent is warranted by the search and examination conducted by the examiner. It is also important from the standpoint that the scope of protection afforded by patents issued prior to Donaldson are not unnecessarily limited by the latest interpretation of this statutory provision. Finally, it is important from the standpoint of avoiding the necessity for a patent specification to become a catalogue of existing technology.[8]

The Donaldson decision thus does not substantially alter examining practice and procedure relative to the scope of the search. Both before and after Donaldson, the application of a prior art reference to a means or step plus function limitation requires that the prior art element perform the identical function specified in the claim. However, if a prior art reference teaches identity of function to that specified in a claim, then under Donaldson an examiner carries the initial burden of proof for showing that the prior art structure or step is the same as or equivalent to the structure, material, or acts described in the specification which has been identified as corresponding to the claimed means or step plus function.

The "means or step plus function" limitation should be interpreted in a manner consistent with the specification disclosure. If the specification defines what is meant by the limitation for the purposes of the claimed invention, the examiner should interpret the limitation as having that meaning. If no definition is provided, some judgment must be exercised in determining the scope of the limitation.

B. Making a prima facie case of equivalence

If the examiner finds that a prior art element performs the function specified in the claim, and is not excluded by any explicit definition provided in the specification for an equivalent, the examiner should infer from that finding that the prior art element is an equivalent, and should then conclude that the claimed limitation is anticipated by the prior art element. The burden then shifts to applicant[9] to show that the element shown in the prior art is not an equivalent of the structure, material or acts disclosed in the application. In re Mulder, 716 F.2d 1542, 219 USPQ 189 (Fed. Cir. 1983).[10]The factors to be considered when determining whether the applicant has successfully met the burden of proving that the prior art element is not equivalent to the structure, material or acts described in the applicant's specification are discussed below.

[1] In re Donaldson, 29 USPQ2d 1845, 1850 (Fed. Cir. 1994).

[2] The term "device" coupled with a function is a proper definition of structure in accordance with the last paragraph of § 112. The addition of the words "jet driving" to the term "device" merely renders the latter more definite and specific. Ex partes Stanley, 121 USPQ 621 (Bd. App. 1958).

[3] Ex parte Klumb, 159 USPQ 694 (Bd. App. 1967). However, the terms "plate" and "wing", as modifiers for the structureless term "means", specify no function to be performed, and do not fall under the last paragraph of § 112.

[6] In re Roberts, 470 F.2d 1399, 176 USPQ 313 (CCPA 1973).

[8] A patent specification need not teach, and preferably omits, what is well known in the art. Hybritech Inc. v. Monoclonal Antibodies. Inc., 802 F.2d 1367, 1384, 231 USPQ 81. 94 (Fed. Cir. 1986).

[9] No further analysis of equivalents is required of the examiner until applicant disagrees with the examiner's conclusion, and provides reasons why the prior art element should not be considered an equivalent.

[10] See also, In re Walter, 618 F.2d at 768, 205 USPQ at 407-08. (a case treating § 112, 6th paragraph, in the context of a determination of statutory subject matter and noting "If the functionally-defined disclosed means and their equivalents are so broad that they encompass any and every means for performing the recited functions . . . the burden must be placed on the applicant to demonstrate that the claims are truly drawn to specific apparatus distinct from other apparatus capable of performing the identical functions"); In re Swinehart, 439 F.2d 210, 212-13, 169 USPQ 226, 229 (C.C.P.A. 1971)(a case in which the CCPA treated as improper a rejection under § 112, 2d paragraph, of functional language, but noted that "where the Patent Office has reason to believe that a functional limitation asserted to be critical for establishing novelty in the claimed subject matter may, in fact, be an inherent characteristic of the prior art, it possesses the authority to require the applicant to prove that the subject matter shown to be in the prior art does not possess the characteristics relied on"); and In re Fitzgerald, 619 F.2d 67, 205 USPQ 594 (CCPA 1980)(a case indicating that the burden of proof can be shifted to the applicant to show that the subject matter of the prior art does not possess the characteristic relied on whether the rejection is based on inherency under § 102 or obviousness under § 103).

However, even where the applicant has met that burden of proof and has shown that the prior art element is not equivalent to the structure, material or acts described in the applicant's specification, the examiner must still make a § 103 analysis to determine if the claimed means or step plus function is obvious from the prior art to one of ordinary skill in the art. Thus, while a finding of non-equivalence prevents a prior art element from anticipating a means or step plus function limitation in a claim, it does not prevent the prior art element from rendering the claim limitation obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art.

Because the exact scope of an "equivalent" may be uncertain, it would be appropriate to apply a § 102/§ 103 rejection where the balance of the claim limitations are anticipated by the prior art relied on.[11] In addition, although it is normally the best practice to rely on only the best prior art references in rejecting a claim, alternative grounds of rejection may be appropriate where the prior art shows elements that are different from each other, and different from the specific structure, material or acts described in the specification, yet perform the function specified in the claim.

C. Determining whether an applicant has met the burden of proving non-equivalence after a prima facie case is made

If the applicant disagrees with the inference of equivalence drawn from a prior art reference, the applicant may provide reasons why the applicant believes the prior art element should not be considered an equivalent to the specific structure, material or acts disclosed in the specification. Such reasons may include, but are not limited to: 1) teachings in the specification that particular prior art is not equivalent, 2) teachings in the prior art reference itself that may tend to show non-equivalence, or 3) Rule 132 affidavit evidence of facts tending to show non-equivalence.

When the applicant relies on teachings in applicant's own specification, the examiner must make sure that the applicant is interpreting the "means or step plus function" limitation in the claim in a manner which is consistent with the disclosure in the specification. If the specification defines what is meant by "equivalents" to the disclosed embodiments for the purpose of the claimed means or step plus function, the examiner should interpret the limitation as having that meaning. If no definition is provided, some judgment must be exercised in determining the scope of "equivalents." Generally, an "equivalent" is interpreted as embracing more than the specific elements described in the specification for performing the specified function, [12]but less than any element that performs the function specified in the claim.

The scope of equivalents embraced by a claim limitation is dependent on the interpretation of an "equivalent." The interpretation will vary depending on how the element is described in the supporting specification. The claim may or may not be limited to particular structure, material or acts (e.g. steps) as opposed to any and all structure, material or acts performing the claimed function, depending on how the specification treats that question.

If the disclosure is so broad as to encompass any and all structure, material or acts for performing the claimed function, the claims must be read accordingly when determining patentability. When this happens the limitation otherwise provided by "equivalents" ceases to be a limitation on the scope of the claim in that an equivalent would be any structure, material or act other than the ones described in the specification that perform the claimed function. For example, this situation will often be found in cases where (1) the claimed invention is a combination of elements, one or more of which are selected from elements that are old per se, or (2) apparatus claims are treated as indistinguishable from method claims.[13]

On the other end of the spectrum, the "equivalents" limitation as applied to a claim may also operate to constrict the claim scope to the point of covering virtually only the disclosed embodiments. This can happen in circumstances where the specification describes the invention only in the context of a specific structure, material or act that is used to perform the function specified in the claim.

When deciding whether an applicant has met the burden of proof with respect to showing non-equivalence of a prior art element that performs the claimed function, the following factors may be considered. First, unless an element performs the identical function specified in the claim, it cannot be an equivalent for the purposes of § 112, 6th paragraph.[14]

Second, while there is no litmus test for an "equivalent" that can be applied with absolute certainty and predictability, there are several indicia that are sufficient to support a conclusion that one element is or is not an "equivalent" of a different element in the context of § 112, 6th paragraph. Among the indicia that will support a conclusion that one element is or is not equivalent of another are:

1) Whether the prior art element performs the function specified in the claim in substantially the same way, and produces substantially the same results as the corresponding element disclosed in the specification.[15]

2) Whether a person of ordinary skill in the art would have recognized the interchangeability of the element shown in the prior art for the corresponding element disclosed in the specification.[16]

3) Whether the prior art element is a structural equivalent of the corresponding element disclosed in the specification being examined.

[17]That is, the prior art element performs the function specified in the claim in substantially the same manner as the function is performed by the corresponding element described in the specification.

4) Whether the structure, material or acts disclosed in the specification represents an insubstantial change which adds nothing of significance to the prior art element.[18]

These examples are not intended to be an exhaustive list of the indicia that would support a finding that one element is or is not an equivalent of another element for the purposes of § 112, 6th paragraph. A finding according to any of the above examples would represent a sufficient, but not the only possible, basis to support a conclusion that an element is or is not an equivalent. There could be other indicia that also would support the conclusion.

In determining whether arguments or Rule 132 evidence presented by an applicant are persuasive that the element shown in the prior art is not an equivalent, the examiner should consider and weigh as many of the above-indicated or other indicia as are presented by applicant, and should determine whether, on balance, the applicant has met the burden of proof to show non-equivalence. However, under no circumstance should an examiner accept as persuasive a bare statement or opinion that the element shown in the prior art is not an equivalent embraced by the claim limitation. Moreover, if an applicant argues that the "means" or "step" plus function language in a claim is limited to certain specific structural or additional functional characteristics (as opposed to "equivalents" thereof) where the specification does not describe the invention as being only those specific characteristics, the claim should not be allowed until the claim is amended to recite those specific structural or additional functional characteristics.[19]

Finally, as in the past, applicant has the opportunity during proceedings before the Office to amend the claims so that the claimed invention meets all the statutory criteria for patentability. An applicant may choose to amend the claim by further limiting the function so that there is no longer identity of function with that taught by the prior art element, or the applicant may choose to replace the claimed means plus function limitation with specific structure material or acts that are not described in the prior art.

D. Related issues under Section 112, first or secondparagraphs

The Donaldson decision may create some uncertainty as to what applicant regards as the invention. If this issue arises, it should be addressed in a rejection under § 112, 2d paragraph. While § 112, 6th paragraph permits a particular form of claim limitation, it cannot be read as creating an exception either to the description, enablement or best mode requirements of the paragraph or the definiteness requirement of the 2d paragraph of § 112. In re Knowlton, 481 F.2d 1357, 178 USPQ 486 (CCPA 1973).

If a "means or step plus function" limitation recited in a claim is not supported by corresponding structure, material or acts in the specification disclosure, the following rejections should be considered: (1) under § 112, 1st paragraph, as not being supported by an enabling disclosure because the person skilled in the art would not know how to make and use the invention without a description of elements to perform the function;[20] (2) under § 112, 2d paragraph, as being indefinite because the element or step is not defined in the specification by corresponding structure, material or acts; and (3) under §§ 102 or 103 where the prior art anticipates or renders obvious the claimed subject matter including the means or step that performs the function specified in the claim. [Theory: since there is no corresponding structure, etc. in the specification to limit the means or step plus function limitation, an equivalent is any element that performs the specified function].

III. Avoid confusion with the doctrine of equivalents

An "equivalent" for the purposes of § 112, 6th paragraph, should not be confused with the doctrine of equivalents. The doctrine of equivalents, most often associated with Graver Tank & Mfg. Co. v. Linde Air Products, 339 U.S. 605, 85 USPQ 328 (1950), is sometimes applied to do equity among the parties before the court in an infringement action involving an issued patent. The doctrine typically involves a three-part inquiry - whether an accused device performs substantially the same function, in substantially the same way, to obtain substantially the same result as the claimed invention. Section § 112, 6th paragraph limits the scope of the broad language of "means or step plus function" limitations, in a claim to a combination, to the structures, materials and acts described in the specification and equivalents thereof. The doctrine of equivalents equitably expands exclusive patent rights beyond the literal scope of a claim.[21] Accordingly, decisions involving the doctrine of equivalents should not unduly influence a determination under § 112, 6th paragraph during ex parte examination.

[11]A similar approach is authorized in the case of product-by- process claims because the exact identity of the claimed product or the prior art product cannot be determined by the examiner. In re Brown, 450 F.2d 531, 173 USPQ 685 (CCPA 1972).

[12]To interpret "means plus function" limitations as limited to a particular means set forth in the specification would nullify the provisions of § 112 requiring that the limitation shall be construed to cover the structure described in the specification and equivalents thereof. [19] Otherwise, a claim could be allowed having broad functional language which in reality is limited to only the specific structure or steps disclosed in the specification. This would be contrary to public policy of granting patents which provide adequate notice the public as to a claim's true scope.

[20]The description of an apparatus with block diagrams describing the function, but not the structure, of the apparatus is not fatal under the enablement requirement of § 112, 1st paragraph, as long as the structure is conventional and can be determined without an undue amount of experimentation. In re Ghiron, 442 F.2d 985, 991, 169 USPQ 723, 727 (CCPA 1971).

Utility Examination Guidelines

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce.
Action: Notice.
Summary: The Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) is publishing the final version of guidelines to be used by Office personnel in their review of patent applications for compliance with the utility requirement. Because these guidelines govern internal practices, they are exempt from notice and comment and delayed effective date rulemaking requirements under 5 U.S.C. § 553(b)(A).
Effective Date: July 14, 1995.
For Further Information Contact: Jeff Kushan by telephone at (703) 305-9300, by fax at (703) 305-8885, by electronic mail at kushan@uspto.gov, or by mail marked to his attention addressed to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Box 4, Washington, D.C. 20231.

Supplementary Information

I. Discussion of Public Comments

Forty-four comments were received by the Office in response to the request for public comment on the proposed version of utility guidelines published on January 3, 1995 (60 FR 97). All comments have been carefully considered. A number of changes have been made to the examining guidelines and the legal analysis supporting the guidelines in response to the comments received.

Many of the individuals responding to the request for public comments suggested that the Office address the relationship between the requirements of 35 U.S.C. § 112, first paragraph, and 35 U.S.C. § 101. The Office has amended the guidelines to provide a clarification consistent with these requests. The guidelines now specify that any rejection based on a "lack of utility" under § 101 should be accompanied by a rejection based upon § 112, first paragraph. The guidelines also specify that the procedures for imposition and review of rejections based on lack of utility under § 101 shall be followed with respect to the § 112 rejection that accompanies the § 101 rejection.

A suggestion was made that the guidelines should be modified to provide that an application shall be presumed to be compliant with § 112, first paragraph, if there is no proper basis for imposing a § 101 rejection. This suggestion has not been followed. Instead, the guidelines specify that § 112, first paragraph, deficiencies other than those that are based on a lack of utility be addressed separately from those based on lack of utility for the invention.

Several individuals suggested that the guidelines address how § 101 compliance will be reviewed for products that are either intermediates or whose ultimate function or use is unknown. The Office has amended the guidelines to clarify how it will interpret the "specific utility" requirement of § 101.

Some individuals suggested that the guidelines be amended to preclude Examiners from requiring that an applicant delete references made in the specification to the utility of an invention which are not necessary to support an asserted utility of the claimed invention. The guidelines have been amended consistent with this suggestion.

One individual suggested that the legal analysis be amended to emphasize that any combination of evidence from in vitro or in vivo testing can be sufficient to establish the credibility of an asserted utility. The legal analysis has been amended consistent with this recommendation.

A number of individuals questioned the legal status of the guidelines, particularly with respect to situations where an applicant believes that a particular Examiner has failed to follow the requirements of the guidelines in imposing a rejection under § 101. The guidelines and the legal analysis supporting the guidelines govern the internal operations of the Patent and Trademark Office. They are not intended to, nor do they have the force and effect of law. As such they are not substantive rules creating or altering the rights or obligations of any party. Rather, the guidelines define the procedures to be followed by Office personnel in their review of applications for § 101 compliance. The legal analysis supporting the guidelines articulates the basis for the procedures established in the guidelines. Thus, an applicant who believes his or her application has been rejected in a manner that is inconsistent with the guidelines should respond substantively to the grounds of the rejection. "Non-compliance" with the guidelines will not be a petitionable or appealable action.

Some individuals suggested that the guidelines and legal analysis be amended to specify that the Office will reject an application for lacking utility only in those situations where the asserted utility is "incredible." This suggestion has not been adopted. The Office has carefully reviewed the legal precedent governing application of the utility requirement. Based on that review, the Office has chosen to focus the review for compliance with § 101 and § 112, first paragraph, on the "credibility" of an asserted utility.

Some individuals suggested that the guidelines be amended to address how a generic claim that covers many discrete species will be assessed with regard to the "useful invention" requirements of §§ 101 and 112 when one or more, but not all, species within the genus do not have a credible utility. The guidelines have been amended to clarify how the Office will address applications in which genus claims are presented that encompass species for which an asserted utility is not credible. The legal analysis makes clear that any rejection of any claimed subject matter based on lack of utility must adhere to the standards imposed by these guidelines. This is true regardless of whether the claim defines only a single embodiment of the invention, multiple discrete embodiments of the invention, or a genus encompassing many embodiments of the invention. As cast in the legal analysis and the guidelines, the focus of examination is the invention as it has been defined in the claims.

Some individuals questioned whether the guidelines and the legal analysis govern actions taken by Examining Groups other than Group 1800 or the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences. The guidelines apply to all Office personnel, and to the review of all applications, regardless of field of technology.

In addition to the changes made in response to comments from the public, the Office has amended the guidelines to clarify the procedure to be followed when an applicant has failed to identify a specific utility for an invention. The guidelines now provide that where an applicant has made no assertion as to why an invention is believed useful, and it is not immediately apparent why the invention would be considered useful, the Office will reject the application as failing to identify any specific utility for the invention. The legal analysis has also been amended to address evaluation of this question.

II. Guidelines for Examination of Applications for Compliance with the Utility Requirement

A. Introduction

The following guidelines establish the policies and procedures to be followed by Office personnel in the evaluation of any application for compliance with the utility requirements of 35 U.S.C. § 101 and § 112. The guidelines also address issues that may arise during examination of applications claiming protection for inventions in the field of biotechnology and human therapy. The guidelines are accompanied by an overview of applicable legal precedent governing the utility requirement. The guidelines have been promulgated to assist Office personnel in their review of applications for compliance with the utility requirement. The guidelines and the legal analysis do not alter the substantive requirements of 35 U.S.C. § 101 and § 112, nor are they designed to obviate review of applications for compliance with this statutory requirement.

B. Examination Guidelines for the Utility Requirement

Office personnel shall adhere to the following procedures when reviewing applications for compliance with the "useful invention" ("utility") requirement of 35 U.S.C. § 101 and 35 U.S.C. § 112, first paragraph.

1. Read the specification, including the claims, to:

a) determine what the applicant has invented, noting any specific embodiments of the invention;

a) ensure that the claims define statutory subject matter (e.g., a process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter);

b) note if applicant has disclosed any specific reasons why the invention is believed to be "useful."

2. Review the specification and claims to determine if the applicant has asserted any credible utility for the claimed invention:

a) If the applicant has asserted that the claimed invention is useful for any particular purpose (i.e., a "specific utility") and that assertion would be considered credible by a person of ordinary skill in the art, do not impose a rejection based on lack of utility. Credibility is to be assessed from the perspective of one of ordinary skill in the art in view of any evidence of record (e.g., data, statements, opinions, references, etc.) that is relevant to the applicant's assertions. An applicant must provide only one credible assertion of specific utility for any claimed invention to satisfy the utility requirement.

b) If the invention has a well-established utility, regardless of any assertion made by the applicant, do not impose a rejection based on lack of utility. An invention has a well-established utility if a person of ordinary skill in the art would immediately appreciate why the invention is useful based on the characteristics of the invention (e.g., properties of a product or obvious application of a process).

c) If the applicant has not asserted any specific utility for the claimed invention and it does not have a well established utility, impose a rejection under § 101, emphasizing that the applicant has not disclosed a specific utility for the invention. Also impose a separate rejection under § 112, first paragraph, on the basis that the applicant has not shown how to use the invention due to lack of disclosure of a specific utility. The § 101 and § 112, rejections should shift the burden to the applicant to:

— explicitly identify a specific utility for the claimed invention, and — indicate where support for the asserted utility can be found in the specification.

Review the subsequently asserted utility by the applicant using the standard outlined in paragraph (2)(a) above, and ensure that it is fully supported by the original disclosure.

3. If no assertion of specific utility for the claimed invention made by the applicant is credible, and the claimed invention does not have a well-established utility, reject the claim(s) under § 101 on the grounds that the invention as claimed lacks utility. Also reject the claims under § 112, first paragraph, on the basis that the disclosure fails to teach how to use the invention as claimed. The § 112, first paragraph, rejection imposed in conjunction with a § 101 rejection should incorporate by reference the grounds of the corresponding § 101 rejection and should be set out as a rejection distinct from any other rejection under § 112, first paragraph, not based on lack of utility for the claimed invention.

To be considered appropriate by the Office, any rejection based on lack of utility must include the following elements:

a) A prima facie showing that the claimed invention has no utility.

A prima facie showing of no utility must establish that it is more likely than not that a person skilled in the art would not consider credible any specific utility asserted by the applicant for the claimed invention. A prima facie showing must contain the following elements:

i) a well-reasoned statement that clearly sets forth the reasoning used in concluding that the asserted utility is not credible;

ii) support for factual findings relied upon in reaching this conclusion; and

iii) support for any conclusions regarding evidence provided by the applicant in support of an asserted utility.

b) Specific evidence that supports any fact-based assertions needed to establish the prima facie showing.

Whenever possible, Office personnel must provide documentary evidence (e.g., scientific or technical journals, excerpts from treatises or books, or U.S. or foreign patents) as the form of support used in establishing the factual basis of a prima facie showing of no utility according to items (a)(ii) and (a)(iii) above. If documentary evidence is not available, Office personnel shall note this fact and specifically explain the scientific basis for the factual conclusions relied on in sections (a)(ii) and (a)(iii).

4. A rejection based on lack of utility should not be maintained if an asserted utility for the claimed invention would be considered credible by a person of ordinary skill in the art in view of all evidence of record.

Once a prima facie showing of no utility has been properly established, the applicant bears the burden of rebutting it. The applicant can do this by amending the claims, by providing reasoning or arguments, or by providing evidence in the form of a declaration under 37 CFR 1.132 or a printed publication, that rebuts the basis or logic of the prima facie showing. If the applicant responds to the prima facie rejection, Office personnel shall review the original disclosure, any evidence relied upon in establishing the prima facie showing, any claim amendments and any new reasoning or evidence provided by the applicant in support of an asserted utility. It is essential for Office personnel to recognize, fully consider and respond to each substantive element of any response to a rejection based on lack of utility. Only where the totality of the record continues to show that the asserted utility is not credible should a rejection based on lack of utility be maintained.

If the applicant satisfactorily rebuts a prima facie rejection based on lack of utility under § 101, withdraw the § 101 rejection and the corresponding rejection imposed under § 112, first paragraph, per paragraph (3) above.

Office personnel are reminded that they must treat as true a statement of fact made by an applicant in relation to an asserted utility, unless countervailing evidence can be provided that shows that one of ordinary skill in the art would have a legitimate basis to doubt the credibility of such a statement. Similarly, Office personnel must accept an opinion from a qualified expert that is based upon relevant facts whose accuracy is not being questioned; it is improper to disregard the opinion solely because of a disagreement over the significance or meaning of the facts offered.

III. Additional Information

The PTO has prepared an analysis of the law governing the utility requirement to support the guidelines outlined above. Copies of the legal analysis can be obtained from Jeff Kushan, who can be reached using the information indicated above.

37 CFR Part 1

RIN: 0651-AA67

Revision of Affidavits Under 37 CFR 1.131

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce
Action: Notice of proposed rulemaking
Summary: The Patent and Trademark Office (Office) proposes to amend the rules of practice relating to submission of affidavits or declarations under 37 CFR 1.131 (a) to implement the relevant provisions of Public Law No. 103 - 182 and the GATT (General Agreement on Trade and Tariffs), and to provide relief in certain circumstances where a common assignee holds both an application and a patent claiming patentably indistinct, but not identical, inventions.
Date: Written comments must be submitted on or before December 1, 1994. No oral hearing will be held.
Addressees: Address written comments to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231, Attention: Charles E. Van Horn, Deputy Assistant Commissioner for Patent Policy and Projects, or by fax to (703) 305-8825.
For Further Information Contact: Charles E. Van Horn by telephone at (703) 305-9054 or Hiram Bernstein by telephone at (703) 305-9282 or by mail marked to the attention of Charles E. Van Horn, Deputy Assistant Commissioner for Patent Policy and Projects, and addressed as above.
Supplementary Information: Public Law No. 103-182 (November 4, 1993) implementing the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA), amended 35 U.S.C. 104 to provide that for the purpose of obtaining a patent, an applicant can show a date of invention in the United States, or in a NAFTA country which occurred after the date of implementation (i.e., December 8, 1993). Although GATT enabling legislation has not been passed, these proposed rule changes assume that it will be passed, and therefore changes to 37 CFR 1.131(a) similar to NAFTA would be required. See Article 27, paragraph 1, of the Agreement on Trade-related Aspects of Intellectual Property Rights, Including Trade in Counterfeit Goods, of the GATT. In the event that the GATT enabling legislation is not enacted when the final rules are published, the proposed rule changes relative to the GATT will be withdrawn.

The Office proposes to amend 37 CFR 1.131(a), which is currently limited to facts showing a completion of the invention in the United States, to allow for a submission of facts in an affidavit or declaration that show completion of the invention in a NAFTA or a World Trade Organization (WTO) Member country. The WTO is established under the GATT agreement to resolve disputes between signatories to the agreement. The facts presented must demonstrate completion of the invention prior to the effective date of a reference thought to bar the grant of a patent or the patentability of a claim in a patent under reexamination.

Additionally, the Office recognizes that there is a potential conflict between existing 37 CFR 1.131(a) and 37 CFR 1.602(a). Section 1.131(a) prohibits affidavits or declarations thereunder when the same patentable invention as defined in 37 CFR 1.601(n) (i.e., patentably indistinct inventions) is claimed. An interference under 35 U.S.C. § 135, rather than antedating under § 1.131(a), is generally the available remedy. However, 37 CFR 1.602(a) provides that when the applications or the application and patent are owned by a single party, interferences are not declared or continued unless good cause is shown. This can result in a hardship where there is an issued patent that can no longer be amended as by filing a continuation-in-part application. Where there are two or more pending applications, the conflict can be avoided by filing a continuation-in-part application incorporating the conflicting inventions in a single application.

The Office proposes to amend 37 CFR 1.131 to broaden its application to a single party where inventions of a pending application and a patent held by the party are patentably indistinct but not identical. Under the proposed additions to § 1.131, an affidavit or declaration could be filed by a party to avoid a 35 U.S.C. § 103 rejection based on a 35 U.S.C. §§ 102(a) or (e) patent owned by that party, where the patent claimed an invention that was patentably indistinct, but not identical to an invention claimed in an application or patent undergoing reexamination.

The proposed addition to § 1.131 would not affect the use of the issued patent in a rejection based on double patenting. However, where patentably indistinct but not identical inventions are claimed, a double patenting rejection can be avoided by filing an appropriate terminal disclaimer. In addition, petitions under § 1.183 will be entertained for waiver of § 1.131 requirements in appropriate instances where two pending applications claiming patentably indistinct but not identical inventions are held by a single party.

Discussion of Specific Rules:

Section 1.131(a), if amended to (a)(1) as proposed, would allow a § 1.131 affiant or declarant to rely upon facts occurring in a NAFTA or a WTO Member country to show completion of the invention. The term "domestic" would be changed to "U.S." The section is proposed to be amended from a single sentence to three sentences.

Section 1.131(a)(2), if added as proposed, would limit the availability of acts showing completion of the invention in a NAFTA or WTO Member country to those acts occurring subsequent to the effective date of the agreements.

Section 1.131(a)(3), if added as proposed, would allow a showing of prior invention to be made in a pending application or a patent that is undergoing reexamination where a single party holds both the application or patent undergoing reexamination and another patent where the claimed inventions were, at the time the later invention was made, both owned by the single party or subject to an obligation of assignment to that party. Further, in order to rely on proposed § 1.131(a)(3), the inventions claimed in the application or in the patent undergoing reexamination and in the other patent must not be identical as set forth in 35 U.S.C. § 102.

Other Considerations:

The proposed rule changes are in conformity with the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 601 et seq., Executive Order 12612, and the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq. The Office of Management and Budget has determined that the proposed rule changes are not significant for the purposes of E.O. 12866.

The Assistant General Counsel for Legislation and Regulation of the Department of Commerce has certified to the Chief Counsel for Advocacy, Small Business Administration, that the proposed rule changes will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities (Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 605(b)), because the proposed rules would affect only a small number of applications and would provide a streamlined and simplified procedure, eliminating the need for requesting waiver of the rules.

The Patent and Trademark Office has also determined that this notice has no Federalism implications affecting the relationship between the National Government and the States as outlined in Executive Order 12612.

These rule changes will not impose any additional burden under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.

List of Subjects

Administrative practice and procedure, Inventions and patents, Lawyers, Reporting and record keeping requirements.

For the reasons set forth in the preamble, and pursuant to the authority granted to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks by 35 U.S.C. § 6, the Office proposes to amend Title 37 of the Code of Federal Regulations as set forth below, with deletions indicated by brackets ([ ]) and additions indicated by arrows (►◄).

Part 1 - Rules of Practice in Patent Cases

1. The authority citation for 37 C.F.R., Part 1, would continue to read as follows:

Authority: 35 U.S.C. § 6, unless otherwise noted.

2. Section 1.131 is proposed to be amended by revising paragraph (a) to read as follows:

§ 1.131 Affidavit or declaration of prior invention to overcome cited patent or publication.

(a) ►(1)◄ When any claim of an application or a patent under reexamination is rejected on reference to a [domestic] ►U.S.◄ patent which substantially shows or describes but does not claim the same patentable invention, as defined in § 1.601(n), as the rejected invention, or on reference to a foreign patent or to a printed publication, [and] the inventor of the subject matter of the rejected claim, the owner of the patent under reexamination, or the person qualified under §§ 1.42, 1.43 or 1.47, [shall make] ►may overcome the patent or publication by filing an appropriate◄ oath or declaration ►.◄ [as to] ►The oath or declaration must include◄ facts showing a completion of the invention in this country ►or in a NAFTA or WTO Member country◄ before the filing date of the application on which the [domestic] ►U.S.◄ patent issued, or before the date of the foreign patent, or before the date of the printed publication [, then][.] ►When an appropriate oath or declaration is made,◄ the patent or publication cited shall not bar the grant of a patent to the inventor or the confirmation of the patentability of the claims of the patent, unless the date of such patent or printed publication is more than one year prior to the date on which the inventor's or patent owner's application was filed in this country.

►(a)(2) A date of completion of the invention may not be established under this section before December 8, 1993, in a NAFTA country, or before _____ in a WTO Member country other than a NAFTA country.

(a)(3) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (a)(1), a showing may be made under this section where the inventions defined by a claim in an application or a patent under reexamination and by a claim in another U.S. patent are not identical as set forth in 35 U.S.C. 102, and where the inventions were, at the time the later invention was made, owned by the same person or subject to an obligation of assignment to the same person.◄

Legal Analysis to Support Proposed Examination Guidelines for Computer-Implemented Inventions

I. Introduction [Guidelines § I.A.]

The Office has developed Proposed Examination Guidelines for Computer-Implemented Inventions[1] and this legal analysis (collectively, the "guidelines") to assist Office personnel in the examination of applications drawn to computer-implemented inventions. The guidelines are based on the Office's current understanding of the law, and represent the official policy of the Patent and Trademark Office. Office personnel are to rely on these guidelines in the event of any inconsistent treatment of issues between these guidelines and any earlier provided guidance from the Office.

The guidelines alter the procedures Office personnel shall employ to examine applications drawn to computer-implemented inventions.

The guidelines also clarify the Office's position on certain patentability standards related to this field of technology. The positions set forth in these guidelines are believed to be fully consistent with the binding precedent of the Supreme Court, and the Federal Circuit and its predecessor courts.

The Freeman-Walter-Abele[2] test, while of limited value, may still be relied upon in analyzing claims directed solely to a process for solving a mathematical algorithm. "Business methods" are to be analyzed the same way as any other process.

The appendix includes the proposed guidelines and a graphic overview of how Office personnel will conduct an examination to determine statutory subject matter.

II. Determine What Applicant Has Invented and Is Seeking to Patent [Guidelines § I.B.1.]

It is essential that patent applicants obtain a prompt yet complete examination of their applications. Thus, Office personnel must raise any issue that may affect patentability in the initial action on the merits. Under the principles of compact prosecution, each claim should be reviewed for compliance with every statutory requirement of patentability in the initial review of the application, even if one or more claims is found to be deficient with respect to one statutory requirement. Deficiencies should be explained clearly, particularly when they serve as a basis for a rejection. Where possible, Office personnel should indicate how rejections may be overcome and problems resolved. A failure to follow this approach can lead to unnecessary delays in the prosecution of the application.

Prior to focusing on any specific statutory requirements, Office personnel must begin examination by determining what, precisely, the applicant has invented and is seeking to patent,[3] and how the claims relate to and define that invention. Consequently, Office personnel will no longer begin examination by determining if a claim recites a "mathematical algorithm." Rather, they will review the complete specification, including the detailed description of the invention, any specific embodiments that have been disclosed, the claims and the specific utility that has been asserted for the invention.

A. Identify and Understand the Practical Utility Asserted for the Invention [Guidelines § I.B.1.(a)]

The subject matter sought to be patented must be a "useful" process, machine, manufacture or composition of matter. Accordingly, a complete disclosure should contain some indication of why the applicant believes the claimed invention is "useful." This "usefulness" of the invention is called the "specific" or "practical" utility of the invention. Specific or practical utility is simply a shorthand way of attributing "real world" value to the claimed subject matter, i.e., assuring there is some benefit to the public.[4] An invention that has some practical application satisfies the utility requirement.[5]

The applicant is in the best position to explain why an invention is believed useful. Office personnel should therefore focus their efforts on identifying statements made in the specification that identify a practical application for the invention. Office personnel should rely on such statements throughout the examination when assessing the invention for compliance with all statutory criteria. Deficiencies under the utility requirement will be rare, however. Further guidance in evaluating an asserted specific utility for compliance with § 101 is provided below and in the Utility Examination Guidelines.[6] If the applicant asserts a practical utility for the invention, Office personnel should review the entire disclosure to determine the features necessary to accomplish the asserted practical utility.

B. Review the Detailed Disclosure and Specific Embodiments of the Invention to Determine What the Applicant Has Invented [Guidelines § I.B.1(a)]

The written description will provide the clearest explanation of the applicant's invention, by exemplifying the invention, explaining how it relates to the prior art and by explaining the relative significance of various features of the invention. Accordingly, Office personnel should begin their evaluation of a computer-implemented invention as follows:

— determine what the programmed computer does when it performs the processes dictated by the software (i.e., the functionality of the programmed computer);[7]

— determine how the computer is to be configured to provide that functionality (i.e., what elements constitute the programmed computer and how are those elements to be configured to provide the specified functionality); and

— if applicable, determine the relationship of the programmed computer to other subject matter that constitutes the invention (e.g., machines, devices, materials, or process steps other than those that are part of or performed by the programmed computer).[8]

Patent applicants can assist the Office by preparing applications that clearly set forth these aspects of a computer-implemented invention.

C. Analyze the Claims [Guidelines § I.B.1.(b)]

The claims define the property rights provided by a patent, and thus require careful scrutiny. The goal of claim analysis is to identify the boundaries of the protection sought by the applicant and to understand how the claims relate to and define what the applicant has indicated is the invention. Office personnel must analyze the language of a claim before determining if the claim complies with each statutory requirement for patentability.

Office personnel should begin claim analysis by identifying and evaluating each claim element. For processes, the claim elements will define steps or acts to be performed. For products, i.e., machines and articles of manufacture, the claim elements will define discrete physical structures. The discrete physical structures may be comprised of hardware or a combination of hardware and software.

As provided in the guidelines, Office personnel are to correlate each claim element to that portion of the disclosure that describes the claim element. This is to be done in all cases, i.e., whether or not the claimed invention is defined using means or step plus function language. The correlation step will ensure that Office personnel clearly understand the meaning and scope of each claim limitation.

The subject matter of a properly construed claim is defined by the terms that limit its scope, and it is this subject matter that must be examined. As a general matter, the grammar and intended meaning of terms used in a claim will dictate whether the language limits the claim scope. Language that suggests or makes optional but does not require steps to be performed or does not limit a claim to a particular structure does not limit the scope of a claim or claim element.

Office personnel must rely on the applicant's disclosure to properly determine the meaning of terms used in the claims.[9] An applicant is entitled to be his or her own lexicographer, and in many instances will provide an explicit definition for certain terms used in the claims. Where an explicit definition is provided by the applicant for a term, that definition will control interpretation of the term as it is used in the claim. Office personnel should determine if the original disclosure provides a definition consistent with the applicant's assertions.[10] If the applicant asserts that a term has a meaning that conflicts with the term's art-accepted meaning, Office personnel should encourage the applicant to amend the claim to better reflect what applicant intends to claim as the invention.

Office personnel are to give claims their broadest reasonable interpretation in light of the supporting disclosure.[11] With the exception of claim elements defined in means or step plus function terminology, positive limitations on the scope of a claim cannot be read into the claims based on comments or explanations provided in the disclosure.[12] While it is appropriate to use the specification to determine what applicant intended a term to mean, a positive limitation from the specification cannot be read into a claim that does not impose that limitation. A broad interpretation of the claims by the Office will reduce the possibility that the claim, when issued, will be interpreted more broadly than is justified or intended. An applicant always has the opportunity to amend the claims during prosecution to better reflect the intended scope of the claim.

Finally, when evaluating the scope of a claim, every limitation in the claim must be considered.[13] Office personnel may not dissect a claimed invention into discrete elements and then evaluate the elements in isolation. Instead, each claimed element of the invention must be considered in the context of the claim as a whole.

III. Assess Claimed Invention for Compliance with 35 U.S.C. § 101 [Guidelines § I.B.1.(c)]

As the Supreme Court has held, Congress chose the expansive language of § 101 so as to include "anything under the sun that is made by man." Accordingly, § 101 of title 35, United States Code, provides:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.[15]

As cast, § 101 defines four categories of inventions that Congress deemed to be the appropriate subject matter of a patent; namely, processes, machines, manufactures or compositions of matter. The latter three categories define "things" while the process category defines inventions that consist of "actions" (i.e., a series of steps or acts to be performed).[16]

Federal courts have held that § 101 does have certain limits. First, the phrase "anything under the sun that is made by man" is limited by the text of § 101, meaning that one may only patent something that is a machine, manufacture, composition of matter or a process.[17] Second, § 101 requires that the subject matter sought to be patented be a "useful" invention. Accordingly, a complete definition of the scope of § 101, reflecting Congressional intent, is that any new and useful process, machine, manufacture or composition of matter under the sun that is made by man is the proper subject matter of a patent. Subject matter not within one of the four statutory invention categories or which is not "useful" in a patent sense, accordingly, is not eligible to and cannot be patented.

The subject matter courts have found to be outside the four statutory categories of invention is limited to abstract ideas, laws of nature and natural phenomena. While this is easily stated, determining whether an applicant is seeking to patent an abstract idea, a law of nature or a natural phenomenon has proven to be challenging. These three exclusions recognize that subject matter that is not a practical application or use of an idea, a law of nature or a natural phenomenon is not patentable.[18]

Courts have expressed a concern over "preemption" of ideas, law of natures or natural phenomena.[19] The concern over preemption serves to bolster and justify the prohibition against the patenting of such subject matter. Such concerns are only relevant to claiming a scientific truth or principle. Thus, a claim to an "abstract" idea is non-statutory because it does not represent a practical application of the idea, not because it would preempt the idea.

A. Determine Whether The Invention is "Useful"

To be patentable, an invention must be "useful" (i.e., it must have a practical application). The purpose of this requirement is to limit patent protection to inventions that possess a certain level of "real world" value, as opposed to subject matter that represents nothing more than an idea or concept, or is simply a starting point for future investigation or research.[20] The utility of an invention must be within the "technological" arts.[21] This requirement can be discerned from the variously phrased prohibitions against the patenting of abstract ideas, laws of nature or natural phenomenon. Courts have indicated that any technological or utilitarian purpose may serve as an appropriate utility.[22]

Office personnel should confirm that the utility asserted for an invention is a practical application of the invention. If the utility of an "invention" is only as an object of philosophical inquiry or to be appreciated in terms of its literary or artistic value, the claimed invention should be rejected under § 101.

Additionally, Office personnel have struggled with claims directed to methods of doing business. A method of doing business is to be treated like any other process.

B. Classify the Invention as to Its Proper Statutory Category

To properly assess compliance with the statutory invention requirements of § 101, Office personnel should classify each specifically claimed invention into one statutory or non-statutory category. If the subject matter falls into a non-statutory category, that should not preclude complete examination of the application for all other conditions of patentability. This classification is only an initial finding at this point in the examination process that will be again assessed after the examination for compliance with §§ 112, 102 and 103 and before issuance of any Office action.

1. Non-Statutory Subject Matter [Guidelines § I.B.1.(c)(i) & (ii)]

Claims that are clearly non-statutory are those that define:

— a "data structure" per se or computer program per se, i.e., information rather than a computer-implemented process or specific machine or computer readable memory manufacture;

— a compilation or arrangement of non-functional information or a known machine-readable storage medium that is encoded with such information;

— natural phenomena such as electricity and magnetism.

Claims in this form are indistinguishable from abstract ideas, laws of nature and natural phenomena and may not be patented. Claims to processes that do nothing more than solve mathematical problems or manipulate abstract ideas or concepts are more complex to analyze and are addressed below. See section 3.

(a) "Data Structures" Per Se or Computer Programs Per Se

Computers manage data by arranging the data in a particular order or sequence. The relationship that exists among the ordered data elements (i.e., the individual facts or data) is called a "data structure." Data structures in this sense are not statutory products because they are not physical "things" nor are they statutory processes, as they are not "acts" being performed.[23] In other words, when defined without any physical structure, a "data structure" is nothing more than information that explains a relationship that exists among ordered data, and therefore is non-statutory. In contrast, a memory circuit whose structure represents a practical application or use of a data structure is a statutory manufacture. Accordingly, it is important to distinguish claims that define information per se from claims that define statutory inventions that are based on or use non-statutory information.

Similarly, computer programs per se are not physical "things," nor are they statutory processes, as they are not "acts" being performed. In contrast, a computer process that is implemented using a computer program, a specific computer reconfigured by a computer program, or a memory circuit whose structure is defined by a computer program are statutory.

If a computer program is recited in a claim, Office personnel should determine if the computer program is being used to describe the physical structure of a manufacture or machine, or steps to be performed by a computer, or is intended to be the object of the patent, per se.

If it is clear that the claim uses the computer program elements to define actions to be performed by a computer, Office personnel should treat the claim as a process claim. If the computer program elements are recited in conjunction with a physical structure, such as a computer memory, the claim should be treated as a product claim. If the claimed subject matter cannot be treated as a process and does not have any physical structure, then it is non-statutory "information."

If an applicant challenges the Office's classification of a claim containing computer program elements without any physical structure as a process rather than a product, the claim should be rejected under § 101. Office personnel should also object to the specification under 37 CFR 1.71(b) if such an assertion is made, as the complete invention contemplated by the applicant has not been cast precisely as being an invention within one of the statutory categories.

(b) Non-Functional Information

The term "information" is the "communication of data." It is also used to mean signals representing data. It is the latter definition that is used in these guidelines.

Certain information, such as music, literature, art, and photographs, as well as mere facts or data,[24] cannot impart functionality to a computer. Such "information" is not a process, machine, manufacture or composition of matter.

The policy that precludes the patenting of non-functional data would be easily frustrated if the same data could be patented as an article of manufacture. For example, music is commonly sold to consumers in the format of a compact disc. In such cases, the known compact disc acts as nothing more than a carrier for non-functional data.

The non-functional content (e.g., words, images, or other information) cannot provide the practical utility for the manufacture. Function-imparting information is necessary to create a functional and useful physical manufacture (e.g., a computer memory encoded with data that causes a computer to function in a particular manner). If the utility for the encoded medium is dependent upon a human appreciating the artistic or other value of the information content, the claimed invention should be rejected under § 101.

(c) Natural Phenomena Such as Electricity and Magnetism

Claims that recite nothing but the physical characteristics of a form of energy, such as a specific radio frequency, voltage, or the strength of a magnetic field, define energy or magnetism, per se, and as such are non-statutory. A claim directed to a natural phenomenon such as energy or magnetism, which does not recite the practical application of that phenomenon in a process or a product, is to be rejected under § 101.

2. Statutory Subject Matter

(a) Statutory Products

If a claim defines a useful machine or manufacture by identifying the physical structure of the machine or manufacture in terms of its hardware or hardware and software combination, it defines a statutory product.[25]

(i) Product Claims—Claims Directed to Machines and Manufactures

Claims that define a computer-implemented invention as a specific machine or article of manufacture must define the physical structure of the machine or manufacture in terms of its hardware and associated functional software. The applicant may define the physical structure of a programmed computer or its hardware or software components in any manner that can be clearly understood by a person skilled in the relevant art. Generally a claim drawn to a particular programmed computer should identify the elements of the computer and indicate how those elements are configured in either hardware or a combination of hardware and software.

A computer-related "manufacture" will typically be a component of a specific computer, such as a logic circuit or a computer memory. A manufactured computer memory containing a physical structure representing encoded computer-readable instructions, such as a computer program, is a statutory article of manufacture because the encoded computer-readable instructions give the manufactured memory a new form or structure, and new qualities or properties (e.g., the ability to cause a computer to function in a particular, predefined manner).

To adequately define a computer memory with a particular functionality, the claim must identify the physical characteristics of the memory (e.g., a logic circuit or a storage medium), and the functionality of the memory. A computer memory may be defined in a claim as:

— a logic circuit that results when a programmed computer performs a series of steps dictated by a computer program;[26]

— a memory defined by its functional and/or structural characteristics;[27] or — a memory whose physical structure is defined by the act of storing computer-executable program code on the memory.

(ii) Claims that Encompass Any Machine or Manufacture Embodiment of a Process

A claim cast in product claim format that, when read in light of the specification, encompasses any computer implementation of a process should be examined on the basis of the underlying process. Such a claim can be recognized as it will:

— define the physical characteristics of a computer or computer component exclusively as functions or steps to be performed on or by a computer, and

— encompass any product in the stated class (e.g., computer, computer-readable memory) configured in any manner to perform that process.

The following hypotheticals illustrate this distinction. Assume two applicants present a claim to the following process:

A process for determining and displaying the structure of a chemical compound comprising:

(a) solving the wavefunction parameters for the compound to determine the structure of a compound;

(b) displaying the structure of the compound determined in step (a).

In addition, each applicant claims an apparatus, and provides the noted disclosure to support the claims.

	Applicant A	Applicant B
Apparatus Claim	A computer system for determining the three dimen sional structure of a chemical compound comprising: (a) means for determining the three dimensional structure of a compound; (b) means for creating and displaying an image representing a three-dimensional perspective of the compound.	A computer system for determining the three dimen sional structure of a chemical compound comprising: (a) means for determining the three dimensional structure of a compound; (b) means for displaying the structure of the compound determined in step (a).
Disclosure	The disclosure describes computer program code segments that are to be employed in configuring a general purpose microprocessor to create specific logic circuits. These circuits are indicated to be the "means" corresponding to the claimed means elements.	This disclosure states that it would be a matter of routine skill to select an appropriate computer system and implement the claimed process on that computer system. No specific disclosure is made regarding the two "means" elements recited in the claim (i.e., no computer program or logic circuit is described that can perform the indicated functions). The disclosure does provide an explanation of how to solve the wavefunction equations of a chemical compound, and indicates that the solutions of those wavefunction equations can be employed to determine the physical structure of the corresponding compound.
Result	Claim defines specific computer, patentability stands independently from process claim.	Claim encompasses any computer embodiment of process claim; patent ability stands or falls with process claim.
Explanation	Disclosure identifies the specific machine capable of performing the indicated functions.	In this scenario, the applicant has not provided any information that can serve to distinguish the "implementation" of the process on a computer from the factors that will govern the patentability determination of the process per se. As such, the patentability of this apparatus claim will stand or fall with that of the process claim.

Office personnel are reminded that finding a product claim to encompass any product embodiment a "process" invention simply means that the Office will presume that the product claim encompasses any product in the stated class that performs the specified set of functions. Because this is interpretive and nothing more, it does not provide any information as to the patentability of the applicant's underlying invention or the product claim.

If a claim is found to encompass any product embodiment of the underlying process, and if the underlying process is statutory, the product claim should be classified as a statutory product. By the same token, if the underlying process invention is found to be non-statutory, Office personnel should classify the "product" claim as a "non-statutory product." If the product claim is classified as being a non-statutory product on the basis of the underlying process, Office personnel should emphasize that they have considered all claim limitations and are basing their finding on the analysis of the underlying process.

(b) Statutory Processes [Guidelines § I.B.1.(c)(iii)]

A claim that requires one or more acts to be performed defines a process. Not all processes, however, are processes that fall within the definition of a statutory process under § 101. A statutory process is a series of one or more acts that manipulate physical matter or energy resulting in some form of a physical transformation.[28] Accordingly, a claimed process is statutory if it:

— manipulates some form of physical matter or energy; and

— results in a transformation or reduction of the subject matter manipulated into a different state or into a different thing to achieve a practical application.

(i) Appropriate Subject Matter for Manipulation Steps of a Process

Consistent with the expansive Congressional intent behind § 101, Office personnel shall consider any form of physical "matter" or "energy" to be the appropriate subject matter of the manipulation steps of a process. Importantly, the subject matter manipulated by a process does not have to be a physical object; it may be "intangible subject matter representative of or constituting physical activity or objects."[29] Thus, an electrical signal representing data corresponding to a physical object or physical activity is appropriate subject matter for manipulation by a process. If the "acts" of a process manipulate only numbers, abstract concepts or ideas, the acts are not being applied to appropriate subject matter. Thus, a process consisting solely of mathematical operations does not manipulate appropriate subject matter and thus cannot constitute a statutory process.

(ii) Transformation or Reduction to a Different State or Thing

To be statutory, the claimed process when practiced must physically transform the subject matter manipulated—something must happen other than manipulating concepts or converting numbers to different numbers. The required transformation can take place during any step of the process (e.g., if a process requires three "acts" and only the last "act" transforms the subject matter to a different state or thing, a sufficient transformation has occurred). If the process does not result in any physical transformation, it is not statutory.

(iii) Examples of Statutory Computer-Implemented Processes

Three exemplary computer-performed processes that fully satisfy the requirements of § 101:

— A process that requires physical acts to be performed independent of the steps to be performed by a programmed computer, where those acts involve the manipulation of tangible physical objects and result in the object having a different physical attributes or structure;[30]

— A process that requires acts to be performed on the physical components of a computer (i.e., the process manipulates the components of the computer rather than data representing something external to the computer system) and the effect of the process is that the computer operates differently (such as an operating system process); and

— A process that requires acts to be performed by a computer on data in the form of an electrical or magnetic signal, where the data represents a physical object or activities external to the computer system (e.g., physical characteristics of a chemical compound or a person's heart rate), and where the process causes some transformation of the physical but intangible representation of the physical object or activities.[31]

3. Non-Statutory Processes

In practical terms, claims define non-statutory processes if they:

— consist solely of mathematical operations (i.e., a "mathematical algorithm"); or — simply manipulate abstract ideas without some practical application (e.g., a bid, a bubble hierarchy).

(a) Mathematical Algorithm That Defines a Law of Nature or Natural Phenomenon or Describes an Abstract Idea

A process that consists solely of mathematical operations is non-statutory. Mathematical algorithms do not manipulate physical matter and cannot cause a physical effect. Courts have, however, recognized a distinction between types of mathematical algorithms, namely, some define a "law of nature" in mathematical terms and others merely describe an "abstract idea."

Certain mathematical algorithms have been held non-statutory because they represent a mathematical definition of a law of nature or a natural phenomenon. For example, the formula $E=mc^2$ is a "law of nature"—it defines a "fundamental scientific truth" (i.e., the relationship between energy and mass). To comprehend how the law of nature relates to any object, one invariably has to perform certain steps (e.g., multiplying a number representing the mass of an object by the square of a number representing the speed of light). If an applicant defines a process to consist solely of those steps that one must follow to solve the mathematical representation of the law of nature, the "process" is indistinguishable from the law of nature and would "preempt" the law of nature. A patent cannot be granted on such a process.

Other mathematical algorithms have been held non-statutory because they merely describe an abstract idea. An "abstract idea" may simply be any sequence of mathematical operations that are combined to solve a mathematical problem. The concern addressed by holding such subject matter non-statutory is that the mathematical operations merely describe an idea and do not define a process that represents a practical application of the idea.

Accordingly, when a claim is found to define non-statutory subject matter because of a mathematical algorithm, it is important to determine whether the subject matter is a law of nature or natural phenomenon or abstract idea. A rejection under § 101 should indicate the type of deficiency relied upon to support the rejection.

(b) Evaluation of Certain Language Related to Mathematical Operation Steps of a Process

(i) Intended Use or Field of Use Statements

Claim language that simply specifies an intended use or field of use for the invention generally will not limit the scope of a claim. Such language often will be presented in the preamble of claim, but may appear elsewhere in the body of the claim. Intended or field of use language appearing in the preamble will in most instances not limit the claim scope, and as such, Office personnel should be careful to properly interpret such language. For example, a claimed mathematical process "to be used in seismic prospecting..." is not limited by the seismic prospecting use statement (i.e., none of the steps were explicitly or implicitly limited to application to seismic prospecting activities).[33] In such a case, Office personnel should identify the claim language that constitutes the intended use or field of use statements and provide the basis for their findings. This will shift the burden to applicant to demonstrate otherwise.

(ii) Necessary Antecedent Step to Performance of A Mathematical Operation or Independent Limitation on a Claimed Process

In rare situations, certain acts of "collecting" or "selecting" data for use in a process consisting of one or more mathematical operations will not further limit a claim beyond the specified mathematical operation step(s). Such acts "merely determine values for the variables used in the mathematical operations used in making the calculations."[34] In other words, the acts are dictated by nothing other than the performance of a mathematical operation.[35]

If a claim requires acts to be performed to create data that will then be used in a process representing a practical application of one or more mathematical operations, those acts must be treated as further limiting the claim beyond the mathematical operation(s) per se. Such acts are data gathering steps not dictated by the algorithm but by other limitations which require certain antecedent steps and as such constitute an independent limitation on the claim.

Examples of acts that independently limit a claimed process involving mathematical operations include:

— a method of conducting seismic exploration which requires generating and manipulating signals from seismic energy waves before "summing" the values represented by the signals;[36] and

— a method of displaying X-ray attenuation data as a signed gray scale signal in a "field" using a particular anti-aliasing algorithm, where the antecedent steps require generating the data using a particular machine (e.g., a computed tomography scanner).[37]

Examples of steps that do not independently limit one or more mathematical operation steps include:

— "perturbing" the values of a set of process inputs, where the subject matter "perturbed" was a number and the act of "perturbing" consists of substituting the numerical values of variables;[38] and — selecting a set of "arbitrary measurement point" values.[39] Such steps do not impose independent limitations on the scope of the claim beyond those required by the mathematical operation limitation.

(iii) Post-Mathematical Operation Step Uses Solution or Merely Conveys Result of Operation

In rare instances, certain kinds of post-solution "acts" will not further limit a process claim beyond the performance of the preceding mathematical operation step even if the acts are recited in the body of a claim. If, however, the claimed acts represent some use of the solution, those acts will invariably impose an independent limitation on the claim. Thus, if a claim requires that the direct result of a mathematical operation be evaluated and transformed into something else, Office personnel cannot treat the subsequent steps as being indistinguishable from the performance of the mathematical operation and thus not further limiting on the claim. For example, acts that require the conversion of a series of numbers representing values of a wavefunction equation for a chemical compound into values representing an image that conveys information about the three dimensional structure of the compound cannot be treated as being part of the mathematical operations that yield the wavefunction numbers. Office personnel should be especially careful when reviewing claim language that requires the performance of "post-solution" steps to ensure that actual claim limitations are not ignored.

Examples of steps found not to independently limit a process involving one or more mathematical operation steps include:

— step of "updating an alarm limit" found to constitute changing the number value of a variable to represent the result of the calculation;[40]

— final step of "magnetically recording" the result of a calculation;[41]

— final step of "equating" the process outputs to the values of the last set of process inputs found to constitute storing the result of calculations;[42]

— final step of displaying result of a calculation "as a shade of gray rather than as simply a number" found to not constitute distinct step where the data were numerical values that did not represent anything;[43] and

— step of "transmitting electrical signals representing" the result of calculations.[44]

Office personnel are reminded to rely on the applicant's characterization of the significance of the "acts" being assessed to resolve questions related to their relationship to the mathematical operations recited in the claim and the invention as a whole.[45]

(c) Manipulation of Abstract Ideas Without A Practical Application

A process that consists solely of the manipulation of an abstract idea without any limitation to a practical application is non-statutory.[46]

In order to determine whether the claim is limited to a practical application of an idea, Office personnel must analyze the claim as a whole, in light of the specification, to understand what subject matter is being manipulated and how it is being manipulated. During this procedure, Office personnel must evaluate any statements of intended use or field of use, any data gathering step and any post-manipulation activity. See section (b) above.

IV. Issues Related to Compliance with Section 112, First and Second Paragraphs [Guidelines § I.B.2.]

Section 112 serves to ensure that the claims are clearly defined and are fully supported by the disclosure. Office personnel should focus their assessment of applications for compliance with § 112 on determining if the disclosure and claims clearly convey what the applicant has invented, permit others to determine what rights have been provided to the patentee, and enable one skilled in the art to the practice the invention without undue experimentation.

When evaluating applications, Office personnel must always remember to use the perspective of one of ordinary skill in the art. Claims and disclosures are not to be evaluated in a vacuum. If elements of an invention are well known in the art, the applicant does not have to provide a disclosure that describes those elements.

Similarly, the applicant need not explicitly recite in the claims every feature of the invention. Rather, if the claims, interpreted in light of the disclosure reasonably apprise those of ordinary skill in the art what the invention is, they satisfy the requirements of § 112, second paragraph. For example, if an applicant indicates that the invention is a particular computer, the claim does not have to recite every element or feature of the computer. In fact, it is preferable for the claim to be drafted in a form that emphasizes what the applicant has invented (e.g., what is new rather than old).[47]

If deficiencies are discovered with respect to § 112, Office personnel must be careful to rely on the appropriate paragraph of § 112. Deficiencies under the second paragraph of § 112 exist if it is unclear what the claim defines (i.e., the claim fails to particularly point out and distinctly claim the invention),[48] or the claim as cast does not define what applicant has indicated to be the invention.[49] Deficiencies under the first paragraph of § 112 can arise where there is not an adequate written description that serves to identify what the applicant has invented, or the disclosure does not enable one skilled in the art to make and use the invention as claimed without undue experimentation. Deficiencies related to disclosure of the best mode for carrying out the claimed invention are not usually encountered during initial examination of an application.

A. Specification Fails to Show How to Make or Use Programmed Computer Element of Invention [Guidelines § I.B.2.(b)]

The disclosure must enable a person skilled in the art to configure the computer to possess the requisite functionality, and, if relevant, integrate the computer with other elements to yield the claimed invention, without the exercise of undue experimentation. If the specification fails to identify how to configure a computer to possess the requisite functionality or how to integrate the programmed computer with other elements of the invention, the claim is likely to be deficient under § 112, first paragraph.

For many computer-implemented inventions, it is not unusual for the claimed invention to involve more than one field of technology. For such inventions, the disclosure must satisfy the enablement standard for each aspect of the invention.[50] As such, the disclosure must teach a person skilled in each art how to make and use the relevant aspect of the invention without undue experimentation. For example, to enable a claim to a programmed computer that determines and displays the three-dimensional structure of a chemical compound, the disclosure must — enable a person skilled in the art of molecular modeling to understand and practice the underlying molecular modeling processes; and

— enable a person skilled in the art of computer programming to create a program that directs a computer to create and display the image representing the three-dimensional structure of the compound.

In other words, the disclosure corresponding to each aspect of the invention must be enabling to a person skilled in each respective art.

B. Programmed Computer Is Defined As Composite of Functional Elements

In many instances, an applicant will describe a programmed computer by outlining the significant elements of the programmed computer using a functional block diagram. Office personnel should review the specification to ensure that along with the functional block diagram the disclosure provides information that adequately describes each "element" in hardware or software. If the functionally labeled elements of a programmed computer are not described further in the specification and one skilled in the art would not know what the elements are or how to make or use them to yield the claimed invention, a claim defining an invention requiring the use of that programmed computer is likely to be deficient under one or more requirements of § 112.

C. Elements of a Machine Defined Using Means Plus Function Language [Guidelines § I.B.2.(a) & (b)]

Where means plus function language is used to define the characteristics of a machine or manufacture invention, claim elements must be interpreted to read on only the structures or materials disclosed in the specification, and "equivalents thereof."[51] Thus, at the outset Office personnel must attempt to correlate means elements to some description of the elements in the written specification and drawings.

As noted earlier, there are many appropriate ways of describing the elements of a programmed computer. If the description makes it clear that a means element corresponds to the physical structure of a computer or computer component, that description will sufficiently define the claimed means element. Thus, a means element may be defined to be:

— a programmed computer with a particular functionality;

— a logic circuit or other component of a programmed computer that performs a series of specifically identified operations dictated by a computer program; or — a computer memory encoded with executable instructions representing a computer program that can cause a computer to function in a particular fashion.

A claim patterned after a functional block diagram and defined using means plus function language may fail to particularly point out and distinctly claim the invention if the disclosure does not describe the specific materials or structures that correspond to the means elements. The scope of a "means" element is defined as the corresponding structure or material (e.g., a specific logic circuit) set forth in the written description and its equivalents. Where no structure or material is disclosed, the claim fails to particularly point out and distinctly claim the invention. For example, if the applicant discloses only the function to be performed and provides no description of hardware or software that performs the function, the application has not disclosed any "structure" to correspond to the means. Such a claim should be rejected under § 112, second paragraph. In contrast, if the corresponding structure is disclosed to be a memory or logic circuit that has been configured in some manner to perform that function (e.g., using a computer program), the claim satisfies § 112, second paragraph.

Further guidance in interpreting the scope of equivalents of means elements is provided in the Examination Guidelines For Claims Reciting A Means or Step Plus Function Limitation In Accordance With 35 U.S.C. 112, 6th Paragraph.[52]

D. Claim Does Not Define Applicant's Invention [Guidelines § I.B.2.(a)]

To satisfy the second paragraph of § 112, the claims must define the invention in a manner consistent with the applicant's written description of the invention. If the applicant asserts a practical utility for the invention, Office personnel should review the entire disclosure to determine the features necessary to accomplish the asserted practical utility. When the claim recites a practical utility but fails to recite the necessary features to accomplish the asserted practical utility, the claim should be rejected under § 112, second paragraph. If a claim is so broad as to encompass non-statutory subject matter, the claim should be rejected under § 112 ¶ 2, as well as § 101. For example, if applicant has described the invention as a computer-implemented process, but the claim is broad enough to cover the mental performance of the process, then it should be rejected under both § 112 ¶ 2 and § 101.[53]

A claim as a whole that defines non-statutory subject matter is deficient under § 101, and under § 112, second paragraph. Determining the scope of a claim as a whole requires a clear understanding of what the applicant regards as the invention. If the invention as disclosed in the written description is statutory, but the claims define subject matter that is not, the deficiency can be corrected by an appropriate claim amendment. Therefore, reject the claims under §§ 101 and 112, second paragraph, but identify the features of the invention that, if recited in the claim, would render the claimed subject matter statutory.

E. Claim Defined Using Only Computer Program Code [Guidelines § I.B.2.(a)]

A claim defined entirely in computer program code, whether in source or object code format, may be deficient under § 112 ¶ 2 if one of ordinary skill in the art would not be able to ascertain the metes and bounds of the claimed invention. Such a claim should also be objected to under 37 CFR 1.52(a).[55] A computer programming language is not the English language, despite the fact that English words may be used in that language.

In certain circumstances, as where self-documenting programming code is employed, use of programming language in a claim would be permissible, since such program source code presents sufficiently high-level language and descriptive identifiers to make it universally understood to others in the art without the programmer having to insert any comments.[56]

Applicants should be encouraged to functionally define the steps the computer will perform rather than simply providing source or object code.

V. Issues Related to Compliance with § 103 [Guidelines § I.B.3.]

As is the case for inventions in any field of technology, assessment of a claimed computer-implemented invention for compliance with § 103 begins with a comparison of the claimed subject matter to what is known in the prior art. Once distinctions are identified between the claimed invention and the prior art, those distinctions must be assessed and resolved in light of the knowledge possessed by a person of ordinary skill in the art. Against this backdrop, one must determine whether the invention would have been obvious at the time the invention was made. If not, the claimed invention satisfies § 103. Factors and considerations dictated by law governing § 103 apply without modification to inventions in this field of technology.

If the difference between the prior art and the claimed invention is limited to information stored on or employed by a machine, one must determine what role the information plays with regard to the invention considered as a whole. Where the information imparts some degree of functionality to the claimed invention taken as a whole, it represents a critical element of the invention. As such, the information must be considered and addressed incident to application of § 103. Thus, a rejection of the claim as a whole under § 103 is inappropriate unless the functionality imparted by the information would have been suggested by the prior art. To establish a prima facie case of obviousness, Office personnel must explain why it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made, to impart the functionality of the programmed computer with that specific information.

However, where the information imparts no functionality to achieve the specific utility of the invention, it cannot serve to render the claimed invention, considered as a whole, non-obvious. Generally speaking, situations where information imparts no functionality will be limited to the following:

— a computer readable storage medium that differs from the prior art solely with respect to information encoded on the medium that does not alter its functionality considered as a whole,

— a computer that differs from the prior art solely with respect to information whose content does not alter how the machine functions (i.e., the information does not reconfigure the computer), or — a process that differs from the prior art only with respect to information that does not alter how the process steps are to be performed to achieve the utility of the invention.

Thus, if the prior art suggests storing a song on a disk, merely choosing a particular song to store on the disk would be presumed to have been obvious as being well within the level of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made. Such a difference is simply a rearrangement of non-functional information.

VI. Conclusion

Once Office personnel have concluded an analysis of the claimed invention under all the statutory provisions, including §§ 101, 112, 102 and 103, when composing any Official action, they should review all the proposed rejections and their bases to confirm their correctness. Only then should any rejection be imposed.

It is of course true that a modern digital computer manipulates data, usually in binary form, by performing mathematical operations, such as addition, subtraction, multiplication, division, or bit shifting, on the data. But this is only how the computer does what it does. Of importance is the significance of the data and their manipulation in the real world, i.e., what the computer is doing.

[8] Many computer-implemented inventions do not consist solely of a computer. Thus, Office personnel should identify those claimed elements of the computer-implemented invention that are not part of the programmed computer, and determine how those elements relate to the programmed computer. Office personnel should look for specific information that explains the role of the programmed computer in the overall process or machine and how the programmed computer is to be integrated with the other elements of the apparatus or used in the process.

[14] Diamond v. Chakrabarty, 447 U.S. 303, 308-09, 206 USPQ 193, 196-97 (1980):

In choosing such expansive terms as "manufacture" and "composition of matter," modified by the comprehensive "any," Congress plainly contemplated that the patent laws would be given wide scope. The relevant legislative history also supports a broad construction. The Patent Act of 1793, authored by Thomas Jefferson, defined statutory subject matter as "any new and useful art, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new or useful improvement [thereof]." Act of Feb. 21, 1793, § 1, 1 Stat. 319. The Act embodied Jefferson's philosophy that "ingenuity should receive a liberal encouragement." 5 Writings of Thomas Jefferson 75-76 (Washington ed. 1871). See Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 7-10 (1966). Subsequent patent statutes in 1836, 1870, and 1874 employed this same broad language. In 1952, when the patent laws were recodified, Congress replaced the word "art" with "process," but otherwise left Jefferson's language intact. The Committee Reports accompanying the 1952 Act inform us that Congress intended statutory subject matter to "include anything under the sun that is made by man." S. Rep. No. 1979, 82d Cong., 2d Sess. 5 (1952); H.R. Rep. No. 1923, 82d Cong., 2d Sess. 6 (1952).

This perspective has been embraced by the Federal Circuit:

The plain and unambiguous meaning of § 101 is that any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may be patented if it meets the requirements for patentability set forth in Title 35, such as those found in § 102, 103, and 112. The use of the expansive term "any" in § 101 represents Congress's intent not to place any restrictions on the subject matter for which a patent may be obtained beyond those specifically recited in § 101 and the other parts of Title 35 . . . . Thus, it is improper to read into § 101 limitations as to the subject matter that may be patented where the legislative history does not indicate that Congress clearly intended such limitations. The presence of a mathematical algorithm or formula in a claim is merely an indication that a scientific principle, law of nature, idea or mental process may be the subject matter claimed and, thus, justify a rejection of that claim under 35 USC 101; but the presence of a mathematical algorithm or formula is only a signpost for further analysis."). *Cf. The Supreme Court has not been clear . . . as to whether such subject matter is excluded from the scope of § 101 because it represents laws of nature, natural phenomena, or abstract ideas. See Diehr, 450 U.S. at 186 (viewed mathematicalalgorithm as a law of nature); Benson, 409 U.S. at 71-72 (treated mathematical algorithm as an "idea"). The Supreme Court also has not been clear as to exactly what kind of mathematical subject matter may not be patented. The Supreme Court has used, among others, the terms "mathematical algorithm," "mathematical formula," and "mathematical equation" to describe types of mathematical subject matter not entitled to patent protection standing alone. The Supreme Court has not set forth, however, any consistent or clear explanation of what it intended by such terms or how these terms are related, if at all.

[35] In In re Sarkar, 588 F.2d 1330, 1335, 200 USPQ 132, 139 (CCPA the court explained why this approach must be followed:

No mathematical equation can be used, as a practical matter, without establishing and substituting values for the variables expressed therein. Substitution of values dictated by the formula has thus been viewed as a form of mathematical step. If the steps of gathering and substituting values were alone sufficient, every mathematical equation, formula, or algorithm having any practical use would be per se subject to parenting as a "process" under § 101. Consideration of whether the substitution of specific values is enough to convert the disembodied ideas present in the formula into an embodiment of those ideas, or into an application of the formula, is foreclosed by the current state of the law.

[51] Two in banc decisions of the Federal Circuit have made clear that the Office is to interpret means plus function language according to 35 U.S.C. § 112 ¶ 6. In the first, In re Donaldson, F.3d 1189, 1193, 29 USPQ2d 1845, 1848 (Fed. Cir. 1994), the court held:

The plain and unambiguous meaning of paragraph six is that one construing means-plus-function language in a claim must look to the specification and interpret that language in light of the corresponding structure, material, or acts described therein, and equivalents thereof, to the extent that the specification provides such disclosure. Paragraph six does not state or even suggest that the PTO is exempt from this mandate, and there is no legislative history indicating that Congress intended that the PTO should be. Thus, this court must accept the plain and precise language of paragraph six.

Consistent with Donaldson, in the second decision, In re Alappat, 33 F.3d at 1540, 31 USPQ2d at 1554, the Federal Circuit held:

Given Alappat's disclosure, it was error for the Board majority to interpret each of the means clauses in claim 15 so broadly as to "read on any and every means for performing the function" recited, as it said it was doing, and then to conclude that claim 15 is nothing more than a process claim wherein each means clause represents a step in that process. Contrary to suggestions by the Commissioner, this court's precedents do not support the Board's view that the particular apparatus claims at issue in this case may be viewed as nothing more than process claims.

[52] 1162 O.G. 59 (May 17, 1994).

[53] For example, in In re Prater, 415 F.2d at 1403-04, 162 USPQ at 549-50, the court considered a claim that was found to encompass both the mental and physical performance of a series of calculations (i.e., the claim was not limited to performance of a calculation on a machine). The applicant had argued that the invention was to be practiced using a machine. Id. The court found that while the claims defined a statutory process, they were deficient under the second paragraph of § 112. Id. The court emphasized that:

[W]hen read in the light of the specification, claim 9 does read on a mental process augmented by pencil and paper markings. We find no express limitation in claim 9 which, even when interpreted in the light of the specification, would support the conclusion that the claim is limited to a "machine process" or "machine-implemented process." This is particularly important in this case since the board noted that, in their brief before the board, appellants acknowledged that "[though] not practical for most of the needed applications, their method, theoretically, can be practiced by hand." . . . Inasmuch as claim 9, thus interpreted, reads on subject matter for which appellants do not seek coverage, and therefore tacitly admit to be beyond that which "applicant regards as his invention," we feel that the claim fails to comply with 35 USC 112 which requires that "[the] specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention." (Emphasis added.) This is true notwithstanding appellants' disclosure of a machine-implemented process. [Id.]

The basis of this type of rejection is that the claim, as cast, is incomplete.

[54] If the invention, both as disclosed and as claimed, is not statutory subject matter, reject the claims under § 101 for being drawn to non-statutory subject matter, and under § 112, second paragraph, for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim an invention entitled to protection under U.S. patent law.

APPENDIX

I. Guidelines for Examination of Computer-Implemented Inventions

(Proposed)

60 Fed. Reg. 28,778 (June 2, 1995)

A. General Considerations

The following guidelines have been developed to assist Office personnel in their review of applications drawn to computer-implemented inventions. These guidelines respond to recent changes in the law that governs the patentability of computer-implemented inventions, and set forth the official policy of the Office regarding inventions in this field of technology.

It is essential that patent applicants obtain a prompt yet complete examination of their applications. The Office can best achieve this goal by raising any issue that may affect patentability in the initial action on the merits. Under the principles of compact prosecution, each claim should be reviewed for compliance with every statutory requirement of patentability in the initial review of the application, even if one or more claims is found to be deficient with respect to one statutory requirement. Deficiencies should be explained clearly, particularly when they serve as a basis of a rejection. Where possible, examiners should indicate how rejections may be overcome and problems resolved. A failure to follow this approach can lead to unnecessary delays in the prosecution of the application.

B. Procedures to be Followed When Evaluating Computer-Implemented Inventions

The following procedures should be used when reviewing applications drawn to computer-implemented inventions.

1. Determine what the applicant has invented by reviewing the written description and the claims.

(a) Identify any specific embodiments of the invention that have been disclosed, review the detailed description of the invention and note the specific utility that has been asserted for the invention.

(b) Analyze each claim carefully, correlating each claim element to the relevant portion of the written description that describes that element. Give claim elements their broadest reasonable interpretation that is consistent with the written description. If elements of a claimed invention are defined in means plus function format, review the written description to identify the specific structure, materials or acts that correspond to each such element.

(c) Considering each claim as a whole, classify the invention defined by each claim as to its statutory category (i.e., process, machine, manufacture or composition of matter). Rely on the following presumptions in making this classification.

(i) A computer or other programmable apparatus whose actions are directed by a computer program or other form of "software" is a statutory "machine."

(ii) A computer readable memory that can be used to direct a computer to function in a particular manner when used by the computer [1] is a statutory "article of manufacture".

(iii) A series of specific operational steps to be performed on or with the aid of a computer is a statutory "process".

A claim that clearly defines a computer-implemented process but is not cast as an element of a computer readable memory or as implemented on a computer should be classified as a statutory "process." [2] If an applicant responds to an action of the Office based on this classification by asserting that subject matter claimed in this format is a machine or an article of manufacture, reject the claim under 35 U.S.C. § 112, second paragraph, for failing to recite at least one physical element in the claims that would otherwise place the invention in either of these two "product" categories. The Examiner should also object to the specification under 37 CFR 1.71(b) if such an assertion is made, as the complete invention contemplated by the applicant has not been cast precisely as being an invention within one of the statutory categories.

A claim that defines an invention as any of the following subject matter should be classified as non-statutory:

— a compilation or arrangement of data, independent of any physical element;

— a known machine-readable storage medium that is encoded with data representing creative or artistic expression (e.g., a work of music, art or literature) [3], [4];

— a "data structure" independent of any physical element (i.e., not as implemented on a physical component of a computer such as a computer readable memory to render that component capable of causing a computer to operate in a particular manner); or — a process that does nothing more than manipulate abstract ideas or concepts (e.g., a process consisting solely of the steps one would follow in solving a mathematical problem [5]).

Claims in this form are indistinguishable from abstract ideas, laws of nature and natural phenomena and may not be patented. Non-statutory claims should be handled in the manner described in section (2)(c) below.

2. Analyze each claim to determine if it complies with § 112, second paragraph, and with § 112, first paragraph.

(a) Determine if the claims particularly point out and distinctly claim the invention. To do this, compare the invention as claimed to the invention as it has been described in the specification. Pay particular attention to the specific utility contemplated for the invention—features or elements of the invention that are necessary to provide the specific utility contemplated for that invention must be reflected in the claims. If the claims fail to accurately define the invention, they should be rejected under § 112, second paragraph. A failure to limit the claim to reflect features of the invention that are necessary to impart the specific utility contemplated may also create a deficiency under § 112, first paragraph.

If elements of a claimed invention are defined using "means plus function" language, but it is unclear what structure, materials or acts are intended to correspond to those elements, reject the claim under § 112, second paragraph. A rejection imposed on this basis shifts the burden to the applicant to describe the specific structure, material or acts that correspond to the means element in question, and to identify the precise location in the specification where a description of that means element can be found. Interpretation of means elements for § 112, second paragraph purposed must be consistent with interpretation of such elements for §§ 102 and 103 purposes.

Computer program-related elements of a computer-implemented [6] invention may serve as the specific structure, material or acts that correspond to an element of an invention defined using a means plus function limitation. For example, a series of operations performed by a computer under the direction of a computer program may serve as "specific acts" that correspond to a means element. Similarly, a computer-readable memory encoded with data representing a computer program that can cause a computer to function in a particular fashion, or a component of a computer that has been reconfigured with a computer program to operate in a particular fashion, can serve as the "specific structure" corresponding to a means element.

Claims must be defined using the English language. See, 37 CFR 1.52(a). A computer programming language is not the English language, despite the fact that English words may be used in that language. Thus, an applicant may not use computer program code, in either source or object format, to define the metes and bounds of a claim. A claim which attempts to define elements of an invention using computer program code, rather than the functional steps which are to be performed, should be rejected under § 112, second paragraph, and should be objected to under 37 CFR 1.52(a).

(b) Construe the scope of the claimed invention to determine if it is adequately supported by an enabling disclosure. Construe any element defined in means plus function language to encompass all reasonable equivalents of the specific structure, material or acts disclosed in the specification corresponding to that means element. Special care should be taken to ensure that each claim complies with the written description and enablement requirements of 35 U.S.C. § 112.

(c) A claim as a whole that defines non-statutory subject matter is deficient under § 101, and under § 112, second paragraph. Determining the scope of a claim as a whole requires a clear understanding of what the applicant regards as the invention. The review performed in step 1 should be used to gain this understanding.

(i) If the invention as disclosed in the written description is statutory, but the claims define subject matter that is not, the deficiency can be corrected by an appropriate claim amendment. Therefore, reject the claims under §§ 101 and 112, second paragraph, but identify the features of the invention that, if recited in the claim, would render the claimed subject matter statutory.

(ii) If the invention, both as disclosed and as claimed, is not statutory subject matter, reject the claims under § 101 for being drawn to non-statutory subject matter, and under § 112, second paragraph, for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim an invention entitled to protection under U.S. patent law.

An invention is not statutory if it falls within any of the non-statutory claim categories outlined in section (1)(c) above. Also, in rare situations, a claim classified as a statutory machine or article of manufacture may define non-statutory subject matter. Non-statutory subject matter (i.e., abstract ideas, laws of nature and natural phenomena) does not become statutory merely through a different form of claim presentation. Such a claim will (a) define the "invention" not through characteristics of the machine or article of manufacture claimed but exclusively in terms of a non-statutory process that is to be performed on or using that machine or article of manufacture, and (b) encompass any product in the stated class (e.g., computer, computer readable memory) configured in any manner to perform that process.

3. Determine if the claimed invention is novel and nonobvious under §§ 102 and 103. When evaluating claims defined using "mean plus function" language, refer to the specific guidance provided in the In re Donaldson guidelines [1162 OG 59] and section (3)(a) above.

C. Notes on the Guidelines

[1] Articles of manufacture encompassed by this definition consist of two elements: (1) a computer readable storage medium, such as a memory device, a compact disc or a floppy disk, and (2) data encoded on that storage medium in such a way that the storage medium causes a computer to operate in a specific and predefined manner. The composite of the two elements is a storage medium with a particular physical structure and function (e.g., one that will impart the functionality represented by the data onto a computer).

[2] For example, a claim that is cast as "a computer program" but which then recites specific steps to be implemented on or using a computer should be classified as a "process." A claim to simply a "computer program" that does not define the invention in terms of specific steps to be performed on or using a computer should not be classified as a statutory process.

[3] The specific words or symbols that constitute a computer program represent the expression of the computer program and as such are a literary creation.

[4] A claim in this format should also be rejected under § 103, as being obvious over the known machine-readable storage medium standing alone.

[5] A claim to a method consisting solely of the steps necessary to converting one set of numbers to another set of numbers without reciting any computer-implemented steps would be a non-statutory claim under this definition.

[6] This includes the software and any associated computer hardware that is necessary to perform the functions directed by the software.

I. INTERIM GUIDELINES FOR EXAMINATION OF DESIGN PATENT APPLICATIONS FOR COMPUTER-GENERATED ICONS

The following guidelines have been primarily developed to assist PTO personnel in determining whether design patent applications for computer-generated icons comply with the "article of manufacture" requirement of 35 U.S.C. 171.[1]

A. General Principle Governing Compliance with the "Article of Manufacture" Requirement

A design for a computer-generated icon[2] which is embodied in an article of manufacture is statutory subject matter for a design patent under Section 171. Thus, if an application claims a computer-generated icon embodied in a computer screen, monitor, other display panel, or a portion thereof,[3] that is drawn in solid lines,[4] the claim complies with the "article of manufacture" requirement of Section 171.

B. Procedures for Evaluating Whether Design Patent Applications Drawn to Computer-Generated Icons Comply With the "Article of Manufacture" Requirement

PTO personnel shall adhere to the following procedures when reviewing design patent applications drawn to computer-generated icons for compliance with the "article of manufacture" requirement of Section 171.

1. Read the entire disclosure to determine what the applicant claims as the design,[5] and to determine whether the design is embodied in an article of manufacture. 37 CFR 1.71 and 1.152-54.

a. Review the drawing to determine whether a computer screen, monitor, other display panel, or portion thereof, is depicted in solid lines. 37 CFR 1.152.

b. Review the title to determine whether it clearly describes the claimed subject matter.[6] 37 CFR 1.153.

c. Review the specification to determine whether a characteristic feature statement is present. 37 CFR 1.71. If a characteristic feature statement is present, determine whether it describes the claimed subject matter as a computer-generated icon embodied in a computer screen, monitor, other display panel, or portion thereof.[7]

2. If the drawing does not depict a computer-generated icon embodied in a computer screen, monitor, or a portion thereof, in solid lines, reject the claimed design under Section 171 and 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, for failing to: (i) comply with the article of manufacture requirement; and (ii) particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which the applicant regards as the invention.[8]

a. If the disclosure as a whole does not suggest or describe[9] the claimed subject matter as a computer-generated icon embodied in a computer screen, monitor, other display panel, or portion thereof, indicate that: (i) the claim is defective under Sections 171 and 112, second paragraph; and (ii) amendments to the written description, drawings and/or claim attempting to overcome the rejections will be rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, for lack of written description and changes to the written description and drawings will be disapproved under 35 U.S.C. 132 as constituting new matter.

b. If the disclosure as a whole suggests or describes the claimed subject matter as a computer-generated icon embodied in a computer screen, monitor, other display panel, or portion thereof, indicate that the drawing may be amended to overcome the rejections under Sections 171 and 112, second paragraph. Suggest amendments which would bring the claim into compliance with Sections 171 and 112, second paragraph.

3. Indicate all objections to the disclosure for failure to comply with the formal requirements of the Rules of Practice in Patent Cases. 37 CFR 1.71, 1.81-85, and 1.152-154. Suggest amendments which would bring the disclosure into compliance with the formal requirements of the Rules of Practice in Patent Cases.

4. Upon response by applicant:

a. Review applicant's arguments and any amendments;
b. Approve entry of any amendments which have support in the original disclosure;
c. Review all arguments and evidence of record to determine whether the drawing, title, and specification clearly disclose a computer-generated icon embodied in a computer screen, monitor, other display panel, or portion thereof.

5. If a preponderance of the evidence[10] establishes that the computer-generated icon is embodied in a computer screen, monitor, other display panel, or portion thereof, withdraw the rejection under Sections 171 and 112, second paragraph.

II. Effect of the Interim Guidelines on Pending Design Applications Drawn to Computer-Generated Icons

PTO personnel shall follow the procedures set forth in Section I of these Interim Guidelines when examining design patent applications drawn to computer-generated icons which are pending in the PTO as of the date of publication of these Interim Guidelines in the Federal Register.

III. Treatment of Type Fonts

Traditionally, type fonts were generated by solid blocks from which each letter or symbol was produced. Consequently, the PTO has historically granted design patents drawn to type fonts.

PTO personnel should not reject claims for type fonts under Section 171 for failure to comply with the "article of manufacture" requirement on the basis that more modern methods of typesetting, including computer-generation, do not require solid printing blocks. However, PTO personnel should treat applications specifically drawn to computer-generated type fonts in accordance with the procedures set forth in Section I of these Interim Guidelines.

IV. Notes

1. Further procedures for search and examination of design patent applications to ensure compliance with all other conditions of patentability are found in the Manual of Patent Examining Procedure, Chapter 1500.

2. Computer-generated icons, such as full screen displays and individual icons, are two-dimensional images which alone are surface ornamentation. See, e.g., Ex parte Strijland, 26 USPQ2d 1259, 1262 (Bd. Pat App. & Int. 1992) (computer-generated icon alone is merely surface ornamentation).

3. Since a patentable "design is inseparable from the object to which it is applied and cannot exist alone merely as a scheme of surface ornamentation," a computer-generated icon must be embodied in a computer screen, monitor, other display panel, or portion thereof, to satisfy Section 171. MPEP 1502.

4. Strijland indicated that a computer-generated icon might be statutory subject matter if the solid-line icon is displayed on a computer screen which is shown as a broken-line drawing. 26 USPQ2d at 1263, 1266. However, since broken lines may be used to show visible environmental structure and not claimed subject matter, representation of a computer screen, monitor, other display panel, or portion thereof, in broken lines does not satisfy Section 171. See, e.g., In re Zahn, 617 F.2d 261, 268, 204 USPQ 988, 995 (CCPA 1980) (broken lines in design drawing show environmental structure, not claim). Broken lines may, however, be used to show other environmental structure, such as a central processing unit which contains equipment to operate the computer screen, monitor, or other display panel.

5. Since the claim must be in formal terms to the design "as shown, or as shown and described," the drawing provides the best description of the claim. 37 CFR 1.153.

6. The following titles do not adequately describe a design for an article of manufacture under Section 171: "computer icon;" or "icon." On the other hand, the following titles do adequately describe a design for an article of manufacture under Section 171: "computer screen with an icon;" "display panel with a computer icon;" "portion of a computer screen with an icon image;" "portion of a display panel with a computer icon image;" or "portion of a monitor displayed with a computer icon image."

7. See McGrady v. Aspenglas Corp., 487 F. Supp. 859, 861, 208 USPQ 242, 244 (S.D.N.Y. 1980) (descriptive statement in design patent application narrows claim scope).

8. A computer screen, monitor, or other display panel is clearly described by showing a larger surface area than that immediately behind the icon image.

9. A broken line drawing of a computer screen shown in the original disclosure suggests that the applicant originally had possession of the invention as embodied in an article of manufacture. Accordingly, the broken line drawing may be converted to a solid line drawing without violating the prohibition against new matter. See In re Rasmussen, 650 F.2d 1212, 1214, 211 USPQ 323, 326 (CCPA 1981) (An applicant is entitled to claims as broad as the original disclosure will allow). However, a solid line drawing of a computer screen in the original disclosure may not be amended to a solid line drawing of only a portion of the computer screen without support in the original disclosure for such an amendment. See, e.g., Ballew v. Watson, 290 F.2d 353, 355, 129 USPQ 48, 50 (Comm'r Pat. 1961) (an amendment to the claim which changes the appearance of the original disclosure and would "create newness by the difference achieved" is new matter).

10. See In re Oetiker, 977 F.2d 1443, 1445, 24 USPQ2d 1443, 1444 (Fed. Cir. 1992) ("After evidence or argument is submitted by the applicant in response, patentability is determined on the totality of the record, by a preponderance of evidence with due consideration to persuasiveness of argument.").

RIN: 0651-AA76

Changes to Implement 20-Year Patent Term and Provisional Applications

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce.

Action: Final rule.

Summary: The Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) is amending the rules of practice in patent cases, Parts 1 and 3 of title 37, Code of Federal Regulations, to establish procedures for: (1) filing and processing provisional application papers; (2) calculating the length of any patent term extension to which an applicant is entitled where the issuance of a patent on an application filed on or after June 8, 1995 (the implementation date of the 20-year patent term provisions of the Uruguay Round Agreements Act), other than for designs, was delayed due to interference proceedings, the imposition of a secrecy order and/or appellate review; and (3) implementing certain transitional provisions contained in the Uruguay Round Agreements Act.

Effective Date: June 8, 1995.

For Further Information Contact: Magdalen Y. Greenlief or John F. Gonzales, Senior Legal Advisors, Office of the Deputy Assistant Commissioner for Patent Policy and Projects, by telephone at (703) 305-9285, by fax at (703) 308-6916 or by mail marked to their attention and addressed to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Box DAC, Washington, D.C. 20231.

Supplementary Information: The Uruguay Round Agreements Act (Public Law 103-465) was enacted on December 8, 1994. Public Law 103-465 amends 35 U.S.C. 154 to provide that the term of patent protection begins on the date of grant and ends 20 years from the filing date of the application. The amendment applies to all utility and plant patents issued on applications having an actual United States application filing date on or after June 8, 1995. Specifically, 35 U.S.C. 154(a)(2), as contained in Public Law 103-465, provides that the patent term will begin on the date on which the patent issues and will end twenty years from the date on which the application was filed in the United States. If the application contains a specific reference to an earlier application under 35 U.S.C. 120, 121 or 365(c), the patent term will end twenty years from the date on which the earliest application referred to was filed. As amended by Public Law 103-465, 35 U.S.C. 154 does not take into account for determination of the patent term any application on which priority is claimed under 35 U.S.C. 119, 365(a) or 365(b).

Under 35 U.S.C. 154(b)(1), as contained in Public Law 103-465, if the issuance of an original patent is delayed due to interference proceedings under 35 U.S.C. 135(a) or because the application is placed under a secrecy order under 35 U.S.C. 181, the term of the patent shall be extended for the period of delay, but in no case more than five (5) years.

Under 35 U.S.C. 154(b)(2), as contained in Public Law 103-465, if the issuance of a patent is delayed due to appellate review by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences or by a Federal court and the patent is issued pursuant to a decision in the review reversing an adverse determination of patentability, the term of the patent shall be extended for a period of time but in no case more than five (5) years. However, a patent shall not be eligible for extension under 35 U.S.C. 154(b)(2) if the patent is subject to a terminal disclaimer due to the issuance of another patent claiming subject matter that is not patentably distinct from that under appellate review.

Under 35 U.S.C. 154(b)(3)(B) and 154(b)(3)(C), as contained in Public Law 103-465, the period of extension under 35 U.S.C. 154(b)(2) shall be reduced by any time attributable to appellate review before the expiration of three (3) years from the filing date of the application and for any period of time during which the applicant for patent did not act with due diligence, as determined by the Commissioner.

Under 35 U.S.C. 154(b)(4), as contained in Public Law 103-465, the total duration of all extensions of a patent under 35 U.S.C. 154(b) shall not exceed five (5) years.

The provisions for patent term extension under 35 U.S.C. 154(b) are separate from and in addition to the patent term extension provisions of 35 U.S.C. 156. The patent term extension provisions of 35 U.S.C. 154(b) are designed to compensate the patent owner for delays in issuing a patent, whereas the patent term extension provisions of 35 U.S.C. 156 are designed to restore term lost to premarket regulatory review after the grant of a patent. In order to prevent a term extension under 35 U.S.C. 154(b) from precluding a term extension under 35 U.S.C. 156, Public Law 103-465 amends 35 U.S.C. 156(a)(2) to specify that the term has never been extended under 35 U.S.C. 156(e)(1).

The 20-year patent term provision is contained in 35 U.S.C. 154, as amended by Public Law 103-465. Section 154 of title 35, United States Code, applies to utility and plant patents, but not to design patents. The term of a design patent is defined in 35 U.S.C. 173 as fourteen (14) years from the date of grant. Therefore, the patent term and patent term extension provisions set forth in 35 U.S.C. 154, as amended by Public Law 103-465, do not apply to patents for designs.

In addition, Public Law 103-465 establishes a domestic priority system. In accordance with the provisions of the Paris Convention for the Protection of Industrial Property, the term of a patent cannot include the Paris Convention priority period. Public Law 103-465 provides a mechanism to enable applicants to quickly and inexpensively file provisional applications. Applicants will be entitled to claim the benefit of priority in a given application based upon a previously filed provisional application in the United States. The domestic priority period will not count in the measurement of the term.

Section 111 of title 35, United States Code, was amended by Public Law 103-465 to provide for the filing of a provisional application on or after June 8, 1995. Section 41(a)(1) of title 35, United States Code, was amended by Public Law 103-465 to provide a $150.00 filing fee for each provisional application, subject to a fifty (50) percent reduction for a small entity. The requirements for obtaining a filing date for a provisional application are the same as those which previously existed for an application filed under 35 U.S.C. 111, except that no claim or claims as set forth in 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, is required. Moreover, no oath/declaration as set forth in 35 U.S.C. 115 is required. The provisional application is also not subject to the provisions of 35 U.S.C. 131, 135 and 157, i.e., a provisional application will not be examined for patentability, placed in interference or made the subject of a statutory invention registration. Further, the provisional application will automatically be abandoned no later than twelve (12) months after its filing date and will not be subject to revival to restore it to pending status beyond a date which is after twelve (12) months from its filing date. A provisional application will not be entitled to claim priority benefits based on any other application under 35 U.S.C. 119, 120, 121 or 365.

Also, Public Law 103-465 amended 35 U.S.C. 119 to allow an applicant to claim the benefit of the filing date of one or more copending provisional applications in a later filed application for patent under 35 U.S.C. 111(a) or 363. The later filed application for patent under 35 U.S.C. 111(a) or 363 must be filed by an inventor or inventors named in the copending provisional application not later than 12 months after the date on which the provisional application was filed and must contain or be amended to contain a specific reference to the provisional application. The provisional application must disclose an invention which is claimed in the application for patent under 35 U.S.C. 111(a) or 363 in the manner provided by the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112. In addition, the provisional application must be pending on the filing date of the application for patent under 35 U.S.C. 111(a) or 363 and the filing fee set forth in subparagraph (A) or (C) of 35 U.S.C. 41(a)(1) must be paid.

Since 35 U.S.C. 154(a)(3), as contained in Public Law 103-465, excludes from the determination of the patent term any application on which priority is claimed under 35 U.S.C. 119, 365(a) or 365(b), the filing date of a provisional application is not considered in determining the term of any patent.

Section 119(e)(1) of title 35, United States Code, provides that if all of the conditions of 35 U.S.C. 119(e)(1) and (e)(2) are met, an application for patent filed under 35 U.S.C. 111(a) or 363 shall have the same effect as though filed on the date of the provisional application. Thus, the effective United States filing date of an application for patent filed under 35 U.S.C. 111(a), and entitled to benefits under 35 U.S.C. 119(e), is the filing date of the provisional application. Any patent granted on such an application, is prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as of the filing date of the provisional application.

Likewise, the effective United States filing date of a patent issued on an international application filed under 35 U.S.C. 363, and entitled to benefits under 35 U.S.C. 119(e), is the filing date of the provisional application, except for the purpose of applying that patent as prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). For that purpose only, 35 U.S.C. 102(e) defines the filing date of the international application as the date the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 371(c)(1), (c)(2) and (c)(4) were fulfilled.

Public Law 103-465 further includes transitional provisions for limited reexamination in certain applications pending for two (2) years or longer as of June 8, 1995, taking into account any reference to any earlier application under 35 U.S.C. 120, 121 or 365(c). The transitional provisions also permit examination of more than one independent and distinct invention in certain applications pending for three (3) years or longer as of June 8, 1995, taking into account any reference to any earlier application under 35 U.S.C. 120, 121 or 365(c). These transitional provisions are not applicable to any application which is filed after June 8, 1995, regardless of whether the application is a continuing application.

The amendments to title 35 relating to 20-year patent term, patent term extension, provisional applications and the transitional provisions are effective on the date which is six (6) months after the date of enactment, i.e., on June 8, 1995.

A Notice of Proposed Rulemaking was published in the Federal Register at 59 FR 63951 (December 12, 1994) and in the Patent and Trademark Office Official Gazette at 1170 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 377-390 (January 3, 1995).

Forty-nine written comments were received in response to the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking. A public hearing was held at 9:30 a.m. on February 16, 1995. Fourteen individuals offered oral comments at the hearing. The forty-nine written comments and a transcript of the hearing are available for public inspection in the Special Program Law Office, Office of the Deputy Assistant Commissioner for Patent Policy and Projects, Room 520, Crystal Park I, 2011 Crystal Drive, Arlington, Virginia, and are available on the Internet through anonymous file transfer protocol (ftp), address: ftp.uspto.gov.

The following includes a discussion of the rules being added or amended, the reasons for those additions and amendments and an analysis of the comments received in response to the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

Changes in text: The final rules contain numerous changes to the text of the rules as proposed for comment. Those changes are discussed below. Familiarity with the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking is assumed.

Section 1.9(a)(1) is being changed for clarity to define a national application as a U.S. application for patent which was either filed in the Office under 35 U.S.C. 111, or which entered the national stage from an international application after compliance with 35 U.S.C. 371. Also, a new paragraph (a)(3) is being added to define the term "nonprovisional application" as a U.S. national application for patent which was either filed in the Office under 35 U.S.C. 111(a), or which entered the national stage from an international application after compliance with 35 U.S.C. 371.

The proposed deletion of § 1.60 is being withdrawn. Therefore, § 1.17(i) is being changed to retain the reference to § 1.60.

Section 1.17(q) is being changed to delete the fifty (50) percent reduction for small entities in the $50.00 fee established for filing a petition under § 1.48 in a provisional application and a petition to accord a provisional application a filing date or to convert an application filed under § 1.53(b)(1) to a provisional application.

Sections 1.17(r) and (s) are being changed to include a fifty (50) percent reduction for small entities in the fees established for entry of a submission after final rejection under § 1.129(a) and for each additional invention requested to be examined under § 1.129(b). In the final rule, the fee required by §§ 1.17(r) and 1.17(s) from a small entity is $365.00. The fee required from other than a small entity is $730.00.

The elimination of the small entity reduction in § 1.17(q) and the addition of the small entity reduction in §§ 1.17(r) and (s) are the result of additional review, which resulted in the conclusion that the fees established for the transitional procedures in §§ 1.129(a) and (b) may be reduced by fifty (50) percent for small entities. However, the petition fees required by § 1.17(q) are not subject to the fifty (50) percent reduction for small entities.

The proposed deletion of the retention fee practice set forth in former § 1.53(d), now redesignated § 1.53(d)(1), is being withdrawn. Therefore, § 1.21(l) is being retained and amended to refer to § 1.53(d)(1). Also, the proposed change in the text to § 1.17(n) is being withdrawn, since § 1.60 is being retained.

Section 1.28(a) is being changed to clarify the procedure for establishing status as a small entity in a nonprovisional application claiming benefit under 35 U.S.C. 119(e), 120, 121, or 365(c) of a prior application. In such cases, applicants may file a new verified statement or they may rely on a verified statement filed in the prior application, if status as a small entity is still proper and desired. If applicants intend to rely on a verified statement filed in the prior application, applicants must include in the nonprovisional application either a reference to the verified statement filed in the prior application or a copy of the verified statement filed in the prior application. A verified statement in compliance with existing § 1.27 is required to be filed in each provisional application in which it is desired to pay reduced fees.

Section 1.45(c), first sentence, is being changed for clarity to refer to a "nonprovisional" application.

Section 1.48 is being changed to include a new paragraph (e) setting forth the procedure for deleting the name of a person who was erroneously named as an inventor in a provisional application. The procedure requires an amendment deleting the name of the person who was erroneously named accompanied by: a petition including a statement of facts verified by the person whose name is being deleted establishing that the error occurred without deceptive intention; the fee set forth in § 1.17(q); and the written consent of any assignee. The first sentences of §§ 1.48(a)-(c) are also being changed for clarity to refer to a "nonprovisional" application.

Section 1.51(a)(2)(i) is being changed to require that the provisional application cover sheet include the residence of each named inventor and, if the invention was made by an agency of the U.S. Government or under a contract with an agency of the U.S. Government, the name of the U.S. Government agency and Government contract number. The residence of each named inventor is information which is necessary to identify those provisional applications which must be reviewed by the PTO for foreign filing licenses. If the invention disclosed in the provisional application was made by an agency of the U.S. Government or under a contract with an agency of the U.S. Government, the security review for that application should already have been done by that agency of the U.S. Government. Therefore, identification of those particular provisional applications on the cover sheet will reduce the number of applications which the PTO must forward to other agencies of the U.S. Government for security review.

Section 1.53(b)(1) is being changed to retain the reference to § 1.60.

Section 1.53(b)(2)(ii) is being changed to require that any petition and petition fee to convert a § 1.53(b)(1) application to a provisional application be filed in the § 1.53(b)(1) application prior to the earlier of the abandonment of the § 1.53(b)(1) application, the payment of the issue fee, the expiration of twelve (12) months after the filing date of the § 1.53(b)(1) application, or the filing of a request for a statutory invention registration under § 1.293. Where the § 1.53(b)(1) application was abandoned before the expiration of twelve (12) months after the filing date of the application, a petition to convert the application to a provisional application may be filed in the § 1.53(b)(1) application if the petition to convert is filed prior to the expiration of twelve (12) months after the filing date of the § 1.53(b)(1) application and is accompanied by an appropriate petition to revive an abandoned application under § 1.137.

Section 1.53(b)(2)(iii) is being changed to indicate that the requirements of §§ 1.821-1.825 regarding application disclosures containing nucleotide and/or amino acid sequences are not mandatory for provisional applications.

Section 1.53(d)(1) is being changed to retain the retention fee practice. The proposal to delete the retention fee practice set forth in § 1.53(d) is being withdrawn.

The first sentences of §§ 1.55(a) and (b) are being changed for clarity to refer to a "nonprovisional" application. Also, §§ 1.55(a) and (b) are being changed to clarify that the nonprovisional application may claim the benefit of one or more prior foreign applications or one or more applications for inventor's certificate.

Section 1.59 is being changed to retain the reference to the retention fee set forth in § 1.21(l) and to clarify that the retention fee practice applies only to applications filed under § 1.53(b)(1).

The proposal to delete § 1.60 is being withdrawn. Therefore, § 1.60 is being retained and amended to clarify in the title of the section and in paragraph (b)(1) that the procedure set forth in the section is only available for filing a continuation or divisional application if the prior application was a nonprovisional application and complete as set forth in § 1.51(a)(1). Also, paragraph (b)(4) is being amended to delete the requirement that the statement which must accompany the copy of the prior application include the language that "no amendments referred to in the oath or declaration filed to complete the prior application introduced new matter therein." The requirement is unnecessary because any amendment filed to complete the prior application would be considered a part of the original disclosure of the prior application and, by definition, could not contain new matter. Also, paragraph (b)(4) is being amended to refer to § 1.17(i).

Section 1.62(a) is being changed to refer to a prior complete "nonprovisional" application and to clarify that a continuing application may be filed under § 1.62 after payment of the issue fee if a petition under § 1.313(b)(5) is granted in the prior application. Section 1.62(a) is also being changed to clarify the existing practice that the request for a § 1.62 application must include identification of the inventors named in the prior application.

Section 1.63(a) is being changed for clarity to refer to an oath or declaration filed as a part of a "nonprovisional" application.

Section 1.67(b) is being changed for clarity to refer to a "nonprovisional" application.

Sections 1.78(a)(1) and (a)(2) are being changed to refer to a "nonprovisional" application and to clarify that the nonprovisional application may claim the benefit of one or more prior copending nonprovisional applications or international applications designating the United States of America. Section 1.78(a)(1)(ii) is being changed to retain the reference to § 1.60. Section 1.78(a)(1)(iii) is being retained and amended to refer to §§ 1.53(b)(1) and 1.53(d)(1).

Sections 1.78(a)(3) and (a)(4) are being changed to refer to a "nonprovisional" application and to clarify that the nonprovisional application may claim the benefit of one or more prior copending provisional applications.

Section 1.78(a)(3) is also being changed to remind applicants and practitioners that when the last day of pendency of a provisional application falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or Federal holiday within the District of Columbia, any nonprovisional application claiming benefit of the provisional application must be filed prior to the Saturday, Sunday, or Federal holiday within the District of Columbia. Section 111(b)(5) of title 35, United States Code, states that a provisional application is abandoned twelve months after its filing date. Sections 119(e)(1) and (e)(2) of title 35, United States Code, require that a nonprovisional application claiming benefit of a prior provisional application be filed not later than twelve months after the date on which the provisional application was filed and that the provisional application be pending on the filing date of the nonprovisional application. Under §§ 1.6 and 1.10, no filing dates are accorded to applications on a Saturday, Sunday, or Federal holiday within the District of Columbia. Thus, if a provisional application is abandoned by operation of 35 U.S.C. 111(b)(5) on a Saturday, Sunday, or Federal holiday within the District of Columbia, a nonprovisional application claiming benefit of the provisional application under 35 U.S.C. 119(e) must be filed no later than the preceding day which is not a Saturday, Sunday, or Federal holiday within the District of Columbia.

Section 1.78(a)(4) is also being changed to delete the requirement that the reference in the nonprovisional application to the provisional application indicate the relationship of the applications. As a result of the change, § 1.78(a)(4) provides that a nonprovisional application claiming benefit of one or more provisional applications must contain a reference to each provisional application, identifying it as a provisional application and including the provisional application number (consisting of series code and serial number). However, the section does not require the nonprovisional application to identify the nonprovisional application as a continuation, divisional or continuation-in-part application of the provisional application.

Section 1.83(a) is being changed to delete the proposed redesignation of paragraph (a) and to delete proposed paragraph (a)(2). Also, §§ 1.83(a) and (c) are being changed for clarity to refer to a "nonprovisional" application. Further, § 1.83(c) is being changed to remove the reference to paragraph (a)(1).

Section 1.101 is being changed for clarity to refer to a "nonprovisional" application.

Sections 1.129(a) and (b) are being changed to identify the effective date of 35 U.S.C. 154(a)(2) as June 8, 1995.

Further, § 1.129(a) is being changed to provide that the first and second submissions and fees set forth in § 1.17(r) must be filed prior to the filing of an Appeal Brief, rather than prior to the filing of the Notice of Appeal, and prior to abandonment of the application. The requirement that the fee set forth in § 1.17(r) be filed within one month of the notice refusing entry is being deleted. Section 1.129(a) is also being changed to provide that the finality of the final rejection is automatically withdrawn upon the timely filing of the submission and payment of the fee set forth in § 1.17(r). The language indicating that the submission would be entered and considered after timely payment of the fee set forth in § 1.17(r) "to the extent that it would have been entered and considered if made prior to final rejection" is being deleted. In view of the magnitude of the fee set forth in § 1.17(r), the next PTO action following timely payment of the fee set forth in § 1.17(r) will be equivalent to a first action in a continuing application. Under existing PTO practice, it would not be proper to make final a first Office action in a continuing application where the continuing application contains material which was presented in the earlier application after final rejection or closing of prosecution but was denied entry because (1) new issues were raised that required further consideration and/or search, or (2) the issue of new matter was raised. The identical procedure will apply to examination of a submission considered as a result of the procedure under § 1.129(a). Thus, under § 1.129(a), if the first submission after final rejection was initially denied entry in the application because (1) new issues were raised that required further consideration and/or search, or (2) the issue of new matter was raised, then the next action in the application will not be made final. Likewise, if the second submission after final rejection was initially denied entry in the application because (1) new issues were raised that required further consideration and/or search, or (2) the issue of new matter was raised, then the next action in the application will not be made final. In view of 35 U.S.C. 132, no amendment considered as a result of the payment of the fee set forth in § 1.17(r) may introduce new matter into the disclosure of the application.

Section 1.129(b)(1) is being changed to identify the date which is two months prior to the effective date of 35 U.S.C. 154(a)(2) as April 8, 1995. Section 1.129(b)(1) is also being changed to clarify in subsection (ii) that the examiner has not made a requirement for restriction in the present or parent application prior to April 8, 1995, due to actions by the applicant.

Section 1.129(b)(2) is being changed to delete the identification of the period provided for applicants to respond to a notification under § 1.129(b) as one month. The time period for response will be identified in any written notification under § 1.129(b) and will usually be one month, but in no case will it be less than thirty days. The period may be extended under § 1.136(a). The language is also being changed to provide that applicant may respond to the notification by (i) electing the invention or inventions to be searched and examined, if no election has been made prior to the notice, and paying the fee set forth in § 1.17(s) for each independent and distinct invention claimed in the application in excess of one which applicant elects, (ii) confirming an election made prior to the notice and paying the fee set forth in § 1.17(s) for each independent and distinct invention claimed in the application in addition to the one invention which applicant previously elected, or (iii) filing a petition under § 1.129(b)(2) traversing the requirement without regard to whether the requirement has been made final. No petition fee is required. The section is also being changed to provide that if the petition under § 1.129(b)(2) is filed in a timely manner, the original time period for electing and paying the fee set forth in § 1.17(s) will be deferred and any decision on the petition affirming or modifying the requirement will set a new time period to elect the invention or inventions to be searched and examined and to pay the fee set forth in § 1.17(s) for each independent and distinct invention claimed in the application in excess of one which applicant elects.

Section 1.129(c) is being changed to clarify that the provisions of §§ 1.129(a) and (b) are not applicable to any application filed after June 8, 1995. However, any application filed on June 8, 1995 would be subject to a 20-year patent term.

Section 1.137 is being amended by revising paragraph (c) to eliminate, in all applications filed on or after June 8, 1995, except design applications, the requirement that a terminal disclaimer accompany any petition under § 1.137(a) not filed within six (6) months of the date of the abandonment of the application. The language "filed before June 8, 1995" and "filed on or after June 8, 1995" as used in the amended rule, refer to the actual United States filing date, without reference to any claim for benefit under 35 U.S.C. 120, 121 or 365. No change to § 1.137 was proposed in the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking. However, in all applications filed on or after June 8, 1995, except design applications, any delay in filing a petition under § 1.137(a) will automatically result in the loss of patent term. The loss of patent term will be the incentive for applicants to promptly file any petition to revive. Therefore, no need is seen for requiring a terminal disclaimer in such applications. It would amount to a penalty if a terminal disclaimer was required.

Section 1.316 is being amended by revising paragraph (d) to eliminate, in all applications filed on or after June 8, 1995, except design applications, the requirement that a terminal disclaimer accompany any petition under § 1.316(b) not filed within six (6) months of the date of the abandonment of the application. Acceptance of a late payment of an issue fee in a design application is specifically provided for in § 1.155. Therefore, § 1.316 does not apply to design applications. The language "filed before June 8, 1995" as used in the amended rule, refers to the actual United States filing date, without reference to any claim for benefit under 35 U.S.C. 120, 121 or 365. No change to § 1.316 was proposed in the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking. However, in all applications filed on or after June 8, 1995, except design applications, any delay in filing a petition under § 1.316(b) will automatically result in the loss of patent term. The loss of patent term will be the incentive for applicants to promptly file any petition under § 1.316(b). Therefore, no need is seen for requiring a terminal disclaimer in such applications. It would amount to a penalty if a terminal disclaimer was required.

Section 1.317 is being amended by removing and reserving paragraph (d) to eliminate the requirement that a terminal disclaimer accompany any petition under § 1.317(b) not filed within six (6) months of the date of lapse of the patent. No change to § 1.317 was proposed in the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking. However, the delay in filing a petition under § 1.317(b) does not result in any gain of patent term. Therefore, no reason is seen for requiring a terminal disclaimer in such cases.

Section 1.701(a) is being changed to identify the implementation date as June 8, 1995, and to clarify that a proceeding under 35 U.S.C. 135(a) is an interference proceeding.

Section 1.701(b) is being changed to provide that the term of a patent entitled to an extension under § 1.701 shall be extended for the sum of the periods of delay calculated under paragraphs (c)(1), (c)(2), (c)(3) and (d) of § 1.701 and the extension will run from the expiration date of the patent. The reference to a terminal disclaimer is being deleted to be consistent with § 1.701(a)(3) and to avoid any confusion.

Section 1.701(c)(1)(i) is being changed for clarity by deleting the phrase "if any" after the first occurrence of "interference" and by inserting the same phrase after the phrase "the number of days."

Section 1.701(c)(1)(ii) is being changed to clarify that the period referred to ends on the "date of the termination of the suspension" rather than on the date of the next PTO communication reopening prosecution.

Section 1.701(d)(1) is being amended to clarify that the "time" referred to is time "during the period of appellate review".

Section 1.701(d)(2) is being amended to clarify that the Commissioner, under the broad discretion granted by 35 U.S.C. 154(b)(3)(C), has decided to limit consideration of applicant's due diligence only to acts occurring during the period of appellate review. The supplementary information published in the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking contained examples of what might be considered a lack of due diligence for purposes of § 1.701(d)(2) as proposed. Specifically, the supplementary information identified requests for extensions of time to respond to Office communications, submission of a response which is not fully responsive to an Office communication, and filing of informal applications as examples. In view of the comments received and the language adopted in the final rules, those examples are withdrawn. Acts which the Commissioner considers to constitute prima facie evidence of lack of due diligence under § 1.701(d)(2) are suspensions at applicant's request under § 1.103(a) during the period of appellate review and abandonments during the period of appellate review.

Discussion of Specific Rules

Title 37 of the Code of Federal Regulations, Parts 1 and 3, are being amended as indicated below:

Section 1.1 is being amended to add a paragraph (i) to provide a special "Box Provisional Patent Application" address to assist the Mail Room in separating and processing provisional applications and mail relating thereto.

Section 1.9 is being amended to redesignate paragraph (a) as paragraph (a)(1) and to define a national application as a U.S. application for patent which was either filed in the Office under 35 U.S.C. 111, or which entered the national stage from an international application after compliance with 35 U.S.C. 371. A new paragraph (a)(2) is being added to define the term "provisional application" as a U.S. national application filed under 35 U.S.C. 111(b). Also, a new paragraph (a)(3) is being added to define the term "nonprovisional application" as a U.S. national application for patent which was either filed in the Office under 35 U.S.C. 111(a), or which entered the national stage from an international application after compliance with 35 U.S.C. 371.

Sections 1.12 and 1.14 are being amended to replace the references to § 1.17(i)(1) with references to § 1.17(i).

Sections 1.16(a)-(e) and (g) are being amended to clarify that those sections do not apply to provisional applications. A complete provisional application does not require claims. However, provisional applications may be filed with one or more claims as part of the application. Nevertheless, no additional claim fee or multiple dependent claim fee will be required in a provisional application. Section 1.16(f) is being amended to insert the words "basic fee". Section 1.16(e) refers to "the basic filing fee". Current Office practice allows a design application to be filed without the design filing fee or the oath/declaration as set forth in § 1.53(d)(1). The change to § 1.16(f) is merely for clarification. In addition, § 1.16(a) is being amended to replace the word "cases" with the word "applications", since the word "applications" is used elsewhere in the rule.

Section 1.16 is also being amended to add a new paragraph (k) which lists the basic filing fee for a provisional application as $75.00 for a small entity (see §§ 1.9(c)-(f)) or $150.00 for other than a small entity as contained in Public Law 103-465. Since the filing fee for a provisional application is established by Public Law 103-465 as a 35 U.S.C. 41(a) fee, the filing fee for a provisional application will be subject to the fifty (50) percent reduction provided for in 35 U.S.C. 41(h).

Further, § 1.16 is being amended to add a new paragraph (l) which establishes the surcharge required by new § 1.53(d)(2) for filing the basic filing fee or the cover sheet required by new § 1.51(a)(2) for a provisional application at a time later than the provisional application filing date as $25.00 for a small entity or $50.00 for other than a small entity.

Section 1.17(h) is being amended to clarify that the $130.00 petition fee for filing a petition for correction of inventorship under § 1.48 applies to all patent applications, except provisional applications. Paragraph (i)(1) is being redesignated as paragraph (i) and paragraph (i)(2) is being removed. The fee for a petition under § 1.102 to make an application special has been placed in paragraph (i). The words "of this part", in § 1.17, paragraphs (h) and (i), are being deleted, since the paragraphs currently refer to sections in parts other than Part 1. Section 1.17(i) is also being amended to clarify that the fee set forth in paragraph (i) for filing a petition to accord a filing date under § 1.53 applies to all patent applications, except provisional applications.

A new § 1.17(q) is being added to establish a petition fee of $50.00 for filing a petition for correction of inventorship under § 1.48 in a provisional application and for filing a petition to accord a provisional application a filing date or to convert an application filed under § 1.53(b)(1) to a provisional application. The petition fee set forth in § 1.17(q) is not reduced for a small entity.

New §§ 1.17(r) and (s) are being added to establish the fees for entry of a submission after final rejection under § 1.129(a) and for each additional invention requested to be examined under § 1.129(b), respectively. These fees have been set at $365.00 for a small entity and $730.00 for other than a small entity.

Section 1.21(l) is being amended to refer to § 1.53(d)(1).

Section 1.28(a) is being amended to clarify the procedure for establishing status as a small entity in a nonprovisional application claiming benefit under 35 U.S.C. 119(e), 120, 121, or 365(c) of a prior application. In such cases, applicants may file a new verified statement or rely on a verified statement filed in the prior application, if status as a small entity is still proper and desired. If applicants intend to rely on a verified statement filed in the prior application, applicants must include in the nonprovisional application either a reference to the verified statement filed in the prior application or a copy of the verified statement filed in the prior application. Status as a small entity may be established in a provisional application by complying with existing § 1.27.

Section 1.45(c) is being amended to clarify that the first sentence applies to a "nonprovisional" application. Section 1.45(c) is also being amended to add a second sentence relating to joint inventors named in a provisional application. The second sentence states that each inventor named in a provisional application must have made a contribution to the subject matter disclosed in the provisional application. All that § 1.45(c), second sentence, requires is that if a person is named as an inventor in a provisional application, that person must have made a contribution to the subject matter disclosed in the provisional application.

Sections 1.48(a)-(c) are being amended to specify that the procedures for correcting an error in inventorship set forth in those sections apply to nonprovisional applications. New paragraph (d) is being added to establish a procedure for adding the name of an inventor in a provisional application, where the name was originally omitted without deceptive intent. Paragraph (d) does not require the verified statement of facts by the original inventor or inventors, the oath or declaration by each actual inventor in compliance with § 1.63 or the consent of any assignee as required in paragraph (a). Instead, the procedure requires the filing of a petition identifying the name or names of the inventors to be added and including a statement that the name or names of the inventors were omitted through error without deceptive intention on the part of the actual inventor(s). The statement would be required to be verified if made by a person not registered to practice before the PTO. The statement could be signed by a registered practitioner of record in the application or acting in a representative capacity under § 1.34(a). The $50.00 petition fee set forth in § 1.17(q) would also be required. New paragraph (e) is also being added setting forth the procedure for deleting the name of a person who was erroneously named as an inventor in a provisional application. The procedure requires an amendment deleting the name of the person who was erroneously named accompanied by: a petition including a statement of facts verified by the person whose name is being deleted establishing that the error occurred without deceptive intention; the fee set forth in § 1.17(q); and the written consent of any assignee.

Section 1.51 is being amended to redesignate § 1.51(a) as § 1.51(a)(1) and to include a new paragraph (a)(2) identifying the required parts of a complete provisional application. As set forth in § 1.51(a)(2), a complete provisional application includes a cover sheet, a specification as prescribed in 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, any necessary drawings and the provisional application filing fee. A suggested cover sheet format for a provisional application is included as an Appendix A to this Notice of Final Rulemaking and is available from the PTO free of charge to the public. However, the rule does not require the applicant to use the PTO suggested cover sheet. Any paper containing the information required in § 1.51(a)(2)(i) will be acceptable. The cover sheet is required to identify the paper as a provisional application and to provide the information which is necessary for the PTO to prepare the provisional application filing receipt. Also, the residence of each named inventor and, if the invention disclosed in the provisional application was made by an agency of the U.S. Government or under a contract with an agency of the U.S. Government, the name of the U.S. Government agency and Government contract number must be identified on the cover sheet.

Section 1.51(b) is being amended to indicate that an information disclosure statement is not required and may not be filed in a provisional application. Any information disclosure statements filed in a provisional application will either be returned or disposed of at the convenience of the Office. An information disclosure statement filed in a § 1.53(b)(1) application which has been converted to a provisional application will be retained in the application after the conversion, if the information disclosure statement was filed before the petition required by § 1.53(b)(2)(ii) was filed.

The title of § 1.53 and paragraph (a) are being amended to refer to application number, rather than application serial number. The term "application number" is found in current § 1.5(a).

Section 1.53(b) is being redesignated as § 1.53(b)(1) and is being amended to refer to § 1.17(i) rather than § 1.17(i)(1) to conform to the change therein.

A new § 1.53(b)(2) is being added to set forth the requirements for obtaining a filing date for a provisional application. Section 1.53(b)(2) states that a filing date will be accorded to a provisional application as of the date the specification as prescribed by 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, any necessary drawings, and the name of each inventor of the subject matter disclosed are filed in the PTO. The filing date requirements for a provisional application set forth in new paragraph (b)(2) parallel the existing requirements set forth in former paragraph (b), now redesignated paragraph (b)(1), except that no claim is required. In order to minimize the cost of processing provisional applications and to reduce the handling of provisional applications, amendments, other than those required to make the provisional application comply with applicable regulations, are not permitted after the filing date of the provisional application.

Section 1.53(b)(2)(i) is being added requiring all provisional applications to be filed with a cover sheet identifying the application as a provisional application. The section also indicates that the PTO will treat an application as having been filed under § 1.53(b)(1), unless the application is identified as a provisional application on filing. A provisional application, which is identified as such on filing, but which does not include all of the information required by § 1.51(a)(2)(i) would still be treated as a provisional application. However, the omitted information and a surcharge would be required to be submitted at a later date under new § 1.53(d)(2).

Section 1.53(b)(2)(ii) is being added to establish a procedure for converting an application filed under § 1.53(b)(1) to a provisional application. The section requires that a petition requesting the conversion and a petition fee be filed in the § 1.53(b)(1) application prior to the earlier of the abandonment of the § 1.53(b)(1) application, the payment of the issue fee, the expiration of twelve (12) months after the filing date of the § 1.53(b)(1) application, or the filing of a request for a statutory invention registration under § 1.293. The grant of any such petition would not entitle applicant to a refund of the fees properly paid in the application filed under § 1.53(b)(1).

Section 1.53(b)(2)(iii) is being added to call attention to the provisions of Public Law 103-465 which prohibit any provisional application from claiming a right of priority under 35 U.S.C. 119 or 365(a) or the benefit of an earlier filing date under 35 U.S.C. 120, 121 or 365(c) of any other application. The section also calls attention to the provisions of Public Law 103-465 which provide that no claim for benefit of an earlier filing date may be made in a design application based on a provisional application and that no request for a statutory invention registration may be filed in a provisional application. Section 1.53(b)(2)(iii) further specifies that the requirements of §§ 1.821-1.825 are not mandatory for provisional applications. However, applicants are reminded that an invention being claimed in an application filed under 35 U.S.C. 111(a) or 365 which claims benefit under 35 U.S.C. 119(e) of a provisional application must be disclosed in the provisional application in the manner provided by the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112. Voluntary compliance with the requirements of §§ 1.821-1.825 in the provisional application is recommended, in order to ensure that support for the invention claimed in the 35 U.S.C.111(a) application can be readily ascertained in the provisional application.

Section 1.53(c) is being amended to require that any request for review of a refusal to accord an application a filing date be made by way of a petition accompanied by the fee set forth in § 1.17(i), if the application was filed under § 1.53(b)(1), or by the fee set forth in § 1.17(q), if the application was filed under § 1.53(b)(2). This reflects the current practice set forth in the Manual of Patent Examining Procedure (MPEP), section 506.02 (Sixth Edition, Jan. 1995) with regard to any request for review of a refusal to accord a filing date for an application. The PTO will continue its current practice of refunding the petition fee, if the refusal to accord the requested filing date is found to have been a PTO error.

Section 1.53(d) is being redesignated as § 1.53(d)(1).

Section 1.53(d)(2) is being added to provide that a provisional application may be filed without the basic filing fee and without the complete cover sheet required by § 1.51(a)(2). In such a case, the applicant will be notified and given a period of time in which to file the missing fee, and/or cover sheet and to pay the surcharge set forth in § 1.16(l).

Section 1.53(e) is being redesignated as § 1.53(e)(1) and amended to refer to § 1.53(b)(1). Also, a new § 1.53(e)(2) is being added to indicate that a provisional application will not be given a substantive examination and will be abandoned no later than twelve (12) months after its filing date.

Sections 1.55(a) and (b) are being amended to clarify that the sections apply to nonprovisional applications and to clarify that a nonprovisional application may claim the benefit of one or more prior foreign applications or one or more applications for inventor's certificate. Also, § 1.55(a) is being amended to replace the reference to 35 U.S.C. 119 with a reference to 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d). In addition, the reference to § 1.17(i)(1) in § 1.55(a) is being replaced by a reference to § 1.17(i) to be consistent with the change to § 1.17. Section 1.55(b) is also being amended to refer to 35 U.S.C. 119(d) to conform to the paragraph designations contained in Public Law 103-465.

Section 1.59 is being amended to clarify that the retention fee practice set forth in § 1.53(d)(1) applies only to applications filed under § 1.53(b)(1).

Section 1.60 is being amended to clarify in the title of the section and in paragraph (b)(1) that the procedure set forth in the section is only available for filing a continuation or divisional application if the prior application was a nonprovisional application and complete as set forth in § 1.51(a)(1). Paragraph (b)(4) is being amended to delete the requirement that the statement which must accompany the copy of the prior application include the language that "no amendments referred to in the oath or declaration filed to complete the prior application introduced new matter therein." The requirement is unnecessary because any amendment filed to complete the prior application would be considered a part of the original disclosure of the prior application and, by definition, could not contain new matter. Also, paragraph (b)(4) is being amended to refer to § 1.17(i).

Section 1.62(a) is being amended to clarify that the procedure set forth in the section is only available for filing a continuation, continuation-in-part, or divisional application of a prior nonprovisional application which is complete as defined in § 1.51(a)(1). Section 1.62(a) is also being amended to clarify that a continuing application may be filed under § 1.62 after payment of the issue fee if a petition under § 1.313(b)(5) is granted in the prior application and that the request for a § 1.62 application must include identification of the inventors named in the prior application. The phrase "Serial number, filing date" in § 1.62(a) is being changed to "application number."

Section 1.62(e) is being amended to replace the reference to § 1.17(i)(1) with a reference to § 1.17(i) to be consistent with the change to § 1.17. Also, the term "application serial number" in § 1.62(e) is being changed to "application number."

Section 1.63(a) is being amended to replace the reference to § 1.51(a)(2) with a reference to § 1.51(a)(1)(ii) in order to conform with the changes in § 1.51 and to refer to an oath or declaration filed as a part of a nonprovisional application.

Section 1.67(b) is being amended to replace the reference to § 1.53(d) with a reference to § 1.53(d)(1) in order to conform with the changes in § 1.53. Furthermore, the references to §§ 1.53(b) and 1.118 are being deleted to make clear that the new matter exclusion applies to all applications including those filed under §§ 1.60 and 1.62.Also, the section is being amended to refer to a nonprovisional application.

Sections 1.78(a)(1) and (a)(2) are being amended to clarify that the sections apply to nonprovisional applications claiming the benefit of one or more copending nonprovisional applications or international applications designating the United States of America. Section 1.78(a)(1)(iii) is being amended to refer to §§ 1.53(b)(1) and 1.53(d)(1). Section 1.78(a)(2) is also being amended to eliminate the use of serial number and filing date as an identifier for a prior application. The section will require that the prior application be identified by application number (consisting of the series code and serial number) or international application number and international filing date.

Sections 1.78(a)(3) and (a)(4) are being added to set forth the conditions under which a nonprovisional application may claim the benefit of one or more prior copending provisional applications. The later filed nonprovisional application must be an application other than for a design patent and must be copending with each provisional application. There must be a common inventor named in the prior provisional application and the later filed nonprovisional application. Each prior provisional application must be complete as set forth in § 1.51(a)(2), or entitled to a filing date as set forth in § 1.53(b)(2) and include the basic filing fee. Section 1.78(a)(3) also includes the warning that when the last day of pendency of a provisional application falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or Federal holiday within the District of Columbia, any nonprovisional application claiming benefit of the provisional application must be filed prior to the Saturday, Sunday, or Federal holiday within the District of Columbia. A provisional application may be abandoned by operation of 35 U.S.C. 111(b)(5) on a Saturday, Sunday, or Federal holiday within the District of Columbia, in which case, a nonprovisional application claiming benefit of the provisional application under 35 U.S.C. 119(e) must be filed no later than the preceding day which is not a Saturday, Sunday, or Federal holiday within the District of Columbia.

Section 1.78(a)(4) is also being added to provide that a nonprovisional application claiming benefit of one or more provisional applications must contain a reference to each provisional application, identifying it as a provisional application and including the provisional application number (consisting of series code and serial number). The section does not require the nonprovisional application to identify the nonprovisional application as a continuation, divisional or continuation-in-part application of the provisional application.

Sections 1.83(a) and (c) are being amended to clarify that the sections apply to nonprovisional applications.

Section 1.97(d) is being amended to replace the reference to § 1.17(i)(1) with a reference to § 1.17(i) to be consistent with the change to § 1.17.

Section 1.101(a) is being amended to indicate that the section applies to nonprovisional applications.

Section 1.102(d) is being amended to replace the reference to § 1.17(i)(2) with a reference to § 1.17(i) to be consistent with the change to § 1.17.

Section 1.103(a) is amended to replace the reference to § 1.17(i)(1) with a reference to § 1.17(i) to be consistent with the change to § 1.17.

Section 1.129 is being added to set forth the procedure for implementing certain transitional provisions contained in Public Law 103-465. Section 1.129(a) provides for limited reexamination of applications pending for 2 years or longer as of June 8, 1995, taking into account any reference to any earlier application under 35 U.S.C. 120, 121 or 365(c). An applicant will be entitled to have a first submission entered and considered on the merits after final rejection if the submission and the fee set forth in § 1.17(r) are filed prior to the filing of an Appeal Brief and prior to abandonment of the application. Section 1.129(a) also provides that the finality of the final rejection is automatically withdrawn upon the timely filing of the submission and payment of the fee set forth in § 1.17(r). After submission and payment of the fee set forth in § 1.17(r), the next PTO action on the merits may be made final only under the conditions currently followed by the PTO for making a first action in a continuing application final. If a subsequent final rejection is made in the application, applicant would be entitled to have a second submission entered and considered on the merits under the same conditions set forth for consideration of the first submission. Section 1.129(a) defines the term "submission" as including, but not limited to, an information disclosure statement, an amendment to the written description, claims or drawings, and a new substantive argument or new evidence in support of patentability. For example, the submission may include an amendment, a new substantive argument and an information disclosure statement. In view of the fee set forth in § 1.17(r), any information disclosure statement previously refused consideration in the application because of applicant's failure to comply with § 1.97(c) or (d) or which is filed as part of either the first or second submission will be treated as though it had been filed within one of the time periods set forth in § 1.97(b) and will be considered without the petition and petition fee required in § 1.97(d), if it complies with the requirements of § 1.98. In view of 35 U.S.C. 132, no amendment considered as a result of the payment of the fee set forth in § 1.17(r) may introduce new matter into the disclosure of the application.

Section 1.129(b)(1) is being added to provide for examination of more than one independent and distinct invention in certain applications pending for 3 years or longer as of June 8, 1995, taking into account any reference to any earlier application under 35 U.S.C. 120, 121 or 365(c). Under § 1.129(b)(1), a requirement for restriction or for the filing of divisional applications would only be made or maintained in the application after June 8, 1995, if: (1) the requirement was made in the application or in an earlier application relied on under 35 U.S.C. 120, 121 or 365(c) prior to April 8, 1995; (2) the examiner has not made a requirement for restriction in the present or parent application prior to April 8, 1995, due to actions by the applicant; or (3) the required fee for examination of each additional invention was not paid. Under § 1.129(b)(2), if the application contains claims to more than one independent and distinct invention, and no requirement for restriction or for the filing of divisional applications can be made or maintained, applicant will be notified and given a time period to (i) elect the invention or inventions to be searched and examined, if no election has been made prior to the notice, and pay the fee set forth in § 1.17(s) for each independent and distinct invention claimed in the application in excess of one which applicant elects, (ii) in situations where an election was made in response to a requirement for restriction that cannot be maintained, confirm the election made prior to the notice and pay the fee set forth in § 1.17(s) for each independent and distinct invention claimed in the application in addition to the one invention which applicant previously elected, or (iii) file a petition under § 1.129(b)(2) traversing the requirement without regard to whether the requirement has been made final. No petition fee is required. Section 1.129(b)(2) also provides that if the petition is filed in a timely manner, the original time period for electing and paying the fee set forth in § 1.17(s) will be deferred and any decision on the petition affirming or modifying the requirement will set a new time period to elect the invention or inventions to be searched and examined and to pay the fee set forth in § 1.17(s) for each independent and distinct invention claimed in the application in excess of one which applicant elects. Under § 1.129(b)(3), each additional invention for which the required fee set forth in § 1.17(s) has not been paid will be withdrawn from consideration under § 1.142(b). An applicant who desires examination of an invention so withdrawn from consideration can file a divisional application under 35 U.S.C. 121.

Section 1.129(c) is being added to clarify that the provisions of §§ 1.129(a) and (b) are not applicable to any application filed after June 8, 1995. However, any application filed on June 8, 1995, would be subject to a 20-year patent term.

Section 1.137 is being amended by revising paragraph (c) to eliminate, in all applications filed on or after June 8, 1995, except design applications, the requirement that a terminal disclaimer accompany any petition under § 1.137(a) not filed within six (6) months of the date of the abandonment of the application. The language "filed before June 8, 1995" and "filed on or after June 8, 1995" as used in the amended rule, refer to the actual United States filing date, without reference to any claim for benefit under 35 U.S.C. 120, 121 or 365.

Section 1.139 is being added to set forth the procedure for reviving a provisional application where the delay was unavoidable or unintentional. Section 1.139(a) addresses the revival of a provisional application where the delay was unavoidable and § 1.139(b) addresses the revival of a provisional application where the delay was unintentional. Applicant may petition to have an abandoned provisional application revived as a pending provisional application for a period of no longer than twelve months from the filing date of the provisional application where the delay was unavoidable or unintentional. It would be permissible to file a petition for revival later than twelve months from the filing date of the provisional application but only to revive the application for the twelve-month period following the filing of the provisional application. Thus, even if the petition were granted to reestablish the pendency up to the end of the twelve-month period, the provisional application would not be considered pending after twelve months from its filing date. The requirements for reviving an abandoned provisional application set forth in § 1.139 parallel the existing requirements set forth in § 1.137.

Sections 1.177, 1.312(b), 1.313(a), and 1.314 are being amended to replace the references to § 1.17(i)(1) with references to § 1.17(i) to be consistent with the change to § 1.17.

Section 1.316(d) is being amended to eliminate, in all applications filed on or after June 8, 1995, except design applications, the requirement that a terminal disclaimer accompany any petition under § 1.316(b) not filed within six (6) months of the date of the abandonment of the application. Acceptance of a late payment of an issue fee in a design application is specifically provided for in § 1.155. Therefore, § 1.316 does not apply to design applications. The language "filed before June 8, 1995" as used in the amended rule, refers to the actual United States filing date, without reference to any claim for benefit under 35 U.S.C. 120, 121 or 365.

Section 1.317(d) is being removed and reserved to eliminate the requirement that a terminal disclaimer accompany any petition under § 1.317(b) not filed within six (6) months of the date of lapse of the patent.

Section 1.666 is being amended to replace the reference to § 1.17(i)(1) with a reference to § 1.17(i) to be consistent with the change to § 1.17.

Section 1.701 is being added to set forth the procedure the PTO will follow in calculating the length of any extension of patent term to which an applicant is entitled under 35 U.S.C. 154(b) where the issuance of a patent on an application, other than for designs, filed on or after June 8, 1995, was delayed due to certain causes of prosecution delay. Applicants need not file a request for the extension of patent term under § 1.701. The extension of patent term is automatic by operation of law. It is currently anticipated that applicant will be advised as to the length of any patent term extension at the time of receiving the Notice of Allowance and Issue Fee Due. Review of the length of a patent term extension calculated by the PTO under § 1.701 prior to the issuance of the patent would be by way of petition under § 1.181. If an error is noted after the patent issues, patentee and any third party may seek correction of the period of patent term granted by filing a request for Certificate of Correction pursuant to § 1.322. The PTO intends to identify the length of any patent term extension calculated under § 1.701 on the printed patent.

Section 1.701(a) is being added to identify those patents which are entitled to an extension of patent term under 35 U.S.C. 154(b).

Section 1.701(b) is being added to provide that the term of a patent entitled to extension under § 1.701(a) shall be extended for the sum of the periods of delay calculated under §§ 1.701(c)(1), (c)(2), (c)(3) and (d), to the extent that those periods are not overlapping, up to a maximum of five years. The section also provides that the extension will run from the expiration date of the patent.

Section 1.701(c)(1) is being added to set forth the method for calculating the period of delay where the delay was a result of an interference proceeding under 35 U.S.C. 135(a). The period of delay with respect to each interference in which the application was involved is calculated under § 1.701(c)(1)(i) to include the number of days in the period beginning on the date the interference was declared or redeclared to involve the application in the interference and ending on the date that the interference was terminated with respect to the application. An interference is considered terminated as of the date the time for filing an appeal under 35 U.S.C. 141 or civil action under 35 U.S.C. 146 expired. If an appeal under 35 U.S.C. 141 is taken to the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, the interference terminates on the date of receipt of the court's mandate by the PTO. If a civil action is filed under 35 U.S.C. 146, and the decision of the district court is not appealed, the interference terminates on the date the time for filing an appeal from the court's decision expires. See section 2361 of the MPEP. The period of delay with respect to an application suspended by the PTO due to interference proceedings under 35 U.S.C. 135(a) not involving the application is calculated under § 1.701(c)(1)(ii) to include the number of days in the period beginning on the date prosecution in the application is suspended due to interference proceedings not involving the application and ending on the date of the termination of the suspension. The period of delay under § 1.701(a)(1) is the sum of the periods calculated under §§ 1.701(c)(1)(i) and (c)(1)(ii), to the extent that the periods are not overlapping.

Section 1.701(c)(2) is being added to set forth the method for calculating the period of delay where the delay was a result of the application being placed under a secrecy order.

Section 1.701(c)(3) is being added to set forth the method for calculating the period of delay where the delay was a result of appellate review. The period of delay is calculated under § 1.701(c)(3) to include the number of days in the period beginning on the date on which an appeal to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences was filed under 35 U.S.C. 134 and ending on the date of a final decision in favor of the applicant by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences or by a Federal court in an appeal under 35 U.S.C. 141 or a civil action under 35 U.S.C. 145.

Section 1.701(d) is being added to set forth the method for calculating any reduction in the period calculated under § 1.701(c)(3). As required by 35 U.S.C. 154(b)(3)(B), § 1.701(d)(1) provides that the period of delay calculated under § 1.701(c)(3) shall be reduced by any time during the period of appellate review that occurred before three years from the filing date of the first national application for patent presented for examination. The "filing date" for the purpose of § 1.701(d)(1) would be the earliest effective U.S. filing date, but not including the filing date of a provisional application or the international filing date of a PCT application. For PCT applications entering the national stage, the PTO will consider the "filing date" for the purpose of § 1.701(d)(1) to be the date on which applicant has complied with the requirements of § 1.494(b), or § 1.495(b), if applicable.

As contained in Public Law 103-465, 35 U.S.C. 154(b)(3)(C) states that the period of extension referred to in 35 U.S.C. 154(b)(2) "shall be reduced for the period of time during which the applicant for patent did not act with due diligence, as determined by the Commissioner." Section 1.701(d)(2) is being added to provide that the period of delay calculated under § 1.701(c)(3) shall be reduced by any time during the period of appellate review, as determined by the Commissioner, during which the applicant for patent did not act with due diligence. Section 1.701(d)(2) also provides that in determining the due diligence of an applicant, the Commissioner may examine the facts and circumstances of the applicant's actions during the period of appellate review to determine whether the applicant exhibited that degree of timeliness as may reasonably be expected from, and which is ordinarily exercised by, a person during a period of appellate review. Acts which the Commissioner considers to constitute prima facie evidence of lack of due diligence under § 1.701(d)(2) are suspension at applicant's request under § 1.103(a) during the period of appellate review and abandonment during the period of appellate review.

Section 3.21 is being amended to provide that an assignment relating to a national patent application must identify the national patent application by the application number (consisting of the series code and the serial number, e.g., 07/123,456) and to eliminate the use of serial number and filing date as an identifier for national patent applications in assignment documents. This change is intended to eliminate any confusion as to whether an application identified by its serial number and filing date in an assignment document is an application filed under § 1.53(b)(1), 1.60 or 1.62 or a design application or a provisional application since there is a different series code assigned to each of these types of applications.

Section 3.21 is also being amended to provide that if an assignment of a patent application filed under § 1.53(b)(1) or § 1.62 is executed concurrently with, or subsequent to, the execution of the patent application, but before the patent application is filed, it must identify the patent application by its date of execution, name of each inventor, and title of the invention so that there can be no mistake as to the patent application intended.

Further, § 3.21 is being amended to provide that if an assignment of a provisional application is executed before the provisional application is filed, it must identify the provisional application by name of each inventor and title of the invention so that there can be no mistake as to the provisional application intended.

Section 3.81 is being amended to replace the reference to § 1.17(i)(1) with a reference to § 1.17(i) to be consistent with the change to § 1.17.

Responses to and Analysis of Comments: Forty-nine written comments were received in response to the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking. These comments, along with those made at the public hearing, have been analyzed. Some suggestions made in the comments have been adopted and others have not been adopted. Responses to the comments follow:

General Comments

1. Comment: One comment questioned the use of the word "proposed" in the notice of proposed rulemaking in describing the statutory amendments contained in Public Law 103-465.
Response: The statutory changes contained in Public Law 103-465 were described as "proposed" changes in the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking because the President had not signed the legislation at the time the notice was prepared for publication. In fact, the legislation was signed by the President on December 8, 1994, which is the date of enactment.
2. Comment: Several comments urged the PTO to favorably consider the 17/20 patent term specified in H.R. 359 since this proposed legislation would overcome the existing impact of extended PTO prosecution and eliminate patent term extensions for prosecution delays. Furthermore, the proposed legislation is consistent with the Uruguay Round Agreements Act, Public Law 103-465.
Response: The administration and the PTO strongly believe that the 20-year patent term as enacted in Public Law 103-465 is the appropriate way to implement the 20-year patent term required by the GATT Uruguay Round Agreements Act. The PTO will take steps to ensure that processing and examination of applications are handled expeditiously.
3. Comment: One comment stated that the proposed rules are premature in view of the Rohrabacher bill, H.R. 359.
Response: The proposed rules are not premature. Public Law 103-465 was signed into law on December 8, 1994, with an effective date of June 8, 1995, for the implementation of the 20-year patent term and provisional applications. The Commissioner must promulgate regulations to implement the changes required by Public Law 103-465.
4. Comment: One comment stated that there is nothing in the TRIPs agreement that requires the term to be measured from filing, nor that provisional applications be provided for, nor that new fees of $730 as set forth in §§ 1.17(r) and (s) be established. It is suggested that 35 U.S.C. 154 be amended to provide that "every patent (other than a design patent) shall be granted a term of twenty years from the patent issue date, subject to the payment of maintenance fees." It was also suggested that the section regarding maintenance fees be amended to add a new fee payable at 16.5 years of $5000 (for large entity)/$2500 (for small entity) for maintenance of patent between 17 and 20 years.
Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. The administration and the PTO strongly believe that the 20-year patent term as enacted in Public Law 103-465 is the appropriate way to implement the 20-year patent term required by the GATT Uruguay Round Agreements Act. The establishment of a provisional application is not required by GATT. The provisional application has been adopted as a mechanism to provide easy and inexpensive entry into the patent system. The filing of provisional applications is optional. Provisional applications will place domestic applicants on an equal footing with foreign applicants as far as the measurement of term is concerned because the domestic priority period, like the foreign priority period, is not counted in determining the endpoint of the patent term. As to the §§ 1.17(r) and (s) fees, the statute authorizes the Commissioner to establish appropriate fees for further limited reexamination of applications and for examination of more than one independent and distinct inventions in an application.
5. Comment: One comment suggested that the 20-year patent term of claims drawn to new matter in continuation-in-part (CIP) applications be measured from the filing date of the CIP application, irrespective of any reference to a parent application under 35 U.S.C. 120.
Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. The term of a patent is not based on a claim-by-claim approach. Under 35 U.S.C. 154(a)(2), if an application claims the benefit of the filing date of an earlier filed application under 35 U.S.C. 120, 121 or 365(a), the 20-year term of that application will be based upon the filing date of the earliest U.S. application that the application makes reference to under 35 U.S.C. 120, 121 or 365(a). For a CIP application, applicant should review whether any claim in the patent that will issue is supported in an earlier application. If not, applicant should consider canceling the reference to the earlier filed application.
6. Comment: One comment objected to the 20-year term provisions of Public Law 103-465 because it was believed that payment of maintenance fees would be required earlier under 20-year term than under 17-year term.
Response: The payment of maintenance fees are not due earlier under 20-year term than under 17-year term. Maintenance fees continue to be due at 3.5, 7.5 and 11.5 years from the issue date of the patent.
7. Comment: Several comments suggested that the expiration date be printed on the face of the patent.
Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. The expiration date will not be printed on the face of the patent. The PTO will publish any patent term extension that is granted as a result of administrative delay pursuant to § 1.701 on the face of the patent. The term of a patent will be readily discernible from the face of the patent. Furthermore, it is noted that the term of a patent is dependent on the timely payment of maintenance fees which is not printed on the face of the patent.
8. Comment: One comment suggested that in order to aid the bar in advising clients as to whether a provisional application has had its priority claimed in a patent, the PTO should somehow link the provisional application number with the complete application number and/or the patent number.
Response: It is contemplated by the PTO that all provisional applications will be given application numbers, starting with a series code "60" followed by a six digit number, e.g., "60/123,456." If a subsequent 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application claims the benefit of the filing date of the provisional application pursuant to 35 U.S.C. 119(e) and the 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application results in a patent, the provisional application would be listed by its application number and filing date on the face of the patent under the heading "Related U.S. Application Data." The public will be able to identify an application under the above-noted heading as a provisional application by checking to see if it has a series code of "60."

9. Comment: Several comments suggested that the PTO consider modifying the rules to permit the filing of all applications by assignees. This would promote harmonization with other patent laws throughout the world and would eliminate one of the difficulties which will occur for the PTO in considering claims for priority based on the filing of a provisional application.
Response: Assignee filing was recommended in the 1992 Advisory Commission Report on Patent Law Reform. The PTO is currently undertaking a project to reengineer the entire patent process. The suggestion will be taken under advisement in that project.
10. Comment: Several comments stated that a complete provisional application should not be forwarded to a central repository for storage.
Response: In view of the relatively small filing fee for a provisional application and the fact that the provisional application will not be examined, PTO handling must be kept to a minimum and these provisional applications, once complete, will be sent to the Files Repository for storage rather than being kept in the examination area of the PTO.
11. Comment: One comment suggested that the provisional application be maintained with the 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application because the examiner may need it to determine whether the 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application is entitled to the benefit of the prior provisional application and in the event of 18-month publication, there will be a demand for accessibility by the public to the provisional and 35 U.S.C. 111(a) applications upon publication.
Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. Benefit of the same provisional application may be claimed in a number of 35 U.S.C. 111(a) applications. If the PTO is to maintain the provisional application file with one of several 35 U.S.C. 111(a) applications claiming benefit of the provisional application and the 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application containing the provisional application file were to go abandoned while one of the other 35 U.S.C. 111(a) applications issues, the public would be entitled to inspect the provisional application file but not the abandoned 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application file containing the provisional application file. This would create access problems.
12. Comment: One comment suggested that provisional applications be available in full to the public if the benefit of priority is being claimed.
Response: Section 1.14 relating to access applies to all applications including provisional applications. If the benefit of a provisional application is claimed in a later filed 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application which resulted in a patent, then access to the provisional application will be available to the public pursuant to § 1.14. The mere fact that a provisional application is claimed in a later filed 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application does not give the public access to the provisional application unless the 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application issues as a patent.
13. Comment: Several comments requested that the PTO clarify whether a 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application will be accorded an effective date as a reference under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as of the filing date of the provisional application for which benefit under 35 U.S.C. 119(e) is claimed. If so, the comment questioned whether pending applications will be rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) on the basis that an invention was described in a patent granted on a provisional application by another filed in the U.S. before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.
Response: If a patent is granted on a 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application claiming the benefit of the filing date of a provisional application, the filing date of the provisional application will be the 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior art date. A pending application will be rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) on the basis that an invention was described in a patent granted on a 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application which claimed the benefit of the filing date of a provisional application by another filed in the U.S. before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.
14. Comment: One comment suggested that the PTO issue a final rule stating that if a 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application claims the benefit of the filing date of a provisional application, the "inventive entity" for the purposes of 35 U.S.C. 102(e) will be the inventors listed on the issued patent, and the list of inventors in the provisional application shall have no effect on the identity of an "inventive entity" for the purposes of 35 U.S.C. 102(e).
Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. The "inventive entity" for the purpose of 35 U.S.C. 102(e) is determined by the patent and not by the inventors named in the provisional application. As long as the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 119(e) are satisfied, a patent granted on a 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application which claimed the benefit of the filing date of a provisional application has a 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior art effect as of the filing date of the provisional application based on the inventive entity of the patent. It is clear from 35 U.S.C. 102(e) that the inventive entity is determined by the patent and a rule to this effect is not necessary.
15. Comment: One comment requested the PTO to express its position as to whether the filing of a provisional application with the subsequent filing of a 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application claiming benefit of the provisional application under 35 U.S.C. 119(e) creates a prior art date against other patent applicants under 35 U.S.C. 102(g).
Response: As to 35 U.S.C. 102(g), the filing of a provisional application with the subsequent filing of a 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application claiming benefit of the provisional application under 35 U.S.C. 119(e) creates a prior art date under 35 U.S.C. 102(g) as of the filing date of the provisional application.
16. Comment: One comment suggested that in view of the 20-year patent term measured from filing, § 1.103(a) should be deleted. The PTO should not have the right to suspend action on any application, thereby reducing applicant's term of protection.
Response: Section 1.103(a) refers to suspension of action as a result of a request by applicant. If applicant wishes to suspend prosecution and thereby reduce his/her term of protection, applicant should be permitted to do so.
17. Comment: One comment suggested that in order to avoid delays resulting from consideration of petitions to withdraw premature notices of abandonment, examiners should be required to contact an attorney of record prior to abandoning the application to find out if a response to an Office communication has been filed.
Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. However, in order to avoid loss of patent term, applicants are encouraged to check on the status in cases where applicants have not received a return postcard from the PTO within two (2) weeks of the filing of any response to a PTO action.
18. Comment: One comment asked whether there is a "cut-off" date after which patentees may lose the opportunity to choose 17 vs. 20-year patent term.
Response: The "cut-off" date is June 8, 1995. A patent that is in force on June 8, 1995, or a patent that issues after June 8, 1995, on an application filed before June 8, 1995, is automatically entitled to the longer of the 20-year patent term measured from the earliest U.S. effective filing date or 17 years from grant. This is automatic by operation of law. Patentees need not make any election to be entitled to the longer term. A patent that issues on an application filed on or after June 8, 1995 is entitled to a 20-year patent term measured from the earliest U.S. effective filing date.
19. Comment: One comment stated that there is no clear guidance as to a patentee's "bonus rights" that may arise because of the difference in a 17-year term vs. a 20-year term. Will parties that were previously in a licensing arrangement have to renegotiate terms for the bonus patent term?
Response: Section 154(c) of title 35, United States Code, states that the remedies of sections 283 (injunction), 284 (damages) and 285 (attorney fees) shall not apply to acts which were commenced or for which substantial investment was made before June 8, 1995, and became infringing by reason of the 17/20 year term and that these acts may be continued only upon the payment of an equitable remuneration to the patentee that is determined in an action brought under chapters 28 and 29 of Title 35. There is no guidance provided in the statute as to the meaning of "substantial investment" and "equitable remuneration." Licensing arrangements are between the parties to the agreement and are determined by the terms of the agreement and state law and are outside the jurisdiction of the PTO.
20. Comment: One comment questioned whether an international application designating the U.S. filed before June 8, 1995, with entry into the U.S. national stage on or after June 8, 1995, preserves the 17-year patent term measured from grant.
Response: An international application designating the U.S. that is filed before June 8, 1995, with entry into the U.S. national stage under 35 U.S.C. 371 on or after June 8, 1995, preserves the option for a 17-year patent term measured from date of grant.

21. Comment: One comment suggested that 35 U.S.C. 371(c) be amended because a declaration should not be required to obtain a filing date and a prior art date under 35 U.S.C. 102(e).

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. This issue was not addressed in the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking. However, the suggestion will be taken under advisement as part of a comprehensive effort being conducted by the PTO to reengineer the entire patent process.

22. Comment: One comment suggested that §§ 1.604, 1.605 and 1.607 be amended to state that provisional applications are not subject to interference.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted because it is unnecessary. By statute, 35 U.S.C. 111(b)(8), provisional applications are not subject to 35 U.S.C. 135, i.e., a provisional application will not be placed in interference.

23. Comment: One comment suggested that §§ 1.821-1.825 be amended so that (1) only unbranched sequences of ten or more amino acids and twenty or more nucleotides which are claimed have to be included in Sequence Listings, (2) previously published sequences can be omitted, and (3) the sequences of primers and oligonucleotide probes should not be included in a Sequence Listing if encompassed by another disclosed sequence.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. There was no change proposed to §§ 1.821-1.825 in the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking. However, the suggestion will be taken under advisement as part of a comprehensive effort being conducted by the PTO to reengineer the entire patent process.

24. Comment: One comment suggested that §§ 5.11 to 5.15 be amended to provide for the grant of a foreign license for a provisional application.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. The present language of §§ 5.11 to 5.15 already provides for the grant of a foreign license for a provisional application.

25. Comment: One comment suggested that in order to assist defense agencies in reviewing application for secrecy orders, PTO should (1) automatically impose a secrecy order on any application filed under 35 U.S.C. 111(a) if a secrecy order was previously imposed on corresponding provisional application, and (2) require applications filed under 35 U.S.C. 111(a) based on a previous provisional application to indicate changes made to the provisional application in the 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application by means of underlining and bracketing.

Response: The suggestions have not been adopted. The PTO cannot automatically impose a secrecy order on any 35 U.S.C. 111(a) applications even if a secrecy order was previously imposed on a provisional application, for which benefit under 35 U.S.C. 119(e) is claimed, unless the agency which imposed the secrecy order on the provisional application specifically requests the PTO to do so since the 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application could disclose subject matter which is different from that which is disclosed in the provisional application.

As to item (2), the PTO will not require applicants to identify the differences in subject matter disclosed in the 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application and the provisional application.

26. Comment: One comment suggested that in order to relieve defense agencies from possible liability for secrecy orders imposed for more than 5 years, the PTO should seek legislation setting patent term at 20 years from the earliest filing date or 17 years from the issue date, whichever is longer, for any patent application placed under secrecy order.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. The PTO strongly believes that the 20-year patent term as enacted in Public Law 103-465 is the appropriate way to implement the 20-year patent term required by the GATT Uruguay Round Agreements Act. The 5-year limit for patent term extension set forth in § 1.701(b) is required by statute, 35 U.S.C. 154(b).

Comments Directed To Specific Rules

27. Comment: One comment suggested that in order to eliminate the need for the expression "other than a provisional application" in other parts of the regulations, § 1.9 should be amended to identify a 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application by some term that can be used in the rules to distinguish that type of application from a provisional application.

Response: The suggestion has been adopted. The rules are being amended to include a definition of the term "nonprovisional application" in § 1.9(a) to describe an application filed under 35 U.S.C. 111(a) or 371. Further, the term "nonprovisional application" is being used in the final rules where the rule applies only to applications filed under 35 U.S.C. 111(a) or 371 and not to provisional applications.

28. Comment: One comment suggested that the rules be simplified if a "national application" could be defined in § 1.9 to exclude a provisional application.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. Section 1.9(a), prior to this rulemaking, defined a national application to include any application filed under 35 U.S.C. 111. A provisional application is an application filed under 35 U.S.C. 111. It is appropriate to define a provisional application as a special type of national application.

29. Comment: One comment requested an explanation of the showing required in a petition under §§ 1.12 and 1.14 for access to pending applications and to assignment records for pending applications.

Response: There was no substantive change proposed to either § 1.12 or 1.14 in the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking. Thus, the showing required in a petition under § 1.12 or 1.14 remains the same after this final rulemaking as before. A discussion of such a petition can be found in section 103 of the MPEP.

30. Comment: Several comments objected to the definition in § 1.45(c) of joint inventors in provisional applications as being those having made a contribution to "the subject matter disclosed" in the provisional application. Various language, such as, "the subject matter which constitutes the invention," "subject matter disclosed and regarded to be the invention," "disclosed invention," "the inventive subject matter disclosed" was suggested. Another comment requested guidance as to the determination of inventorship in a provisional application.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. The term "invention" is typically used to refer to subject matter which applicant is claiming in his/her application. Since claims are not required in a provisional application, it would not be appropriate to reference joint inventors as those who have made a contribution to the "invention" disclosed in the provisional application. If the "invention" has not been determined in the provisional application because no claims have been presented, then the name(s) of those person(s) who have made a contribution to the subject matter disclosed in the provisional application should be submitted. Section 1.45(c) states that "if multiple inventors are named in a provisional application, each named inventor must have made a contribution, individually or jointly, to the subject matter disclosed in the provisional application." All that § 1.45(c) requires is that if someone is named as an inventor, that person must have made a contribution to the subject matter disclosed in the provisional application. When applicant has determined what the invention is by the filing of the 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application, that is the time when the correct inventors must be named. The 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application must have an inventor in common with the provisional application in order for the 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application to be entitled to claim the benefit of the provisional application under 35 U.S.C. 119(e).

31. Comment: Several comments suggested that it might be desirable to correct inventorship in a provisional application where an individual was erroneously named as an inventor and that the procedure for doing so should be set forth in § 1.48.

Response: Under 35 U.S.C. 119(e), as contained in Public Law 103-465, a later filed application under 35 U.S.C. 111(a) may claim priority benefits based on a copending provisional application so long as the applications have at least one inventor in common. An error in naming a person as an inventor in a provisional application would not require correction by deleting the erroneously named inventor from the provisional application since this would have no effect upon the ability of the provisional application to serve as a basis for a priority claim under 35 U.S.C. 119(e). However, in response to the comments, § 1.48 is being amended to include a new paragraph (e) which sets forth the requirements for deleting the names of the inventors incorrectly named as joint inventors in a provisional application, namely, a petition including a verified statement by the inventor(s) whose name(s) are being deleted stating that the error arose without deceptive intent, the fee set forth in § 1.17(q) and the written consent of all assignees.

32. Comment: One comment suggested that in order to make the procedures for provisional applications as simple as possible, there is no need to provide any rules to add inventor(s) or change inventorship in a provisional application since the whole concept of inventorship is meaningless without a claim. Error in inventorship can be corrected by the filing of a 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application within 12 months after the filing of a provisional application.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. One of the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 119(e) is that a 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application must have at least one inventor in common with a provisional application in order for the 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application to be entitled to claim the benefit of the filing date of the provisional application. In situations where there is no inventor in common between the 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application and the provisional application due to error in naming the inventors in the provisional application, procedures must be established to permit applicant to correct the inventorship in the provisional application.

33. Comment: One comment suggested that an individual who is the inventor of subject matter disclosed in a provisional application, but who is not named as an inventor in the provisional application because that subject matter was not intended to be claimed in a later filed 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application, could be added as an inventor pursuant to § 1.48(d) in the provisional application if the subject matter was later claimed in the 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application.

Response: The individual could be added as an inventor pursuant to § 1.48(d) in the provisional application so long as the individual was originally omitted without deceptive intent.

34. Comment: One comment questioned whether it would be proper for a registered practitioner who did not file the provisional application to sign the statement required by § 1.48(d) that the error occurred without deceptive intention on the part of the inventors.

Response: It would be proper for a registered practitioner who did not file the provisional application to sign the statement required by § 1.48(d), if the registered practitioner has a reasonable basis to believe the truth of the statement being signed.

35. Comment: One comment suggested that there should be no diligence requirement to correct inventorship in a provisional application.

Response: Diligence is not a requirement to correct inventorship in a provisional application in either § 1.48(d) or 1.48(e).

36. Comment: One comment suggested that § 1.48(a) be amended by deleting the requirements for "a statement of facts verified by the original named inventor or inventors establishing when the error without deceptive intention was discovered and how it occurred" and for the written consent of any assignee.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. There was no substantive change proposed to § 1.48(a) in the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking. Since the correction of inventorship affects ownership rights, the existing rules are designed to provide assurances that all parties including the original named inventors and all assignees agree to the change of inventorship. If the requirements for verified statements of facts from the original named inventors and written consent of the assignees are to be deleted, the PTO would no longer have the assurances that all parties agree to the change.

37. Comment: One comment expressed concern that a provisional application filed without a claim will leave subsequent readers with little or no clue as to what the inventors in the provisional application considered to be their invention at the time the provisional application was filed and doubted that a provisional application filed without a claim defining the invention could ever provide a sufficient disclosure to support a claim for a foreign or U.S. priority date.

Response: Claims are not required by the statute to provide a specification in compliance with the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph. However, if an applicant desires, one or more claims may be included in a provisional application. Any claim filed with a provisional application will, of course, be considered a part of the original provisional application disclosure.

38. Comment: One comment suggested that the PTO issue a specification format or guideline for a provisional application to enable an inventor to comply with 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Response: The format of a provisional application is the same as for other applications and is set forth in existing § 1.77 which is applicable to provisional applications except no claims are required for provisional applications.

39. Comment: Several comments suggested that the PTO revise its rules to clarify that strict adherence to the enablement, description and best mode requirements of 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, is not required in provisional applications.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. The substantive requirements of a specification necessary to comply with 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, are established by court cases interpreting that section of the statute, not by rule. The case law applies to provisional applications as well as to applications filed under 35 U.S.C. 111(a).

40. Comment: Several comments suggested that the rules or comments published with the Final Rule indicate whether there is any requirement to update the best mode disclosed in the provisional application when filing the 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application..

Response: No rule was proposed to address the issue when going from a provisional application to a 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application because no current rule exists when going from one 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application to another 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application. The question of whether the best mode has to be updated is the same when going from one 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application to another 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application or from a provisional application to a 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application. Accordingly, the rationale of Transco Products, Inc. v. Performance Contracting, Inc., 38 F.3d 551, 32 U.S.P.Q.2d 1077 (Fed. Cir. 1994), would appear to be applicable. Clearly, if the substantive content of the application does not change when filing the 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application, there is no requirement to update the best mode. However, if subject matter is added to the 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application, there may be a requirement to update the best mode.

41. Comment: One comment suggested that § 1.51(c) be amended to permit a provisional application to be filed with an authorization to charge fees to a deposit account.

Response: Section 1.51(c) permits an application to be filed with an authorization to charge fees to a deposit account. Section 1.51(c) applies to provisional applications. Therefore, no change to § 1.51(c) is necessary.

42. Comment: One comment suggested that the PTO confirm that there will be no procedural examination of a provisional application other than to determine whether the provisional application complies with § 1.51(a)(2).

Response: The PTO intends to require compliance with the formal requirements of §§ 1.52(a)-(c) only to the extent necessary to permit the PTO to properly microfilm and store the application papers.

43. Comment: Several comments suggested that an English translation of a foreign language provisional application should not be required unless necessary in prosecution of the 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application to establish benefit. If an English translation is required, there is no useful purpose to require the translation at any time earlier than the filing of 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application claiming the benefit of the provisional application.

Response: Provisional applications may be filed in a language other than English as set forth in existing § 1.52(d). However, an English language translation is necessary for security screening purposes. Therefore, the PTO will require the English language translation and payment of the fee required in § 1.52(d) in the provisional application. Failure to timely submit the translation in response to a PTO requirement will result in the abandonment of the provisional application. If a 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application is filed without providing the English language translation in the provisional application, the English language translation will be required to be supplied in every 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application claiming priority of the non-English language provisional application.

44. Comment: One comment suggested that a new model oath or declaration form for use in claiming 35 U.S.C. 119(e) priority and a "cover sheet" for use in filing provisional applications be published as an addendum to the final rules.

Response: The suggestion has been adopted. See Appendix A for the sample cover sheet for filing a provisional application and Appendix B for the sample declaration for use in claiming 35 U.S.C. 119(e) priority.

45. Comment: One comment suggested that the statement in § 1.53(b)(2) that the provisional application will not be given a filing date if all the names of the actual inventor or inventor(s) are not supplied be deleted and § 1.41 be amended to make an exception for provisional applications. The comment suggested that 35 U.S.C. 111(b) is satisfied as long as the name of one person who made an inventive contribution to the subject matter of the application is given.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. Section 111(b) of title 35, United States Code, states that "a provisional application shall be made or authorized to be made by the inventor." This language parallels 35 U.S.C. 111(a). The naming of inventors for obtaining a filing date for a provisional application is the same as for other applications. A provisional application filed with the inventors identified as "Jones et al." will not be accorded a filing date earlier than the date upon which the name of each inventor is supplied unless a petition with the fee set forth in § 1.17(i) is filed which sets forth the reasons the delay in supplying the names should be excused. Administrative oversight is an acceptable reason. It should be noted that for a 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application to be entitled to claim the benefit of the filing date of a provisional application, the 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application must have at least one inventor in common with the provisional application.

46. Comment: One comment suggested that a drawing should not be required to obtain a filing date for a provisional application. Whatever is filed should be given a serial number and filing date in order to establish status as a provisional application, regardless of what is in the specification or drawing. If the provisional application omitted drawings, has pages missing, or is otherwise incomplete, then applicant may not be able to rely on the filing date of the provisional application in a subsequently filed 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application. It should not be the job of the Application Branch to review compliance with § 1.81(a).

Response: Section 111(b) of title 35, United States Code, states that a provisional application must include a specification as prescribed by 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph and a drawing as prescribed by 35 U.S.C. 113. Drawings are required pursuant to 35 U.S.C. 113 if they are necessary to understand the subject matter sought to be patented. If a provisional application as filed omitted drawings and/or has pages missing, the provisional application is prima facie incomplete and no filing date will be granted. Application Branch currently reviews all applications to make sure that no filing date will be granted to an application that is prima facie incomplete. Application Branch will perform the same type of review with provisional applications. If a filing date is not granted to a provisional application because it is prima facie incomplete, applicant may petition the PTO under § 1.182 to grant a filing date to the provisional application as of the date of deposit of the application papers if it can be shown that the omitted items are not necessary for the understanding of the subject matter.

47. Comment: One comment objected to the requirement in § 1.53(b)(2)(i) for a cover sheet identifying the application as a provisional application because it is unnecessarily rigid and contrary to Congress' desire to keep the filing of provisional application as simple as possible.

Response: The requirement that a provisional application be specifically identified on filing as a provisional application is not seen to be burdensome on the applicant and is necessary for the PTO to properly process the papers as a provisional application. All an applicant is required to do in order to comply with the requirement of § 1.53(b)(2)(i) is to include a transmittal sheet identifying the papers being filed as a PROVISIONAL application.

48. Comment: Several comments suggested that in § 1.53(b)(2)(ii), as proposed, the phrase "the expiration of 12 months after the filing date of the provisional application" should read "the expiration of 12 months after the filing date of the § 1.53(b)(1) application".

Response: The suggestion has been adopted.

49. Comment: One comment objected to the requirement in § 1.53(b)(2)(ii) for a petition to convert an application filed under § 1.53(b)(1) to a provisional application and suggested that any confusion concerning applicant's intention could be handled informally without a petition or petition fee.

Response: The requirement for a petition and fee is intended to ensure that the cost of any PTO reprocessing is borne specifically by the applicant requesting the action.

50. Comment: Several comments suggested that the filing fee required in an application filed under 35 U.S.C. 111(a) claiming benefit of the filing date of an earlier 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application which has been converted to a provisional application under proposed § 1.53(b)(2)(ii) be reduced, since the $730/$365 filing fee was paid in the earlier application.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. The filing fee required in an application filed under 35 U.S.C. 111(a) is set by statute. The statute does not provide for the suggested reduction in the filing fee.

51. Comment: One comment suggested that proposed § 1.53(b)(2)(iii) should apply retroactively to permit applications filed between June 9, 1994, and June 8, 1995, to be converted to provisional applications.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. The statute does not permit a provisional application to have a filing date prior to June 8, 1995.

52. Comment: One comment suggested that § 1.53(b)(2)(ii) be revised to state that the petition requesting conversion must also be filed before (1) the application becomes involved in interference, or (2) notice by the PTO of intent to publish the application as a statutory invention registration. This suggestion conforms with 35 U.S.C. 111(b)(8).

Response: The suggestion has not been fully adopted. It is not necessary to include interference in § 1.53(b)(2)(ii) because if a 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application becomes involved in an interference proceeding and applicant files a petition requesting conversion of that 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application to a provisional application, the 35 U.S.C. 111(a) will be removed from the interference proceeding upon granting the petition to convert. When a subsequent 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application is filed based on the provisional application, the subsequent 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application could be placed in the interference proceeding if necessary. As to the reference to statutory invention registration, § 1.53(b)(2)(ii) is being amended to require the petition and the fee be filed prior to the earlier of the abandonment of the 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application, the payment of the issue fee, the expiration of 12 months after the filing date of the 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application, or the filing of a request for a statutory invention registration under § 1.293.

53. Comment: One comment suggested that the procedures for converting a 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application to a provisional application be explained in greater detail in § 1.53(b)(2)(ii) or in the discussion. If a 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application is converted to a provisional application on the last day of the 12-month period, and a second 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application is concurrently filed, how should this be done and how should the first sentence in the second 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application be worded. Furthermore, if a 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application is converted to a provisional application on the last day of the 12-month period, will it be necessary to file a second 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application on the same day, or else lose the priority claim.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. The language in § 1.53(b)(2)(ii) is clear relating to the requirements for converting a 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application to a provisional application. If applicant wishes to convert a 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application to a provisional application, applicant must file a petition requesting the conversion along with the petition fee set forth in § 1.17(q). The petition and the fee must be filed prior to the earlier of the abandonment of the 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application, the payment of the issue fee, the expiration of 12 months after the filing date of the 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application, or the filing of a request for a statutory invention registration under § 1.293. In the example noted in the comment, if a 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application is converted to a provisional application on the last day of the 12-month period, a second 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application must be filed on that same day, otherwise, applicant will lose the priority pursuant to 35 U.S.C. 119(e). An example of how the first sentence of the second 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application would read is, "This application claims the benefit of U.S. Provisional Application No. 60/—, filed—, which was converted from Application No.—."

54. Comment: One comment suggested that the PTO consider a rule mandating that any prior U.S. application that would have been eligible for conversion to a provisional application that is abandoned in favor of a continuing application within one year of the earliest priority date asserted be deemed constructively converted to a provisional application.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. Conversion of a 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application to a provisional will be permitted only by way of a petition and under the conditions set forth in § 1.53(b)(2)(ii). One reason for this is that the PTO plans to provide sufficient information on the printed patent to determine the end date of the 20-year patent term by identifying provisional applications using a unique series code, i.e., "60". Thus, a 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application converted to a provisional application will need to be reprocessed by the PTO with a new application number. The petition fee is intended to reimburse the PTO for the extra processing necessitated by the conversion.

55. Comment: One comment stated that § 1.53(b)(2)(ii) permits the conversion of a 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application to a provisional application. However, it is silent as to whether such a conversion would kill any benefit the 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application had of domestic and/or foreign priority.

Response: Section 111(b)(7) of title 35, United States Code, specifically states that a provisional application shall not be entitled to the right of priority of any other application under 35 U.S.C. 119 or 365(a) or to the benefit of an earlier filing date in the United States under 35 U.S.C. 120, 121, or 365(c). If a 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application is converted to a provisional application, the granting of the conversion will automatically eliminate any claim of priority which could have been made in the 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application.

56. Comment: Several comments suggested that it was inconsistent with the purpose of the provisional application to require any compliance with the Sequence Disclosure Rules §§ 1.821-1.823 and 1.825, since the provisional applications are not examined and there is no comparison of the sequences with the prior art.

Response: The Office agrees with the comments that a provisional application need not comply with the requirements of §§ 1.821 through 1.825. Section 1.53(b)(2)(iii) is being amended to indicate that the requirements of §§ 1.821 through 1.825 regarding sequence listings are not mandatory for a provisional application. However, applicants are cautioned that in order for a 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application to obtain the benefit of the filing date of an earlier filed provisional application, the claimed subject matter of the 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application must have been disclosed in the provisional application in a manner provided by 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph. Applicants are encouraged to follow the sequence rules to ensure that support for the invention claimed in the 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application can be readily ascertained in the provisional application.

57. Comment: One comment suggested that the language in § 1.53(e)(2) that a provisional application will become abandoned no later than twelve months after its filing date was misleading and that the words "no later than" should be deleted because it was believed that a provisional application could not be abandoned prior to twelve months after its filing date.

Response: The statute does not state that a provisional application can never be abandoned prior to twelve months after its filing date. In fact, a provisional application may be abandoned as a result of applicant's failure to timely respond to a PTO requirement. For example, if a provisional application which has been accorded a filing date does not include the appropriate filing fee or the cover sheet required by § 1.51(a)(2), applicant will be so notified if a correspondence address has been provided and given a period of time within which to file the fee, cover sheet and to pay the surcharge as set forth in § 1.16(l). Failure to timely respond will result in the abandonment of the application. This may occur prior to twelve months after its filing date. Furthermore, a provisional application may also be expressly abandoned prior to twelve months from its filing date.

58. Comment: One comment objected to the deletion of the "retention fee" practice in § 1.53(d) since it permits an applicant in a first application claiming benefits under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d) or 120 to correct inventorship by filing a second application without having to pay the full filing fee in the first application.

Response: Since the comment indicated that there is a benefit to retain the retention fee practice, the proposal to eliminate the practice is withdrawn.

59. Comment: One comment stated that the language of §§ 1.53(d)(1) and (d)(2) indicates an intent by the PTO to mail the "Notice Of Missing Parts" to applicant's post office address and argues that the "Notice" should be mailed to the registered practitioner who filed the application on behalf of the applicant.

Response: The language in §§ 1.53(d)(1) and (d)(2) states that the applicant will be notified of the missing part, if a correspondence address is provided. This means that the "Notice" to applicant will be mailed to the correspondence address provided in the application papers. Under current PTO practice, if no specific correspondence address is identified in the application, the address of the registered practitioner who filed the application on behalf of the applicant is used as the correspondence address. If no specific correspondence address or registered practitioner is identified in the application, the post office address of the first named inventor is used as the correspondence address. No change in current PTO practice in this regard is required as a result of § 1.53(d)(2) nor is any change planned.

60. Comment: Several comments objected to the proposed deletion of § 1.60. One comment suggested that the deletion of § 1.60 was a major rule change and should have been proposed separate from the proposed rules dealing with the changes in practice required by Public Law 103-465.

Response: In view of the comments received, the proposal to delete § 1.60 is withdrawn. However, the proposal will be considered as part of a comprehensive effort being conducted by the PTO to reengineer the entire patent process.

61. Comment: One comment suggested that in view of the deletion of § 1.60, language should be incorporated in § 1.53(a)(1) to state that a copy of the prior application along with a copy of the declaration may be filed to obtain a filing date. Furthermore, full details and guidelines of the procedure should accompany the rule.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. The proposal to delete § 1.60 is withdrawn in view of several comments received objecting to the deletion.

62. Comment: One comment suggested that the removal of the stale oath practice be codified.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. Neither the statute nor the rules require a recent date of execution to appear on the oath or declaration. The PTO practice of objecting to an oath or declaration where the time elapsed between the date of execution and the filing date of the application is more than three months is found in section 602.05 of the MPEP. Therefore, the removal of the stale oath practice will be accomplished by amending the MPEP.

63. Comment: One comment questioned whether a copy of an application faxed to an attorney could be filed in the PTO as the application papers.

Response: Yes. While a patent application may not be faxed directly to the PTO, an application faxed to an attorney may be forwarded to the PTO by mail or courier as the application papers provided the papers meet the formal requirements of § 1.52. Effective November 22, 1993, § 1.4 was amended to include a new paragraph (d) to specify that most correspondence filed in the PTO, which requires a person's signature, may be an original, a copy of an original or a copy of a copy. Only correspondence identified in §§ 1.4(e) and (f) require the original to be filed in the PTO. Thus, an oath or declaration required by § 1.63, 1.153, 1.162 or 1.175 may be an original, a copy of an original or a copy of a copy. See 1156 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 61 (November 16, 1993).

64. Comment: One comment suggested that applicant be permitted to use § 1.62 procedure to file the 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application which claims the benefit of a provisional application, at least in those situations where the 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application has been converted to a provisional application which is followed by the filing of a second 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. Section 1.62 will not be amended to permit the filing a 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application based on a provisional application because the PTO sees this situation as a trap for applicants. The filing procedures would be made more complicated if an exception is provided to address situations where a 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application is converted to a provisional application and a second 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application is later filed. However, the suggestion will be taken under advisement when greater familiarity with provisional applications is developed.

65. Comment: One comment suggested that § 1.62 procedure be replaced with a simple petition procedure to reopen prosecution.

Response: The suggestion is not being adopted. However, the suggestion will be taken under advisement as part of a comprehensive effort being conducted by the PTO to reengineer the entire patent process.

66. Comment: One comment suggested that the language in § 1.62(a) that requires an identification of the "applicant's name of the prior complete application" is confusing and should be clarified.

Response: The suggestion has been adopted. Section 1.62 is being amended to require the identification of the "applicants named in the prior complete application."

67. Comment: One comment suggested that § 1.62 be amended to state that the refiling procedures set forth in § 1.62 may be used after the issue fee is paid when a petition under § 1.313(b)(5) is granted. This practice is permitted pursuant to the notice published in 1138 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 40 (May 19, 1992).

Response: The suggestion has been adopted.

68. Comment: One comment suggested that § 1.62 be amended to clarify whether applicant need to re-list, in the § 1.62 application, all the references cited by the examiner and applicant in the parent application in order to get those references printed on the eventual patent.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. Section 609 of the MPEP (Sixth Edition, Jan. 1995) has been amended to clarify that in a § 1.62 application, references submitted and cited in the parent application need not be resubmitted. These references will be printed on the patent. However, in any continuing application filed under § 1.53(b)(1) or 1.60, a list of the references must be resubmitted if applicant wishes to have the references printed in the eventual patent.

69. Comment: One comment suggested that § 1.67 should go into more detail on when supplemental oaths are required in § 1.53 filings of continuation and divisional applications.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted because it is seen to be unnecessary and no substantive change was proposed to § 1.67 in the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

70. Comment: One comment suggested that "not but" in § 1.67(b) should read "but not".

Response: The suggestion has been adopted.

71. Comment: Several comments suggested that a rule be provided to state that an application for patent is permitted to claim the benefit of the filing date of more than one prior provisional application so long as the applicant complies with all statutory provisions.

Response: The suggestion has been adopted. Section 1.78(a)(3) is being amended to indicate that applicants are permitted to separately claim the benefit of the filing date of more than one prior provisional application in a later filed 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application provided all statutory requirements of 35 U.S.C. 119(e) are complied with. It is noted that current practice permits an application to claim the benefits of the filing date of more than one prior foreign application under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d) and of more than one prior copending U.S. application under 35 U.S.C. 120, without an explicit statement to that effect in the rules. Since the final rules are being amended to specifically permit applications filed under 35 U.S.C. 111(a) to claim the benefits of the filing date of more than one prior copending provisional application, corresponding changes are also being made to §§ 1.55 and 1.78(a)(1) relating to claims for the benefits available under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d) and 120 to be consistent with § 1.78(a)(3).

72. Comment: Several comments requested that the PTO specify language to use in the first sentence of an application when priority is based on more than one provisional application.

Response: Section 1.78(a)(4) requires that "any application claiming the benefit of a prior filed copending provisional application must contain or be amended to contain in the first sentence of the specification following the title a reference to such prior provisional application, identifying it as a provisional application, and including the provisional application number." Where a 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application claims the benefit of more than one provisional application, a suitable reference would read, "This application claims the benefit of U.S. Provisional Application No. 60/—, filed— and U.S. Provisional Application No. 60/—, filed —." In addition, for an application which is claiming the benefit under 35 U.S.C. 120 of a prior application, which in turn claims the benefit of a provisional application under 35 U.S.C. 119(e), a suitable reference would read, "This application is a continuation of U.S. application No. 08/—, filed —, now abandoned, which claims the benefit of U.S. Provisional Application No. 60/—, filed —."

73. Comment: One comment suggested that the rules address the effect on patent term where an applicant in a continuing application deletes the reference to the prior filed application before the patent issues.

Response: An applicant has full control over claims to the benefit of an earlier filing date under 35 U.S.C. 120, 121 or 365(c). The 20-year patent term will be based upon the filing date of the earliest U.S. application that the applicant makes reference to under 35 U.S.C. 120, 121 and 365(c). Whether an applicant is entitled to the benefit of the filing date of an earlier application is something that an applicant should examine before the patent is issued. The PTO is not, unless it comes up as an issue in the examination process, going to determine whether any of the claims are entitled to the earlier filing date. Applicant however, should determine whether the claims are entitled to or require the benefit of the earlier filing date. If not, the applicant should consider canceling the reference to the earlier filed application to avoid having the 20-year patent term measured from that earlier filing date. An amendment adding or deleting a reference to an earlier filed application presented prior to a final action will be entered, however, the claims may be subject to possible intervening prior art.

74. Comment: One comment stated that in view of the fact that a provisional application is not entitled to claim the benefit of a prior filed copending national or international application as stated in § 1.53(b)(2)(iii), the phrase "other than a provisional application" in § 1.78(a)(2) is unnecessary.

Response: Section 1.78(a)(2) is being amended to state that "any nonprovisional application claiming the benefit of a prior copending nonprovisional or international application must contain...." Section 1.78(a)(2) addresses a 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application which claims the benefit of a prior copending 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application or international application.

75. Comment: Several comments objected to the content requirements for drawings filed in a provisional application as originally set forth in proposed § 1.83(a)(2). One comment suggested that no rule was necessary to set forth the required content of drawings in a provisional application.

Response: In view of the comments received, the proposed amendment to § 1.83 is withdrawn. Under 35 U.S.C. 113, first sentence, applicant must furnish drawings in a provisional application "where necessary for the understanding of the subject matter sought to be patented." This requirement is also stated in existing § 1.81(a). Therefore, no further elaboration on the content of the drawings in a provisional application is believed necessary in the rules.

76. Comment: One comment suggested that the rules specify that formal drawings are not required in a provisional application.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. However, the PTO intends to examine provisional applications for requirements of form only to the extent that is necessary to permit normal storage and microfilming of the application papers. Formal drawings are usually not required for those purposes.

77. Comment: Several comments suggested that § 1.97(d) be amended to require the PTO to consider any information disclosure statement submitted after a final rejection or notice of allowance if an appropriate fee is paid.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted because no substantive change to this rule was proposed in the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking. The existing rules are designed to encourage prompt submission of information to the PTO. To permit applicant to merely pay a fee to have any information disclosure statement submitted after a final rejection or Notice of Allowance would be contrary to the effort to encourage prompt submissions.

78. Comment: One comment suggested that § 1.97 be changed so that an Office action which uses a newly cited reference as a ground for rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102 or 103 cannot be made final.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted because no substantive change to this rule was proposed in the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

79. Comment: One comment suggested that the words "which are not examined" in § 1.101 as proposed are unnecessary and could create a negative implication that some provisional applications are examined.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. By statute, provisional applications are not subject to 35 U.S.C. 131, i.e., the Commissioner is not permitted to examine a provisional application for patentability.

80. Comment: Several comments stated that it is unfair to require small entities to pay the full $730.00 fee set forth in proposed § 1.129. It is suggested that the fee be changed to $365.00 or less.

Response: Pursuant to Public Law 103-465, the Commissioner has the authority to establish appropriate fees for the further limited reexamination of applications and for the examination of more than one independent and distinct invention in an application. As a result of additional review, it was concluded that these fees may be reduced by 50% for small entities. Sections 1.17(r) and (s) are being amended to indicate that the fees are reduced by 50% for small entities, that is, $365.00 for small entities.

81. Comment: Several comments suggested that the transitional procedure set forth in § 1.129(a) as proposed is equivalent to filing one application, i.e., it provides for an extra examination and reexamination after the original final rejection, and, therefore, the requirement for two $730.00 fees, which is equivalent to two filing fees, is unwarranted. Another comment suggested that if the proposed $730.00 fee is adopted, the examiner should be instructed to treat the after-final amendment as any other initial filing, i.e., a new application, not as an amendment submitted after a non-final office action.

Response: Under existing PTO practice, it would not be proper to make final a first Office action in a continuing or substitute application where the continuing or substitute application contains material which was presented in the earlier application after final rejection or closing of prosecution but was denied entry because (1) new issues were raised that required further consideration and/or search, or (2) the issue of new matter was raised. The identical procedure will apply to examination of a submission considered as a result of the procedure under § 1.129(a). Thus, under § 1.129(a), if the first submission after final rejection was initially denied entry in the application because (1) new issues were raised that required further consideration and/or search, or (2) the issue of new matter was raised, then the next action in the application will not be made final. Likewise, if the second submission after final rejection was initially denied entry in the application because (1) new issues were raised that required further consideration and/or search, or (2) the issue of new matter was raised, then the next action in the application will not be made final. Thus, the fee required by § 1.129(a) has been set at the amount required for filing an application because the procedure provided by the rule is equivalent to the filing of two applications. No new matter can be entered by payment of the fee set forth in § 1.17(r).

82. Comment: Several comments suggested that the fees required for filing a provisional application and those fees required by §§ 1.129(a) and (b) for the transitional procedures should not be greater than the average cost of processing such matters by the PTO. Two comments stated that the fee required by § 1.129(a) is excessive relative to PTO costs.

Response: The fee required for filing a provisional application is set by Public Law 103-465 and the PTO has no discretion with respect to the amount of that particular fee. As to the fee required by § 1.129(a), the procedures relating to the first submission provided by § 1.129(a) is equivalent to the filing of a file wrapper continuation application under § 1.62, and therefore, the fee required with the first submission is appropriately set at the same amount as a filing fee, which is $730.00. The $730.00 fee is subject to a 50% reduction for small entities. The second submission is equivalent to the filing of a second file wrapper continuation application and the fee for the second submission is appropriately set at the same amount as a filing fee. As to the fee required by § 1.129(b), the procedures set forth in § 1.129(b) permit applicants to retain multiple inventions in a single application rather than having to file multiple divisional applications. The fee for each independent and distinct invention in excess of one is appropriately set at the same amount as the filing fee for a divisional application, which is $730.00. The $730.00 fee is subject to a 50% reduction for small entities.

83. Comment: One comment suggested that the time period for the payment of the $730.00 fee for the transitional after-final practice be extended if applicant files a petition seeking reversal of the examiner's refusal to enter the amendment after final without fee, until one month after an unfavorable decision on the petition.

Response: If an earlier filed petition seeking reversal of the examiner's refusal to enter the amendment after final is granted by the Director finding that the final rejection was premature, but the petition had not been decided by the time the § 1.129(a) fee was due, applicant must submit the § 1.129(a) fee so as to toll the time period for response to the final rejection. Otherwise, the application would be abandoned. Upon granting of such a petition by the Director, the § 1.129(a) fee paid will be refundable to applicant on request. Applications that fall under § 1.129(a) are under final rejection and there is a time period running against the applicant. Applicant must toll that time period by paying the transitional after-final fee set forth in § 1.129(a) and any necessary extension of time fees and Notice of Appeal fee. Section 1.129(a) is being amended to indicate that the submission and the fee set forth in § 1.17(r) may be submitted before the filing of the Appeal Brief and prior to abandonment of the application.

84. Comment: One comment suggested that if it is decided that the transitional after-final practice is made permanent, the PTO should seek legislative authorization to provide reduced fees for small entities.

Response: If it is decided that the transitional after-final practice be made permanent, the PTO will propose legislation to accomplish this change.

85. Comment: Several comments suggested that §§ 1.129(a) and (b) should apply to all applications regardless of whether they were filed before or after June 8, 1995. Several comments suggested that the practices set forth in §§ 1.129(a) and (b) should be made permanent.

Several comments suggested that an applicant should be permitted to have a submission entered and considered after any final rejection upon payment of a fee as set forth in § 1.17(r), not just the first and second final rejections.

Response: The suggestions have not been adopted at this time. However, the PTO is undertaking a project to reengineer the entire patent process. These suggestions will be taken under advisement in that project.

86. Comment: One comment suggested that the PTO make an effort to treat applications in which a submission under § 1.129(a) has been filed on an expedited basis.

Response: Once the submission is filed and the fee set forth in § 1.17(r) is paid the finality of the last PTO action is withdrawn. The filing of the submission and the fee under § 1.129(a) is equivalent to the filing of a continuing application and will be treated in the same fashion and under the same turnaround time frame as a continuing application.

87. Comment: One comment suggested that PTO practice be changed so that a first Office action in a continuing application cannot be made final.

One comment suggested that PTO practice regarding second action final be relaxed.

Response: The suggestions have not been adopted at this time. However, the PTO is undertaking a project to reengineer the entire patent process. These suggestions will be taken under advisement in that project.

88. Comment: One comment stated that in proposed § 1.129, there is no express provision for the finality of the previous rejection to be withdrawn if applicant complies with the proposed rule. It is suggested that the proposed rule state that the finality of the previous action would be withdrawn if applicant complied with the rule when making a first or second submission after a final action.

Response: The suggestion has been adopted.

89. Comment: One comment requested that the PTO clarify whether § 1.129(a) required the first final rejection to be specifically withdrawn and a different final (i.e., one containing a new ground of rejection) rejection made before applicant is entitled to make a second submission.

Response: The final rule provides that the finality of the previous final office action is automatically withdrawn upon the timely filing of the first § 1.129(a) submission and the fee set forth in § 1.17(r). If the first PTO action following the payment of the § 1.17(r) fee is a non-final office action, a further response from applicant will be entered and considered as a matter of right without payment of the fee set forth in § 1.17(r). If the next office action or any subsequent action is made final, the finality of that office action will be automatically withdrawn upon the timely filing of a second § 1.129(a) submission and the fee set forth in § 1.17(r).

90. Comment: One comment suggested that the PTO not permit the first PTO action following the payment of the § 1.17(r) fee to be made final under any circumstances.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. The first PTO action following the payment of the § 1.17(r) fee may be made final under the same conditions that a first office action may be made final in a continuing application (see section 706.07(b) of the MPEP). However, it would not be proper to make final a first Office action in a continuing or substitute application where the continuing or substitute application contains material which was presented in the earlier application after final rejection or closing of prosecution but was denied entry because (1) new issues were raised that required further consideration and/or search, or (2) the issue of new matter was raised. The procedure set forth in section 706.07(b) of the MPEP will apply to examination of a submission considered as a result of the procedure under § 1.129(a).

91. Comment: Several comments suggested that the filing of the first submission under § 1.129(a) within the statutory period for response set in final rejection should toll the running of the six-month statutory period.

Response: The filing of a submission, e.g., an information disclosure statement or an amendment, after a final rejection without payment of the fee set forth in § 1.17(r) will not toll the period for response set in the final rejection. However, § 1.129(a) is being amended to provide in the rule that the finality of the previous Office action is automatically withdrawn upon the filing of the submission and the payment of the fee set forth in § 1.17(r). Thus, the filing of a submission and the payment of the fee set forth in § 1.17(r) and any extension of time fees and Notice of Appeal fee, if they are necessary to avoid abandonment of the application, will automatically toll the period for response set in the final rejection. It must be kept in mind that the provisions of § 1.129 apply only to an application, other than for reissue or a design patent, that has been pending for at least two years as of June 8, 1995, taking into account any reference made in such application to any earlier filed application under 35 U.S.C. 120, 121 and 365(c).

92. Comment: One comment asked (1) whether it would be necessary to file a Notice of Appeal and appeal fee with or after the first submission and fee if the examiner acts on the first submission and before the end of the six months from the date of the final rejection issues (a) a notice of allowance, (b) a non-final action, or (c) a second final rejection; (2) would the Notice of Appeal and fee be due only at the end of the six months from the date of the final rejection regardless of whether the examiner has acted on the submission by then; and (3) if the Notice of Appeal and fee have once been paid following a first final rejection, would a second notice and fee need to be paid if a second final rejection were issued and applicant desired to file a second submission under § 1.129(a).

Another comment suggested that the appeal fee set forth in § 1.17(e) should not be required where the Notice of Appeal is filed with a § 1.129(a) submission and the fee set forth in § 1.17(r).

Response: As to questions (1) and (2) and the second comment, if the first submission and the proper fee set forth in § 1.17(r) are timely filed in response to the final rejection, the finality of the previous rejection will be automatically withdrawn and applicant need not file the Notice of Appeal or the appeal fee. For example, if the first submission and the proper fee set forth in § 1.17(r) were filed on the last day of the six-month period for response to the final rejection, applicant must also file a petition for three months extension of time with the appropriate fee in order to avoid abandonment of the application. In such case, applicant need not file the Notice of Appeal or the appeal fee if the proper fee set forth in § 1.17(r) was timely paid. However, under the same fact situation, if applicant failed to submit the proper fee set forth in § 1.17(r), the finality of the previous rejection would not be withdrawn and the time period for response would still be running against applicant. In such case, a Notice of Appeal and appeal fee must also accompany the papers filed at the six-month period in order to avoid abandonment of the application. The proper fee set forth in § 1.17(r) must be filed prior to the filing of the Appeal Brief and prior to the abandonment of the application.

As to question (3), if the Notice of Appeal and fee have once been paid following a first final rejection and applicant timely files a first submission and the proper fee set forth in § 1.17(r), the finality of the previous final rejection will be withdrawn and the appeal fee paid could be applied against any subsequent appeal. If the examiner issues a non-final rejection in response to applicant's first submission, a further response from applicant will be entered and considered as a matter of right. If any subsequent Office action is made final, applicant may file a second submission along with the proper fee pursuant to § 1.129(a). If the second submission and the proper fee set forth in § 1.17(r) are timely filed in response to the subsequent final rejection, the finality of the previous final rejection will be withdrawn. Any submission filed after a final rejection made in the application subsequent to the fee under § 1.129(a) having been paid twice will be treated as set forth in § 1.116. Applicant may, upon payment of the appeal fee, appeal a final rejection within the time allowed for response pursuant to § 1.191.

93. Comment: One comment questioned whether the "first submission" under § 1.129(a) has to be the first response filed after a final rejection or could it include subsequent responses to the same final rejection.

Response: The "first submission" under § 1.129(a) would include all responses filed prior to and with the payment of the fee required by § 1.129(a) provided the submission and fee are filed prior to the filing of the Appeal Brief and prior to abandonment of the application.

94. Comment: One comment suggested that § 1.129(a) be changed to permit the procedure to be available up until the filing of an Appeal Brief since it is not uncommon to file an amendment after a Notice of Appeal is filed but before the filing of an Appeal Brief.

Response: The suggestion has been adopted.

Section 1.129(a) is being amended to indicate that the submission and the fee set forth in § 1.17(r) must be submitted before the filing of the Appeal Brief and prior to abandonment of the application.

95. Comment: One comment suggested that the transitional after-final practice be available at any time after final, including after the resolution of an appeal unfavorable to applicant in whole or in part.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. Section 1.129(a) is being amended to indicate that the submission and the fee set forth in § 1.17(r) must be submitted before the filing of the Appeal Brief and prior to abandonment of the application. The suggestion to extend the period to after the resolution of an appeal unfavorable to applicant in whole or in part has not been adopted because the suggestion would further unduly extend prosecution of the application.

96. Comment: One comment stated that if an examiner must withdraw the finality of the rejection as a result of the transitional provision, the examiner should be credited with two counts in order to be compensated for the additional work.

Response: The examiner credit system is not part of this rulemaking package. However, as part of the Public Law 103-465 implementation plan, some accommodation will be made for the extra work performed.

97. Comment: One comment stated that regarding the transitional after-final practice, the fee should not be required if the only reason is to have the PTO consider recently obtained art.

Response: Under current practice, if applicant submits prior art after final rejection but before the payment of issue fee, the art will be considered if applicant makes the required certification and submits a petition with the required petition fee of $130.00 (see section 609 of the MPEP). If applicant can make the certification, applicant would not have to rely on the transitional after-final procedure to have the prior art considered. In the event that applicant cannot make the certification, then the procedure under § 1.129(a) is available if applicant wishes the PTO to consider the prior art without refiling the application.

98. Comment: One comment suggested that the PTO modify existing restriction practice to make it more difficult for examiners to require restriction, for example, by requiring every restriction requirement to show two-way distinctness and separate status in the art established by means other than reference to the PTO's classification system.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. However, the PTO is undertaking a project to reengineer the entire patent process. This suggestion will be taken under advisement in that project.

99. Comment: One comment suggested that the pendency periods required by §§ 1.129(a) and (b) should be 18 months rather than 2-year and 3-year, respectively.

Response: The pendency periods set forth in the rule which establish eligibility for the transitional procedures are set forth in Public Law 103-465.

100. Comment: One comment suggested that § 1.129(a) be amended to permit prosecution to be reopened after a Notice of Allowance or final rejection upon the filing of a form requesting that prosecution be reopened and payment of the necessary fee.

Response: The procedures set forth in § 1.129(a) are not applicable to amendments filed after a Notice of Allowance. Amendments filed after the mailing of a Notice of Allowance are governed by § 1.312. The procedures set forth in § 1.129(a) are applicable to amendments filed after a final rejection. If applicant submits an amendment after final and the examiner notifies the applicant in writing that the amendment is not entered, § 1.129(a) permits applicant to submit a letter prior to abandonment of the application and prior to the filing of the Appeal Brief, requesting entry of the prior filed amendment along with the payment of the appropriate fee set forth in § 1.17(r). The letter requesting entry of the prior filed amendment would be equivalent to "a form" as suggested in the comment.

101. Comment: One comment suggested that the PTO liberalize its current practice under § 1.116 to make it easier for amendments or evidence to be entered and considered after a final rejection.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted since no change was proposed to § 1.116 in the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking. However, the suggestion will be taken under advisement as part of a comprehensive effort being conducted by the PTO to reengineer the entire patent process. It should be noted that any change to liberalize the current practice under § 1.116 would necessitate increasing fees.

102. Comment: Several comments suggested that the transitional restriction provision be modified to state that no restriction requirement shall be made or maintained in any application pending for three years on the effective date of the legislation. The comment stated that if restriction requirements made prior to April 8, 1995, are permitted to be maintained then applicants will be forced to file divisional applications resulting in the automatic loss of term after June 8, 1995. A heavy penalty will be placed on the chemical, pharmaceutical and biotechnology industries, who have less than 4 months to search through the ancestors of all pending applications and to identify all restriction requirements and to file divisional applications before June 8, 1995. The comment further suggested that the current restriction practice be changed in view of the implementation of the 20-year term.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. The two-month date set forth in § 1.129(b)(1)(i) is from the Statement of Administrative Action, which is part of Public Law 103-465. Under section 102 of Public Law 103-465, "the statement of administrative action approved by the Congress shall be regarded as an authoritative expression by the United States concerning the interpretation and application of the Uruguay Round Agreements and this Act in any judicial proceeding in which a question arises concerning such interpretation or application." The Commissioner does not have any authority to establish rules which are inconsistent with the Act. It is noted that in cases where a restriction requirement was made prior to April 8, 1995, applicant will have sufficient time to file divisional applications prior to June 8, 1995, so as to retain the benefit of the 17-year patent term for those divisional applications.

The PTO is currently reviewing the restriction practice in view of the implementation of the 20-year patent term. It is noted that a change in restriction practice without changes to other fees would have a negative impact on funding needed to operate the PTO.

103. Comment: Several comments suggested that proposed exceptions (1) and (2) in § 1.129(b) ignore the mandatory language of section 532(2)(B) of Public Law 103-465 and should be deleted.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. The exceptions referred to are contained in the Statement of Administrative Action, which is part of Public Law 103-465. Under section 102 of Public Law 103-465, "the statement of administrative action approved by the Congress shall be regarded as an authoritative expression by the United States concerning the interpretation and application of the Uruguay Round Agreements and this Act in any judicial proceeding in which a question arises concerning such interpretation or application."

104. Comment: One comment asked whether "restriction" under § 1.129(b) apply to election of species under § 1.146.

Response: "Restriction" under § 1.129(b) applies to both requirements under § 1.142 and elections under § 1.146.

105. Comment: Several comments requested that clarification be made as to what constitutes "actions by the applicant" in § 1.129(b)(1) and specifically, whether a request for extension of time under § 1.136(a) constitutes such "actions" by the applicant.

Response: Examples of what constitute "actions by the applicant" in § 1.129(b)(1) are: (1) applicant abandons the application and continues to refile the application such that no Office action can be issued in the application, and (2) applicant requests suspension of prosecution under § 1.103(a) such that no Office action can be issued in the application. Extension of time under § 1.136(a) would not constitute such "actions by the applicant" under § 1.129(b)(1).

106. Comment: One comment suggested that the one-month period set forth in § 1.129(b) is insufficient to give an applicant time to file a petition under § 1.144 from a restriction requirement. Several comments suggested that § 1.129(b) be amended to permit applicant to challenge the restriction requirement by way of a petition before being required to pay the fees set forth in § 1.17(s).

Response: Section 1.129(b)(2) is being amended in the final rule package to indicate that applicant will be given "a time period" to (1) make an election, if no election has been previously made, and pay the fee set forth in § 1.17(s), (2) confirm an earlier election and pay the fee set forth in § 1.17(s), or (3) file a petition under § 1.129(b)(2) traversing the restriction requirement. If applicant chooses not to pay the fee set forth in § 1.17(s), applicant may file a petition under § 1.129(b)(2) requesting immediate review by the Group Director of the restriction requirement. No petition fee is required. A petition under § 1.129(b)(2) rather than under § 1.144 would be more appropriate under the circumstances since a petition under § 1.144 requires the examiner to make the restriction final before the petition can be considered.

107. Comment: One comment suggested that if applicant elects not to pay the fee set forth in § 1.17(s), applicant should be allowed to elect the invention to be examined.

Response: The suggestion has been adopted. Section 1.129(b) is being amended to indicate that if applicant chooses not to pay the fees for the additional inventions, applicant must elect the invention to be examined and the claims directed to the non-elected inventions for which no fee has been paid will be withdrawn from consideration.

108. Comment: One comment suggested that the PTO amend the rules to permit all, or at least several, inventions to be examined in a single application upon payment of an appropriate fee.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted at this time. However, the PTO is currently undertaking a project to reengineer the entire patent process. The suggestion will be taken in advisement in this project.

109. Comment: One comment suggested that PTO follow the wording of 35 U.S.C. 121 and only require restriction where an application claims two or more independent and distinct inventions rather than two or more independent or distinct inventions.

Response: In making restriction requirements, the PTO has always followed the wording of 35 U.S.C. 121 to require restriction if two or more independent and distinct inventions are claimed in an application rather than independent or distinct as suggested by the comment. The term "independent" includes species and related inventions such as combination/subcombination and process and product. Restriction is proper if these independent inventions are patentably distinct (see section 802.01 of the MPEP).

110. Comment: One comment suggested that the standard for determining whether an application contains independent and distinct inventions should only be the "unity of invention" standard used for PCT applications.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. The current restriction practice for 35 U.S.C. 111(a) applications is governed by 35 U.S.C. 121 and §§ 1.141, 1.142 and 1.146. The PCT "unity of invention" standard only applies to PCT applications and applications filed under 35 U.S.C. 371. The PTO is currently reviewing the restriction practice in view of the implementation of the 20-year patent term. It is noted that a change in restriction practice without changes to other fees would have a negative impact on funding needed to operate the PTO.

111. Comment: One comment suggested that the PTO apply the PCT unity of invention standard as interpreted by the EPO and that § 1.475(b) be amended to permit a broad range of claims in a single application.

Response: The PTO is currently undertaking a project to reengineer the entire patent process. The suggestion will be taken under advisement in this project.

112. Comment: One comment suggested that the PTO examiner should not be permitted to issue a restriction requirement or an election of species requirement if the ISA and the IPEA have found that an application complies with the unity of invention requirement.

Another comment suggested that the PTO consider allowing applicants to retain all claims in a single application when the claims are related, e.g., method and apparatus claims.

Another comment suggested that all species be searched before the first Office action regardless of whether one species is found to be unpatentable.

Another comment suggested that election of species requirements be prohibited.

Response: The suggestions have not been adopted. These issues were not addressed in the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking. However, the PTO is currently undertaking a project to reengineer the entire patent process. The suggestions will be taken under advisement in that project.

113. Comment: One comment suggested that decisions on whether to issue a restriction requirement be made within two-three months of the application filing date, and, if the requirement is traversed, the examiner should determine within four-five months of the filing date whether to maintain the requirement. Decisions on petitions to withdraw a restriction requirement should be decided within one month.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. Current practice dictates that restriction requirements be made at the earliest appropriate time in the pendency of a given application, e.g., in the first Office action. It would be difficult to issue a restriction requirement within two-three months of the application filing date as suggested since a large number of applications are filed with missing parts and applicants are given a time period to submit the missing parts. Furthermore, applications must be processed by the Application Branch and must be screened by Licensing and Review for national security. Petitions to withdraw a restriction requirement should be acted on by the Group Director expeditiously.

114. Comment: One comment argued that the phrases, "so as to be pending for a period of no longer than 12 months" and "under no circumstances will the provisional application be pending after 12 months", in § 1.139 were repetitious and suggested that one or both of the phrases be deleted.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. The statements are included for emphasis.

115. Comment: One comment suggested that § 1.139 clearly state that if the revival petition is filed later than 12 months after filing of the provisional application, then the revival is for the sole purpose of providing copendency for a 35 U.S.C. 111(a) application filed during that 12-month period.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. The proposed language is not necessary.

116. Comment: One comment stated that 35 U.S.C. 154(b) as contained in Public Law 103-465 does not give the Commissioner any authority to decide the period of extension. Therefore, proposed § 1.701 is without statutory basis.

Response: 35 U.S.C. 6(a) gives the Commissioner authority to establish regulations not inconsistent with law.

Section 1.701 is consistent with 35 U.S.C. 154(b) and furthermore, the Commissioner has the authority under 35 U.S.C. 154(b)(3)(C) to establish regulations to address the standards for determining due diligence.

117. Comment: One comment questioned whether patent term extension under 35 U.S.C. 154(b) is available for patents issuing: (1) before June 8, 1995, with a 17-year patent term or a 17/20 year patent term; (2) on or after June 8, 1995, on applications filed before June 8, 1995, with a 17-year patent term or a 17/20 year patent term.

Response: None of the patents set forth in the examples are eligible for patent term extension. Under the terms of the statute, patent term extension is only available for patents issued on applications filed on or after June 8, 1995.

118. Comment: Several comments questioned whether a patent issued on a continuing application is entitled to a patent term extension under 35 U.S.C. 154(b) due to interference, secrecy order, or appellate review delays occurring in the examination of the parent application.

Response: If the delay in the parent application contributed to a delay in the issuance of a patent in the continuing application, the patent granted on the continuing application may be eligible for an extension under 35 U.S.C. 154(b).

119. Comment: One comment suggested that the patent term be extended for a period of time equal to the time necessary to revive an application improperly abandoned due to PTO error. Another comment suggested that patent term extension be available for other PTO delays.

Response: The suggestions have not been adopted. Section 154(b) of title 35, United States Code, only permits patent term extension for delays due to interferences, secrecy orders, and/or successful appeals.

120. Comment: One comment suggested that the period of an extension granted under § 1.701 be printed on the face of the patent.

Response: The PTO will publish on the face of the patent any patent term extension that is granted pursuant to § 1.701.

121. Comment: One comment suggested that the word "interference" be inserted before the word "proceedings" in § 1.701(a)(1).

Response: The suggestion has been adopted.

122. Comment: One comment stated that the last sentence of § 1.701(b) is confusing because it suggests that patent term extension will be available in cases of terminal disclaimer and that the extension begins on the terminal disclaimer date rather than the original expiration date. This statement is contrary to 35 U.S.C. 154(b)(2) which does not permit any patent term extension for appellate delay if the patent is subject to a terminal disclaimer.

Response: In order to reduce confusion, the last sentence of § 1.701(b) is being amended to state that the extension will run from the expiration date of the patent. The reference to "terminal disclaimer" is being deleted.

123. Comment: Two comments stated that if an application involved in an interference proceeding contains uninvolved claims, those uninvolved claims should not be entitled to extension of patent term under proposed § 1.701 because applicant could cancel those uninvolved claims from the application and refile those claims in a continuation application. It is suggested that if an applicant leaves conclusively uninvolved claims (where no § 1.633(c)(4) motion is filed) in the application in interference, applicant does not get the benefit of the extension for any claim.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. The statute, 35 U.S.C. 154(b), grants patent term extension to a patent if the issuance of the patent was delayed due to interference proceeding under 35 U.S.C. 135(a). The statute does not exclude applications containing uninvolved claims. The Commissioner does not have the authority to establish regulations which are inconsistent with the law. Therefore, an application involved in an interference which contains uninvolved claims will be entitled to patent term extension if the issuance of the patent was delayed due to interference proceeding under 35 U.S.C. 135(a).

124. Comment: One comment asked whether applicant is entitled to patent term extension regardless of whether an interference involving applicant's application is ultimately declared.

One comment asked if the PTO ends the suspension without declaring an interference, and continued prosecution results in filing of a continuation or divisional application, are such subsequent cases entitled to the extension.

Response: An application will not be suspended unless it is decided that an interference can be declared involving that application. If prosecution of applicant's application is suspended due to an interference not involving applicant's application and an interference involving applicant's application is later declared, applicant will be entitled to patent term extension under § 1.701(c)(1)(ii) for the suspension period and under § 1.701(c)(1)(i) for the interference period. However, if prosecution of applicant's application is suspended due to an interference not involving applicant's application and if the PTO ends the suspension of the application without declaring an interference involving applicant's application, that application will be entitled to patent term extension under § 1.701(c)(1)(ii). If prosecution results in filing of a continuing application and if the delay in the parent application contributed to a delay in the issuance of a patent on the continuing application, the patent granted on the continuing application may be eligible for an extension under 35 U.S.C. 154(b).

125. Comment: One comment stated that delays in the issuance of a patent can exceed the five-year limit provided for in proposed § 1.701(b). Where the delay was not the fault of the applicant, why should there be this maximum?

Another comment stated that in a biotechnology application, if suspension of the application results in a declared interference, the period of delay calculated under § 1.701(c)(1)(i) will likely consume most of the five-year maximum extension. This renders the value of any time period measured under § 1.701(c)(1)(ii) negligible, thus diminishing the rights of applicant due to the unregulated suspension powers of the PTO.

Response: The five-year limit for patent term extension set forth in § 1.701(b) is required by statute, 35 U.S.C. 154(b).

126. Comment: One comment suggested that § 1.701(c)(1)(i) be amended to state that an application added after an interference is declared is entitled to an extension measured only from the date of redeclaration.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. The language in § 1.701(c)(1)(i) is clear that for an application that is added to an interference, that application is entitled to an extension measured from the date of redeclaration of the interference.

127. Comment: One comment stated that § 1.701(c)(1)(ii) does not address the case where a suspended application is added to the interference without the suspension being lifted.

Response: Section 1.701(c)(1)(ii) is being amended to reference the endpoint for the suspension period to the date of termination of the suspension. Where prosecution of an application is suspended due to interference proceedings not involving the application, the suspension is made pursuant to § 1.103(b). When that application is added to an interference, the suspension pursuant to § 1.103(b) will be automatically lifted. The application is entitled to patent term extension for the period of suspension pursuant to § 1.701(c)(1)(ii) and for the period of interference pursuant to § 1.701(c)(1)(i). Under § 1.701(c)(1)(ii), the period of suspension begins on the date the application is suspended and ends on the date the suspension under § 1.103(b) is terminated, which in this case would be the same date as the date of redeclaration of the interference.

128. Comment: One comment suggested that the phrase ", if any," in § 1.701(c)(1)(i) and (ii) is unnecessary.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. However, § 1.701(c)(1)(i) is being amended for clarity by deleting the phrase "if any" after the first occurrence of "interference" and by inserting the same phrase after the phrase "the number of days."

129. Comment: Several comments suggested that the phrase "was declared or redeclared" in § 1.701(c)(1)(i) be changed to —was first declared—.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. The language of the rule reads "with respect to each interference in which the application was involved, the number of days in the period beginning on the date the interference was declared or redeclared to involve the application in the interference...." An interference may be declared as A vs. B and later redeclared as A vs. B vs. C. Under the rule, the period of extension would be counted, with respect to applications A and B, from the date the interference was declared to involve the applications A and B. With respect to application C, the period of extension would be counted from the date the interference was redeclared to involve the application C. No ambiguity is seen in the language as originally proposed.

130. Comment: One comment suggested that the use of the phrase "appellate review" in reference to an action under 35 U.S.C. 145 or 146 is incorrect, since an action under 35 U.S.C. 145 or 146 is not considered as an "appellate review" and suggests that § 1.701(a)(3) be amended so that the introductory phrase reads "Appellate review by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences or review by a Federal court under 35 U.S.C. 141 or 145,...."

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. The use of the phrase "appellate review" in reference to an action under 35 U.S.C. 145 or 146 is technically incorrect. However, Public Law 103-465 provides for extension of patent term for "delay due to appellate review by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences or by a Federal court". The introductory phrase referred to in the comment uses the exact language found in the statute.

131. Comment: One comment suggested that § 1.701(a) be amended to specify whether extensions for appellate delays are available for reissue applications.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. Under 35 U.S.C. 251, the term of a reissue patent is "for the unexpired part of the term of the original patent." Therefore, patent term extension for appellate delays is not available for reissue applications.

132. Comment: One comment suggested that § 1.701(d) be deleted.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. Section 1.701(d) sets forth the language found in the statute, 35 U.S.C. 154(b)(3) and further provides a standard for determining due diligence.

133. Comment: Several comments suggested that the lack of due diligence set forth in § 1.701(d)(2) be limited to the acts which occurred during the appellate period (after the filing of a Notice of Appeal) and not during prosecution.

Response: The suggestion has been adopted. Section 1.701(d) is being amended accordingly.

134. Comment: One comment suggested that the rules be made clear that a suspension under § 1.103 does not constitute a lack of due diligence under § 1.701(d)(2).

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. A request for suspension pursuant to § 1.103(a) during the appellate review period will be considered to be prima facie evidence of lack of due diligence.

135. Comment: Several comments stated that the rules permit extensions of time and the filing of informal applications. These acts should not constitute lack of due diligence since the proposed rule defined the standard for determining due diligence is whether the applicant exhibited that degree of timeliness as may reasonably be expected from, and which is ordinarily exercised by, a person. One comment suggested that the Office adopt a gross negligence standard.

Response: The examples of acts that may constitute lack of due diligence set forth in the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking (extensions of time, filing of nonresponsive submissions, and filing of informal applications) are being withdrawn. The suggestion regarding the adoption of a gross negligence standard has not been adopted. As set forth in § 1.701(d)(2), the standard for determining due diligence is whether applicant exhibited that degree of timeliness as may reasonably be expected from, and which is ordinarily exercised by, a person during the appellate review period.

136. Comment: One comment stated that the PTO list in the rule all circumstances in which an applicant will be considered not to have acted with due diligence.

Another comment suggested that objective criteria for "diligence" be set forth in § 1.701(d)(2).

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. Whether an action by the applicant constitutes lack of due diligence will be determined by the facts and circumstances of each case. Since lack of due diligence is determined on a case-by-case basis, it would not be possible to list all circumstances in the rule. Examples of acts which will constitute prima facie evidence of lack of due diligence are: (1) abandonment of the application during appellate review; and (2) suspension of action under § 1.103(a) during appellate review.

137. Comment: One comment suggested that guidance be provided in the comments to the Notice of Final Rules identifying in what circumstance is a patent issued "pursuant to an appellate decision reversing an adverse determination of patentability."

Several comments questioned whether the reversal of all rejections on one of several appealed claims would entitle applicant to an extension under § 1.701(a)(3). Two comments suggested that the rule be redrafted to allow appropriate extension of term where the Board or a court reverses at least "in part."

Response: Extension of patent term under § 1.701(a)(3) is applicable if all the rejections of any one claim are ultimately reversed. The rule is clear and no clarification is needed.

138. Comment: One comment stated that § 1.701 does not address the situation where applicant appeals with both allowed and rejected claims. In such case, patent term extension should be available for any claims that were allowed prior to appellate review, if the allowed claims were in the same application, whether or not the decision of the examiner on the rejected claims is ultimately reversed. Applicant should not have to refile the allowed claims and rejected claims in separate cases in order to take advantage of the patent term extension.

Response: If applicant chooses to keep the allowed claims with the rejected claims in the application on appeal, patent term extension pursuant to 35 U.S.C. 154(b)(2) is only available if a patent was issued pursuant to a decision reversing an adverse determination of patentability and if the patent is not subject to a terminal disclaimer due to the issuance of another patent claiming subject matter that is not patentably distinct from that under appellate review. If the appellate review is not successful, applicant will not be entitled to patent term extension.

139. Comment: One comment questioned whether the phrase "if the patent is not subject to a terminal disclaimer" in § 1.701(a)(3) is intended to be limited to those applications in which a terminal disclaimer has actually been filed or encompass those applications in which a double patenting rejection has been made and a terminal disclaimer suggested by an examiner.

Response: The calculation of any applicable extension under § 1.701 will be made prior to the mailing of the Notice of Allowance and Issue Fee Due. At that time, any double patenting rejection would have been resolved and a terminal disclaimer would have been filed if one was required.

140. Comment: One comment stated that § 1.701(d)(1) is inconsistent with 35 U.S.C. 154(b)(2) and (b)(3), because the period of extension for appellate review would be calculated under § 1.701(d)(1) by first subtracting the period of appellate review occurring within three years of the filing date before the five-year limit is imposed. It is suggested that § 1.701 be modified to be consistent with 35 U.S.C. 154(b)(2) which requires the five-year limit to be imposed before the subtraction for appellate review occurring within three years of the filing date.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. Section 1.701 is not inconsistent with 35 U.S.C. 154(b)(2) and (b)(3). The period of extension referred to in 35 U.S.C. 154(b)(2) is defined in 35 U.S.C. 154(b)(3). Therefore, one must determine the period of extension in 35 U.S.C. 154(b)(3)(A), then reduce that period by the time determined in 35 U.S.C. 154(b)(3)(B) and (b)(3)(C). Then, according to 35 U.S.C. 154(b)(2), the resulting time period may not be more than five years.

141. Comment: One comment suggested that the Commissioner identify a senior person who is charged with approving all reductions in extension of patent term rather than leaving the decision to the examiner or the SPE.

One comment questioned who will make the calculation of the period of patent term extension under § 1.701 and whether that calculation can be challenged and by whom.

Response: It is contemplated that the period of patent term extension calculated and any reduction in the extension of patent term will not be made by an examiner. It is noted that the period of patent term extension will be identified in the Notice of Allowance and Issue Fee Due and if applicant disagrees with the period, applicant may request further review by way of a petition under § 1.181. If an error is noted after the patent issues, patentee or any third party may seek correction of the period of patent term extension granted by filing a request for a Certificate of Correction pursuant to § 1.322.

142. Comment: One comment questioned whether a challenge to the period of patent term extension calculated by the PTO under § 1.701 would be required to be made within a fixed period.

Response: No. However, the longer applicant delays filing a petition under § 1.181 challenging the period of extension calculated by the PTO, the less likely any error will be corrected before the patent is issued with the error printed on the patent. If the patent issues with an incorrect period of extension, applicant should file a request for a Certificate of Correction pursuant to § 1.322 instead of a petition under § 1.181.

143. Comment: One comment suggested that § 1.701(d)(2) be amended to require PTO to notify applicant in writing of any intent to reduce the term extension for lack of due diligence, stating the specific basis, and provide applicant with a reasonable opportunity to respond.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. The period of patent term extension will be identified in the Notice of Allowance and Issue Fee Due and if applicant disagrees with the period, applicant may request further review by way of a petition under § 1.181.

144. Comment: One comment suggested that a cover sheet for use in recording assignments be included in the final rules package as an addendum.

Response: The suggestion has not been adopted. A sample cover sheet for use in recording assignments was published as Appendix B in the Federal Register on July 6, 1992, at 57 FR 29634 and in the Official Gazette on July 28, 1992, at 1140 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 63 and may be obtained from Assignment Branch.

Other Considerations

This final rule change is in conformity with the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 601 et seq., Executive Order 12612, and the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq. This final rule has been determined not to be significant for the purposes of E.O. 12866.

The Assistant General Counsel for Legislation and Regulation of the Department of Commerce has certified to the Chief Counsel for Advocacy, Small Business Administration, that these final rule changes will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities (Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 605(b)). The principal impact of these changes is to provide a procedure for domestic applicants to quickly and inexpensively file a provisional application. The filing date of the provisional application will not be used to measure the term of a patent granted on an application which claims the earlier filing date of the provisional application.

The Patent and Trademark Office has also determined that this notice has no Federalism implications affecting the relationship between the National Government and the States as outlined in E.O. 12612.

These final rules contain collections of information subject to the requirements of the Paperwork Reduction Act (Act). The provisional application has been approved by the Office of Management and Budget under control numbers 0651-0031 and 0651-0032. The cover sheet is approved under OMB control number 0651-0037. The cover sheet is necessary to expedite the processing of a provisional application and improve quality. Public reporting burden for the collection of information on the cover sheet is estimated to average 12 minutes per response, including the time for reviewing instructions, searching existing data sources, gathering and maintaining the data needed, and completing and reviewing the collection of information. Send comments regarding this burden estimate or any other aspect of this collection of information, including suggestions for reducing the burden to the Office of Assistance Quality and Enhancement Division, Patent and Trademark Office, Washington, D.C. 20231, and to the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs, Office of Management and Budget, Washington, D.C. 20503 (ATTN: Paperwork Reduction Act Projects 0651-0031, 0651-0032, and 0651-0037).

* * * * *

(l) For processing and retaining any application abandoned pursuant to § 1.53(d)(1) unless the required basic filing fee has been paid.....$130.00

* * * * *

9. Section 1.28 is amended by revising paragraph (a) to read as follows:

§ 1.28 Effect on fees of failure to establish status, or change status, as a small entity.

(a) The failure to establish status as a small entity (§§ 1.9(f) and 1.27 of this part) in any application or patent prior to paying, or at the time of paying, any fee precludes payment of the fee in the amount established for small entities. A refund pursuant to § 1.26 of this part, based on establishment of small entity status, of a portion of fees timely paid in full prior to establishing status as a small entity may only be obtained if a verified statement under § 1.27 and a request for a refund of the excess amount are filed within two months of the date of the timely payment of the full fee. The two-month time period is not extendable under § 1.136. Status as a small entity is waived for any fee by the failure to establish the status prior to paying, at the time of paying, or within two months of the date of payment of, the fee. Status as a small entity must be specifically established in each application or patent in which the status is available and desired. Status as a small entity in one application or patent does not affect any other application or patent, including applications or patents which are directly or indirectly dependent upon the application or patent in which the status has been established. A nonprovisional application claiming benefit under 35 U.S.C. 119(e), 120, 121, or 365(c) of a prior application may rely on a verified statement filed in the prior application if the nonprovisional application includes a reference to the verified statement in the prior application or includes a copy of the verified statement in the prior application and status as a small entity is still proper and desired. Once status as a small entity has been established in an application or patent, the status remains in that application or patent without the filing of a further verified statement pursuant to § 1.27 of this part unless the Office is notified of a change in status.

10. Section 1.45 paragraph (c) is revised to read as follows:

§ 1.45 Joint inventors.

* * * * *

(c) If multiple inventors are named in a nonprovisional application, each named inventor must have made a contribution, individually or jointly, to the subject matter of at least one claim of the application and the application will be considered to be a joint application under 35 U.S.C. 116. If multiple inventors are named in a provisional application, each named inventor must have made a contribution, individually or jointly, to the subject matter disclosed in the provisional application and the provisional application will be considered to be a joint application under 35 U.S.C. 116.

11. Section 1.48 is revised to read as follows:

§ 1.48 Correction of inventorship.

(a) If the correct inventor or inventors are not named in a nonprovisional application through error without any deceptive intention on the part of the actual inventor or inventors, the application may be amended to name only the actual inventor or inventors. Such amendment must be diligently made and must be accompanied by:

(1) a petition including a statement of facts verified by the original named inventor or inventors establishing when the error without deceptive intention was discovered and how it occurred;

(2) an oath or declaration by each actual inventor or inventors as required by § 1.63;

(3) the fee set forth in § 1.17(h); and

(4) the written consent of any assignee. When the application is involved in an interference, the petition shall comply with the requirements of this section and shall be accompanied by a motion under § 1.634.

(b) If the correct inventors are named in the nonprovisional application when filed and the prosecution of the application results in the amendment or cancellation of claims so that less than all of the originally named inventors are the actual inventors of the invention being claimed in the application, an amendment shall be filed deleting the names of the person or persons who are not inventors of the invention being claimed. The amendment must be diligently made and shall be accompanied by:

(1) A petition including a statement identifying each named inventor who is being deleted and acknowledging that the inventor's invention is no longer being claimed in the application; and

(2) The fee set forth in § 1.17(h).

(c) If a nonprovisional application discloses unclaimed subject matter by an inventor or inventors not named in the application, the application may be amended pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section to add claims to the subject matter and name the correct inventors for the application.

(d) If the name or names of an inventor or inventors were omitted in a provisional application through error without any deceptive intention on the part of the actual inventor or inventors, the provisional application may be amended to add the name or names of the actual inventor or inventors. Such amendment must be accompanied by:

(1) a petition including a statement that the error occurred without deceptive intention on the part of the actual inventor or inventors, which statement must be a verified statement if made by a person not registered to practice before the Patent and Trademark Office; and

(2) the fee set forth in § 1.17(q).

(e) If a person or persons were named as an inventor or inventors in a provisional application through error without any deceptive intention, an amendment may be filed in the provisional application deleting the name or names of the person or persons who were erroneously named. Such amendment must be accompanied by:

(1) a petition including a statement of facts verified by the person or persons whose name or names are being deleted establishing that the error occurred without deceptive intention;

(2) the fee set forth in § 1.17(q); and

(3) the written consent of any assignee.

12. Section 1.51 is amended by revising paragraphs (a) and (b) to read as follows:

§ 1.51 General requisites of an application.

(a) Applications for patents must be made to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks.

(1) A complete application filed under § 1.53(b)(1) comprises:

13. Section 1.53 paragraphs (a)-(e) are revised to read as follows:

§ 1.53 Application number, filing date, and completion of application.

(a) Any application for a patent received in the Patent and Trademark Office will be assigned an application number for identification purposes.

(b)(1) The filing date of an application for patent filed under this section, except for a provisional application, is the date on which: a specification containing a description pursuant to § 1.71 and at least one claim pursuant to § 1.75; and any drawing required by § 1.81(a), are filed in the Patent and Trademark Office in the name of the actual inventor or inventors as required by § 1.41. No new matter may be introduced into an application after its filing date (§ 1.118). If all the names of the actual inventor or inventors are not supplied when the specification and any required drawing are filed, the application will not be given a filing date earlier than the date upon which the names are supplied unless a petition with the fee set forth in § 1.17(i) is filed which sets forth the reasons the delay in supplying the names should be excused. A continuation or divisional application (filed under the conditions specified in 35 U.S.C. 120 or 121 and § 1.78(a)) may be filed under this section, § 1.60 or § 1.62. A continuation-in-part application may be filed under this section or § 1.62.

(2) The filing date of a provisional application is the date on which: a specification as prescribed by 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph; and any drawing required by § 1.81(a), are filed in the Patent and Trademark Office in the name of the actual inventor or inventors as required by § 1.41. No amendment, other than to make the provisional application comply with all applicable regulations, may be made to the provisional application after the filing date of the provisional application. If all the names of the actual inventor or inventors are not supplied when the specification and any required drawing are filed, the provisional application will not be given a filing date earlier than the date upon which the names are supplied unless a petition with the fee set forth in § 1.17(q) is filed which sets forth the reasons the delay in supplying the names should be excused.

(i) A provisional application must also include a cover sheet identifying the application as a provisional application. Otherwise, the application will be treated as an application filed under § 1.53(b)(1).

(ii) An application for patent filed under § 1.53(b)(1) may be treated as a provisional application and be accorded the original filing date provided that a petition requesting the conversion, with the fee set forth in § 1.17(q), is filed prior to the earlier of the abandonment of the § 1.53(b)(1) application, the payment of the issue fee, the expiration of 12 months after the filing date of the § 1.53(b)(1) application, or the filing of a request for a statutory invention registration under § 1.293. The grant of any such petition will not entitle applicant to a refund of the fees which were properly paid in the application filed under § 1.53(b)(1).

(iii) A provisional application shall not be entitled to the right of priority under § 1.55 or 35 U.S.C. 119 or 365(a) or to the benefit of an earlier filing date under § 1.78 or 35 U.S.C. 120, 121 or 365(c) of any other application. No claim for priority under § 1.78(a)(3) may be made in a design application based on a provisional application. No request under § 1.293 for a statutory invention registration may be filed in a provisional application. The requirements of §§ 1.821-1.825 regarding application disclosures containing nucleotide and/or amino acid sequences are not mandatory for provisional applications.

(c) If any application is filed without the specification, drawing or name, or names, of the actual inventor or inventors required by paragraph (b)(1) or (b)(2) of this section, applicant will be so notified and given a time period within which to submit the omitted specification, drawing, name, or names, of the actual inventor, or inventors, in order to obtain a filing date as of the date of filing of such submission. A copy of the "Notice of Incomplete Application" form notifying the applicant should accompany any response thereto submitted to the Office. If the omission is not corrected within the time period set, the application will be returned or otherwise disposed of; the fee, if submitted, will be refunded less the handling fee set forth in § 1.21(n). Any request for review of a refusal to accord an application a filing date must be by way of a petition accompanied by the fee set forth in § 1.17(i), if the application was filed under § 1.53(b)(1), or by the fee set forth in § 1.17(q), if the application was filed under § 1.53(b)(2).

(d)(1) If an application which has been accorded a filing date pursuant to paragraph (b)(1) of this section does not include the appropriate filing fee or an oath or declaration by the applicant, applicant will be so notified, if a correspondence address has been provided and given a period of time within which to file the fee, oath, or declaration and to pay the surcharge as set forth in § 1.16(e) in order to prevent abandonment of the application. A copy of the "Notice to File Missing Parts" form mailed to applicant should accompany any response thereto submitted to the Office. If the required filing fee is not timely paid, or if the processing and retention fee set forth in § 1.21(l) is not paid within one year of the date of mailing of the notification required by this paragraph, the application will be disposed of. No copies will be provided or certified by the Office of an application which has been disposed of or in which neither the required basic filing fee nor the processing and retention fee has been paid. The notification pursuant to this paragraph may be made simultaneously with any notification pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section. If no correspondence address is included in the application, applicant has two months from the filing date to file the basic filing fee, oath or declaration and to pay the surcharge as set forth in § 1.16(e) in order to prevent abandonment of the application; or, if no basic filing fee has been paid, one year from the filing date to pay the processing and retention fee set forth in § 1.21(l) to prevent disposal of the application.

(2) If a provisional application which has been accorded a filing date pursuant to paragraph (b)(2) of this section does not include the appropriate filing fee or the cover sheet required by § 1.51(a)(2), applicant will be so notified if a correspondence address has been provided and given a period of time within which to file the fee, cover sheet and to pay the surcharge as set forth in § 1.16(l) in order to prevent abandonment of the application. A copy of the "Notice to File Missing Parts" form mailed to applicant should accompany any response thereto submitted to the Office. If the required filing fee is not timely paid, the application will be disposed of. No copies will be provided or certified by the Office of an application which has been disposed of or in which the required basic filing fee has not been paid. The notification pursuant to this paragraph may be made simultaneously with any notification pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section. If no correspondence address is included in the application, applicant has two months from the filing date to file the basic filing fee, cover sheet and to pay the surcharge as set forth in § 1.16(l) in order to prevent abandonment of the application.

(e)(1) An application for a patent filed under paragraph (b)(1) of this section will not be placed upon the files for examination until all its required parts, complying with the rules relating thereto, are received, except that certain minor informalities may be waived subject to subsequent correction whenever required.

(2) A provisional application for a patent filed under paragraph (b)(2) of this section will not be placed upon the files for examination and will become abandoned no later than twelve months after its filing date pursuant to 35 U.S.C. 111(b)(1).

* * * * *

14. Section 1.55 is revised to read as follows:

§ 1.55 Claim for foreign priority.

(a) An applicant in a nonprovisional application may claim the benefit of the filing date of one or more prior foreign applications under the conditions specified in 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d) and 172. The claim to priority need be in no special form and may be made by the attorney or agent if the foreign application is referred to in the oath or declaration as required by § 1.63. The claim for priority and the certified copy of the foreign application specified in 35 U.S.C. 119(b) must be filed in the case of an interference (§ 1.630), when necessary to overcome the date of a reference relied upon by the examiner, when specifically required by the examiner, and in all other cases, before the patent is granted. If the claim for priority or the certified copy of the foreign application is filed after the date the issue fee is paid, it must be accompanied by a petition requesting entry and by the fee set forth in § 1.17(i). If the certified copy filed is not in the English language, a translation need not be filed except in the case of interference; or when necessary to overcome the date of a reference relied upon by the examiner; or when specifically required by the examiner, in which event an English language translation must be filed together with a statement that the translation of the certified copy is accurate. The statement must be a verified statement if made by a person not registered to practice before the Patent and Trademark Office.

(b) An applicant in a nonprovisional application may under certain circumstances claim priority on the basis of one or more applications for an inventor's certificate in a country granting both inventor's certificates and patents. To claim the right of priority on the basis of an application for an inventor's certificate in such a country under 35 U.S.C. 119(d), the applicant when submitting a claim for such right as specified in paragraph (a) of this section, shall include an affidavit or declaration. The affidavit or declaration must include a specific statement that, upon an investigation, he or she is satisfied that to the best of his or her knowledge, the applicant, when filing the application for the inventor's certificate, had the option to file an application for either a patent or an inventor's certificate as to the subject matter of the identified claim or claims forming the basis for the claim of priority.

15. Section 1.59 is revised to read as follows:

§ 1.59 Papers of application with filing date not to be returned.

Papers in an application which has received a filing date pursuant to § 1.53 will not be returned for any purpose whatever. If applicants have not preserved copies of the papers, the Office will furnish copies at the usual cost of any application in which either the required basic filing fee (§ 1.16) or, if the application was filed under § 1.53(b)(1), the processing and retention fee (§ 1.21(l)) has been paid. See § 1.618 for return of unauthorized and improper papers in interferences.

16. Section 1.60 is amended by revising paragraph (b) to read as follows:

§ 1.60 Continuation or divisional application for invention disclosed in a prior nonprovisional application.

* * * * *

(b) An applicant may omit signing of the oath or declaration in a continuation or divisional application (filed under the conditions specified in 35 U.S.C.120 or 121 and § 1.78(a)) if:

(1) the prior application was a nonprovisional application and a complete application as set forth in § 1.51(a)(1);

(2) applicant indicates that the application is being filed pursuant to this section and files a true copy of the prior complete application as filed including the specification (with claims), drawings, oath or declaration showing the signature or an indication it was signed, and any amendments referred to in the oath or declaration filed to complete the prior application;

(3) the inventors named in the continuation or divisional application are the same or less than all the inventors named in the prior application; and

(4) the application is filed before the patenting, or abandonment of, or termination of proceedings on the prior application. The copy of the prior application must be accompanied by a statement that the application papers filed are a true copy of the prior complete application. Such statement must be by the applicant or applicant's attorney or agent and must be a verified statement if made by a person not registered to practice before the Patent and Trademark Office. Only amendments reducing the number of claims or adding a reference to the prior application (§ 1.78(a)) will be entered before calculating the filing fee and granting the filing date. If the continuation or divisional application is filed by less than all the inventors named in the prior application, a statement must accompany the application when filed requesting deletion of the names of the person or persons who are not inventors of the invention being claimed in the continuation or divisional application. Except as provided in paragraph (d) of this section, if a true copy of the prior application as filed is not filed with the application or if the statement that the application papers are a true copy is omitted, the application will not be given a filing date earlier than the date upon which the copy and statement are filed, unless a petition with the fee set forth in § 1.17(i) is filed which satisfactorily explains the delay in filing these items.

* * * * *

17. Section 1.62 is amended by revising paragraphs (a) and (e) to read as follows:

§ 1.62 File wrapper continuing procedure.

(a) A continuation, continuation-in-part, or divisional application, which uses the specification, drawings and oath or declaration from a prior nonprovisional application which is complete as defined by § 1.51(a)(1), and which is to be abandoned, may be filed under this section before the payment of the issue fee, abandonment of, or termination of proceedings on the prior application, or after payment of the issue fee if a petition under § 1.313(b)(5) is granted in the prior application. The filing date of an application filed under this section is the date on which a request is filed for an application under this section including identification of the application number and the names of the inventors named in the prior complete application. If the continuation, continuation-in-part, or divisional application is filed by less than all the inventors named in the prior application a statement must accompany the application when filed requesting deletion of the names of the person or persons who are not inventors of the invention being claimed in the continuation, continuation-in-part, or divisional application.

* * * * *

(e) An application filed under this section will utilize the file wrapper and contents of the prior application to constitute the new continuation, continuation-in-part, or divisional application but will be assigned a new application number. Changes to the prior application must be made in the form of an amendment to the prior application as it exists at the time of filing the application under this section. No copy of the prior application or new specification is required. The filing of such a copy or specification will be considered improper, and a filing date as of the date of deposit of the request for an application under this section will not be granted to the application unless a petition with the fee set forth in § 1.17(i) is filed with instructions to cancel the copy or specification.

* * * * *

18. Section 1.63 is amended by revising paragraph (a) to read as follows:

§ 1.63 Oath or declaration.

(a) An oath or declaration filed under § 1.51(a)(1)(ii) as a part of a nonprovisional application must:

(1) Be executed in accordance with either § 1.66 or § 1.68;

(2) Identify the specification to which it is directed;

(3) Identify each inventor and the residence and country of citizenship of each inventor; and

(4) State whether the inventor is a sole or joint inventor of the invention claimed.

* * * * *

19. Section 1.67 is amended by revising paragraph (b) to read as follows:

§ 1.67 Supplemental oath or declaration.

* * * * *

(b) A supplemental oath or declaration meeting the requirements of § 1.63 must be filed when a claim is presented for matter originally shown or described but not substantially embraced in the statement of invention or claims originally presented or when an oath or declaration submitted in accordance with § 1.53(d)(1) after the filing of the specification and any required drawings specifically and improperly refers to an amendment which includes new matter. No new matter may be introduced into a nonprovisional application after its filing date even if a supplemental oath or declaration is filed. In proper cases, the oath or declaration here required may be made on information and belief by an applicant other than inventor.

* * * * *

20. Section 1.78 is amended by revising paragraphs (a)(1) and (a)(2) and by adding new paragraphs (a)(3) and (a)(4) to read as follows:

§ 1.78 Claiming benefit of earlier filing date and cross-references to other applications.

(a)(1) A nonprovisional application may claim an invention disclosed in one or more prior filed copending nonprovisional applications or international applications designating the United States of America. In order for a nonprovisional application to claim the benefit of a prior filed copending nonprovisional application or international application designating the United States of America, each prior application must name as an inventor at least one inventor named in the later filed nonprovisional application and disclose the named inventor's invention claimed in at least one claim of the later filed nonprovisional application in the manner provided by the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112. In addition, each prior application must be:

(i) complete as set forth in § 1.51(a)(1); or

(ii) entitled to a filing date as set forth in § 1.53(b)(1), § 1.60 or § 1.62 and include the basic filing fee set forth in § 1.16; or

(iii) entitled to a filing date as set forth in § 1.53(b)(1) and have paid therein the processing and retention fee set forth in § 1.21(l) within the time period set forth in § 1.53(d)(1).

(2) Any nonprovisional application claiming the benefit of one or more prior filed copending nonprovisional applications or international applications designating the United States of America must contain or be amended to contain in the first sentence of the specification following the title a reference to each such prior application, identifying it by application number (consisting of the series code and serial number) or international application number and international filing date and indicating the relationship of the applications. Cross-references to other related applications may be made when appropriate. (See § 1.14(b)).

(3) A nonprovisional application other than for a design patent may claim an invention disclosed in one or more prior filed copending provisional applications. Since a provisional application can be pending for no more than twelve months, the last day of pendency may occur on a Saturday, Sunday, or Federal holiday within the District of Columbia which for copendency would require the nonprovisional application to be filed prior to the Saturday, Sunday, or Federal holiday. In order for a nonprovisional application to claim the benefit of one or more prior filed copending provisional applications, each prior provisional application must name as an inventor at least one inventor named in the later filed nonprovisional application and disclose the named inventor's invention claimed in at least one claim of the later filed nonprovisional application in the manner provided by the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112. In addition, each prior provisional application must be:

(i) complete as set forth in § 1.51(a)(2); or

(ii) entitled to a filing date as set forth in § 1.53(b)(2) and include the basic filing fee set forth in § 1.16(k).

(4) Any nonprovisional application claiming the benefit of one or more prior filed copending provisional applications must contain or be amended to contain in the first sentence of the specification following the title a reference to each such prior provisional application, identifying it as a provisional application, and including the provisional application number (consisting of series code and serial number).

* * * * *

21. Section 1.83 is amended by revising paragraphs (a) and (c) to read as follows:

§ 1.83 Content of drawing.

(a) The drawing in a nonprovisional application must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. However, conventional features disclosed in the description and claims, where their detailed illustration is not essential for a proper understanding of the invention, should be illustrated in the drawing in the form of a graphical drawing symbol or a labeled representation (e.g., a labeled rectangular box).

* * * * *

(c) Where the drawings in a nonprovisional application do not comply with the requirements of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, the examiner shall require such additional illustration within a time period of not less than two months from the date of the sending of a notice thereof. Such corrections are subject to the requirements of § 1.81(d).

22. Section 1.97 is amended by revising paragraph (d) to read as follows:

§ 1.97 Filing of information disclosure statement.

* * * * *

(d) An information disclosure statement shall be considered by the Office if filed after the mailing date of either a final action under § 1.113 or a notice of allowance under § 1.311, whichever occurs first, but before payment of the issue fee, provided the statement is accompanied by:

(1) A certification as specified in paragraph (e) of this section;

(2) A petition requesting consideration of the information disclosure statement; and

(3) The petition fee set forth in § 1.17(i).

* * * * *

23. Section 1.101 is amended by revising paragraph (a) to read as follows:

§ 1.101 Order of examination.

(a) Nonprovisional applications filed in the Patent and Trademark Office and accepted as complete applications are assigned for examination to the respective examining groups having the classes of inventions to which the applications relate. Nonprovisional applications shall be taken up for examination by the examiner to whom they have been assigned in the order in which they have been filed except for those applications in which examination has been advanced pursuant to § 1.102. See § 1.496 for order of examination of international applications in the national stage.

* * * * *

24. Section 1.102 is amended by revising paragraph (d) to read as follows:

§ 1.102 Advancement of examination.

* * * * *

(d) A petition to make an application special on grounds other than those referred to in paragraph (c) of this section must be accompanied by the petition fee set forth in § 1.17(i).

25. Section 1.103 is amended by revising paragraph (a) to read as follows:

§ 1.103 Suspension of action.

(a) Suspension of action by the Office will be granted for good and sufficient cause and for a reasonable time specified upon petition by the applicant and, if such cause is not the fault of the Office, the payment of the fee set forth in § 1.17(i). Action will not be suspended when a response by the applicant to an Office action is required.

* * * * *

26. A new, undesignated center heading and new section 1.129 are added to Subpart B - National Processing Provisions to read as follows:

Transitional Provisions

§ 1.129 Transitional procedures for limited examination after final rejection and restriction practice.

(a) An applicant in an application, other than for reissue or a design patent, that has been pending for at least two years as of June 8, 1995, taking into account any reference made in such application to any earlier filed application under 35 U.S.C. 120, 121 and 365(c), is entitled to have a first submission entered and considered on the merits after final rejection under the following circumstances: The Office will consider such a submission, if the first submission and the fee set forth in § 1.17(r) are filed prior to the filing of an appeal brief and prior to abandonment of the application. The finality of the final rejection is automatically withdrawn upon the timely filing of the submission and payment of the fee set forth in § 1.17(r). If a subsequent final rejection is made in the application, applicant is entitled to have a second submission entered and considered on the merits after the subsequent final rejection under the following circumstances: The Office will consider such a submission, if the second submission and a second fee set forth in § 1.17(r) are filed prior to the filing of an appeal brief and prior to abandonment of the application. The finality of the subsequent final rejection is automatically withdrawn upon the timely filing of the submission and payment of the second fee set forth in § 1.17(r). Any submission filed after a final rejection made in an application subsequent to the fee set forth in § 1.17(r) having been twice paid will be treated as set forth in § 1.116. A submission as used in this paragraph includes, but is not limited to, an information disclosure statement, an amendment to the written description, claims or drawings and a new substantive argument or new evidence in support of patentability.

(b)(1) In an application, other than for reissue or a design patent, that has been pending for at least three years as of June 8, 1995, taking into account any reference made in the application to any earlier filed application under 35 U.S.C. 120, 121 and 365(c), no requirement for restriction or for the filing of divisional applications shall be made or maintained in the application after June 8, 1995, except where:

(i) the requirement was first made in the application or any earlier filed application under 35 U.S.C. 120, 121 and 365(c) prior to April 8, 1995;

(ii) the examiner has not made a requirement for restriction in the present or parent application prior to April 8, 1995, due to actions by the applicant; or

(iii) the required fee for examination of each additional invention was not paid.

(2) If the application contains more than one independent and distinct invention and a requirement for restriction or for the filing of divisional applications cannot be made or maintained pursuant to this paragraph, applicant will be so notified and given a time period to:

(i) elect the invention or inventions to be searched and examined, if no election has been made prior to the notice, and pay the fee set forth in § 1.17(s) for each independent and distinct invention claimed in the application in excess of one which applicant elects;

(ii) confirm an election made prior to the notice and pay the fee set forth in § 1.17(s) for each independent and distinct invention claimed in the application in addition to the one invention which applicant previously elected; or

(iii) file a petition under this section traversing the requirement. If the required petition is filed in a timely manner, the original time period for electing and paying the fee set forth in § 1.17(s) will be deferred and any decision on the petition affirming or modifying the requirement will set a new time period to elect the invention or inventions to be searched and examined and to pay the fee set forth in § 1.17(s) for each independent and distinct invention claimed in the application in excess of one which applicant elects.

(3) The additional inventions for which the required fee has not been paid will be withdrawn from consideration under § 1.142(b). An applicant who desires examination of an invention so withdrawn from consideration can file a divisional application under 35 U.S.C. 121.

(c) The provisions of this section shall not be applicable to any application filed after June 8, 1995.

27. Section 1.137 is amended by revising paragraph (c) to read as follows:

§ 1.137 Revival of abandoned application.

* * * * *

(c) In all applications filed before June 8, 1995, and in all design applications filed on or after June 8, 1995, any petition pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section not filed within six months of the date of abandonment of the application, must be accompanied by a terminal disclaimer with fee under § 1.321 dedicating to the public a terminal part of the term of any patent granted thereon equivalent to the period of abandonment of the application. The terminal disclaimer must also apply to any patent granted on any continuing application entitled under 35 U.S.C. 120 to the benefit of the filing date of the application for which revival is sought.

* * * * *

28. Section 1.139 is added to read as follows:

§ 1.139 Revival of provisional application.

(a) A provisional application which has been accorded a filing date and abandoned for failure to timely respond to an Office requirement may be revived so as to be pending for a period of no longer than twelve months from its filing date if it is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner that the delay was unavoidable. Under no circumstances will the provisional application be pending after twelve months from its filing date. A petition to revive an abandoned provisional application must be promptly filed after the applicant is notified of, or otherwise becomes aware of, the abandonment, and must be accompanied by:

(1) the required response unless it has been previously filed;

(2) the petition fee as set forth in § 1.17(l); and

(3) a showing that the delay was unavoidable. The showing must be a verified showing if made by a person not registered to practice before the Patent and Trademark Office.

(b) A provisional application which has been accorded a filing date and abandoned for failure to timely respond to an Office requirement may be revived so as to be pending for a period of no longer than twelve months from its filing date if the delay was unintentional. Under no circumstances will the provisional application be pending after twelve months from its filing date. A petition to revive an abandoned provisional application must be:

(1) accompanied by the required response unless it has been previously filed;

(2) accompanied by the petition fee as set forth in § 1.17(m);

(3) accompanied by a statement that the delay was unintentional. The statement must be a verified statement if made by a person not registered to practice before the Patent and Trademark Office. The Commissioner may require additional information where there is a question whether the delay was unintentional; and

(4) filed either:

(i) within one year of the date on which the provisional application became abandoned; or

(ii) within three months of the date of the first decision on a petition to revive under paragraph (a) of this section which was filed within one year of the date on which the provisional application became abandoned.

(c) Any request for reconsideration or review of a decision refusing to revive a provisional application upon petition filed pursuant to paragraphs (a) or (b) of this section, to be considered timely, must be filed within two months of the decision refusing to revive or within such time as set in the decision.

(d) The time periods set forth in this section cannot be extended, except that the three-month period set forth in paragraph (b)(4)(ii) of this section and the time period set forth in paragraph (c) of this section may be extended under the provisions of § 1.136.

29. Section 1.177 is revised to read as follows:

§ 1.177 Reissue in divisions.

The Commissioner may, in his or her discretion, cause several patents to be issued for distinct and separate parts of the thing patented, upon demand of the applicant, and upon payment of the required fee for each division. Each division of a reissue constitutes the subject of a separate specification descriptive of the part or parts of the invention claimed in such division; and the drawing may represent only such part or parts, subject to the provisions of §§ 1.83 and 1.84. On filing divisional reissue applications, they shall be referred to the Commissioner. Unless otherwise ordered by the Commissioner upon petition and payment of the fee set forth in § 1.17(i), all the divisions of a reissue will issue simultaneously; if there is any controversy as to one division, the others will be withheld from issue until the controversy is ended, unless the Commissioner orders otherwise.

30. Section 1.312 is amended by revising paragraph (b) to read as follows:

§ 1.312 Amendments after allowance.

* * * * *

(b) Any amendment pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section filed after the date the issue fee is paid must be accompanied by a petition including the fee set forth in § 1.17(i) and a showing of good and sufficient reasons why the amendment is necessary and was not earlier presented.

31. Section 1.313 is amended by revising paragraph (a) to read as follows:

§ 1.313 Withdrawal from issue.

(a) Applications may be withdrawn from issue for further action at the initiative of the Office or upon petition by the applicant. Any such petition by the applicant must include a showing of good and sufficient reasons why withdrawal of the application is necessary and, if the reason for the withdrawal is not the fault of the Office, must be accompanied by the fee set forth in § 1.17(i). If the application is withdrawn from issue, a new notice of allowance will be sent if the application is again allowed. Any amendment accompanying a petition to withdraw an application from issue must comply with the requirements of § 1.312.

* * * * *

32. Section 1.314 is revised to read as follows:

§ 1.314 Issuance of patent.

If payment of the issue fee is timely made, the patent will issue in regular course unless the application is withdrawn from issue (§ 1.313), or issuance of the patent is deferred. Any petition by the applicant requesting a deferral of the issuance of a patent must be accompanied by the fee set forth in § 1.17(i) and must include a showing of good and sufficient reasons why it is necessary to defer issuance of the patent.

33. Section 1.316 is amended by revising paragraph (d) to read as follows:

§ 1.316 Application abandoned for failure to pay issue fee.

* * * * *

(d) In all applications filed before June 8, 1995, any petition pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section not filed within six months of the date of abandonment of the application, must be accompanied by a terminal disclaimer with fee under § 1.321 dedicating to the public a terminal part of the term of any patent granted thereon equivalent to the period of abandonment of the application. The terminal disclaimer must also apply to any patent granted on any continuing application entitled under 35 U.S.C. 120 to the benefit of the filing date of the application for which revival is sought.

* * * * *

34. Section 1.317 is amended by removing and reserving paragraph (d):

§ 1.317 Lapsed patents; delayed payment of balance of issue fee.

* * * * *

(d) [Reserved]

* * * * *

35. Section 1.666 is amended by revising paragraph (b) to read as follows:

§ 1.666 Filing of interference settlement agreements.

* * * * *

(b) If any party filing the agreement or understanding under paragraph (a) of this section so requests, the copy will be kept separate from the file of the interference, and made available only to Government agencies on written request, or to any person upon petition accompanied by the fee set forth in § 1.17(i) and on a showing of good cause.

* * * * *

36. Section 1.701 is added to Subpart F to read as follows:

§ 1.701 Extension of patent term due to prosecution delay.

(a) A patent, other than for designs, issued on an application filed on or after June 8, 1995, is entitled to extension of the patent term if the issuance of the patent was delayed due to:

(1) interference proceedings under 35 U.S.C. 135(a); and/or

(2) the application being placed under a secrecy order under 35 U.S.C. 181; and/or

(3) appellate review by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences or by a Federal court under 35 U.S.C. 141 or 145, if the patent was issued pursuant to a decision reversing an adverse determination of patentability and if the patent is not subject to a terminal disclaimer due to the issuance of another patent claiming subject matter that is not patentably distinct from that under appellate review.

(b) The term of a patent entitled to extension under paragraph (a) of this section shall be extended for the sum of the periods of delay calculated under paragraphs (c)(1), (c)(2), (c)(3) and (d) of this section, to the extent that these periods are not overlapping, up to a maximum of five years. The extension will run from the expiration date of the patent.

(c)(1) The period of delay under paragraph (a)(1) of this section for an application is the sum of the following periods, to the extent that the periods are not overlapping:

(i) with respect to each interference in which the application was involved, the number of days, if any, in the period beginning on the date the interference was declared or redeclared to involve the application in the interference and ending on the date that the interference was terminated with respect to the application; and

(ii) the number of days, if any, in the period beginning on the date prosecution in the application was suspended by the Patent and Trademark Office due to interference proceedings under 35 U.S.C. 135(a) not involving the application and ending on the date of the termination of the suspension.

(2) The period of delay under paragraph (a)(2) of this section for an application is the sum of the following periods, to the extent that the periods are not overlapping:

(i) the number of days, if any, the application was maintained in a sealed condition under 35 U.S.C. 181;

(ii) the number of days, if any, in the period beginning on the date of mailing of an examiner's answer under § 1.193 in the application under secrecy order and ending on the date the secrecy order and any renewal thereof was removed;

(iii) the number of days, if any, in the period beginning on the date applicant was notified that an interference would be declared but for the secrecy order and ending on the date the secrecy order and any renewal thereof was removed; and

(iv) the number of days, if any, in the period beginning on the date of notification under § 5.3(c) and ending on the date of mailing of the notice of allowance under § 1.311.

(3) The period of delay under paragraph (a)(3) of this section is the sum of the number of days, if any, in the period beginning on the date on which an appeal to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences was filed under 35 U.S.C. 134 and ending on the date of a final decision in favor of the applicant by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences or by a Federal court in an appeal under 35 U.S.C. 141 or a civil action under 35 U.S.C. 145.

(d) The period of delay set forth in paragraph (c)(3) shall be reduced by:

(1) any time during the period of appellate review that occurred before three years from the filing date of the first national application for patent presented for examination; and

(2) any time during the period of appellate review, as determined by the Commissioner, during which the applicant for patent did not act with due diligence. In determining the due diligence of an applicant, the Commissioner may examine the facts and circumstances of the applicant's actions during the period of appellate review to determine whether the applicant exhibited that degree of timeliness as may reasonably be expected from, and which is ordinarily exercised by, a person during a period of appellate review.

Part 3— Assignment, Recording, and Rights of Assignee

37. The authority citation for 37 CFR Part 3 continues to read as follows:

Authority: 15 U.S.C. 1123; 35 U.S.C. 6.

38. Section 3.21 is revised to read as follows:

§ 3.21 Identification of patents and patent applications.

An assignment relating to a patent must identify the patent by the patent number. An assignment relating to a national patent application must identify the national patent application by the application number (consisting of the series code and the serial number, e.g., 07/123,456). An assignment relating to an international patent application which designates the United States of America must identify the international application by the international number (e.g., PCT/US90/01234). If an assignment of a patent application filed under § 1.53(b)(1) or § 1.62 is executed concurrently with, or subsequent to, the execution of the patent application, but before the patent application is filed, it must identify the patent application by its date of execution, name of each inventor, and title of the invention so that there can be no mistake as to the patent application intended. If an assignment of a provisional application is executed before the provisional application is filed, it must identify the provisional application by name of each inventor and title of the invention so that there can be no mistake as to the provisional application intended.

39. Section 3.81 is amended by revising paragraph (b) to read as follows:

§ 3.81 Issue of patent to assignee.

* * * * *

(b) If the assignment is submitted for recording after the date of payment of the issue fee, but prior to issuance of the patent, the assignee may petition that the patent issue to the assignee. Any such petition must be accompanied by the fee set forth in § 1.17(i) of this Chapter.

(80) Revised Sample Cover Sheet For Filing a Provisional Application For a Patent

A sample cover sheet for filing a provisional application for a patent was published as Appendix A to the Notice of Final Rulemaking to implement 20-year patent term and provisional applications in the Federal Register on April 25, 1995 (60 FR 20195) and in the Official Gazette on May 2, 1995 (1174 OG 15). The sample cover sheet for filing a provisional application did not specifically indicate that the provisional application is an application for a patent as provided in 35 U.S.C. 111(b)(1). In order to allay any uncertainty that a provisional application filed under 37 CFR 1.53(b)(2) is indeed an application for a patent, a revised sample cover sheet for filing a provisional application for a patent is included for clarification. However, it is noted that the regulations do not require applicant to use the sample cover sheet. Any cover sheet containing the information required in 37 CFR 1.51(a)(2)(i) will be acceptable.

(81) Provisional Applications for Patent Meet Paris Convention Requirements as Foreign Priority Documents

In view of the recent question raised in the patent community regarding the adequacy of provisonal patent applications filed under 35 USC 111(b) to serve as the basis for the right of priority provided by Article 4 of the Paris Convention for the Protection of Industrial Property, Commissioner Lehman decided to seek the advice of the World Intellectual Property Organization on that issue. Below is the resulting exchange of correspondence that should lay to rest any doubt that provisional patent applications are indeed sufficient for this purpose.

Dear Arpad,

Recently, a question arose regarding the adequacy of a provisional patent application, filed in accordance with section 111(b) of title 35, United State Code, to serve as the basis for the right of priority provided by Article 4 of the Paris Convention for the Protection of Industrial Property.

Although we are convinced that such an application is indeed sufficient for this purpose, we would be very interested in your opinion on this subject and request a reply at your earliest convenience.

Sincerely,

November 20, 1995

Dear Bruce,

I thank you for your letter of November 17, 1995, asking for our views concerning the claiming of priority under Article 4 of the Paris Convention for the Protection of Industrial Property, in respect of provisional patent applications filed with the USPTO.

As you know, the International Bureau is not in a position to give an official interpretation of the provisions of the Paris Convention. However, we offer the following considerations which may be helpful in order to reply to the question raised by you.

According to Article 4A(1) of the Paris Convention, the basis for priority under that Convention is a duly filed application for a patent.

Article 4A(2) of the Paris Convention states, in particular, that "Any filing that is equivalent to a regular national filing under the domestic legislation of any country of the Union ... shall be recognized as giving rise to the right of priority." In the case under consideration, the "domestic legislation" is the legislation of the United States of America. Therefore, it is that legislation which determines whether a "regular national filing" exists, subject to compliance with Article 4A(3) of the Paris Convention.

Mr. Bruce A. Lehman, Assistant Secretary of Commerce and Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Patent and Trademark Office, Washington, D.C. - November 20, 1995

Article 4A(3) of the Paris Convention states that "By a regular national filing is meant any filing that is adequate to establish the date on which the application was filed in the country concerned, ..." As section 111(b) of title 35, United States Code, establishes such a filing date with respect to provisional patent applications, this requirement of the Paris Convention appears to be satisfied. To conclude otherwise would put into question the ability of domestic legislation to prescribe the requirements which must be fulfilled for a filing to be adequate to establish a filing date.

Article 4A(3) of the Paris Convention also states that "any filing that is adequate to establish the date on which the application was filed" is a regular national filing "whatever may be the subsequent fate of the application." Thus the question of whether a filing is to be considered as a "regular national filing" does not appear to depend on whether or not that filing may itself lead to the grant of a patent. Moreover, it is to be noted that applications for patents are recognized as giving rise to a right of priority under the Paris Convention even if it is clear from the outset that no patent can be granted upon such an application, for example, where the invention concerned is excluded from patenting.

Sincerely yours,

A. Bogsch

Docket No. 950411099-5099-01
RIN: 0651-AA52

Amendment to Rules for Extension of Patent Term

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce.
Action: Final Rule.
Summary: The Patent and Trademark Office (Office) is revising the rules directed to the extension of patent term to implement the provisions of Pub. L. 103-179, § 5; 107 Stat. 2040 codified at 35 U.S.C. 156(d)(5) and to clarify the requirements for eligibility. The amended rules establish procedures for the Commissioner to issue an interim extension of the term of a patent where the original term would expire before a product covered by the patent has received regulatory approval for commercial marketing or use. The amended rules also clarify that an application for patent term extension must be based on regulatory activities performed by the patent owner or its agent.
Effective Date: July 11, 1995.
For Further Information Contact: Gerald A. Dost by telephone at (703) 305-9285 or by mail addressed to Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231 marked to the attention of Mr. Dost, Office of the Deputy Assistant Commissioner for Patent Policy and Projects, or by FAX to (703) 308-6916.
Supplementary Information: Patent term extension has been available under 35 U.S.C. 156 for patents that claim certain products that are subject to regulatory review before being commercially marketed or used. Prior to enactment of 35 U.S.C. 156(d)(5), eligibility for patent term extension was dependent on regulatory approval of the product before the original patent term expired. 35 U.S.C. 156(d)(5) has made it possible, under appropriate circumstances, to obtain interim extensions of patent term where the regulatory process is likely to extend beyond the expiration of the patent term.

One purpose of the amended rules is to revise the present regulations contained in 37 CFR Part 1, Subpart F, to include provisions for interim extension of the patent term prior to regulatory approval of the product that can now form the basis of patent term extension. The amended rules set forth procedures that govern the content and submission of applications for an interim extension of a patent term, and procedures governing the interim extension determination and issuance of interim patent term extension certificates by the Office.

The initial guidelines directed to the preparation and filing of applications for interim extensions of patent terms as authorized by 35 U.S.C. 156(d)(5), were published as "Guidelines For Interim Extension Under 35 U.S.C. § 156(d)(5) of a Patent Term Prior To Regulatory Approval of a Product For Commercial Marketing or Use - Public Law 103-179 (December 3, 1993)" in the Official Gazette at 1159 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 12 (February 1, 1994). The Final Rule supplements these initial guidelines. To the extent that they conflict with the interim guidelines, the Final Rule governs.

It is important to keep in mind the distinction between an interim patent term extension under § 156(e)(2) and the interim patent term extension provided for by 35 U.S.C. 156(d)(5), under § 156(d)(5). The former applies after regulatory approval has occurred and is addressed in 37 CFR 1.760. Interim patent term extensions under § 156(e)(2) are not affected by the amendments to the rules. The latter applies before regulatory approval has occurred and is addressed in 37 CFR 1.780 and 1.790.

The eligibility criteria for obtaining an interim extension under § 156(d)(5) are substantially the same as for obtaining patent term extension under § 156 after regulatory approval has occurred. Under the provisions of 35 U.S.C. 156(d)(5), a patent owner or its agent may submit an application for an interim patent term extension within six months, but not later than 15 days, of the original expiration date of the patent. At the time the application is submitted, the regulatory review period must have advanced to the approval phase as defined in § 156(g), but must not have ended. For a new drug, for example, the approval phase is defined in § 156(g)(1)(B)(ii) as the period beginning on the date a new drug application was initially submitted for the new drug under § 505 of the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act.

The content of the application for interim extension is the same as for an application for patent term extension following regulatory review, with certain modifications necessitated by the circumstances. For example, the application for interim term extension will not be required to contain information about regulatory approval since that event has not occurred. A fee is required for each interim extension application filed before regulatory approval occurs - $400.00 for the initial application for interim extension and $200.00 for each supplementary application for interim extension.

The processing of an application for interim patent term extension under 35 U.S.C. 156(d)(5), will not require transmission of a copy of the application to the regulatory agency. However, it is contemplated that the Office will consult with the regulatory agency, as it has been doing for the past 10 years under § 156, on the question of eligibility for patent term extension.

If the patent is eligible for extension but for the fact that it is still under regulatory review, the Office can extend the patent term in one-year increments not to exceed five years from the expiration date. Any such extension would terminate 60 days after market approval. Before the 60-day period expires, the patentee could submit an application for patent term extension, supplying any additional information necessary to obtain any additional extension available under § 156.

The interim extension of patent term available under § 156(d)(5) cannot exceed the extension from the original patent term that would be available after regulatory approval. Thus, for example, a patent that was subject to the two-year extension limitation of § 156(g)(6)(C), could not obtain interim extension beyond two years from the original patent term expiration date. However, after an interim extension under § 156(d)(5) has been granted, the amount of patent term extension available after regulatory review is controlled by either § 156(d)(5) or § 156(g)(6)(A) or (B). In no case would the extension go beyond five years from the original expiration date of the patent. However, for those situations falling under § 156(g)(6)(C), where regulatory approval occurs within the two-year period after the original expiration date of the patent, the extension after approval is measured from the date on which the product receives permission for commercial marketing or use. § 156(d)(5)(E)(ii).

Review of recent applications for patent term extension has revealed that the provisions of 37 CFR 1.785(c) may be read as being inconsistent with 35 U.S.C. 156. The statute requires that an application for patent term extension be filed by the patent owner or its agent. 35 U.S.C. 156(d)(1). The statute further requires under § 156(d)(1)(D) a description of the activities undertaken by the applicant (i.e., the patent owner or its agent) during the regulatory review period, and specifies in § 156(d)(2)(B)(i) that the lack of due diligence by the applicant during the regulatory review period may be taken into account. Given these statutory requirements, the Office has held that in order to be eligible for patent term extension, the patent owner or its agent must have undertaken the activities that lead to regulatory approval. If a patent owner has not been involved, either directly or indirectly, in the regulatory review process, that patent owner has not lost any effective patent life since it never invested time and resources necessary to obtain approval for commercial marketing or use. Accordingly, to the extent that 37 CFR 1.785 could be interpreted to permit a patent owner to obtain a patent term extension where neither the patent owner nor its agent were responsible for activities leading to regulatory approval, it was misleading and contrary to both the letter and intent of § 156.

A notice of proposed rulemaking relating to Amendment to Rules for Extension of Patent Term was published in the Federal Register, 59 FR 56015, (November 10, 1994) and in the Official Gazette, 1169 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 33 (December 13, 1994). A sole comment was received in response to this notice, but no change has been made in the text of the proposed amendments and additions to the rules.

The comment was directed to the proposed amendment to 37 CFR 1.785(c) when taken in light of 35 U.S.C. 156. The comment suggested that the party in interest before the regulatory agency (e.g., the Food and Drug Administration) should be the party to obtain a patent term extension, whether that party is the patent owner or licensee, and regardless of any "agency" relationship which may exist between the two with respect to such regulatory proceedings. This may be accomplished, it was argued, by construing the term "applicant" in 35 U.S.C. 156(d)(1)(D) and (d)(2)(B)(i) to mean the "applicant for regulatory approval."

In response, it is clear that under 35 U.S.C. 156(a)(3) and (d)(1), the "applicant" for patent term extension shall be either the "owner of record of the patent" or the party which may be construed to be "its agent," which requirement is repeated in 35 U.S.C. 156(d)(5)(A) and (d)(5)(C) with regard to interim extensions. Indeed, to hold otherwise in the manner suggested in the comment would violate the plain meaning of 35 U.S.C. 156(c)(1), which requires that the patent term extension period be reduced by the time that the "applicant for patent extension did not act with due diligence during such period of the regulatory review period." This section not only cites 35 U.S.C. 156(d)(2)(B) but also is consistent with the required description of activities undertaken during the applicable regulatory period set forth in 35 U.S.C. 156(d)(1)(D). The statute thus specifically requires that the application for patent term extension contain a description of the activities performed by the patent owner or its agent before the regulatory agency with regard to such proceedings, 35 U.S.C. 156(d)(1)(D), and further specifies that the lack of due diligence by the patent owner or its agent during the regulatory review period may be taken into account, 35 U.S.C. 156(c)(1) and (d)(2)(B)(i).

In addition to the constraints of the statutory language, the comment fails to identify any justification for granting a term extension on a patent where the patent owner has not, either directly or indirectly, incurred either the significant costs associated with regulatory approval or any delay in the commercial marketing of a product. Since the patent term extension provisions of § 156 are intended to be remedial in nature, providing a patent term extension to a patent owner who has not been harmed by the delay and costs associated with regulatory approval of a product would provide an unintended benefit to such a patent owner. In addition, providing a patent term extension to a patent owner that did not participate in the regulatory review process could also frustrate an important purpose of the statute, that is, to encourage companies to make the significant investment necessary to obtain regulatory approval and distribute the pharmaceutical product to the public, rather than placing a non-participating patent owner in a position to keep the product off the market during the extended term, to the detriment of the party that made the significant investment necessary to obtain regulatory approval.

Accordingly, not only does the plain language of the statute prohibit the statutory interpretation suggested in the comment, but also the purpose of the statute would not be ffilfilled by construing "applicant" to mean the applicant for regulatory review.

Discussion of Specific Rules:

Section 1.750 is being amended, as proposed, to provide for an eligibility determination which will be made on applications for interim extension filed in compliance with § 1.790. The section is further modified to limit the mailing of a notice of a final determination to applications filed in compliance with § 1.740 after the regulatory approval process is complete.

Section 1.760 is being amended, as proposed, to require that the title recite that the section is directed to requests for interim extensions of patent term under 35 U.S.C. 156(e)(2), to distinguish it from interim extensions available under 35 U.S.C. 156(d)(5), addressed in § 1.780.

Section 1.765(a) is being amended, as proposed, to change the phrase (two occurrences) "the Office of the Secretary" to read "the Office or the Secretary." The change provides that the applicant has a duty of disclosure to both the Patent and Trademark Office and the Secretary of Health and Human Services or the Secretary of Agriculture.

Section 1.780 is being amended, as proposed, to provide that a certificate of interim extension under 35 U.S.C. 156(d)(5) will be issued to the applicant. Section 1.780 also provides for notification of the issuance of the certificate of interim extension under 35 U.S.C. 156(d)(5), including the identity of the product currently under regulatory review, to be published in the Federal Register.

Section 1.785 is being amended, as proposed, to require the applicant for extension, i.e., the patent owner or its agent, to also have been the marketing applicant who obtained regulatory approval of the product for commercial marketing or use. While regulatory approval can be obtained by a party other than the patent owner, that other party must have been an agent of the patent owner when obtaining the regulatory approval in order for the patent owner to be eligible to apply for extension of the patent term.

Section 1.790 is being added, as proposed, to provide for one or more interim extensions for periods of up to one year for patents where the applicable regulatory review period described in paragraph (1)(B)(ii), (2)(B)(ii), (3)(B)(ii), (4)(B)(ii), or (5)(B)(ii) of 35 U.S.C. 156(g) that began for the patented product may extend beyond the expiration of the patent term in effect.

Paragraph (a) of added § 1.790 defines the time periods in which the initial interim extension application and each subsequent interim extension application must be filed in the Office. In no event will interim extensions be granted under proposed § 1.790 for a period of extension longer than that to which the applicant would be entitled to under 35 U.S.C. 156(c).

Paragraph (b) of added § 1.790 establishes that the content requirements for the initial interim extension applications are substantially the same as the content requirements for a formal application for extension of patent term under § 1.740 and a complete application under § 1.741, except that the content requirements relate to a product currently undergoing regulatory review. In other words, the interim extension applications contain information available to the patent owner or its agent at the time the application is filed.

Paragraph (c) of added § 1.790 permits each interim extension application after the initial interim extension application to be limited to a request for a subsequent interim extension along with a statement that the regulatory review period has not been completed and any materials or information required under §§ 1.740 and 1.741 not present in the preceding interim extension application.

Section § 1.791 is being added, as proposed, to provide that any interim extension granted under 35 U.S.C. 156(d)(5) terminates at the end of the 60-day period beginning on the date on which the product involved receives permission for commercial marketing or use. If within that 60-day period the patent owner or its agent files additional information required under 35 U.S.C. 156(d)(1) not contained in the applications for interim extension, the patent shall be further extended in accordance with the provisions of 35 U.S.C. 156.

Other Considerations:

These rule changes are in conformity with the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 601 et seq., Executive Order 12612, and the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.

The Assistant General Counsel for Legislation and Regulation of the Department of Commerce has certified to the Chief Counsel for Advocacy, Small Business Administration, that these rules will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities (Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 605(b)), because the rules would affect only a very small number of patents eligible for interim patent term extension.

The Patent and Trademark Office has also determined that this notice has no Federalism implications affecting the relationship between the National Govemment and the States as outlined in Executive Order 12612.

These rule changes contain collection of information requirements subject to the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 35 U.S.C. 156(d)(5) 3501 et seq., which have previously been approved by the Office of Management and Budget under Control Number 0651-0020. The public reporting burden for this collection of information for Petition Extension is estimated to average 60 hours each, including the time for reviewing instructions, searching existing data sources, gathering and maintaining the data needed, and completing and reviewing the collections of information. Send comments regarding this burden estimate, or any other aspect of this collection of information, including suggestions for reducing the burden, to Gerald A. Dost, Office of the Deputy Assistant Commissioner for Patent Policy and Projects, Box DAC, Washington, D.C. 20231, and to the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs, Office of Management and Budget, Washington, D.C. 20503 (ATTN: Paperwork Reduction Act Projects 0651-0020).

3. Section 1.750 is revised to read as follows:

§ 1.750 Determination of eligibility for extension of patent term

A determination as to whether a patent is eligible for extension may be made by the Commissioner solely on the basis of the representations contained in the application for extension filed in compliance with § 1.740 or § 1.790. This determination may he delegated to appropriate Patent and Trademark Office officials and may be made at any time before the certificate of extension is issued. The Commissioner or other appropriate officials may require from applicant further information or make such independent inquiries as desired before a final determination is made on whether a patent is eligible for extension. In an application for extension filed in compliance with § 1.740, a notice will be mailed to applicant containing the determination as to the eligibility of the patent for extension and the period of time of the extension, if any. This notice shall constitute the final determination as to the eligibility and any period of extension of the patent. A single request for reconsideration of a final determination may be made if filed by the applicant within such time as may be set in the notice of final determination or, if no time is set, within one month from the date of the final determination. The time periods set forth herein are subject to the provisions of § 1.136.

§ 1.765 Duty of disclosure in patent term extension proceedings

(a) A duty of candor and good faith toward the Patent and Trademark Office and the Secretary of Health and Human Services or the Secretary of Agriculture rests on the patent owner or its agent, on each attorney or agent who represents the patent owner and on every other individual who is substantively involved on behalf of the patent owner in a patent term extension proceeding. All such individuals who are aware, or become aware, of material information adverse to a determination of entitlement to the extension sought, which has not been previously made of record in the patent term extension proceeding must bring such information to the attention of the Office or the Secretary, as appropriate, in accordance with paragraph (b) of this section, as soon as it is practical to do so after the individual becomes aware of the information. Information is material where there is a substantial likelihood that the Office or the Secretary would consider it important in determinations to be made in the patent term extension proceeding.

6. Section 1.780 is revised to read as follows:

§ 1.780 Certificate of extension of patent term

If a determination is made pursuant to § 1.750 that a patent is eligible for extension and that the term of the patent is to be extended, a certificate of extension, under seal, or certificate of interim extension under 35 U.S.C. 156(d)(5) will be issued to the applicant for the extension of the patent term. Such certificate will be recorded in the official file of the patent and will be considered as part of the original patent. Notification of the issuance of the certificate of extension will be published in the Official Gazette of the Patent and Trademark Office. Notification of the issuance of the certificate of interim extension under 35 U.S.C. 156(d)(5), including the identity of the product currently under regulatory review, will be published in the Official Gazette of the Patent and Trademark Office and in the Federal Register. No certificate of extension will be issued if the term of the patent cannot be extended, even though the patent is otherwise determined to be eligible for extension. In such situations the final determination made pursuant to § 1.750 will indicate that no certificate will issue.

7. Section 1.785 is revised to read as follows:

§ 1.785 Multiple applications for extension of term of the same patent or of different patents for the same regulatory review period for a product

(a) Only one patent may be extended for a regulatory review period for any product § 1.720 (h)). If more than one application for extension of the same patent is filed, the certificate of extension of patent term, if appropriate, will be issued based upon the first filed application for extension.

(b) If more than one application for extension is filed by a single applicant which seeks the extension of the term of two or more patents based upon the same regulatory review period, and the patents are otherwise eligible for extension pursuant to the requirements of this subpart, in the absence of an election by the applicant, the certificate of extension of patent term, if appropriate, will be issued upon the application for extension of the patent term having the earliest date of issuance of those patents for which extension is sought.

(c) If an application for extension is filed which seeks the extension of the term of a patent based upon the same regulatory review period as that relied upon in one or more applications for extension pursuant to the requirements of this subpart, the certificate of extension of patent term will be issued on the application only if the patent owner or its agent is the holder of the regulatory approval granted with respect to the regulatory review period.

(d) An application for extension shall be considered complete and formal regardless of whether it contains the identification of the holder of the regulatory approval granted with respect to the regulatory review period. When an application contains such information, or is amended to contain such information, it will be considered in determining whether an application is eligible for an extension under this section. A request may be made of any applicant to supply such information within a non-extendable period of not less than one (1) month whenever multiple applications for extension of more than one patent are received and rely upon the same regulatory review period. Failure to provide such information within the period for response set shall be regarded as conclusively establishing that the applicant is not the holder of the regulatory approval.

(e) Determinations made under this section shall be included in the notice of final determination of eligibility for extension of the patent term pursuant to § 1.750 and shall be regarded as part of that determination.

8. Section 1.790 is added to read as follows:

§ 1.790 Interim extension of patent term under 35 U.S.C. 156(d)(5)

(a) An owner of record of a patent or its agent who reasonably expects that the applicable regulatory review period described in paragraph (1)(B)(ii), (2)(B)(ii), (3)(B)(ii), (4)(B)(ii), or (5)(B)(ii) of subsection (g) that began for a product that is the subject of such patent may extend beyond the expiration of the patent term in effect may submit one or more applications for interim extensions for periods of up to one year each. The initial application for interim extension must be filed during the period beginning 6 months and ending 15 days before the patent term is due to expire. Each subsequent application for interim extension must be filed during the period beginning 60 days before and ending 30 days before the expiration of the preceding interim extension. In no event will the interim extensions granted under this section be longer than the maximum period of extension to which the applicant would be entitled under 35 U.S.C. 156(c).

(b) A complete application for interim extension under this section shall include all of the information required for a formal application under § 1.740 and a complete application under § 1.741. Sections (a)(1), (a)(2), (a)(4), and (a)(6) - (a)(17) of § 1.740 and § 1.741 shall be read in the context of a product currently undergoing regulatory review. Sections (a)(3) and (a)(5) of § 1.740 are not applicable to an application for interim extension under this section.

(c) The content of each subsequent interim extension application may be limited to a request for a subsequent interim extension along with a statement that the regulatory review period has not been completed along with any materials or information required under § 1.740 and § 1.741 that are not present in the preceding interim extension application.

9. Section 1.791 is added to read as follows:

§ 1.791 Termination of interim extension granted prior to regulatory approval of a product for commercial marketing or use

Any interim extension granted under 35 U.S.C. 156(d)(5) terminates at the end of the 60-day period beginning on the date on which the product involved receives permission for commercial marketing or use. If within that 60-day period the patent owner or its agent files an application for extension under § 1.740 and § 1.741 including any additional information required under 35 U.S.C. 156(d)(1) not contained in the application for interim extension, the patent shall be further extended in accordance with the provisions of 35 U.S.C. 156.

(83) GUIDELINES FOR INTERIM EXTENSION UNDER 35 U.S.C. § 156(d)(5) OF A PATENT TERM PRIOR TO REGULATORY APPROVAL OF A PRODUCT FOR COMMERCIAL MARKETING OR USE - PUBLIC LAW 103-179 (December 3, 1993)

This notice is intended to establish initial guidelines for patent owners who are seeking interim extensions of patent terms pursuant to newly enacted 35 U.S.C. § 156(d)(5). These guidelines will be in effect until further notice. These guidelines do not affect the rights of a patent owner or the procedures to request interim extensions under 35 U.S.C. § 156(e)(2).

Section 156(d)(5)(A) of Title 35, United States Code, provides that a patent owner seeking an interim extension of the terms of a patent pursuant to its provisions must submit an application to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks (Commissioner) within a certain defined period of time. Section 156(d)(5) specifies certain components the application is to contain, including "such patent or other information as the Commissioner may require." See 35 U.S.C. § 156(d)(5)(A)(v). Section 156(h) provides that the "Commissioner may establish such fees as the Commissioner determines appropriate to cover the costs to the Office of receiving and acting upon applications under this section." The purpose of this notice is to provide guidelines which a patent owner or its agent should use in (1) deciding whether the requirements for the submission of an application for an interim extension of the term of a patent are satisfied, and (2) making the submission of such an application to the Patent and Trademark Office.

This notice includes guidelines as to the actual content of an application for interim extension of the term of a patent. The guidelines should be used in determining whether a patent is subject to, and meets the conditions for interim extension of its term under section 156(d)(5). The guidelines should also be used in preparing and filing an application for interim extension of the patent term. If any application for interim extension of the term of a patent is filed in accordance with 35 U.S.C. ¿ 156(d)(5), but is not in compliance with the requirements of this notice, applicant will be notified of the deficiences in the application and will be given a period of time within which to correct the deficiences.

Changes to Implement 18-Month Publication of Patent Applications

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce.
Action: Notice of proposed rulemaking.
Summary: The Patent and Trademark Office (Office) is proposing to amend the rules of practice in patent cases primarily to implement changes related to the 18-month publication of patent applications in title 35, United States Code, contained in the Patent Application Publication Act of 1995 (H.R. 1733). Among the changes that are contained in H.R. 1733 would be the publication of patent applications after 18 months from the earliest filing date for which a benefit is sought, and the addition of provisional rights to the rights provided in a patent. These changes would apply to utility and plant applications other than provisional applications, but not to design applications. H.R. 1733 was introduced in the House of Representatives on May 25, 1995. The amendments to title 35 relating to 18-month publication, if enacted as proposed, would be effective on January 1, 1996.
Dates: A public hearing will be held on Tuesday, September 19, 1995, at the Holiday Inn - National Airport, 15th Street and Jefferson Davis Highway, Arlington, Virginia, at 9:30 a.m. Those wishing to present oral testimony must request an opportunity to do so no later than September 14, 1995. Written comments must be submitted on or before September 19, 1995.
Addresses: Address written comments and requests to present oral testimony to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231, Attention: Stephen G. Kunin, Deputy Assistant Commissioner for Patent Policy and Projects. In addition, written comments may also be sent by facsimile transmission to (703) 305-8825, with a confirmation copy mailed to the above address, or by electronic mail messages over the Internet to early-pub@uspto.gov.

Written comments should include the following information:

- name and affiliation of the individual responding;
- an indication of whether comments offered represent views of the respondent's organization or are the respondent's personal views; and
- if applicable, information on the respondent's organization, including the type of organization (e.g., business, trade group, university, non-profit organization).

Parties mailing written comments are asked to provide their comments in machine readable format. Machine-readable submissions may be provided on a 3 1/2 inch floppy disk formatted for use in either a Macintosh or MSDOS-based computer. Machine-readable submissions should be provided as unformatted text (e.g., ASCII or plain text), or as formatted text in one of the following file formats: Microsoft Word (Macintosh, DOS or Windows versions) or WordPerfect (Macintosh, DOS or Windows versions).

Written comments and transcripts of the hearings will be available for public inspection on or about October 2, 1995, in Room 520 of Crystal Park One, 2011 Crystal Drive, Arlington, Virginia, and will be available on or about October 2, 1995, through anonymous file transfer protocol (ftp) via the Internet (address: ftp.uspto.gov).

For Further Information Contact: Stephen G. Kunin by telephone at (703) 305-8850, by facsimile at (703) 305-8825, by electronic mail at rbahr@uspto.gov, or Jeffrey V. Nase by telephone at (703) 305-9285, or by mail marked to the attention of Stephen G. Kunin, addressed to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231.

Supplementary Information

This proposed rule change is designed primarily to implement the changes in practice related to the publication of patent applications provided for in H.R. 1733. A copy of this legislation may be obtained from the individuals identified in the "For Further Information Contact" section of the notice.

Section 122 of title 35, United States Code, currently provides that patent applications are maintained in confidence until a patent is granted. H.R. 1733, if enacted, would amend 35 U.S.C. 122 to provide that each application for patent, except for design applications filed under 35 U.S.C. 171 and provisional applications filed under 35 U.S.C. 111(b), shall be published "as soon as possible after the expiration of a period of 18 months from the earliest filing date for which a benefit is sought," but provides that applications that are no longer pending and applications that are subject to a secrecy order under 35 U.S.C. 181 shall not be published.

H.R. 1733 includes a provision (35 U.S.C. 122(b)(2)) that, upon request, an application of an independent inventor who has been accorded status under 35 U.S.C. 41(h) will not be published until three months after an Office action under 35 U.S.C. 132; however, applications filed under 35 U.S.C. 363 and applications claiming the benefit of an earlier filing date under 35 U.S.C. 119, 120, 121, 365(a) or 365(c) are not eligible for such a request. In addition, H.R. 1733 provides that an applicant making such a request must certify that the invention disclosed in the application was not or will not be the subject of an application filed in a foreign country. H.R. 1733 provides that the Commissioner may establish appropriate procedures and fees for such a request.

H.R. 1733, if enacted, would further amend 35 U.S.C. 119 to provide that the claim and certified copy of the original foreign application must be filed in the Office at such time during the pendency of the application as required by the Commissioner, and that the Commissioner may consider the failure of the applicant to file a timely claim for priority as a waiver of any such claim. H.R. 1733, if enacted, would likewise amend 35 U.S.C. 120 to provide that the Commissioner may determine the time period during the pendency of the application within which an amendment containing the specific reference to the earlier filed application shall be submitted, and that the Commissioner may consider the failure of the applicant to file a timely claim for priority as a waiver of any such claim.

H.R. 1733, if enacted, would further amend 35 U.S.C. 102(e) to include applications published pursuant to 35 U.S.C. 122(b) within its scope. H.R. 1733, if enacted, would provide that the costs of early publication shall be recovered by adjusting the filing, issue and maintenance fees, by charging a separate publication fee, or by any combination of these methods. H.R. 1733, if enacted, would also provide that, upon issuance of the application as a patent, the patent shall, where the invention claimed in the patent is identical to the invention claimed in the published application, include provisional rights during the period from publication until issuance of the patent.

H.R. 1733 also includes amendments relating to 20-year patent term and provisional applications. Specifically, H.R. 1733 includes an amendment to 35 U.S.C. 119(e) to provide that if the day that is twelve months after the filing date of a provisional application falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or Federal holiday within the District of Columbia, the period of pendency of the provisional application shall be extended to the next succeeding secular or business day. H.R. 1733 also includes an amendment to 35 U.S.C. 154(b) to: (1) include an unusual administrative delay by the Office in issuing the patent as a basis for patent term extension; (2) provide that the total duration of all extensions under 35 U.S.C. 154(b) shall not exceed ten years, as opposed to the five year limit currently provided in Public Law 103-465; (3) provide that no patent that has issued before the expiration of three years after the filing date of the application or entry of the application into the national stage under 35 U.S.C. 371 shall be extended under 35 U.S.C. 154(b); (4) provide that no patent whose term has been disclaimed beyond a specified date shall be extended under 35 U.S.C. 154(b) beyond the expiration date specified in the terminal disclaimer, and (5) provide that any period of extension under 35 U.S.C. 154(b) shall be reduced by the period during which the applicant for patent did not engage in reasonable efforts to conclude processing or examination of the application, rather than the "due diligence" provision applicable to extensions under 35 U.S.C. 154(b)(2) in Public Law 103-465.

The current planning approach to the implementation of early publication is to create an electronic data base which captures the technical content, i.e., the specification, abstract, claims and drawings, of the application-as-filed. A data capturing operation will enable the creation of a data base containing image and text equivalent of the technical contents of the application-as-filed. Application materials will be digital image and/or optical character recognition (OCR) scanned by the Office for entry into this electronic data base. This electronic data base will be used to provide a source for (a) meeting publication requirements for the applications, (b) providing a basis for electronic searching and retrieval of applications, and (c) providing a basis for producing copies of the technical contents of the application-as-filed. The publication of an application will take the form of publishing information necessary to identify the applicant and the technical subject matter of the application, i.e., a Gazette Entry, in a separate Gazette of Patent Application Notices, with a one-page printed publication, i.e., a Patent Application Notice or PAN, containing similar information for placement in the paper search files. Published applications will be assigned a sequential Patent Application Notice (PAN) number in the manner that issued patents are assigned a sequential patent number. In addition, a document including the Patent Application Notice and the technical contents of the application-as-filed, designated as the Technical Contents Publication, will be available to the public upon publication.

The digital images of the technical contents of the application- as-filed, i.e., the Technical Contents Publication, will be available for public review. Paper copies of the Patent Application Notice and Technical Contents Publication will also be available for purchase similar to the way paper copies of patents are currently available for purchase. When budgetary and process considerations permit, text searching of the Patent Application Notice and Technical Contents Publication will be implemented.

The information provided to Patent and Trademark Depository Libraries will be expanded to include weekly issues of the Gazette of Patent Application Notices (provided by the Government Printing Office), and a CD-ROM collection of facsimile images of the Patent Application Notices and Technical Contents Publications. The public would also be able to place subscription orders to receive weekly paper copies of the Patent Application Notices and Technical Contents Publications published in specific classes and subclasses similar to the way such orders are currently placed for issued patents, as well as subscription orders to receive the CD-ROM collection of facsimile images of the Patent Application Notices and Technical Contents Publications.

H.R. 1733, as proposed, does not specifically exclude applications that are national security classified from those applications to be published. Executive Order 12356 and a number of statutes, e.g., 42 U.S.C. 2011 et seq. (the Atomic Energy Act of 1954), 15 U.S.C. 1155 (provides that the Secretary of Commerce shall respect and preserve the security classification of inventions in the possession or control of the Department of Commerce), and 18 U.S.C. 798 (provides criminal sanctions for the disclosure of classified information) preclude the publication of a national security classified application. Further, the publication requirement in H.R. 1733, as proposed, provides some latitude to the Commissioner to publish applications later than 18 months from the earliest filing date for which a benefit is sought. Therefore, the publication of a national security classified application will be delayed until such application is either declassified, which will permit publication of the application, or subjected to a secrecy order pursuant to 35 U.S.C. 181, which will exclude the application from publication by the express terms of H.R. 1733, as proposed. In view of national security considerations, and the current statutory prohibitions on the disclosure of classified information, it is appropriate to specifically exclude those applications that are national security classified from publication under the provisions of H.R. 1733.

While H.R. 1733, if enacted, would not directly affect design applications, this notice of proposed rulemaking includes a proposed amendment to § 1.154 such that the arrangement for a design application will be consistent with the arrangements for a utility (§ 1.77) or plant (§ 1.163) application, as well as a proposed amendment to § 1.5 to provide that a paper concerning a provisional application must identify the provisional application as such and by application number. In addition, while this proposed rule change is designed primarily to implement the changes in practice related to the publication of patent applications provided for in H.R. 1733, a number of proposed rule changes set forth in this notice of proposed rulemaking would be desirable even in the absence of an 18-month publication system. Specifically, this proposed rule change is also designed to: (1) clarify which applications claiming the benefit of prior applications or prior applications for which a benefit is claimed in a later application will be preserved in confidence; (2) amend the rules pertaining to the format and standards for application papers and drawings to improve the standardization of patent applications; (3) broaden the application of § 1.131 to instances in which inventions of a pending application or patent under reexamination and a patent held by a single party are not identical, but not patentably distinct; (4) broaden the application of §§ 1.78(c) and (d) to patents under reexamination, (5) clarify the practice for the delivery or mailing of patents; (6) provide for the treatment of national security classified applications; (7) expedite the entry of international applications into the national stage; and (8) amend a number of rules for consistency and clarity. Since these proposed rule changes may be adopted as final rules even in the absence of an 18-month publication system, interested persons are advised to comment on any proposed rule change, regardless of whether H.R. 1733 is enacted. If H.R. 1733 is amended during the legislative process, the final rules will comply with this legislation as enacted. If H.R. 1733 is not enacted, the proposed rules that would implement publication of patent applications would be withdrawn.

In a Notice of Public Hearing and Request for Comments on 18-Month Publication of Patent Applications (18-Month Publication Notice) published in the Federal Register at 59 FR 63966 (December 12, 1994) and in the Patent and Trademark Office Official Gazette at 1170 Off. Gaz. Pat Office 390-94 (January 3, 1995), the Office requested public comment on the procedures the Office should adopt if an 18-month publication system was enacted. The 18-Month Publication Notice set forth the Office's planning approach for the implementation of 18-month (pre-grant) publication of patent applications, and specifically presented fourteen (14) questions on which comment was invited. An oral hearing was conducted on February 15, 1995.

Sixty-five (65) written comments, as well as two (2) Law Review articles concerning the pre-grant publication of pending patent applications, were submitted. Of the sixty-five (65) comments, forty (40) submitted comments directed to at least one of the questions presented in the 18-Month Publication Notice. Sixteen (16) persons testified at the public hearing conducted on February 15, 1995.

Response to Comments on the 18-Month Publication Notice

The following questions were presented in the 18-Month Publication Notice. Each question is followed by a summary of the comments submitted in response to the question, and the proposed disposition of the issue presented in the question.

1. Should the PTO require that all official application-related materials be delivered to a central location? Specifically, what problems would a requirement that all official application-related materials be delivered to a central location cause?

Summary: A slight majority of the comments opposed a requirement that all official application-related materials be delivered to a central location.

Response: As the Office currently considers the delivery of all official application-related materials to a central location to be unnecessary to the currently planned approach to implementation of 18-month publication, no change to the rules of practice to require that all official application-related materials be delivered to a central location will be proposed.

2. Should the PTO adopt a standard application format? If so, what portions of the application papers should the PTO require be submitted in a standard size and/or format, and what sanction (e.g., surcharge) should be established for the failure to comply with these requirements?

Summary: A majority of the comments favored the implementation of a standard application format, so long as an applicant was given a time period in which to comply with this format, i.e., failure to comply with the standard application format did not deprive the application of a filing date. In addition, a number of comments indicated that any additional requirements should not be inconsistent with European Patent Office (EPO) or Patent Cooperation Treaty (PCT) requirements, or in excess of those requirements necessary for the implementation of 18-month publication.

Response: The Office is proposing to change the rules of practice to institute only those additional standardizations which are consistent with the requirements set forth in PCT Rule 11, and are considered necessary for the digital image and OCR scanning of application materials into an electronic data base. Those additional standardizations are that: (1) applications be submitted on flexible, strong, smooth, non-shiny, durable and white paper (PCT Rule 11.3); (2) the papers be typewritten by a typewriter or word-processor, i.e., hand-written application materials would no longer be acceptable, with 1 1/2 or double spaced lines (PCT Rule 11.9(c)), and in permanent "dark" ink (PCT Rule 11.9(d)) and portrait orientation, i.e., with the shorter sides of the paper on the top and bottom (PCT Rule 11.2(d)); (3) the sheets of papers be the same size and either 21.0 cm. by 29.7 cm. (DIN size A4) or 21.6 cm. by 27.9 cm. (8 1/2 by 11 inches) (PCT Rule 11.5), with a top margin of at least 2.0 cm. (3/4 inch), a left side margin of at least 2.5 cm. (1 inch), a right side margin of at least 2.0 cm. (3/4 inch), and a bottom margin of at least 2.0 cm. (3/4 inch) (PCT Rule 11.6(a)); (4) the pages of the application be numbered consecutively, with the numbers being centrally located above or below the text (PCT Rule 11.7); and (5) the claims be on a separate sheet (PCT Rule 11.4). Finally, §§ 1.52(b) and 1.84(x) are proposed to be amended to provide that no holes should be provided in the paper or drawing sheets due to the potential for their interference with the scanning operation.

Section 1.52(b) currently requires that application papers be written on but one side, and § 1.72(b) currently requires that the abstract be on a separate sheet. In an application filed without: (1) typewritten application papers on flexible, strong, smooth, non-shiny, durable and white paper; (2) 1 1/2 or double spaced lines in portrait orientation; (3) permanent "dark" ink typing; (4) sheets of papers of the same size and either 21.0 cm. by 29.7 cm. (DIN size A4) or 21.6 cm. by 27.9 cm. (8 1/2 by 11 inches), with a top margin of at least 2.0 cm. (3/4 inch), a left side margin of at least 2.5 cm. (1 inch), a right side margin of at least 2.0 cm. (3/4 inch), and a bottom margin of at least 2.0 cm. (3/4 inch); (5) the pages of the application including claims and abstract be numbered consecutively, starting with page one, with the numbers being centrally located above or below the text; (6) application papers typed on but one side; and (7) an abstract and claims on a separate sheet, the applicant will be given a time period, non-extendable under § 1.136(a), in which to file a substitute specification in compliance with § 1.125 on application papers in compliance with §§ 1.52(a) and (b). The Office, however, does not propose to require a surcharge for the failure to comply with these standardizations on filing.

Additional standardizations to the rules of practice concerning drawings requirements are also being proposed. Currently, § 1.84(f) permits paper sizes of 21.6 cm. by 35.6 cm. (8 1/2 by 14 inches), 21.6 cm. by 33.1 cm. (8 1/2 by 13 inches), 21.6 cm. by 27.9 cm. (8 1/2 by 11 inches), and 21.0 cm. by 29.7 cm. (DIN size A4). Section 1.84(f), as proposed, would permit paper sizes of only 21.0 cm. by 29.7 cm. (DIN size A4) or 21.6 cm. by 27.9 cm. (8 1/2 by 11 inches). The use of these paper sizes, which correspond to the paper sizes required under § 1.52(b), as proposed, would not impact the current Automated Patent System (APS) database, and would permit a fully automatic scanning operation due to their similar size. To electronically store, display, and print drawings paper sheet sizes up to 21.6 cm. by 35.6 cm. (8 1/2 by 14 inches) would require modifications of the APS system hardware, software, displays, and printers. In addition, the digital image scanning of drawing paper sheet sizes up to 21.6 cm. by 35.6 cm. (8 1/2 by 14 inches) would require a semi-automatic scanning operation, thus increasing scanning costs significantly. Therefore, § 1.84(f), as proposed, would permit paper sheet sizes of only 21.0 cm. by 29.7 cm. (DIN size A4) or 21.6 cm. by 27.9 cm. (8 1/2 by 11 inches), with a top margin of at least 2.5 cm. (1 inch), a left side margin of at least 2.5 cm. (1 inch), a right side margin of at least 1.5 cm. (9/16 inch), and a bottom margin of at least 1.0 cm. (3/8 inch), thereby leaving a sight no greater than 17.0 cm. by 26.2 on 21.0 cm. by 29.7 cm. (DIN size A4) sheets, and a sight no greater than 17.6 cm. by 24.4 cm. (6 15/16 by 9 5/8 inches) on 21.6 cm. by 27.9 cm. (8 1/2 by 11 inch) sheets (PCT Rule 11.6(c)). As PCT Rule 11.6(d) provides that the margin requirements apply to 21.0 cm. by 29.7 cm. (DIN size A4) sheets such that a copy of the drawings sheet on a 21.0 cm. by 29.7 cm. (DIN size A4) sheet leaves the required margin, the requirement for drawing sheet sizes of only 21.6 cm. by 27.9 cm. (8 1/2 by 11 inches) or 21.0 cm. by 29.7 cm. (DIN size A4) is not a substantive drawing limitation in excess of PCT Rule 11.

Currently, formal drawings are not required until an application has been allowed. As a drawing figure will be included in the Gazette Entry in the Gazette of Patent Application Notices, as well as the Patent Application Notice, drawings of sufficient quality for digital image scanning into an electronic data base will be necessary for the initial processing of the application. In instances in which an application is filed with drawings of such poor quality as to preclude their digital image scanning into the electronic data base, it will be necessary to set a time period, non-extendable under § 1.136(a), in which to file drawings of sufficient clarity, contrast, and quality and in the proper size and format for electronic reproduction by digital imaging.

Currently, a complete application under § 1.51(a) does not require an abstract on a separate sheet, claims on a separate sheet, application papers typed on but one side of the paper, or application papers or drawings of sufficient clarity, contrast, or quality or in the proper size or format for electronic reproduction, and, as such, an application may be filed under § 1.60 from a prior application not in a format necessary for the image and/or OCR scanning of the application materials into an electronic data base. Therefore, an amendment to § 1.60(d) is necessary to assure the prompt filing of application papers including an abstract and claims on a separate sheet, application papers typed on but one side of the paper, and application papers and drawings of sufficient clarity, contrast, and quality and in the proper size and format for electronic reproduction.

Currently, the filing of the copy of the specification from the prior application, or a new specification, in an application filed under § 1.62 is considered improper. As applications filed prior to January 1, 1996, will not have been image- or OCR-scanned into the electronic data base, the technical contents of an application filed under § 1.62 in which the prior application was itself filed prior to January 1, 1996, will not be contained in the electronic data base. For applications under § 1.62 which do not add additional disclosure, i.e., continuation or divisional applications, the Office will obtain the microfiche copy of the prior application and image or OCR scan it into the electronic data base. For applications under § 1.62 which add additional disclosure, i.e., continuation-in-part applications, a substitute specification and drawings will be necessary for image or OCR scanning into the electronic data base. Therefore, an amendment has been proposed to § 1.62 to provide that, where the application is a continuation-in-part application, a substitute specification in compliance with § 1.125 and drawings will be required.

Section 1.62 currently provides that no copy of the prior application or new specification is required, and further provides that the filing of such a copy or specification will be considered improper, and a petition is necessary to obtain the date of deposit of the request for an application under § 1.62 as the filing date. Section 1.62, as proposed, would provide that the failure to provide any required substitute specification would not affect the filing date of the application, but a time period, non-extendable under § 1.136(a), would be set for its filing. Section 1.62, as proposed, would further provide that any new specification filed in an application under § 1.62 would not be considered part of the original application papers, but would be treated as a substitute specification under § 1.125. Any request to treat a new specification filed in an application under § 1.62 as part of the original application papers may be by way of petition under § 1.182.

Finally, amendments to §§ 1.77, 1.154, and 1.163 have been proposed to provide a standard arrangement for utility, design, and plant applications, respectively. This standard arrangement will include, inter alia, a Fee Transmittal form for utility, design, and plant applications, a Utility Patent Application Transmittal form, a Design Patent Application Transmittal form, a Plant Patent Application Transmittal form, and a Plant Color Coding Sheet for plant applications. Standardized versions of the Fee Transmittal form, Utility Patent Application Transmittal form, Design Patent Application Transmittal form, Plant Patent Application Transmittal form, Plant Color Coding Sheet, as well as a standard Declaration form and Plant Patent Application Declaration form, are included as an Appendix A to this notice of proposed rulemaking.

3. Assuming that the entire application is not published, what information concerning the application should be published in the Gazette of Patent Application Notices?

Summary: A slight majority of the comments indicated that the printed publication should include the entire application, or at least the claims, each independent claim, or a claim of each statutory class in the application. The remaining comments that did not oppose pre-grant publication indicated that any Patent Application Notice should contain information similar to what is published in the Official Gazette or sufficient information to determine whether further investigation was warranted. Those comments that opposed any pre-grant publication opposed publication of any information other than the applicant's name, address and a "non-enabling" abstract of the invention.

Response: The Technical Contents Publication will include a copy of the Patent Application Notice, and the specification, abstract, claims and drawings of the application-as-filed. The Technical Contents Publication will be available for public review through video display terminals in the Public Search Room and through CD-ROM collections of facsimile images of Patent Application Notices and Technical Contents Publications in the Patent and Trademark Depository Libraries. Copies of the Patent Application Notices and Technical Contents Publications will also be available for purchase under the conditions that paper copies of patents are currently available for purchase. When budgetary and process constraints permit, text searching of the Patent Application Notices and Technical Contents Publications will be implemented.

H.R. 1733, if enacted, would not provide any appropriations to cover the costs of early publication, but would provide that these costs are to be recovered by adjusting the filing, issue and maintenance fees, by charging a separate publication fee, or by any combination of these methods, i.e., that the patent applicant is to bear the costs of publication. A number of comments have criticized this method of allocating the publication costs as pre-grant publication provides no benefit to the patent applicant. The Office was required to balance the requests for a printed publication conveying the greatest amount of application information with those comments opposing additional publication costs. To provide the maximum amount of application information at the lowest cost to applicant, the specification, abstract, claims and drawings of the application-as-filed will be available for public review in the Technical Contents Publication.

4. Should the patent applicant receive a copy of the published application — either published notice and/or application content at time of publication?

Summary: A majority of the comments indicated that the applicant should receive a copy of the Patent Application Notice.

Response: The Office proposes to provide for the delivery of the Patent Application Notice similar to the current delivery of patents.

5. Should the PTO permit an accelerated examination? If so, under what conditions?

Summary: A majority of the comments favored permitting accelerated examination. A number of comments indicated that accelerated examination should be provided for applicants who either: (1) meet the current conditions for accelerated examination; or (2) pay a relatively high fee, i.e., that the Office should add the payment of a high accelerated examination fee to the current conditions for providing an accelerated examination. A number of comments, however, indicated that adding the payment of a high accelerated examination fee to those conditions for providing an accelerated examination would benefit large companies at the expense of small entities.
Response: The Office will provide accelerated examination only under the current conditions set forth in § 1.102, as described in MPEP 708.02. Accelerated examination is currently provided depending upon the subject matter of the invention, medical condition of the applicant, business circumstances, or the willingness of the applicant to participate in a special accelerated examination procedure. Increasing the number of applications receiving accelerated examinations could diminish the availability or speed of accelerated examination to an individual applicant because there will be more applications receiving an accelerated examination. It would further delay the examination of applications not provided with accelerated examination. Adding a condition for providing accelerated examination which bears no relationship to the merits of the application or circumstances of the applicant, i.e., for the mere payment of a fee, is not considered appropriate. Therefore, the Office does not propose to change the conditions under which the examination of an application will be accelerated.

The Office, however, will continue to make special an application under the conditions currently set forth in MPEP 708.02 (VIII), special examining procedures for certain new applications - accelerated examination. MPEP 708.02 (VIII) provides that a new application may be granted special status provided that the applicant: (1) submits a written petition to make special accompanied by the fee set forth in § 1.17(i); (2) presents all claims directed to a single invention, or if the Office determines that all the claims presented are not obviously directed to a single invention, will make an election without traverse as a prerequisite to the grant of special status; (3) submits a statement that a pre-examination search was made; (4) submits one copy each of the references deemed most closely related to the subject matter encompassed by the claims; (5) submits a detailed discussion of the references pointing out with the particularity required by § 1.111(b) and (c) how the claimed subject matter is distinguishable over the references; and (6) submits any affidavit or declaration under § 1.131 that is necessary to overcome the references before the application is taken up for action, but in no event later than one month after request for special status. An application granted special status under MPEP 708.02 (VIII) will be taken up by the examiner before all other categories of applications except those clearly in condition for allowance and those with set time limits, such as examiner's answers, etc., and will be given a complete first action which will include all essential matters of merit as to all claims.

6. Since the cost for publishing applications must be recovered from fees, how should the cost of publication be allocated among the various fees, including the possibility of charging a separate publication fee?

Summary: The overwhelming majority of comments opposed a separate publication fee. Most comments indicated that the costs of publication should be spread over the existing fees, with the remaining comments indicating that these costs should be absorbed by those accessing the published applications or the Office.
Response: H.R. 1733, if enacted, would not provide appropriations for the Office to absorb the publication cost, but provides that the "Commissioner shall recover the costs of early publication ... by adjusting the filing, issue, and maintenance fees, by charging a separate publication fee, or by any combination of these methods." Notwithstanding that H.R. 1733, if enacted, would not authorize the Office to recover the costs of publication through those seeking access to the published application, the demand for publication products, e.g., Patent Application Notices and Technical Contents Publications, would not be consistent, and it would not be possible to project the demand for publication products with the degree of precision necessary to recover a substantial portion of the publication costs through the inclusion of such costs in the fees charged for the publication products. In addition, the Office will supply, inter alia, CD-ROM collections of facsimile images of the Patent Application Notices and Technical Contents Publications under the condition that CD-ROM collections of patent images are currently supplied. As the Office has no authority to control the further duplication of such images, it would not be practicable to attempt to recover publication costs through increases in the fees charged for publication products, since those persons desiring copies of Patent Application Notices or Technical Contents Publications would simply obtain them from the original purchasers of the CD-ROM collections, who need not include any publication costs in their prices. Therefore, the Office proposes to adjust the filing, issue, and maintenance fees to recover the costs of publication.

In a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking published in the Federal Register at 60 FR 27934 (May 26, 1995) and in the Patent and Trademark Office Official Gazette at 1174 Off. Gaz. Pat Office 134-50 (May 30, 1995), a number of changes to the rules of practice to, inter alia, adjust patent and trademark fees to reflect the fluctuations in the Consumer Price Index (CPI) pursuant to 35 U.S.C. 41(f) were proposed (Patent and Trademark Fee Notice of Proposed Rulemaking). The proposed patent and trademark fee adjustments, if adopted in final rules, would take effect on October 2, 1995 (October 1, 1995 being a Sunday), prior to the effective date of the fee increase in this notice of proposed rulemaking to recover the costs of publication. The proposed amendments to §§ 1.19(b)(1)(i) and 1.19(b)(1)(ii) are repeated in this notice of proposed rulemaking for clarity. The Office estimates that it will cost about $9 million to publish applications in Fiscal Year 1996. To allocate these costs among the filing fees of those applications which the Office anticipates will be filed in Fiscal Year 1996, the issue fee for those applications for which the Office anticipates payment of an issue fee in Fiscal Year 1996, and maintenance fees due at three (3) years and six (6) months, seven (7) years and six (6) months, and eleven (11) years and six (6) months for those patents for which the Office anticipates payment of the respective maintenance fees in Fiscal Year 1996, a further increase in the filing fee for an original nonprovisional (35 U.S.C. 111(a)) or reissue application to $780 ($390 for a small entity) and a plant application to $540 ($270 for a small entity), issue fee for an original or reissue application to $1280 ($640 for a small entity) and a plant application to $660 ($330 for a small entity), maintenance fee due at three (3) years and six (6) months to $1020 ($510 for a small entity), maintenance fee due at seven (7) years and six (6) months to $2020 ($1010 for a small entity), and maintenance fee due at eleven (11) years and six (6) months to $3020 ($1510 for a small entity) is necessary to recover the costs of publication in Fiscal Year 1996. A comparison of existing fee amounts, fee amounts proposed in the Patent and Trademark Fee Notice of Proposed Rulemaking, and fee amounts proposed in this notice of proposed rulemaking is included as an Appendix B to this notice of proposed rulemaking.

7. Should the PTO require an affirmative communication from a patent applicant indicating that the applicant does not wish the application to be published, or should failure to timely submit a publication fee be taken as instruction not to publish the application? That is, should an application be published unless the applicant affirmatively indicates that the application is not to be published, regardless of whether a publication fee has been submitted?

What latitude should the PTO permit for late submission of a publication fee?

Summary: An overwhelming majority of the comments (except for those who opposed any pre-grant publication) favored a requirement that an applicant affirmatively communicate that an application is being expressly abandoned to avoid publication of the application at 18 months.
Response: The Office does not process applications as abandoned until seven (7) months after the mailing date of an Office action to allow for extensions of time under § 1.136(a) and mailing delays. Where no response to an Office action setting a shortened statutory period for response of three (3) months mailed at 13 months after filing in an application is received, the application becomes abandoned by operation of 35 U.S.C. 133 at 16 months after filing, but is not recognized or processed by the Office as an abandoned application until 20 months after filing, and thus would be published in regular course at 18 months. Therefore, an applicant intending to permit an application to become abandoned for failure to respond to an Office action mailed within seven (7) months of the projected publication date must take affirmative action to avoid publication of the application.

The Office intends to indicate the projected date of publication on the filing receipt. Any person who wants to avoid publication of the application at 18 months must submit a letter of express abandonment in sufficient time to permit the Office to act on the letter. Likewise, any person who considers the projected date of publication on the filing receipt to be incorrect must submit a request to correct the projected date of publication in sufficient time to permit the Office to act on the request.

Currently, the Office considers two (2) months to be the minimum time necessary to avoid publication of an application. Therefore, any letter of express abandonment or request to withdraw the application from publication submitted less than two (2) months from the projected date of publication will not be considered effective to avoid publication of the application at the projected date of publication. The Office also intends to indicate on the filing receipt the date by which an application must be expressly abandoned to avoid its publication.

8. The delayed filing of either a claim for priority under 35 U.S.C. 119 or 120 may result in the delayed publication of the application. Should priority or benefit be lost if not made within a reasonable time after filing? What latitude should the PTO permit for late claiming of priority or benefit?

Summary: A large majority of the comments indicated that claims for priority under 35 U.S.C. 119 and 120 should be lost if not timely filed. A number of comments also indicated that there should be provisions for the acceptance of late claims for priority.
Response: The submission of a claim for priority under 35 U.S.C. 119 or 120 later than four (4) months prior to the publication date appropriate for an application claiming that priority date will result in delays in the publication of the application and will interfere with the publication process. Therefore, the Office proposes to change the rules of practice to provide that claims for priority under 35 U.S.C. 119 or 120 must be made within two (2) months of filing, or fourteen (14) months from the filing date for which a benefit is desired, whichever is later. To avoid a potential loss of patent rights to an applicant who inadvertently failed to present a timely claim for priority, the Office further proposes to provide for the acceptance of late claims for priority submitted during the pendency of the application with a surcharge, so long as the delay in submitting the claim for priority was unintentional.

9. Once the patent has issued, should the paper document containing information similar to that published in the Gazette of Patent Application Notices, i.e., the Patent Application Notice, be removed from the search files, and should publication information be included on the issued patent?

Summary: A majority of the comments indicated that the Patent Application Notice should not be removed from the search files.
Response: The Office will not remove the Patent Application Notice from the search files upon issuance of the patent.

10. After publication, should access to the content of the application file be limited to the originally filed application papers? If not, what degree of access should be permitted? Should access be limited to the content before publication, or should it extend to materials added after publication?

Summary: A majority of the comments indicated that, upon publication, the access to the content of the application file should not be limited.
Response: The Office proposes to change the rules of practice to provide that, upon publication, access to the entire content of the application file would be permitted. To avoid undue interference with the examination of the application, however, the public access to the application file of a pending published application is proposed to be limited to obtaining, upon the payment of the fee set forth in § 1.19(b)(2), a copy of the application file produced during non-working hours by the Office when the application file is made available by the appropriate patent application processing organization. The Office also proposes to provide, upon the payment of the fee(s) set forth in § 1.19(b)(4), as proposed, a copy of specifically identified document(s) contained in a pending published application.

The Office will provide public access to a database containing information concerning the status of a pending published application and the content of the application file similar to that contained in the Patent Application Location and Monitoring (PALM) system. Using this database, interested members of the public will be able to ascertain the status of a pending published application to determine whether obtaining a copy of the file wrapper and content of the application or any document(s) in the file wrapper is warranted. In addition, this database can also be used to permit specific identification of the document(s) of which a copy is desired, assuming that obtaining a copy of the entire file wrapper and content is not considered warranted.

The Office specifically proposes to provide a copy of a specifically identified document contained in a pending published application for a fee of $75.00. Each paper in the application file to which a separate paper number is assigned constitutes a document in the application. As the cost of obtaining a pending published application from its location in the various patent application processing organizations throughout the Office is a substantial portion of the cost of providing a copy of the file wrapper and content of a pending published application, the fee for providing a copy of the first requested document from a pending published application must recover the cost of obtaining the application. The Office, however, will provide copies of additional documents from the same application in the same request for a fee of $25.00 per document.

11. After publication, should assignment records of a published application also be made accessible to the public?

Summary: An overwhelming majority of the comments indicated that, upon publication, the assignment records of an application should be accessible to the public.
Response: The Office proposes to change the rules of practice to provide that, upon publication, the assignment records of the application would be available by both application and Patent Application Notice (PAN) number and open to public inspection through the existing Patent Assignment Search System. The Office further proposes to permit applicants to indicate on the assignment cover sheet whether they want assignment information to be printed on the Patent Application Notice. The Office, however, does not propose to require that any assignment information be printed on the Patent Application Notice.

12. After publication, should access include the deposit of biological materials as set forth in § 1.802 et seq.?

Summary: A majority of the comments indicated that, upon publication, any deposit of biological materials should be accessible to the public. A number of comments, however, indicated that such access should be limited in the manner similar to that in European or Japanese laws, or that such access should be limited to experimental use.
Response: Section 1.809(c) currently provides that the applicant need not provide any necessary deposit of biological materials until three (3) months from the mailing of the Notice of Allowance and Issue Fee Due. The deposit of biological materials on filing of an application are often required by foreign laws. Applicants may not be able to claim priority under these laws based upon an earlier United States application filed without any necessary deposit of biological materials. The laws and rules of practice of the United States, however, do not require an applicant to make any deposit of biological materials until the application is allowed. See, In re Lundak, 723 F.2d 1216, 227 USPQ 90 (Fed. Cir. 1985). Accordingly, the Office proposes to change the rules of practice to provide that, upon publication, any deposit of biological materials that has been made would be available after deposit under the same conditions that such deposit of biological material would be available for an issued patent.

13. What types of problems will be encountered if all amendments must be made by (a) substitute paragraphs and claims, (b) substitute pages, or (c) replacement of the entire application?

Summary: A majority of the comments indicated that, if the rules of practice regarding the submission of amendments were changed, a requirement for substitute paragraphs and claims, or substitute pages would be acceptable.
Response: The Office currently considers changes in the procedures for entering amendments into applications to be unnecessary to the current planning approach to implementation of 18-month publication, and, as such, no change to the rules of practice to require substitute paragraphs and claims, substitute pages, or replacement of the entire application is being proposed.

14. Should protest procedures be modified to permit the third-party submission of prior art only prior to a specific period after publication of the application? What action should be taken with respect to untimely submissions by a third party?

Summary: A majority of comments indicated that third party submissions of prior art patents and publications should be permitted for a limited period upon publication, but the overwhelming majority of comments opposed any pre-grant opposition procedure.
Response: The Office does not intend to institute any procedures that would amount to pre-grant opposition. H.R. 1732 was also introduced in the House of Representatives on May 25, 1995, and, if enacted, will expand reexamination, i.e., post-grant opposition, proceedings to provide a third party requester with increased participation rights, including the right to appeal any decisions favorable to patentability to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences and to the courts. In view of the opposition to pre-grant third party participation, i.e., support for the continued ex parte examination of pending applications, the Office proposes to change the rules of practice to limit the period for filing protests and petitions for the institution of public use proceedings.

The Office proposes to change the rules of practice concerning protests to provide that a submission by a third party in a pending application would be considered if: (1) it is submitted within two months of the date the application was published or prior to the mailing of a notice of allowance under § 1.311, whichever occurs first; (2) the submission has been served on the applicant in accordance with § 1.248 if filed after the date the application was published, and the submission indicates such service; (3) the submission is accompanied by a $220 fee if submitted after publication of the application; and (4) the application is still pending when the submission and application file is brought before the examiner.

The $220 fee for a protest submitted after publication of the application is considered appropriate. Any party submitting a protest after publication has benefitted by the publication of the application. The third party should not obtain this benefit solely at the expense of the patent applicant, but should obtain this benefit only upon payment of a fee. In addition, it is expected that any protest submitted after publication of the application will be considered late in the prosecution of the application, which will cause inconvenience both to the patent applicant and the Office. Therefore, the requirement for the payment of a fee is considered appropriate to defray the costs of the belated consideration of any such submission and discourage the submission of protests having questionable merit.

Third parties may continue to submit information concerning prior public use of the invention in accordance with § 1.292.

Currently, § 1.292 does not set forth a time period within which a petition for the institution of public use proceedings must be filed. The Office proposes to further amend § 1.292 to provide that the public use petition will be entered if submitted within two months of the publication date of the application or prior to the mailing of a notice of allowance under § 1.311, whichever occurs first.

The proposed changes to §§ 1.291 and 1.292 are intended to limit any right of third parties to have information entered and considered in a pending application. They do not vest the applicant with any right to prevent the Office from sua sponte making such information of record in the application or relying upon such information in subsequent proceedings in the application, i.e., they do not limit the authority of the Office to reopen the prosecution of an application to consider any information deemed relevant to the patentability of any claim.

A number of miscellaneous comments concerning the 18-month publication of patent applications were also received.

Comment 1: A number of comments opposed any pre-grant publication of pending applications as an improper limiting of the right of a patent applicant to maintain trade secrets, or argued that any pre-grant publication should not occur prior to 24 or 60 months from the earliest filing date.
Response: H.R. 1733, if enacted, would require the Commissioner to publish pending applications at 18 months. The proposed changes to the rules of practice concern the implementation of an 18-month publication system mandated by statute, not the advisability of an 18-month publication system. If legislation containing provisions for the publication of pending applications is enacted, it is not expected that the Office would have the discretion to determine whether or when pending applications are to be published. That is, it is expected that any legislation containing provisions for the publication of pending applications will mandate whether and when applications are to be published.
Comment 2: A number of comments indicated that the publication of pending applications should be joined with provisional rights.
Response: H.R. 1733, as proposed, provides for provisional rights. This issue, however, was not treated in the 18-Month Publication Notice or this notice of proposed rulemaking since it does not affect the way business is conducted with or within the Office.
Comment 3: One comment indicated that the requirement under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, for a disclosure of a best mode should be eliminated in view of 18-month publication.
Response: The requirement in 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, for a disclosure of a best mode is a statutory, not regulatory, requirement. Therefore, the Office has no authority to eliminate or limit this requirement of the patent statutes.
Comment 4: One comment indicated that any publication of patent applications should address the situation in which: (1) an applicant files a continuing application prior to receiving a patent, and then maintains the pendency of continuing application(s), which are maintained in confidence, to obtain claims of various scope; (2) a second party invests resources in developing a product which does not infringe the claims of the patent, but which the applicant could draft claims in the continuing application(s) to cover; and (3) the applicant then permits a continuing application having claims which covers the second party's product to issue, thus checkmating the second party.
Response: H.R. 1733, if enacted, would provide that applications shall be published "as soon as possible after the expiry of a period of 18 months from the earliest filing date for which a benefit is sought." Any continuing application which claims priority from any prior application would be published either 18 months after the filing date of the earliest filed prior application or as soon as possible after filing of the continuing application, and thus would not be maintained in confidence.
Comment 5: One comment indicated that applicants should obtain the defensive benefit of their filing date in a published application regardless of whether the application issues as a patent, either by statute or rule.
Response: H.R. 1733, if enacted, would provide that a published application is prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as of its filing date. As prior art is defined by statute, i.e., 35 U.S.C. 102, the Office has no authority to promulgate regulations defining what does or does not constitute prior art.
Comment 6: One comment indicated that any rulemaking should be postponed until there is pending legislation, and it is clear as to what form 18-month publication will take.
Response: As legislation has been introduced, it is now appropriate to initiate the rulemaking process, the form that 18-month publication will likely take is known. As such, in light of the changes that would be necessitated by this legislation, the requirement for a rapid implementation, if enacted, and a desire on the part of the Office to receive public input prior to initiating the rulemaking process. If H.R. 1733 is amended during the legislative process, the final rules will comply with this legislation as enacted. If H.R. 1733 is not enacted, the proposed rules that would implement publication of patent applications would be withdrawn.
Comment 7: One comment indicated that it is unclear as to whether, when a restriction requirement is applied, each application will require a separate publication fee.
Response: No separate publication fee has been proposed. In accordance with current practice, each application would require separate filing, issue, and maintenance fees, which fees will be increased to recover the costs of publication.
Comment 8: Several comments indicated that the Office should not impose access fees for either copying the paper application files, or searching and copying a published application from any electronic data base.
Response: As discussed supra, the Office intends to provide free public access to images of the Patent Application Notices and Technical Contents Publications through video display terminals in the Public Search Room and through CD-ROM collections of facsimile images of Patent Application Notices and Technical Contents Publications in the Patent and Trademark Depository Libraries. Copies of the Patent Application Notices, Technical Contents Publications, or copies of the file wrapper and contents of the application will be available for a fee. The costs of publication have been allocated primarily to those applicants whose applications are being published. Since publication primarily benefits those seeking access to the published applications, it is reasonable to require such persons to pay a fee for making copies of the Patent Application Notices and Technical Contents Publications, or obtaining a copy of the file wrapper and application contents of a published application from the Office.
Comment 9: One comment indicated that the publication of applications may result in instances in which third parties will submit information to the applicant directly, rather than to the Office. In instances in which the applicant was previously aware of the information, but did not consider it material, the applicant cannot submit the information to the Office in that application (if after final or allowance), but will be charged with a § 1.56 violation if they do not file a continuation application to have it considered. Thus, § 1.56 should be amended such that an applicant in this situation no longer has a duty to submit information to the Office.
Response: Section 1.56 expressly provides that there is no duty to submit information which is not material to the patentability of any existing claim. Since the applicant previously determined that the information was not material, the fact that a third party has provided this previously known material to the applicant has no effect on the applicant's compliance with § 1.56. Second, since the applicant was previously aware of this information, the applicant is under a duty to bring such information to the attention of the Office if it is material, regardless of the actions of any third party, and the applicant is not under a duty to bring such information to the attention of the Office if it is not material, again regardless of the actions of any third party. In either instance, the third party's actions have no bearing on whether the applicant is in compliance with § 1.56. Therefore, no change to § 1.56 is being proposed.
Comment 10: One comment indicated that § 1.56 should be modified or abolished. Where information is brought to the attention of the applicant after allowance, the applicant should be considered to have met his or her duty of disclosure under § 1.56 if the applicant simply chooses to permit the patent to issue, as the public can take care of itself through reexamination or whatever opposition proceedings are instituted.
Response: As indicated supra, no change to § 1.56 is being proposed. In addition, the Office is proposing to limit third party protest procedures, and is not proposing to develop any procedures amounting to pre-grant opposition. Since the Office is continuing the ex parte examination of applications, the proposed modification or abolition of § 1.56 is not considered appropriate.
Comment 11: One comment indicated that an applicant should be allowed to request early publication.
Response: Section 1.306(d) is being proposed to provide for petitions requesting early publication.
Comment 12: One comment indicated that the Office should require that the text of all applications be filed in digital form, and the publication of applications should be purely digital, i.e., that Office should not print any publication.
Response: 35 U.S.C. 22 provides that "[t]he Commissioner may require papers filed in the Patent and Trademark Office to be printed or typewritten." Therefore, the Office does not currently have the authority to require that application papers be submitted in digital form. The Office is considering the legislative and regulatory changes that would be necessary to permit purely digital filing of application papers; however, requiring all applicants to submit application papers in digital form at this time would place an unnecessary burden on those applicants lacking word-processing resources. In addition, the Office received a substantial number of comments requesting a printed publication containing more information, as well as a number of comments opposing the promulgation of any regulations concerning a standard application format which were in excess of EPO and PCT regulations and not necessary to 18-month publication.
Comment 13: One comment indicated that the Office should clearly define or eliminate the "formal" pre-examination search requirement in MPEP 708.02.
Response: MPEP 708.02(VIII) provides that an application may be granted special status under the condition that, inter alia, the applicant:

> Submits a statement that a pre-examination search was made, and specifying whether by the inventor, attorney, agent, professional searchers, etc., and listing the field of search by class and subclass, publication, Chemical Abstracts, foreign patents, etc. A search made by a foreign patent office satisfies this requirement.

This definition of a pre-examination search is reasonably clear as to what actions are necessary for an applicant to have satisfied this requirement of MPEP 708.02(VIII), and the requirement for a pre-examination search is basic to the justification for granting special status to an application on that basis. No changes to 37 CFR 1.102 are being proposed.
Comment 14: One comment indicated that the publication of applications at 18 months will create a security review problem, especially where a nonprovisional, i.e., 35 U.S.C. 111(a), application claiming the benefit of a prior provisional application not subject to a secrecy order contains additional material which must be reviewed. Therefore, the Office should require that any nonprovisional applications claiming the benefit of a prior provisional application indicate any additional material by underlining and bracketing.
Response: Provisional applications will increase the number of applications requiring security screening. All provisional applications will require security screening immediately after filing in the same manner as nonprovisional applications due to the licensing provision of 35 U.S.C. 184. Any subsequent U.S. patent application claiming the benefit of a prior provisional application will also require security screening unless it is evident on its face that no additional subject matter is contained in the application beyond that in the provisional application. It would be beneficial for the applicant to provide this information to the Office upon filing of the nonprovisional application. Thus, the Office is considering suggesting that applicants employ a standard application transmittal letter similar to the standard transmittal letter for transmitting an international application to the United States Receiving Office (PTO-1382). This standard transmittal letter would indicate, inter alia: (1) any difference between a provisional application and a nonprovisional application claiming the benefit of the provisional application; (2) the residence of the inventor(s) to avoid the unnecessary screening of foreign origin applications; and (3) any Government interests in the application, which applications should be screened through contract provisions.

Comment 15: One comment indicated that the Office should automatically place a secrecy order on any nonprovisional application in which the prior provisional application was under a secrecy order.

Response: The Office does not have the authority to impose a secrecy order without a specific recommendation from a defense agency. 35 U.S.C. 181. Additionally, all secrecy orders include the provision that any other patent application already or hereafter filed in this or any foreign country which contains any significant part of the subject matter of the application under secrecy order also falls within the scope of the secrecy order and must be brought to the immediate attention of Licensing and Review. See § 5.2(d). All papers pertaining to such applications must be filed under the provisions of § 5.33, i.e., to the attention of Licensing and Review. Thus, the applicant is obligated to maintain proper security of any nonprovisional application that claims benefit of a prior provisional application under a secrecy order.

Comment 16: One comment expressed concern that the defense agencies may not have sufficient time to complete national security review of applications made available to them under 35 U.S.C. 181 prior to publication at 18 months from the earliest filing date for which a benefit is sought, and suggested that applications not be published until they have been cleared by the defense agencies.

Response: H.R. 1733, if enacted, would provide for withholding an application from publication beyond 18 months from the earliest filing date for which a benefit is sought if the application is under a secrecy order or abandoned. There is no provision for delaying the publication of an application until a completion of all reviews under 35 U.S.C. 181. In addition, 35 U.S.C. 184 authorizes foreign filing of an application without the need for a license once the application has been on file for at least six (6) months. In view of 35 U.S.C. 184, the defense agencies must complete all security reviews within six (6) months of filing to prevent public disclosure. Thus, security review must be completed within six (6) months of the actual U.S. filing date. For those applications due for publication prior to six (6) months from the actual filing date, e.g., those claiming the benefit of an earlier application filed more than 18 months prior and those which a petition for early publication has been granted, considerations of national security mandate a limited delay in publication. The Office will not pass an application for publication that is still under review by a defense agency unless it has been on file for at least six (6) months and the defense agency has been provided a minimum of three (3) months to review the application.

Comment 17: One comment indicated that the digitized images of the application file contents should be available in magnetic tape form in the morning of the day of publication.

Response: Digitized images of the Patent Application Notice and Technical Contents Publication will be available in magnetic tape form for a fee to all parties as soon as possible after publication similar to the way in which digitized images of granted patents are provided, assuming that there is interest in such products.

Comment 18: One comment indicated that it is unclear as to whether an examiner can cite the Patent Application Notice, and whether the examiner will be required to supply the full application specification.

Response: When an examiner cites a published application, a copy of the Technical Contents Publication will be provided with the Office action under the same conditions that a copy of the entire patent of any cited patent would currently be provided. That is, where an examiner would provide only those portions of a patent relied upon, rather than a copy of the entire patent due to its size, i.e., in instances of jumbo patents, the examiner would similarly be expected to provide only those portions of a published application relied upon in instances of jumbo applications.

Comment 19: One comment indicated that the entire application as filed should be published, otherwise the abandoned published application must be permanently stored in a manner that would permit on-site retrieval.

Response: The Technical Contents Publication of any published application will be electronically available, without any necessity for retrieval of the actual application file. Therefore, a printed publication of the application-as-filed would not provide any information not electronically available. Nevertheless, the actual file of an abandoned application may be readily obtained regardless of where it is stored.

Comment 20: One comment indicated that the 18-Month Publication Notice did not set forth the capacity of Patent and Trademark Depository Libraries (PTDLs) to: (1) collect fees, (2) provide librarians of assistance, and (3) house new publications.

Response: Each PTDL sets its own service standard procedures. Any customer must directly contact the PTDL to ascertain its customer service standards and requirements. Nevertheless, as the Office proposes to publish only a Patent Application Notice, rather than the entire application-as-filed, in printed form, and further proposes to provide the Patent Application Notices and Technical Contents Publications to PTDLs through CD-ROM collections of facsimile images, this publication of applications would appear to alleviate, rather than exacerbate, any publication storage housing problems.

Comment 21: One comment indicated that the Office should provide a first Office action on the merits in all patent applications within 14 months of the actual filing date of the application in the United States.

Response: The ability of the Office to process application within any established time frame is entirely dependent upon the staff and resources allocated by Congress, the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), and the Department of Commerce (DoC). In January of 1995, the first Office action was mailed within 14 months of the actual filing date of the application in the United States in ninety-two (92) percent of all applications in which a first Office action was mailed. Any applicant who absolutely needs a first Office action on the merits mailed within 14 months of the actual filing date of the application should consider a petition to make special using the special examining procedure for certain new applications set forth in MPEP 708.02(VIII). In addition, any independent inventor meeting the requirements set forth in 35 U.S.C. 122(b)(2) and § 1.306(e), as proposed, may wish to consider filing the application with a petition under § 1.306(e).

Comment 22: One comment noted the current procedure of permitting applicants to submit trade secret material and later expunge the material if it is not necessary to patentability, and indicated that new procedures should be implemented in the content of pre-grant publication of pending applications.

Response: The current procedures for the treatment of petitions to expunge trade secret, proprietary, or protective order material are set forth in MPEP 724.05. Applicants are cautioned, in MPEP 724.05, that in instances in which a decision on the petition is not made prior to the date on which the application issues as a patent, any material in the application file will remain open to public inspection, and, as such, petitions to expunge must be filed as soon as possible. Under an 18-month publication system, any material in the application file on the date the application is published would likewise remain open to public inspection. However, as petitions to expunge are considered under § 1.182, i.e., petitions not otherwise provided for, no change to the rules of practice regarding petitions to expunge is being proposed.

Discussion of Specific Rules

Title 37 of the Code of Federal Regulations, Parts 1, 3 and 5, are proposed to be amended as follows:

Section 1.4(a), as proposed, would add Patent Application Notices and Technical Contents Publications to those services and facilities which correspondence with the Office may comprise.

Section 1.5(a), as proposed, would provide that any letter concerning an application must identify on the top page in a conspicuous location, the application number (consisting of the series code and the serial number) or serial number and filing date assigned to that application by the Office, or the international application number of the international application, regardless of whether the application is a published application. That is, the identification required for a pending or abandoned application would not change due to its status as a published application.

Section 1.5(f), as proposed, would provide that a paper concerning a provisional application must identify the application as such and by the application number.

Section 1.5(g), as proposed, would provide that a paper relating to a Patent Application Notice should identify it as such and by the Patent Application Notice number. That is, a paper concerning a published application must identify the application by application number, not Patent Application Notice number; however, a paper concerning the Patent Application Notice per se must identify it by Patent Application Notice number.

Section 1.9(a), as proposed, would define an international application in subparagraph (a)(4), rather than in paragraph (b).

Section 1.9(b), as proposed, would now define a published application as an application for patent which has been published pursuant to 35 U.S.C. 122(b).

A new § 1.9(h), as proposed, would define national security classified as specifically authorized under criteria established by Act of Congress or Executive Order to be kept secret in the interest of national defense or foreign policy and in fact properly classified pursuant to Act of Congress or Executive Order.

Section 1.11, as proposed, would provide that, like an issued patent or a statutory invention registration, the specification, drawings, and all papers relating to the case in the file of an abandoned published application would be open to inspection by the public. Section 1.11, as proposed, would further provide that a copy of the specification, drawings, and all papers relating to the case in the file of any published application, a patent, or statutory invention registration may be obtained upon the payment of the fee set forth in § 1.19(b)(2). That is, while the actual application file of an abandoned published application, patent, and statutory invention registration would be available for public inspection, the actual application file of a pending published application would not be available for public inspection, but a copy of the specification, drawings, and all papers relating to a pending published application would, upon the payment of the fee set forth in § 1.19(b)(2), be provided to any member of the public.

Section 1.12, as proposed, would provide that the assignment records relating to published applications are available and open to public inspection at the Office, and copies of those assignment records may be obtained upon request and payment of the fee. Section 1.12 would further exclude the assignment records of published applications from those records that are preserved in confidence. Finally, § 1.12, as proposed, would revise paragraph (c) to read "preserved in confidence under § 1.14" for consistency with § 1.14.

Section 1.13, as proposed, would provide that, like an issued patent, certified and non-certified copies of Patent Application Notices, Technical Contents Publications, and the file wrapper and contents of published applications would, upon payment of a fee, be furnished to any person.

Section 1.14, as proposed, would revise the title and paragraphs (a) and (e) to read "preserved in confidence" for consistency with the language in 35 U.S.C. 122.

Section 1.14(a), as proposed, would provide that published applications are excluded from those pending and abandoned applications which are maintained in confidence. Section 1.14(a), as proposed, would further change "the United States of America has been indicated as a Designated State in a published international application" to "a published international application in which the United States of America has been indicated as a Designated State" for clarity, and add "U.S. published application" to those documents in which identification of an application by application number or serial number and filing date would entitle the public to status information concerning the application. Section 1.14(a), as proposed, would further provide that reference to an application in a U.S. published application or patent, or identification of an application by application number or serial number and filing date in a published patent document or a published international application in which the United States of America has been indicated as a Designated State would entitle the public to the application number, filing date, and status information concerning any application claiming the benefit of the identified or referenced application. Finally, § 1.14(a), as proposed, would replace the phrase "serial number" with "application number or serial number and filing date" since the mere reference to a serial number without the series code (application number) or filing date would not constitute a reference to a specific single application.

Section 1.14(b), as proposed, would provide that published applications, as well as applications that are referred to in a published application, are excluded from those abandoned applications which are not open to public inspection. Section 1.14(b), as proposed, would further provide that applications that are referred to in applications open to public inspection pursuant to this section and applications which claim the benefit of an application open to public inspection pursuant to this section are also excluded from those abandoned applications which are not open to public inspection. Finally, § 1.14(b), as proposed, would further remove applications that have been published pursuant to 35 U.S.C. 122(b) from those abandoned applications that may be destroyed after 20 years from their filing date.

Section 1.16(a), (h) and (g), as proposed, would increase the filing fee for an original nonprovisional (35 U.S.C. 111(a)) or reissue application to $780 ($390 for small entities), and plant application to $540 ($270 for small entities). The filing fee for a design application would not be affected by this proposed rule change.

Section 1.17(i), as proposed, would add petitions under § 1.306(d) for early publication of an application, petitions under § 1.306(e) for deferred publication of an application, and under § 1.701(f) for patent term extension based upon administrative delays not specifically provided for to the list of petitions for which the fee set forth in § 1.17(i) is required.

A new § 1.17(t), as proposed, would be added to establish the fee for submitting a protest under § 1.291 after publication of an application.

A new § 1.17(u), as proposed, would be added to establish the surcharge for accepting a late claim for priority under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d) or for the benefit of a prior application under 35 U.S.C. 119(e), 120 or 121 filed during the pendency of the application.

Section 1.18(a) and (c), as proposed, would increase the issue fee for an original or reissue application to $1280 ($640 for small entities), and plant application to $660 ($330 for small entities). The issue fee for a design application would not be affected by this proposed rule change.

Section 1.19(a)(1), as proposed, would add Patent Application Notices to the documents that the Office would supply in the manner of a patent upon payment of a fee.

A new § 1.19(a)(4), as proposed, would add Technical Contents Publications to the documents that the Office would supply upon payment of a fee.

Section 1.19(b)(2), as proposed, would add the file wrapper and contents of published applications to the files that the Office would supply a copy of upon payment of a fee.

Current § 1.19(b)(4), as proposed, would be redesignated as § 1.19(b)(5), and would add the assignment records of published applications to the assignment records that the Office would supply upon payment of a fee.

A new § 1.19(b)(4), as proposed, would provide the fees for a certified or uncertified copy of documents contained in a pending application. Section 1.19(b)(4)(i), as proposed, would provide that the fee for a certified or uncertified copy of the first document contained in a pending application would be $75.00. Section 1.19(b)(4)(ii), as proposed, would provide that the fee for a copy of each commonly requested additional document contained in such pending application would be $25.00. That is, while the fee for the first document contained in a pending application would be $75.00, the fee for a copy of each additional document contained in the same pending application and requested together with the first document would be $25.00. Where, however, a person requests a first document from a pending published application, and subsequently requests an additional document, the additional document was not commonly requested with the first document, and the fee for the additional document would be $75.00. Nevertheless, the fee for any further additional document(s) commonly requested with the additional document would be $25.00 per additional document.

Section 1.19(c), as proposed, would provide that copies of all Technical Contents Publications published annually would also be provided to libraries upon payment of the fee for copies of all patents issued annually.

Section 1.20(e)-(g), as proposed, would increase the fee for maintaining an original or reissue patent in force beyond four years, eight years, and twelve years, respectively, to $1020, $2020, and $3020, respectively ($510, $1010, and $1510, respectively, for small entities).

Section 1.24, as proposed, would add the purchase of copies of Patent Application Notices and Technical Contents Publications to those documents for which the coupons set forth therein may be used.

Section 1.51(a)(1), as proposed, would further provide that a complete application comprises, inter alia, an abstract.

Section 1.52(a), as proposed, would provide that all papers which are to become a part of the permanent records of the Office must be legibly typed in permanent dark ink in portrait orientation on flexible, strong, smooth, non-shiny, durable and white paper. Currently, § 1.52(a) permits such papers to be hand-written, and does not limit the color of the ink or paper, quality of the paper, or orientation of the typing. Section 1.52(a), as proposed, would further provide that the application papers must be presented in a form having sufficient clarity and contrast between the paper and the typing thereon to permit electronic reproduction by use of digital imaging and optical character recognition, as well as the direct reproduction currently provided for. Section 1.52(a), as proposed, would further provide that substitute typewritten papers "will," rather than "may," be required if the original application papers are not of the required quality. As any substitute typewritten papers containing the subject matter of the originally filed application papers would constitute a substitute specification, the provisions of § 1.125 governing the entry of a substitute specification would be applicable, and § 1.52(a), as proposed, would include a specific reference to § 1.125.

Section 1.52(b), as proposed, would provide that the claims must be set forth on a separate sheet. Section 1.72(b) currently provides that the abstract must be set forth on a separate sheet. Thus, §§ 1.52(b), as proposed, and 1.72(b) would require that the abstract and claims be set forth on a separate sheet. Section 1.52(b), as proposed, would further provide that the sheets of paper must be the same size and either 21.0 cm. by 29.7 cm. (DIN size A4) or 21.6 cm. by 27.9 cm (8 1/2 by 11 inches), with a top margin of at least 2.0 cm. (3/4 inch), a left side margin of at least 2.5 cm. (1 inch), a right side margin of at least 2.0 cm. (3/4 inch), and a bottom margin of at least 2.0 cm. (3/4 inch), and that no holes should be provided in the paper sheets. Section 1.52(b) currently provides that papers must be written on but one side, but this phrase is proposed to be changed to "typed on but one side" to conform to § 1.52(a) which, as proposed, would no longer permit hand-written or hand-printed ("written or printed") papers. Section 1.52(b), as proposed, would further provide that the lines "must," rather than "should," be 1 1/2 or double spaced, and that the pages "must," rather than "should," be numbered consecutively, starting with page one, with the numbers being centrally located above or below the text. Finally, § 1.52(b), as proposed, would specifically reference drawings to clarify that drawings are part of the application papers, but that the standards for drawings are set forth in § 1.84.

Section 1.52(d), as proposed, would provide that where an application is filed in a language other than English, the verified English translation of the non-English-language application and the fee set forth in § 1.17(k) are required to be filed with the application or within such time period as may be set by the Office, and that extensions of time pursuant to § 1.136(a) would not be available for submitting the English translation.

Section 1.53(d)(1), as proposed, would further provide that the applicant will be given a time period within which to file an abstract and claims on a separate sheet, or substitute specification in compliance § 1.125 with papers typed on but one side of the paper or new sheets of drawings, each of the substitute specification and sheets of drawings of sufficient clarity, contrast, and quality, and in a proper size and format for electronic reproduction in instances in which the application papers did not comply with §§ 1.52(a) and (b), as proposed, or the drawings were of such poor quality as to preclude their digital image scanning into the electronic data base. Section 1.53(d)(1), as proposed, would further provide that extensions of time pursuant to § 1.136(a) would not be available for filing an abstract and claims on a separate sheet, and a substitute specification with papers typed on but one side of the paper and sheets of drawings, each of sufficient clarity, contrast, and quality and in the proper size and format for electronic reproduction.

Section 1.54(b), as proposed, would provide that the applicant will be informed of the application number, filing date, and projected publication date on a filing receipt. The phrase "application serial number" would be changed to "application number" for consistency with § 1.5(a).

Section 1.55(a), as proposed, would provide that any claim to priority under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d) must be stated within two months of filing or within fourteen months of the date of the prior foreign application, whichever is later, and must identify the prior foreign application by specifying its application number, country, and day, month and year of its filing. The proposed amendment to § 1.55, however, would not affect claims to priority under 35 U.S.C. 172, and would not affect the time periods set forth in § 1.55(a) for the perfection of any claim for priority under 35 U.S.C. 119 (a)-(d), i.e., the filing of a certified copy of the foreign application.

Section 1.55(c), as proposed, would provide a procedure for the acceptance of claim to priority under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d) presented after the time period set in § 1.55(a). The procedure would require the filing of a petition during the pendency of the application requesting acceptance of the delayed claim, the surcharge set forth in § 1.17(u), and a statement that the delay was unintentional.

Section 1.55(d), as proposed, would provide that the time periods set forth in this section, i.e., two months of filing or within fourteen months of the filing date of the prior foreign application as set forth in § 1.55(a), and during the pendency of the application as set forth in § 1.55(c), cannot be extended.

Section 1.58(b), as proposed, would be removed and reserved as unnecessary in view of the proposed amendments to §§ 1.52(a) and (b).

Section 1.58(c), as proposed, would delete the sentence "[i]f it is not possible to limit the width of a formula or table to 5 inches (12.7 cm.), it is permissible to present the formula or table with a maximum width of 10 3/4 inches (27.3 cm.) and to place it sideways on the sheet" and "[h]and lettering must be neat, clean, and have a minimum character height of 0.08 inch (2.1 mm.)" to conform to the typing and paper size and orientation limitations in §§ 1.52(a) and (b), as proposed. Section 1.58(c), as proposed, would further provide metric dimensions with English equivalents in parentheticals, rather than vice versa.

Section 1.60(d), as proposed, would provide that the applicant will be given a time period, which is not extendable under § 1.136(a), within which to file an abstract and claims on a separate sheet, and a substitute specification in compliance with § 1.125 with papers typed on but one side of the paper and sheets of drawings, each of sufficient clarity, contrast, and quality and in the proper size and format for electronic reproduction where the papers of the prior application did not comply with §§ 1.52(a) and (b), as proposed, or the drawings of the prior application were of such poor quality as to preclude their digital image scanning into the electronic data base.

Section 1.62(d), as proposed, would provide that the applicant will be given a time period, which is not extendable under § 1.136(a), within which to file any substitute specification and drawings required under § 1.62(e)(2), discussed infra.

Section 1.62(e), as proposed, would be subdivided into paragraphs (e)(1) and (e)(2) for clarity. Section 1.62(e)(1), as proposed, would contain the first two (2) sentences of § 1.62(e) without change. Section 1.62(e)(2), as proposed, would provide that a substitute specification and drawings would be required when the application being filed under § 1.62 is a continuation-in-part application. Section 1.62(e) currently provides that no copy of the prior application or new specification is required, that the filing of a copy of the prior application or new specification is in fact considered improper, and that a petition with instructions to cancel the copy of the prior application or new specification is necessary to obtain the date of deposit of the request for an application under § 1.62 as the filing date. Section 1.62(e)(2), as proposed, would provide that any new specification filed will not be considered part of the original application papers, but will be treated as a substitute specification in accordance with § 1.125.

Section 1.62(f), as proposed, would amend "35 U.S.C. 122" to read "35 U.S.C. 122(a)" to reflect the changes in H.R. 1733, if enacted, would change "secrecy" to "confidence" as is found in § 1.14, as proposed, and would change "37 CFR 1.14" to "§ 1.14" for consistency.

Section 1.72(b), as proposed, would provide that the abstract should be prior to the first page of the specification, rather than following the claims, to conform to § 1.77, as proposed.

Section 1.75, as proposed, would include an amendment to paragraph (g), and would add two new paragraphs. Section 1.75(g), as proposed, would add the phrase "the least restrictive claim should be presented as claim number 1" to paragraph (g) to facilitate the selection of a representative claim. Section 1.75(h), as proposed, would provide that the claim or claims must be set forth on a separate sheet. Section 1.75(i), as proposed, would provide that where a claim sets forth a plurality of elements or steps, each element or step of the claim should be separated by a line indentation to facilitate the digital image and/or OCR scanning of the claim into the electronic data base.

Section 1.77, as proposed, would provide that the elements of the application, if applicable, should appear in the following order: (1) Utility Application Transmittal Form; (2) Fee Transmittal Form; (3) abstract of the disclosure; (4) title of the invention; or an introductory portion stating the name, citizenship, and residence of the applicant, and the title of the invention may be used; (5) cross-reference to related applications; (6) statement regarding federally sponsored research or development; (7) reference to a "Microfiche appendix; (8) background of the invention; (9), brief summary of the invention; (10) brief description of the several views of the drawing; (11), detailed description; (12) claim or claims; (13) drawings; (14) executed oath or declaration; and (15) sequence listing. The phrase "if applicable" is proposed to be inserted in the heading, rather than associated with any particular listed element, to clarify that § 1.77 does not per se require that an application include all of the listed elements, but merely provides that any listed element included in the application should appear in the order set forth in § 1.77. Section 1.77, as proposed, would further provide that the (1) abstract of the disclosure; (2) title of the invention; (3) cross-reference to related applications; (4) statement regarding federally sponsored research or development; (5) background of the invention; (6) brief summary of the invention; (7) brief description of the several views of the drawing; (8) detailed description; (9) claim or claims; and (10) sequence listing, should appear in upper case, without underlining or bold type, as section headings, and if no text follows the section heading, the phrase "Not Applicable" should follow the section heading. Finally, § 1.77, as proposed, would be amended to change the reference to § 1.96(b) in § 1.77(c)(2), § 1.77(a)(7) as proposed, to § 1.96(c) for consistency with § 1.96, as proposed.

Section 1.78(a)(2), as proposed, would provide that any claim to the benefit of any prior filed copending nonprovisional application or international application designating the United States of America must be stated within two months of filing or fourteen months from the filing date of the prior application, whichever is later, and must include an identification of the prior application by application number.

Section 1.78(a)(3), as proposed, would delete the sentence "[s]ince a provisional application can be pending for no more than twelve months, the last day of pendency may occur on a Saturday, Sunday, or Federal holiday within the District of Columbia which for copendency would require the nonprovisional application to be filed prior to the Saturday, Sunday, or Federal holiday." In view of the proposed amendment in H.R. 1733 to 35 U.S.C. 119(e), the provisions of § 1.7 would be applicable to a nonprovisional application claiming the benefit of a prior provisional application.

Section 1.78(a)(4), as proposed, would provide that any claim to the benefit of any prior filed copending provisional application must be stated within two months of filing or within fourteen months of the filing date of the prior application, whichever is later, and must include an identification of the prior application by application number.

Section 1.78(a)(5), as proposed, would provide a procedure for the acceptance of a delayed claim to priority under 35 U.S.C. 119(e), 120 or 121. The procedure would require the filing of a petition during the pendency of the application requesting acceptance of the delayed claim, the surcharge set forth in § 1.17(u), and a statement that the delay was unintentional.

Section 1.78(a)(6), as proposed, would provide that the time periods set forth in this paragraph, i.e., two months of filing or within fourteen months of the filing date of the prior application as set forth in §§ 1.78(a)(2) and (a)(4), and during the pendency of the application as set forth in § 1.78(a)(5), cannot be extended.

Section 1.78(c), as proposed, would change "two or more applications or an application and a patent" to "an application or a patent under reexamination and an application or a patent" such that the provisions of § 1.78(c) will also be applicable to a patent under reexamination. Section 1.78(c), as proposed, would further correct "inventors and owned by the same party contain conflicting claims" to read "inventors are owned by the same party and contain conflicting claims."

Section 1.78(d), as proposed, would change "obviousness-type double patenting rejection" to "non-statutory double patenting rejection" as current examining procedures authorize non- obviousness-type double patenting rejections, as well as obviousness-type double patenting rejections (MPEP 804(II)), and either may be obviated by filing a terminal disclaimer in accordance with § 1.321(b). Section 1.78(d), as proposed, would further change each instance of "application" to "application or a patent under reexamination" for consistency with § 1.321(b) and to clarify that double patenting is a proper consideration in reexamination (Ex parte Obiaya, 227 USPQ 58, 60-61 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1985)), and that a non-statutory double patenting rejection in a patent under reexamination may be obviated by filing a terminal disclaimer in accordance with § 1.321(b).

Section 1.84(c), as proposed, would provide that a reference to the application number, or, if an application number has not been assigned, the inventor's name, may be included in the left-hand corner of the drawing sheet, provided that reference appears within 1.5 cm. (9/16 inch) from the top of the sheet. As the back side of a drawing sheet will not be scanned into the electronic data base, an applicant can include other identifying indicia on the back side the drawing sheet.

Section 1.84(f), as proposed, would provide that the size of all drawing sheets in an application must be either 21.0 cm. by 29.7 cm. (DIN size A4) or 21.6 cm. by 27.9 cm. (8 1/2 by 11 inches) to conform to the requirement in § 1.52(b) concerning papers in an application.

Section 1.84(g), as proposed, would be amended to delete the margin requirements for the sheet sizes that would no longer be acceptable if the proposed change to § 1.84(f) were adopted. Section 1.84(g), as proposed, would be further amended to provide that, to facilitate digital image scanning of the drawing sheets, the sheets should have scan targets (cross-hairs) on two cater-corner margin corners. Finally, § 1.84(g), as proposed, would increase the bottom and side margins such that each sheet must include a top margin of at least 2.5 cm. (1 inch), a left side margin of at least 2.5 cm. (1 inch), a right side margin of at least 1.5 cm. (9/16 inch), and a bottom margin of at least 1.0 cm. (3/8 inch), thereby leaving a sight no greater than 17.0 cm. by 26.2 cm. on 21.0 cm. by 29.7 cm. (DIN size A4) drawing sheets, and a sight no greater than 17.6 cm. by 24.4 cm. (6 15/16 by 9 5/8 inches) on 21.6 cm. by 27.9 cm. (8 1/2 by 11 inch) drawing sheets.

Section 1.84(j), as proposed, would provide that one of the views should be suitable for publication in the Patent Application Notice, and the Gazette of Patent Application Notices, as well as the Official Gazette, as the illustration of the invention.

Section 1.84(x), as proposed, would be amended to delete the provisions indicating the proper location for holes in a drawing sheet, and provide that no holes should be provided in the drawing sheets.

Section 1.85, as proposed, would provide that drawings must be suitable for "electronic" reproduction "by digital imaging" before being admitted for examination. As discussed supra, as a drawing figure will be included in the Gazette Entry in the Gazette of Patent Application Notices and the Patent Application Notice, drawings suitable for electronic reproduction by digital imaging would be necessary for the initial processing of the application.

Section 1.96, as proposed, would be amended to designate the text preceding current paragraph (a) as paragraph (a), and would redesignate current paragraphs (a) and (b) as paragraphs (b) and (c), respectively. New § 1.96(a), as proposed, would be further amended to insert a period between "specification" and "[a] computer," to change "these rules" to "this section," and to change "may be submitted in patent applications in the following forms" to "may be submitted in patent applications as set forth in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section.

New § 1.96(b), as proposed, would be further amended to change the sentences "[t]he listing may be submitted as part of the specification in the form of computer printout sheets (commonly 14 by 11 inches in size) for use as "camera ready copy" when a patent is subsequently printed" and "[s]uch computer printout sheets must be original copies from the computer with dark solid black letters not less than 0.21 cm high, on white, unshaded and unlined paper, the printing on each sheet must be limited to an area 9 inches high by 13 inches wide, and the sheets should be submitted in a protective cover" to "[a]ny listing submitted as part of the specification must be original copies from the computer with dark solid black letters not less than 0.21 cm high, on white, unshaded and unlined paper, and the sheets should be submitted in a protective cover," to delete the sentence "[w]hen printed in patents, such computer printout sheets will appear at the end of the description but before the claims and will usually be reduced about 1/2 in size with two printout sheets being printed as one patent specification page," and to delete the phrase "if the copy is to be used for camera ready copy." Section 1.96(a)(1), new § 1.96(b)(1) as proposed, currently provides that the requirements of § 1.84 apply to computer program listings submitted as sheets of drawings, and § 1.96(a)(2), new § 1.96(b)(2) as proposed, currently provides that the requirements of § 1.52 apply to computer program listings submitted as part of the specification. Section 1.52(b), as proposed, would require that the sheets of paper be the same size and either 21.0 cm. by 29.7 cm. (DIN size A4) or 21.6 cm. by 27.9 cm (8 1/2 by 11 inches), with a top margin of at least 2.0 cm. (3/4 inch), a left side margin of at least 2.5 cm. (1 inch), a right side margin of at least 2.0 cm. (3/4 inch), and a bottom margin of at least 2.0 cm. (3/4 inch), and § 1.52(a), as proposed, would require that application papers be legibly typed in permanent dark ink in portrait orientation.

New § 1.96(c), as proposed, would be amended to change the references to § 1.77(c)(2) in new § 1.96(c) to § 1.77(a)(7) for consistency with § 1.77, as proposed, to change "may" and "should" to "must," to delete the sentence "[a]ll computer program listings submitted on paper will be printed as part of the patent," to relocate the phrase "except as modified or clarified below" in subsection (c)(2), to change the phrase "computer-generated information submitted as an appendix to an application for patent shall be in the form of microfiche in accordance with the standards" to "computer-generated information submitted as a "microfiche appendix" to an application shall be in accordance with the standards" for clarity, to change to sentences "[e]ither Computer-Output-Microfilm (COM) ouput or copies of photographed paper copy may be submitted" and "[i] the former case, NMA standards MS1 and MS2 apply; in the latter case, standard MS5 applies" to "[c]omputer-Output-Microfilm (COM) ouput may be submitted in accordance with either NMA standard MS1 or MS2," to change "serial number" to "application number," and to provide metric dimensions with English equivalents in parentheticals, rather than vice versa.

Section 1.97(a)-(d), as proposed, would be amended to include the phrase "for an applicant for patent or for reissue of a patent, or an owner of a patent under reexamination" in paragraph (a) and "by the applicant or patent owner" to clarify that § 1.97 is not available for any third party seeking to have information considered in a pending application. Any third party seeking to have information considered in a pending application must proceed under §§ 1.291 or 1.292, both discussed infra. Section 1.97(c), as proposed, would be further amended to correct the phrase "certification as specified in paragraph (3) of this section" to read "certification as specified in paragraph (e) of this section."

Section 1.98, as proposed, would provide that any Patent Application Notice or Technical Contents Publication listed in an information disclosure statement must be identified by applicant, Patent Application Notice number or Technical Contents Publication number and publication date. Section 1.98, as proposed, would also limit those U.S. patent applications of which a copy need not be included to unpublished applications.

Section 1.107, as proposed, would provide that if domestic published applications are cited by the examiner, their Technical Contents Publication number, publication date, the names of the applicants must be stated. Section 1.107, as proposed, would be amended to delete the phrase "and the classes of inventions."

Section 1.108, as proposed, would further except published applications from those abandoned applications that will not be cited as references.

Section 1.131(a), as proposed, would include pending or patented U.S. published applications which substantially show or describe but do not claim the same patentable invention, as defined in § 1.601(n), and abandoned U.S. published applications as references to which the provisions of § 1.131 apply. Pending or patented U.S. applications would be treated in the same manner that U.S. patents are currently treated, i.e., § 1.131 would apply only if the pending or patented application does not claim the same patentable invention. Abandoned U.S. published applications would be treated in the manner that foreign patents or printed publications are currently treated. As U.S. published applications, either pending, abandoned or patented, may constitute prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) or (e), this change, and the change to § 1.132 infra, are necessary to accommodate such references.

In a Notice pf Proposed Rulemaking published in the Federal Register at 59 FR 49876 (September 30, 1994) and in the Official Gazette at 1167 Off. Gaz. Office 96-97 (October 25, 1994)(§ 1.131 Notice of Proposed Rulemaking), § 1.131(a) was proposed to be amended to inter alia broaden its application to instances in which inventions of a pending application or patent under reexamination and a patent held by a single party are not identical as set forth in 35 U.S.C. 102, but not patentably distinct, and changes to § 1.131 were adopted as a final rule. 60 FR 21043 (May 1, 1995); 1174 Off. Gaz. Pat. Office 155 (May 30, 1995).

An amendment to § 1.131(a) was proposed to avoid a potential conflict between § 1.131(a) and § 1.602(a) in instances in which § 1.131(a) prohibits the filing of affidavits or declarations thereunder when the same patentable invention as defined in § 1.601(n) is being claimed, but § 1.602(a) prohibits, unless good cause is shown, the declaration or continuance of an interference when the application(s) and patent are owned by a single party. While this conflict between two pending applications can be avoided by filing a continuation-in-part application merging the conflicting inventions into a single application, this conflict can result in hardship where there is a pending application and an issued patent that can no longer be merged by filing a continuation-in-part application.

Specifically, the proposed amendment to § 1.131(a) in the § 1.131 Notice of Proposed Rulemaking would have permitted the filing of an affidavit or declaration thereunder in a pending application or patent under reexamination to avoid a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103 based upon a patent which qualifies as prior art only under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) or (e) where the pending application or patent under reexamination and patent upon which the rejection was based were owned by a single party. This proposed amendment to § 1.131(a) in the § 1.131 Notice of Proposed Rulemaking, however, was withdrawn in the final rule to permit further study.

Section 1.131(a), as currently proposed, would permit a showing of prior invention in a pending application or patent under reexamination to avoid a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103 based upon a patent which qualifies as prior art only under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) or (e), where the application or patent under reexamination and the patent upon which the rejection is based are both owned by a single party, so long as the invention claimed in the pending application or patent under reexamination and in the other patent are not identical as set forth in 35 U.S.C. 102. Section 1.131(a)(3), as proposed, would not require common ownership at the time the latter invention was made, but consistent with § 1.602(a), would require only that there be common ownership when the § 1.131 affidavit or declaration is under consideration.

Where the patent upon which the rejection is based is not prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) or (e), but is prior art only under 35 U.S.C. 102(f) or (g), to the pending application or patent under reexamination, and the invention claimed in the pending application or patent under reexamination is not identical as set forth in 35 U.S.C. 102, the issue is whether the subject matter of the other patent and the invention claimed in the pending application or patent under reexamination were, at the time the invention was made, owned by the same person or subject to an obligation of assignment to the same person, i.e., whether the patent upon which the rejection is based is disqualified as prior art under the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 103, and §§ 1.78(c) and (d) are applicable to this issue. Where, however, the patent upon which the rejection is based is prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) or (e), it cannot be disqualified as prior art under the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 103, and as such §§ 1.78(c) and (d) are inapplicable. Section 1.131(a)(3), as currently proposed, would permit a showing of prior invention in an application or patent under reexamination where the application or patent under reexamination and patent upon which the rejection was based were owned by a single party.

As the conflict between two pending applications can be avoided by filing a continuation-in-part application merging the conflicting inventions into a single application, § 1.131(a)(3), as proposed, provides only for a showing of prior invention to avoid a rejection based upon a patent. In situations in which two pending applications claiming patentably indistinct but not identical inventions are held by a single party but cannot be merged into a single application, petitions under § 1.183 will be entertained for waiver of the § 1.131 requirement that the rejection be based upon a patent.

Section 1.131, as proposed, would not affect a statutory or non- statutory double patenting rejection. Specifically, affidavits or declarations under § 1.131 will continue to be ineffective where the claims of the pending application or the patent undergoing reexamination are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 for double patenting and the claims of the pending application or the patent under reexamination claim the identical invention of a patent. However, where patentably indistinct but not identical inventions are claimed, a non-statutory double patenting rejection can be overcome by filing an appropriate terminal disclaimer.

Section 1.132, as proposed, would change "domestic" to "U.S." for consistency with § 1.131, and would include U.S. pending published applications which substantially show or describe but do not claim the invention, and abandoned published applications as references to which the provisions of § 1.132 apply for the reasons discussed supra.

Section 1.136(a), as proposed, would provide that extensions under § 1.136(a) are not available where the response is to a requirement for an English translation, an abstract or claims on a separate sheet, or substitute specification or sheets of drawings of sufficient clarity, contrast, and quality and in the proper size and format for electronic reproduction submitted pursuant to §§ 1.52(d), 1.53(d), 1.60(d), 1.62(d), 1.494(c), or 1.495(c), or an oath or declaration submitted pursuant to §§ 1.494(c) or 1.495(c).

Section 1.138, as proposed, would add "or publication" to the end of the sentence that "express abandonment of the application may not be recognized by the Office unless it is actually received by appropriate officials in time to act thereon before the date of issue" to clarify that the express abandonment must be filed in sufficient time to permit its correlation with the application file and the termination of the publication process. Section 1.138, as proposed, would further provide that an applicant seeking to abandon an application to avoid publication of the application must submit a proper letter of express abandonment at least two months prior to the projected date of publication to allow sufficient time to permit the appropriate officials to recognize the abandonment and remove the application from the publication process, and that unless an applicant receives written acknowledgement of the letter of express abandonment prior to the projected date of publication, applicant should expect that the application will be published in due course.

Section 1.154, as proposed, would provide that the elements of a design application, if applicable, should appear in the following order: (1) Design Application Transmittal Form; (2) Fee Transmittal Form; (3) preamble, stating name of the applicant and title of the design; (4) cross-reference to related applications; (5), statement regarding federally sponsored research or development; (6) description of the figure or figures of the drawing; (7) description; (8) claim; (9) drawings or photographs; and (10) executed oath or declaration. The phrase "[t]he following order of arrangement should be observed in framing design specifications" is proposed to be changed to "[t]he elements of the design application, if applicable, should appear in the following order" to clarify that § 1.154 does not per se require that an application include all of the listed elements, but merely provides that any listed element included in the application should appear in the order set forth in § 1.154.

A new § 1.163(c), as proposed, would be added to provide that the elements of a plant application, if applicable, should appear in the following order: (1) Plant Application Transmittal Form; (2) Fee Transmittal Form; (3) abstract of the disclosure; (4) title of the invention; (5) cross-reference to related applications; (6) statement regarding federally sponsored research or development; (7) background of the invention; (8) brief summary of the invention; (9) brief description of the drawing; (10) detailed botanical description; (11) claim; (12) drawings (in duplicate); (13) executed oath or declaration; and (14) Plant Color Coding Sheet. The phrase "if applicable" is proposed to be included in the heading, rather than associated with any particular listed element, to clarify that § 1.163 does not per se require that an application include all of the listed elements, but merely provides that any listed element included in the application should appear in the order set forth in § 1.163.

A new § 1.163(d), as proposed, would be added to define a plant color coding sheet. A plant color coding sheet is a sheet that specifies a color coding system as designated in a recognized color dictionary, and lists every plant structure to which color is a distinguishing feature and the corresponding color code which best represents that plant structure. The plant color coding sheet will provide a means for applicants to uniformly convey detailed color characteristics of the plant. Providing this information is a systematic manner will facilitate the examination of the application.

Section 1.291, as proposed, would provide that a protest must be filed within two months of the date the application is published or prior to the mailing of a Notice of Allowance, whichever occurs first, to be considered timely, and that any protest submitted after publication must be accompanied by the fee set forth in § 1.17(t). In addition, § 1.291(a)(2), as proposed, would require that any protest filed after the date the application was published be served upon the applicant in accordance with § 1.248, i.e., filing two copies of the protest in the Office would not be acceptable. As a protest cannot be considered subsequent to issuance of the application as a patent, § 1.291(b), as proposed, would provide that the protest will be considered if the application is still pending when the protest and application file is brought before the examiner, i.e., that the application was pending at the time the protest was filed would be immaterial to its ultimate consideration. Finally, § 1.291, as proposed, would further locate the sentences "[p]rotests raising fraud or other inequitable conduct issues will be entered in the application file, generally without comment on those issues" and [p]rotests which do not adequately identify a pending patent application will be disposed of and will not be considered by the Office" in paragraph (b).

Section 1.292, as proposed, would be amended to delete the phrase "is filed by one having information of the pendency of an application" as applications will no longer necessarily be maintained in confidence throughout their entire pendency, and would move the requirement for the fee set forth in § 1.17(j) from paragraph (a) to paragraph (b) where the conditions for entry of a petition for the institution of public use proceedings are set forth. Section 1.292, as proposed, would further require that any petition filed after the date the application was published be served on the applicant in accordance with § 1.248. Finally, § 1.292, as proposed, would provide that a petition to institute public use proceedings must be filed within two months of the date the application is published or prior to the mailing of a Notice of Allowance, whichever occurs first, to be considered timely.

Sections 1.305 through 1.309 are proposed to be added to set forth the procedures for the 18-month publication of patent applications.

Section 1.305, as proposed, would provide that applications may be withdrawn from publication at the initiative of the Office or upon request by the applicant. The basis for the withdrawal of an application from publication would be limited to: (1) a mistake on the part of the Office, e.g., the application is abandoned or has issued as a patent, or the projected publication date is not at 18 months from the earliest filing date for which a benefit is sought; (2) the application is either national security classified or subject to a secrecy order pursuant to 35 U.S.C. 181; or (3) express abandonment of the application.

Section 1.306(a), as proposed, would provide that applications under 35 U.S.C. 111(a), 161 or 371 will be published as soon as possible after the expiration of a period of 18 months from the filing date, including the earliest filing date for which a benefit is sought, but excludes applications that: (1) are national security classified or subject to a secrecy order pursuant to 35 U.S.C. 181; (2) have issued as a patent; (3) are recognized by the Office as no longer pending, i.e., are abandoned; or (4) were previously published through early publication.

Section 1.306(b), as proposed, would provide that the publication of an application will include a notice designated as a "Gazette Entry" containing information such as the application number, filing date, title, inventor's name, abstract, a drawing figure, a representative claim, and U.S. and IPC classification in a Gazette of Patent Application Notices, and a printed publication designated as a Patent Application Notice or PAN containing information such as the application number, filing date, title, inventor's name, correspondence address, abstract, a drawing figure, a representative claim, and U.S. and IPC classification. In addition, § 1.306(b), as proposed, would provide that the publication of an application will include a document designated as a Technical Contents Publication containing the Patent Application Notice, and the specification, abstract, claims, and drawings of the original application papers. Finally, § 306(b), as proposed, would provide that publication would include public access to a copy of the specification, drawings, and all papers relating to the application file in accordance with § 1.11.

Section 1.306(c), as proposed, would provide that provisional applications under 35 U.S.C. 111(b) shall not be published, and that design applications under 35 U.S.C. 171 and reissue applications under 35 U.S.C. 251 shall not be published pursuant to § 1.306. H.R. 1733, if enacted, would not authorize the publication of design applications (prior to their issuance as patents) or provisional applications. Reissue applications are currently published through the announcement in the Official Gazette of the filing of the reissue application, and the opening of the application to public inspection in accordance with § 1.11(b).

Section 1.306(d), as proposed, would provide for the early publication of applications. Any request for early publication of an application should be filed as soon as possible, and must be by way of petition, including the fee set forth in § 1.17(i). In addition, any application must include an abstract and claims on a separate sheet, any substitute specification or drawings required pursuant to §§ 1.53(d), 1.60(d), or 1.62(d), and any English translation required pursuant to § 1.52(d). The Office cannot assure publication of an application on any certain date, and, as such, requests for publication on a date certain will be treated as a request for publication as soon as possible. Finally, as H.R. 1733, if enacted, would not authorize the publication of provisional applications, no consideration will be given to any request for the early publication of a provisional application.

Section 1.306(e), as proposed, would implement the provisions in H.R. 1733 (35 U.S.C. 122(b)(2)) for, under limited circumstances, not publishing an application under 35 U.S.C. 122(b) until three months after an Office action under 35 U.S.C. 132. Section 1.306(e), as proposed, would specifically provide that an applicant who is an independent inventor and has been accorded status under 35 U.S.C. 41(h) in an application that does not claim the benefit of an earlier filing date under 35 U.S.C. 119, 120, 121, 365(a) or 365(c) may request that the application not be published until three months after an action on the merits, and that a petition requesting that the application not be published until three months after an action on the merits must be submitted on filing, and accompanied by the petition fee set forth in § 1.17(i) and a certification that the invention disclosed in the application was not or will not be the subject of an application filed in a foreign country, which certification must be verified if made by a person not registered to practice before the Patent and Trademark Office.

Section 1.307, as proposed, would provide for the delivery of the printed publication, i.e., the Patent Application Notice or PAN, to the correspondence address of record, which is the manner in which a patent is currently delivered to the patentee.

Section 1.308, as proposed, would provide for the correction of the printed publication, but such correction would be granted only for a significant mistake made by the Office which is apparent from Office records.

Section 1.315, as proposed, would change "the attorney or agent of record, if there be one; or if the attorney or agent so requests, to the patentee or assignee of an interest therein; or, if there be no attorney or agent, to the patentee or to the assignee of the entire interest, if he so requests" to "the correspondence address of record. See § 1.33(a)" for simplicity as patents are currently mailed to the patentee at the correspondence address of record.

Section 1.321(c), as proposed, would change "double patenting rejection" to "non-statutory double patenting rejection" for consistency with § 1.78(c), as proposed, and to clarify that the filing of a terminal disclaimer is ineffective to overcome a statutory double patenting rejection.

Section 1.492(a), as proposed, would increase the basic national fee for international applications entering the national stage under 35 U.S.C. 371 to: (1) $710 ($355 for a small entity) where an international preliminary examination fee as set forth in § 1.482 has been paid on the international application to the Office; (2) $780 ($390 for a small entity) where no international preliminary examination fee as set forth in § 1.482 has been paid to the Office, but an international search fee as set forth in § 1.445(a)(2) has been paid on the international application to the Office as an International Searching Authority; (3) $1040 ($520 for a small entity) where no international preliminary examination fee as set forth in § 1.482 has been paid and no international search fee as set forth in § 1.445(a)(2) has been paid on the international application to the Office; (4) $120 ($60 for a small entity) where the international preliminary examination fee as set forth in § 1.482 has been paid to the Office and the international preliminary examination report states that the criteria of novelty, inventive step (non-obviousness), and industrial applicability, as defined in PCT Article 33(1) to (4) have been satisfied for all the claims presented in the application entering the national stage (see § 1.496(b)); and (5) $910 ($455 for a small entity) where a search report on the international application has been prepared by the European Patent Office or the Japanese Patent Office.

Section 1.494(c) and (g), as proposed, would provide that the applicant will be given a time period within which to file an abstract and claims on a separate sheet, or substitute specification in compliance § 1.125 with papers typed on but one side of the paper or new sheets of drawings, each of the substitute specification and sheets of drawings of sufficient clarity, contrast, and quality, and in a proper size and format for electronic reproduction in instances in which the application papers did not comply with §§ 1.52(a) and (b), as proposed, or the drawings were of such poor quality as to preclude their digital image scanning into the electronic data base. Section 1.494(c), as proposed, would further provide that extensions of time pursuant to § 1.136(a) would not be available for filing an English translation, oath or declaration, abstract and claims on a separate sheet, and a substitute specification with papers typed on but one side of the paper and sheets of drawings, each of sufficient clarity, contrast, and quality and in the proper size and format for electronic reproduction.

Section 1.495(c) and (h), as proposed, would provide that the applicant will be given a time period within which to file an abstract and claims on a separate sheet, or substitute specification in compliance § 1.125 with papers typed on but one side of the paper or new sheets of drawings, each of the substitute specification and sheets of drawings of sufficient clarity, contrast, and quality, and in a proper size and format for electronic reproduction in instances in which the application papers did not comply with §§ 1.52(a) and (b), as proposed, or the drawings were of such poor quality as to preclude their digital image scanning into the electronic data base. Section 1.495(c), as proposed, would further provide that extensions of time pursuant to § 1.136(a) would not be available for filing an English translation, oath or declaration, abstract and claims on a separate sheet, and a substitute specification with papers typed on but one side of the paper and sheets of drawings, each of sufficient clarity, contrast, and quality and in the proper size and format for electronic reproduction.

The proposed rules to implement 18-month publication provide that extensions of time pursuant to § 1.136(a) are not available for submissions which will affect the publication of the application. Section 1.53(d)(1), as proposed, does not exclude extensions of time pursuant to § 1.136(a) for the filing of an oath or declaration as the absence of an oath or declaration for an application filed under 35 U.S.C. 111(a) does not affect the publication of the application. Section 1.306(a), as proposed, does not provide for the publication of a national application for patent which resulted from an international application until after compliance with 35 U.S.C. 371, and an international application is not in compliance with 35 U.S.C. 371 until an oath or declaration is filed. See 35 U.S.C. 371(c)(4). Therefore, the absence of an oath or declaration will affect the publication of an application under 35 U.S.C. 371. Accordingly, §§ 1.494(c) and 1.495(c), unlike § 1.53(d)(1), provide that the period for filing the oath or declaration cannot be extended pursuant to § 1.136(a) to consistently provide that extensions of time pursuant to § 1.136(a) are not available for submissions which will affect the publication of the application.

Section 1.497(a), as proposed, would be amended to provide that an applicant in an international application must file an oath or declaration that: (1) is executed in accordance with either §§ 1.66 or 1.68, (2) identifies the specification to which it is directed, (3) identifies each inventor and the country of citizenship of each inventor, and (4) states that the person making the oath or declaration believes the named inventor or inventors to be the original and first inventor or inventors of the subject matter which is claimed and for which a patent is sought, rather than an oath or declaration in accordance with § 1.63, to enter the national stage pursuant to §§ 1.494 or 1.495. Currently, the failure to file an oath or declaration in strict compliance with § 1.63 results in non-compliance with § 1.497, and thus 35 U.S.C. 371, which in turn delays the entry of the international application into the national stage. To expedite the entry of international applications into the national stage, § 1.497(a), as proposed, would require only an oath or declaration that is properly executed, identifies the specification to which it is directed, and, as required by 35 U.S.C. 115, identifies each inventor and the country of citizenship of each inventor and states that the person making the oath or declaration believes the named inventor or inventors to be the original and first inventor or inventors of the subject matter which is claimed and for which a patent is sought.

Section 1.497(b), as proposed, would be subdivided into paragraphs (b)(1) and (b)(2). Section 1.497(b)(1), as proposed, would provide that the oath or declaration must be made by all of the actual inventors except as provided for in §§ 1.42, 1.43 or 1.47. Section 1.497(b)(2), as proposed, would change "[i]f the international application was made as provided in §§ 1.422, 1.423 or 1.425, the applicant shall state his or her relationship to the inventor and, upon information and belief, the facts which the inventor is required by § 1.63 to state" to "[i]f the person making the oath or declaration is not the inventor (§§ 1.42, 1.43 or 1.47), the oath or declaration shall state the relationship of the person to the inventor and, upon information and belief, the facts which the inventor is required to state" such that § 1.497(b), as proposed, would be parallel to § 1.64.

Section 1.497(c), as proposed, would be added to provide that the oath or declaration must comply with the requirements of § 1.63. Section 1.497(c), as proposed, would further provide that in instances in which the oath or declaration does not comply with § 1.63, but meets the requirements of § 1.497(a) and (b), as proposed, the oath or declaration will be accepted as complying with 35 U.S.C. 371(c)(4) and §§ 1.494(c) or 1.495(c), thus permitting the application to enter the national stage and the assignment of dates under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) and 371(c). A supplemental oath or declaration in compliance with § 1.63, however, will be required in accordance with § 1.67.

Section 1.701(a), as proposed, would add "an unusual administrative delay by the Office" to the bases for extension of patent term due to prosecution delay. H.R. 1733 provides that the Commissioner shall prescribe regulations to govern the particular circumstances deemed to be an unusual administrative delay. Section 1.701(a)(4)(i), as proposed, would set forth the failure to act on a reply under § 1.111 or appeal brief under § 1.192 within six months of the date it was filed; the failure to act on an application within six months of the date of a decision under § 1.196 by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences where claims stand allowed in an application or the nature of the decision requires further action by the examiner; and the failure to issue a patent within six months of the date that the issue fee was paid and all outstanding requirements were satisfied as circumstances constituting a prima facie unusual administrative delay. In an application entitled to an extension under § 1.701(a)(3), however, any unusual administrative delay during the appellate proceeding would be disregarded under § 1.701(a)(4) in accordance with the "not overlapping" provision in § 1.701(b). Requests for patent term extension based upon circumstances not specifically set forth in § 1.701(a)(4)(i) as a prima facie unusual administrative delay must be specifically requested by petition and would be considered on a case-by-case basis. Section 1.701(a), as proposed, would further add "subject to the provisions of this section" and delete the phrase "if the patent is not subject to a terminal disclaimer due to the issuance of another patent claiming subject matter that is not patentably distinct from that under appellate review" from paragraph (a)(3).

Section 1.701(b), as proposed, would add paragraph (c)(4) to those paragraphs summed in calculating the period of extension, and change the maximum extension from five years to ten years in accordance with H.R. 1733.

Section 1.701(c), as proposed, would provide that the period of delay is the sum of the number of days, if any, in the period of unusual delay by the Office. That is, the ordinary delay in processing and examining an application would not be included under § 1.701(c), as proposed, in determining the extension under § 1.701(b). For example, (1) where there was a failure to act on a reply under § 1.111 within six months of the date it was filed, the period of delay is the number of days in excess of six months, if any, in the period beginning on the date a reply under § 1.111 was filed and ending on the mailing date of an action in response thereto, (2) where there was a failure to act on an appeal brief under § 1.192 within six months of the date it was filed, and the application is not entitled to an extension under § 1.701(a)(3), the period of delay is the number of days in excess of six months, if any, in the period beginning on the date an appeal brief under § 1.192 was filed and ending on the mailing date of either a notification under § 1.192(d) or examiner's answer under § 1.193, and (3) where there was a failure to issue a patent within six months of the date that the issue fee was paid and all outstanding requirements were satisfied, § 1.701(a)(3), the period of delay is the number of days in excess of six months, if any, in the period beginning on the date the issue fee was paid or all outstanding requirements were satisfied, whichever is later, and the date the patent was issued.

Section 1.701(d), as proposed, would change "[t]he period of delay set forth in paragraph (c)(3)" to "[t]he period set forth in paragraph (c)," as the limitation on patent term extension in H.R. 1733 based upon an applicant's failure to engage in reasonable efforts to conclude processing or examination of the application is not limited to extension under 35 U.S.C. 154(b)(2), i.e., delays during appellate proceedings. Section 1.701(d), as proposed, would further delete "any time during the period of appellate review that occurred before three years from the filing date of the first national application for a patent presented for examination." Public Law 103-465 provides that extensions under 35 U.S.C. 154(b)(2) shall be reduced by any time during the period of appellate review that occurred before three years from the filing date of the first national application for patent presented for examination, where H.R. 1733 provides only that no patent shall be extended under 35 U.S.C. 154(b) that has issued before the expiration of three years after the filing date of the application or entry of the application into the national stage under 35 U.S.C. 371, whichever is later, not taking into account any claim to the benefit of the filing date of any application under 35 U.S.C. 120, 121, or 365(c).

Section 1.701(d), as proposed, would further change "any time during the period of appellate review, as determined by the Commissioner, during which the applicant for patent did not act with due diligence" and "[i]n determining the due diligence of an applicant, the Commissioner may examine the facts and circumstances of the applicant's actions during the period of appellate review to determine whether the applicant exhibited that degree of timeliness as may reasonably be expected from, and which is ordinarily exercised by, a person during a period of appellate review" to "any time during the processing or examination of the application, as determined by the Commissioner, during which the applicant for patent failed to engage in reasonable efforts to conclude processing or examination of the application," "[i]n determining whether an applicant failed to engage in reasonable efforts to conclude processing or examination of the application, the Commissioner may examine the facts and circumstances of the applicant's actions during the entire prosecution of the application to determine whether the applicant exhibited that degree of timeliness as may reasonably be expected from, and which is ordinarily exercised by, an applicant for patent seeking to conclude the processing or examination of the application," and "[c]ircumstances constituting a failure to engage in reasonable efforts to conclude processing or examination of the application include: (1) requesting suspension of action under § 1.103, and (2) abandonment of the application."

H.R. 1733 provides that the period of extension under 35 U.S.C. 154(b) shall be reduced by a period equal to the time during the processing or examination of the application leading to the patent in which the applicant failed to engage in reasonable efforts to conclude processing or examination of the application and that the Commissioner shall prescribe regulations establishing the circumstances that constitute a failure of an applicant to engage in reasonable efforts to conclude processing or examination of an application. Section § 1.701(d) specifically sets forth requesting suspension of action under § 1.103 and abandonment of the application as examples of prima facie failures to engage in reasonable efforts to conclude processing or examination of the application. In determining whether an applicant engaged in reasonable efforts to conclude processing or examination of the application, however, the facts and circumstances of applicant's actions during the entire prosecution of the application will be considered on a case-by-case basis to determine whether the applicant exhibited that degree of timeliness as may reasonably be expected from, and which is ordinarily exercised by, an applicant for patent seeking to conclude the processing or examination of the application. As such, it is not possible to list all of the specific circumstances in § 1.701(d). That is, circumstances other than the examples specifically set forth § 1.701(d) may, on a case-by-case basis, be considered the failure to engage in reasonable efforts to conclude the processing or examination of the application.

A new § 1.701(e), as proposed, would provide that no patent shall be extended under this section: (1) beyond the expiration date specified in a terminal disclaimer in a patent whose term has been disclaimed in such terminal disclaimer, or (2) an instance in which the patent issued before the expiration of three years after the filing date of the application or entry of the application into the national stage under 35 U.S.C. 371, whichever is later, not taking into account any claim to the benefit of the filing date of any application under 35 U.S.C. 120, 121, or 365(c). H.R. 1733 provides these limitations on extensions under 35 U.S.C. 154(b).

A new § 1.701(f), as proposed, would provide that any extension of patent term under § 1.701(a)(4) on the basis of an administrative delay other than one specifically set forth in §§ 1.701(a)(4)(i)(A)-(C) must be requested by petition. Due to the necessity for individualized determinations of patent term extensions based upon prosecution delay due to an unusual administrative delay by the Office not specifically provided for, such extensions of patent term under § 1.701(a)(4) must be specifically requested by petition in a timely manner. Section 1.701(f), as proposed, would specifically provide that any petition for patent term extension based upon § 1.701(a)(4) for an unusual administrative delay by the Office other than one specifically set forth in §§ 1.701(a)(4)(i)(A)-(C) cannot be filed prior to the mailing of a notice of allowance under § 1.311 and must be accompanied by a statement of the facts involved, the administrative delay by the Office to be reviewed, the period of extension requested, and the fee set forth in § 1.17(i). The petition may include a request that the petition fee be refunded if an extension of the patent term under § 1.701(a)(4) is granted.

Section 1.808(a), as proposed, would provide that upon the publishing of the application, all restrictions imposed by the depositor on the availability to the public of the deposited material will be irrevocably removed, subject to provisions of § 1.808(b).

Section 3.31, as proposed, would provide that the assignment cover sheet may, but need not, include an indication that the assignment information is to be printed on the Patent Application Notice. Section 3.31, as proposed, would further provide that, due to constraints in the publication process, any such indication not submitted within two months of filing or fourteen months from the earliest filing date for which a benefit is claimed, whichever is later, may result in the assignment information not being printed on the Patent Application Notice.

Section 5.1, as proposed, would include a new paragraph (c) which would provide defense agencies adequate time to complete national security review under 35 U.S.C. 181 before an application would be released for publication under § 1.306. Specifically, the period for completion of a defense agency review would be six (6) months from the actual U.S. filing date for applications filed under 35 U.S.C. 111(a) or three (3) months from the date the application was made available to the defense agency for review, whichever is later.

Section 5.1, as proposed, would further include a new paragraph (d) which would set forth the current practice that applications on inventions not made in the United States and on inventions in which the Federal Government has a known property interest are not made available to defense agencies under § 5.2(b).

A new § 5.9, as proposed, would set forth the procedures for the treatment of national security classified applications. The procedures set forth in this section, except for those pertaining to the publication of applications pursuant to § 1.306, are the current procedures for the treatment of national security classified applications. It is, however, considered appropriate to implement these procedures through the rulemaking process.

35 U.S.C. 181 authorizes the withholding of the grant of a patent on an application that has been placed under a secrecy order; however, title 35, United States Code, does not specifically authorize the withholding of the grant of a patent on an application that is national security classified, but not placed under a secrecy order. Nevertheless, the Office is prohibited by Executive Order and statute from disclosing a national security classified application. Therefore, procedures for obtaining a secrecy order pursuant to 35 U.S.C. 181 on a national security classified application, or the declassification of such application, are necessary.

Section 5.9(a), as proposed, would provide that patent applications and papers that are national security classified and contain authorized national security markings of "Confidential," "Secret" or "Top Secret" are accepted by the Office, that national security classified documents mailed to the Office must be addressed in compliance with § 5.33, and that national security classified documents may be hand-carried to Licensing and Review.

Section 5.9(b), as proposed, would provide that a national security classified patent application will not be published pursuant to § 1.306 or allowed pursuant to § 1.311 of this chapter until the application is declassified.

Section 5.9(c), as proposed, would clarify that, in a national security classified application, it is the applicant's responsibility to either obtain a secrecy order pursuant to § 5.2, or have the application declassified by the relevant department or agency. Section 5.9(c), as proposed, would further provide that in a national security classified patent application filed without a notification pursuant to § 5.2(a), i.e., a recommendation for imposition of a secrecy order from the relevant department or agency, the Office will set a time period within which the application must be declassified, a secrecy order must be obtained, or evidence of a good faith effort to obtain a secrecy from the relevant department or agency must be presented in order to prevent abandonment of the application.

Section 5.9(d), as proposed, would provide for instances in which, after an effort to obtain a secrecy order, the national security classified application has not been declassified and a secrecy order has not been obtained. Section 5.9(d), as proposed, would specifically provide that in each instance in which the national security classified application has not been declassified and a secrecy order has not been obtained, but the applicant has presented evidence of a good faith effort to obtain a secrecy order, the Office will again set a time period within which the application must be declassified, a secrecy order pursuant to § 5.2 must be obtained, or evidence of a good faith effort to again obtain a secrecy order pursuant to § 5.2 from the relevant department or agency must be presented in order to prevent abandonment of the application. This process will reiterate until the application becomes abandoned, e.g., through a lack of a good faith effort to obtain a secrecy order or failure to prosecute under 35 U.S.C. 133, the application is declassified, or a secrecy order is obtained.

Other Considerations

The proposed rule changes are in conformity with the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), Executive Order 12612, and the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.

The Assistant General Counsel for Legislation and Regulation of the Department of Commerce has certified to the Chief Counsel for Advocacy, Small Business Administration, that these proposed rule changes will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities (Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 605(b)). The principal impact of these proposed changes is to require that application papers be filed in a format which permits their digital image and OCR scanning into an electronic data base, and that claims for the benefit of the filing date of prior foreign and domestic applications be submitted promptly to permit publication of the application at 18 months from the earliest filing date for which a benefit is sought.

The Office has also determined that this notice has no Federalism implications affecting the relationship between the National Government and the States as outlined in Executive Order 12612.

These proposed rule changes contain a collection of information requirements subject to the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq. The initial patent application filing is currently approved by the Office of Management and Budget under Control No. 0651-0032. Public reporting burden for the collection of information for filing the initial patent application is estimated to average 11 hours per response, including the time for reviewing instructions, searching existing data sources, gathering and maintaining the data needed, and completing and reviewing the collection of information.

The Fee Transmittal form, Utility Patent Application Transmittal form, Design Patent Application Transmittal form, Plant Patent Application Transmittal form, Plant Color Coding Sheet, Declaration form, and Plant Patent Application Declaration form will reduce the burden and uncertainty associated with the submission of an application and related information, and enhance the Office's ability to use standardized automation routines (optical character recognition, etc.) to record and process information concerning applications. Public reporting burden for these collections of information is estimated to average:(1) 12 minutes per response for the Fee Transmittal form, (2) 12 minutes per response for the Utility Patent Application Transmittal form, (3) 12 minutes per response for the Design Patent Application Transmittal form, (4) 12 minutes per response for the Plant Patent Application Transmittal form, (5) 12 minutes per response for the Plant Color Coding Sheet, (6) 24 minutes per response for the Declaration form, and (7) 24 minutes per response for the Plant Patent Application Declaration. These estimates include the time for reviewing instructions, searching existing data sources, gathering and maintaining the data needed, and completing and reviewing the collections of information.

The assignment cover sheet is currently approved by the Office of Management and Budget under Control No. 0651-0027. Public reporting burden for the collection of information on the assignment cover sheet is estimated to average 30 minutes per response, including the time for reviewing instructions, searching existing data sources, gathering and maintaining the data needed, and completing and reviewing the collection of information.

Send comments regarding this burden estimate or any other aspect of this collection of information, including suggestions for reducing this burden to the Office of Assistance Quality and Enhancement Division, Patent and Trademark Office, Washington, D.C. 20231, and to the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs, Office of Management and Budget, Washington, D.C. 20503 (ATTN: Paperwork Reduction Act Projects 0651-0027 and 0651-0032). The Fee Transmittal form, Utility Patent Application Transmittal form, Design Patent Application Transmittal form, Plant Patent Application Transmittal form, Plant Color Coding Sheet, Declaration form, and Plant Patent Application Declaration form have been submitted to the Office of Management and Budget for clearance under the Paperwork Reduction Act. See 60 FR 35174 (July 6, 1995). Written comments and recommendations for the proposed information collection should be sent to Maya A. Bernstein, OMB Desk Officer, room 10236, New Executive Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20230.

3. Section 1.5 is proposed to be amended by revising paragraph (a) and adding paragraphs (f) and (g) to read as follows:

§ 1.5 Identification of application, patent, or registration.

(a) No correspondence relating to an application should be filed prior to when notification of the application number is received from the Patent and Trademark Office. When a letter directed to the Patent and Trademark Office concerns a previously filed application for a patent, ▶including a published application,◀ it must identify on the top page in a conspicuous location, the application number (consisting of the series code and the serial number; e.g., 07/123,456), or the serial number and filing date assigned to that application by the Patent and Trademark Office, or the international application number of the international application. Any correspondence not containing such identification will be returned to the sender where a return address is available. The returned correspondence will be accompanied with a cover letter which will indicate to the sender that if the returned correspondence is resubmitted to the Patent and Trademark Office within two weeks of the mail date on the cover letter, the original date of receipt of the correspondence will be considered by the Patent and Trademark Office as the date of receipt of the correspondence. Applicants may use either the Certificate of Mailing or Transmission procedure under § 1.8 or the Express Mail procedure under § 1.10 for resubmissions of returned correspondence if they desire to have the benefit of the date of deposit in the United States

Postal Service. If the returned correspondence is not resubmitted within the two-week period, the date of receipt of the resubmission will be considered to be the date of receipt of the correspondence. The two-week period to resubmit the returned correspondence will not be extended. If for some reason, returned correspondence is resubmitted with proper identification later than two weeks after the return mailing by the Patent and Trademark Office, the resubmitted correspondence will be accepted but given its date of receipt. In addition to the application number, all letters directed to the Patent and Trademark Office concerning applications for patents should also state "PATENT APPLICATION," the name of the applicant, the title of the invention, the date of filing the same, and, if known, the group art unit or other unit within the Patent and Trademark Office responsible for considering the letter and the name of the examiner or other person to which it has been assigned.

(c) To facilitate camera copying when printing, the width of formulas and tables as presented should be limited normally to ▶12.7 cm. (5 inches)◀ [5 inches (12.7 cm.)] so that it may appear as a single column in the printed patent. [If it is not possible to limit the width of a formula or table to 5 inches (12.7 cm.), it is permissible to present the formula or table with a maximum width of 10 3/4 inches (27.3 cm.) and to place it sideways on the sheet.] Typewritten characters used in such formulas and tables must be from a block (nonscript) type font or lettering style having capital letters which are at least ▶2.1 mm. (e)▶(1)◀ an application filed under this section will utilize the file wrapper and contents of the prior application to constitute the new continuation, continuation-in-part, or divisional application but will be assigned a new application [serial] number. Changes to the prior application must be made in the form of an amendment to the prior application as it exists at the time of filing the application under this section.

▶(2)◀ No copy of the prior [application or new] specification ▶or drawings◀ is required ▶, unless the application is a continuation-in-part application containing any additional disclosure, in which case a substitute specification in compliance with § 1.125 and drawings are required. • • • • •

(b) A brief abstract of the technical disclosure in the specification must be set forth on a separate sheet, preferably ▶prior to the first page of the specification◀ [following the claims] under the heading "Abstract of the Disclosure". The purpose of the abstract is to enable the Patent and Trademark Office and the public generally to determine quickly from a cursory inspection the nature and gist of the technical disclosure. The abstract shall not be used for interpreting the scope of the claims.

24. Section 1.75 is proposed to be amended by revising paragraph (g) and adding paragraphs (h) and (i) to read as follows:

26. Section 1.78 is proposed to be amended by revising paragraphs (a) and (c)-(d) to read as follows:

§ 1.78 Claiming benefit of earlier filing date and cross-references to other applications.

(a)(1) A nonprovisional application may claim an invention disclosed in one or more prior filed copending nonprovisional applications or international applications designating the United States of America. In order for a nonprovisional application to claim the benefit of a prior filed copending nonprovisional application or international application designating the United States of America, each prior application must name as an inventor at least one inventor named in the later filed nonprovisional application and disclose the named inventor's invention claimed in at least one claim of the later filed nonprovisional application in the manner provided by the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112. (ii) entitled to a filing date as set forth in § 1.53(b)(1), § 1.60 or § 1.62 and include the basic filing fee set forth in § 1.16; or
(iii) entitled to a filing date as set forth in § 1.53(b)(1) and have paid therein the processing and retention fee set forth in § 1.21(l) within the time period set forth in § 1.53(d)(1).

(2) Any nonprovisional application claiming the benefit of one or more prior filed copending nonprovisional applications or international applications designating the United States of America must ▶, within two months of filing or within fourteen months of the filing date of the prior application, whichever is later,◀ contain or be amended to contain in the first sentence of the specification following the title a reference to each such prior application, identifying it by application number (consisting of the series code and serial number) or international application number and international filing date and indicating the relationship of the applications. Cross-references to other related applications may be made when appropriate. (See § 1.14(b)).

(3) A nonprovisional application other than for a design patent may claim an invention disclosed in one or more prior filed copending provisional applications. [Since a provisional application can be pending for no more than twelve months, the last day of pendency may occur on a Saturday, Sunday, or Federal holiday within the District of Columbia which for copendency would require the nonprovisional application to be filed prior to the Saturday, Sunday, or Federal holiday.] In order for a nonprovisional application to claim the benefit of one or more prior filed copending provisional applications, each prior provisional application must name as an inventor at least one inventor named in the later filed nonprovisional application and disclose the named inventor's invention claimed in at least one claim of the later filed nonprovisional application in the manner provided by the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112. In addition, each prior provisional application must be:

(4) Any nonprovisional application claiming the benefit of one or more prior filed copending provisional applications must ▶, within two months of filing or within fourteen months of the filing date of the prior application, whichever is later,◀ contain or be amended to contain in the first sentence of the specification following the title a reference to each such prior provisional application, identifying it as a provisional application, and including the provisional application number (consisting of series code and serial number).

▶(5) If a claim to the benefit of any prior filed copending nonprovisional application or international application designating the United States of America is presented in a nonprovisional application after the time period provided by subparagraph (a)(2) of this section, or if a claim to the benefit of any prior filed copending provisional application is presented in a nonprovisional application other than for a design patent after the time period provided by subparagraph (a)(4) of this section, the claim may be accepted in the application if the claim identifying the prior application by application number or international application number and international filing date is filed during the pendency of the application and the delay in stating the claim was unintentional. A petition to accept a delayed claim to the benefit of a prior filed copending application must be accompanied by:

(i) The surcharge set forth in § 1.17(u); and,
(ii) A statement that the delay was unintentional. The statement must be a verified statement if made by a person not registered to practice before the Patent and Trademark Office. The Commissioner may require additional information where there is a question whether the delay was unintentional.

(6) The time periods set forth in this paragraph cannot be extended.◀

(c) Where ▶an◀ [two or more] application[s,]▶or a patent under reexamination◀ [or an application] and ▶an application or◀ a patent naming different inventors ▶are◀ [and] owned by the same party ▶and◀ contain conflicting claims, and there is no statement of record indicating that the claimed inventions were commonly owned or subject to an obligation of assignment to the same person at the time the later invention was made, the assignee may be called upon to state whether the claimed inventions were commonly owned or subject to an obligation of assignment to the same person at the time the later invention was made, and if not, indicate which named inventor is the prior inventor. In addition to making said statement, the assignee may also explain why an interference should or should not be declared.

(d) Where an application ▶or a patent under reexamination◀ claims an invention which is not patentably distinct from an invention claimed in a commonly owned patent with the same or a different inventive entity, a double patenting rejection will be made in the application ▶or a patent under reexamination◀. ▶A non-statutory◀ [An obviousness-type] double patenting rejection may be obviated by filing a terminal disclaimer in accordance with § 1.321(b).

(3) appellate review by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences or by a Federal court under 35 U.S.C. 141 or 145, if the patent was issued pursuant to a decision reversing an adverse determination of patentability ▶; and/or◀ [and if the patent is not subject to a terminal disclaimer due to the issuance of another patent claiming subject matter that is not patentably distinct from that under appellate review.]

▶(4) an unusual administrative delay by the Office.

(i) Circumstances constituting an unusual administrative delay by the Office include the failure to:

(A) act on a reply under § 1.111 or appeal brief under § 1.192 within six months of the date it was filed;
(B) act on an application within six months of the date of a decision under § 1.196 by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences where claims stand allowed in an application or the nature of the decision requires further action by the examiner (§ 1.197); and
(C) issue a patent within six months of the date that the issue fee was paid or all outstanding requirements were satisfied, whichever is later.◀

(b) The term of a patent entitled to extension under paragraph (a) of this section shall be extended for the sum of the periods of delay calculated under paragraphs (c)(1), (c)(2), (c)(3) ▶, (c)(4)◀ and (d) of this section, to the extent that these periods are not overlapping, up to a maximum of ▶ten◀ [five] years. The extension will run from the expiration date of the patent.
(c)(1) The period of delay under paragraph (a)(1) of this section for an application is the sum of the following periods, to the extent that the periods are not overlapping:

(i) with respect to each interference in which the application was involved, the number of days, if any, in the period beginning on the date the interference was declared or redeclared to involve the application in the interference and ending on the date that the interference was terminated with respect to the application; and
(ii) the number of days, if any, in the period beginning on the date prosecution in the application was suspended by the Patent and Trademark Office due to interference proceedings under 35 U.S.C. 135(a) not involving the application and ending on the date of the termination of the suspension.

(2) The period of delay under paragraph (a)(2) of this section for an application is the sum of the following periods, to the extent that the periods are not overlapping:

(i) the number of days, if any, the application was maintained in a sealed condition under 35 U.S.C. 181;
(ii) the number of days, if any, in the period beginning on the date of mailing of an examiner's answer under § 1.193 in the application under secrecy order and ending on the date the secrecy order and any renewal thereof was removed;
(iii) the number of days, if any, in the period beginning on the date applicant was notified that an interference would be declared but for the secrecy order and ending on the date the secrecy order and any renewal thereof was removed; and
(iv) the number of days, if any, in the period beginning on the date of notification under § 5.3(c) and ending on the date of mailing of the notice of allowance under § 1.311.

(3) The period of delay under paragraph (a)(3) of this section is the sum of the number of days, if any, in the period beginning on the date on which an appeal to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences was filed under 35 U.S.C. 134 and ending on the date of a final decision in favor of the applicant by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences or by a Federal court in an appeal under 35 U.S.C. 141 or a civil action under 35 U.S.C. 145.
▶(4) The period of delay under paragraph (a)(4) of this section is the sum of the number of days, if any, in the period of unusual delay by the Office.◀

(d) The period [of delay] set forth in paragraph (c)[(3)] shall be reduced by ▶any time during the processing or examination of the application, as determined by the Commissioner, during which the applicant for patent failed to engage in reasonable efforts to conclude processing or examination of the application. In determining whether an applicant failed to engage in reasonable efforts to conclude processing or examination of the application, the Commissioner may examine the facts and circumstances of the applicant's actions during the entire prosecution of the application to determine whether the applicant exhibited that degree of timeliness as may reasonably be expected from, and which is ordinarily exercised by, an applicant for patent seeking to conclude the processing or examination of the application. Circumstances constituting a failure to engage in reasonable efforts to conclude processing or examination of the application include:

(1) requesting suspension of action under § 1.103, and
(2) abandonment of the application.◀ [:

(1) any time during the period of appellate review that occurred before three years from the filing date of the first national application for patent presented for examination; and
(2) any time during the period of appellate review, as determined by the Commissioner, during which the applicant for patent did not act with due diligence. In determining the due diligence of an applicant, the Commissioner may examine the facts and circumstances of the applicant's actions during the period of appellate review to determine whether the applicant exhibited that degree of timeliness as may reasonably be expected from, and which is ordinarily exercised by, a person during a period of appellate review.]

▶(e) No patent term shall be extended under this section:

(1) beyond the expiration date specified in a terminal disclaimer in a patent whose term has been disclaimed in such terminal disclaimer;
(2) in a patent issued before the expiration of three years after the filing date of the application or entry of the application into the national stage under 35 U.S.C. 371, whichever is later, not taking into account any claim to the benefit of the filing date of any application under 35 U.S.C. 120, 121, 365(c).

(f) Any extension of patent term under paragraph (a)(4) of this section on the basis of an administrative delay other than one specifically set forth in paragraphs (a)(4)(i)(A)-(C) must be requested by petition. A petition for an extension of patent term based upon unusual administrative delay by the Office other than one specifically set forth in paragraphs (a)(4)(i)(A)-(C) cannot be filed prior to the mailing of a notice of allowance under § 1.311 and must be accompanied by:

(1) a statement of the facts involved, the administrative delay by the Office to be reviewed, and the period of extension requested; and,
(2) the fee set forth in § 1.17(i). The petition may include a request that the petition fee be refunded if an extension of the patent term under paragraph (a)(4) of this section is granted.◀

(85) Applicant Aid for Biotechnology Computer Readable Form (CRF) Sequence Listings Submissions

The Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) has developed a computer program, called Checker, that will aid applicants in identifying and correcting errors prior to making submissions for compliance with the Requirements for Patent Applications Containing Nucleotide Sequence and/or Amino Acid Sequence Disclosures (sequence rules: 37 CFR 1.821 through 1.825). (Final rules were published in the Federal Register (55 FR 18230) on May 1, 1990, and in the PTO Official Gazette (1114 Off.Gaz.PatOffice 29) on May 15, 1990.)

Checker is a DOS-based software program that is intended to assist users in determining whether errors may be present in the sequence listings, and is not intended to guarantee that the submission is error-free.

(86) Petitioning to Make Applications Relating to Biotechnology Special

This notice is intended to highlight the procedures which are available to applicants and, in particular, to applicants seeking patents on inventions relating to biotechnology, so as to have their applications accorded "special" status. A new interim procedure is also hereby established. Applications which have been made special will be advanced out of turn for examination and, subject alone to diligent prosecution by the applicant, will continue to be treated as special throughout the entire course of prosecution in the Patent and Trademark Office.

The Office accords special status to patent applications by granting petitions to make special on a number of grounds. These grounds include, for example, prospective manufacture of the invention, actual infringement of the invention, that the invention will materially enhance the quality of the environment and for inventions relating to safety of research in the field of recombinant DNA. See 37 CFR 1.102 and Manual of Patent Examining Procedure (MPEP) section 708.02 for details. Applicants seeking patents on inventions relating to biotechnology may petition based on any of the above grounds if they meet the appropriate criteria.

A new application (one which has not received any examination by the examiner) may be granted special status under the accelerated examination program. As set forth in MPEP 708.02, applicants are not subject to any of the above-mentioned criteria under this program but merely must 1) submit a written petition and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(i) which presently is $72.00; 2) present all claims directed to a single invention; 3) submit a statement that a pre-examination search was made, specifying by whom the search was made and listing the field of search; 4) submit one copy of each of the references deemed most closely related to the subject matter encompassed by the claims; and 5) submit a detailed discussion of the references pointing out how the claimed subject matter is distinguishable over the references. In those instances where the petition for this special status does not meet all the prerequisites set forth above, applicant will be notified of the defects and will be given an opportunity to perfect the petition.

In addition to the above-noted procedures to have biotechnology applications accorded special status, a new interim procedure is hereby established whereby applicants who are small entities may request that their biotechnology applications be granted special status. To take advantage of this interim special status for biotechnology inventions, an applicant must file a petition with the petition fee under 37 CFR 1.17(i) requesting the special status and must (1) state that small entity status has been established or include a verified statement establishing small entity status; (2) state that the subject of the patent application is a major asset of the small entity; and (3) state that the development of the technology will be significantly impaired if examination of the patent application is delayed including an explanation of the basis for making the statement. This newly established interim procedure will remain in effect until further notice in the Official Gazette. It is intended that a notice discontinuing this procedure will be published as the average pendency approaches the 18 month goal in this area. If the number of requests for making applications special under this procedure is too great, the procedure may have to be limited or discontinued.

The Office is continuing to work to reduce the pendency time for all applications. Special efforts are being made to reduce the pendency of biotechnology applications where filings are increasing rapidly and an already large backlog exists. Meanwhile, applicants who so desire can petition to have their applications made special as noted above. Questions concerning petitions to make special should be directed as follows:

1) to the Office of the Assistant Commissioner for Patents for petitions based on the grounds of prospective manufacture or infringement;
2) to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences for petitions on applications within the jurisdiction of the Board; or
3) to the appropriate Examining Group for petitions to make special on all other grounds.

(87) Petitioning to Make Patent Applications Relating to HIV/AIDS and Cancer Special

Pursuant to 37 CFR 1.102, new patent applications are taken up for examination in the order of their effective United States filing date and are not advanced out of turn unless the Commissioner has so ordered to expedite the business of the Office, the head of some department of the Government requests immediate action on a patent application deemed of peculiar importance to some branch of the public service under 37 CFR 1.102(b), or a petition to make a patent application special under 37 CFR 1.102(c) or (d) has been granted. In view of the importance of developing treatments and cures for HIV/AIDS and cancer and the desirability of prompt disclosure of advances made in these fields, the Patent and Trademark Office is establishing a new category for petitions to accord "special" status to patent applications relating to HIV/AIDS and cancer. Applications which have been made special will advanced out of turn for examination and will continue to be treated as special throughout their pendency by the Patent and Trademark Office.

Applicants who desire that an application relating to HIV/AIDS or cancer be made special should file a petition, with the fee under 37 CFR 1.17(i) which is presently $130.00, requesting the Patent and Trademark Office to make the application special. The petition for special status should be made in writing, should identify the application by serial number and filing date, and should be accompanied by a statement explaining how the invention contributes to the diagnosis, treatment or prevention of HIV/AIDS or cancer. Such statement must be set forth in oath or declaration form unless it is signed by a registered practitioner. The petition will be decided by the Director of the patent examining group to which the application is assigned.

This new category for a petition to make an application special will be added to the other categories discussed in section 708.02 of the Manual of Patent Examining Procedure.

37 CFR Part 5
Patent Law Foreign Filing Amendments

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce
Action: Notice of Final Rulemaking
Summary: The Patent and Trademark Office (Office) is amending the rules of practice in patent cases to implement the Patent Law Foreign Filing Amendments Act of 1988, Subtitle B of Public Law 100-418. The rules reflect changes made to 35 U.S.C. 184 which specify that a license is not required to, file amendments, modifications, and supplements containing additional subject matter to a previously licensed foreign patent application if such amendments, modifications, and supplements do not change the general nature of the invention disclosed in the application in a manner which would require a corresponding United States patent application to be made available for national security inspection under 35 U.S.C. 181. These regulatory changes are applicable to most existing foreign filing license holders if their patent application did not undergo security inspection under 35 U.S.C 181. Also, under the rules, a retroactive foreign filing license may be granted in situations where a proscribed foreign filing occurred through error and without deceptive intent as opposed to the earlier standard of inadvertence.
Effective Date: Feb. 19, 1991.
Supplementary Information: A notice of proposed rulemaking was published in the Federal Register at 55 Fed. Reg. 24270-24275 (June 15, 1990) and at 1116 Official Gazette 21-25 (July 10, 1990). No oral hearing was held. Three written comments on the proposed rulemaking were received. The comments received and replies thereto are listed below.

The rules are intended to implement the Patent Law Foreign Filing Amendments Act of 1988, Subtitle B of Public Law 100-418 (hereinafter the Act), which amended §§ 184, 185 and 186 of Title 35, United States Code, in order to simplify the procedures for United States inventors filing and prosecuting patent applications in foreign countries. The Office has not made any rule changes to implement the amendments to 35 U.S.C. 185 or 186 since these changes affect matters outside its jurisdiction.

Section 184 of Title 35 is intended to protect United States national security interests by preventing the disclosure of potentially sensitive inventions made in the United States to foreign nationals by the act of filing a patent application in foreign countries. An inventor may not apply for a foreign patent on an invention made in the United States until at least six (6) months after the inventor has filed a United States patent application unless the inventor receives a license from the Office permitting an earlier foreign filing. This six month period assures the Office the opportunity to screen applications for information the disclosure of which might be detrimental to the national security. Also, § 184, as originally enacted, authorized the Office to grant a retroactive license for an unlicensed foreign filing of a patent application if the foreign filing was inadvertent and if the disclosure of the subject matter in the application would not be detrimental to United States security interests.

The original regulatory implementation of 35 U.S.C. 184 required applicants to obtain a license not only for the original foreign patent application but also for the filing of almost any information in support of the application, thereby creating administrative problems for United States inventors seeking foreign patent protection. For example, foreign patent offices often demand that additional technical data, such as the melting point of a chemical, be added to a patent application. An additional foreign filing license was usually required before the inventor could submit modifications, amendments, or supplements to a previously licensed foreign patent application, regardless of how trivial the change might be.

Recognizing the problems involved in obtaining these additional licenses, the Office promulgated rules in 1984 (see § 5.15(a) and 49 Fed. Reg. 13456 (April 4, 1984)) to streamline the licensing procedure. The 1984 rule change provided that an inventor could obtain in applications, the disclosure of the content of which is not potentially detrimental to United States security interests, a license which permitted the foreign filing of modifications, amendments, and supplements without further licensing if such changes were within the scope or character of the originally licensed invention (§ 5.15(a)). The 1984 rule change, however, could not be made retroactive, and therefore had no effect on licenses granted under the old system. If an applicant wished to broaden a pre-April 4, 1984, foreign filing license to the scope allowed by§ 5.15(a), this involved filing a separate petition under§ 5.15(c) in each application.

The present Act clarifies the statutory basis for the current Patent and Trademark Office rules by providing that inventors, in most circumstances, are not required to obtain an additional license to file modifications, amendments, and supplements to their foreign applications for which a foreign filing license has been obtained under § 5.15(a). Unlike the previous Office rules, these rules broaden the scope of most existing licenses, provided that the conditions contained in the Act are met.

The Act and these rules also address difficulties associated with attempts to procure a retroactive foreign filing license. Some applicants faced loss of their patent rights due to improper foreign filings even though they believed, in good faith, that a license was not necessary for certain minor changes to their foreign application. Court decisions have held that supplemental information filed abroad was exempt from the license requirement only when it was recited verbatim in the United States patent application, or was so commonly known that it could have been said to have been expressly disclosed in the United States application. In re Gaertner, 604 F.2d 1348, 202 USPQ 714 (CCPA 1979). If a patent applicant did not obtain a foreign filing license from the Office, any corresponding United States patent was at risk of being held invalid under 35 U.S.C. 185 if technical information was added to the foreign application, even if the technical information was completely unrelated to United States security interests.

Loss of United States patent rights subsequent to an "inadvertent" unlicensed foreign filing could be avoided if a retroactive license was obtained under 35 U.S.C. 184. Twin Disc, Inc. v. United States, 10 Cl. Ct. 713, 231 USPQ 417 (Ct. Cl. 1986) and Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co. v. Norton Co., 366 F.2d 238, 151 USPQ 1 (6th Cir. 1966), cert. denied, 385 U.S. 1005 (1967). While the Gaertner decision defined a broad range of circumstances under which a foreign filing license would be required, other court decisions made correction of licensing errors difficult by setting forth various strict interpretations of the standard of "inadvertence." Compare Iron Ore Co. of Canada v. Dow Chemical Co., 177 USPQ 34 (D. Utah 1972), aff'd, 500 F.2d 189, 182 USPQ 520 (10th Cir. 1974) and Reese v. Dann, 391 F. Supp. 12, 185 USPQ 492 (D.D.C. 1975). An inventor could fail to meet the standard of "inadvertence" even if the information disclosed was not significant in nature and did not contain any sensitive national security information. For example, one decision suggested that the filing of information abroad was intentional because the inventor first considered the applicability of § 184. Shelco, Inc. v. Dow Chemical Co., 322 F. Supp. 485, 168 USPQ 395 (N.D. Ill. 1970), aff'd, 466 F.2d 613, 173 USPQ 451 (7th Cir. 1972), cert. denied, 409 U.S. 876 (1972). Under the Shelco standard, if supplemental information had been filed abroad as a considered, willful act, even though done through error in the belief that the information disclosed abroad did not exceed the scope of the disclosure in the United States patent application, the filing would not be "inadvertent"; and, therefore, the subject information could not qualify for a retroactive license.

The Act addresses these problems, and the rules implement the intention of the Act. The Act changes the language of the statute to provide that an inventor may receive a retroactive license if the inventor can show that the premature filing of a foreign patent application, or the submission of supplemental information in support of a foreign patent application, was made "through error and without deceptive intent." This criterion is equivalent to that for reissue of a patent under 35 U.S.C. 251 to correct errors made without any deceptive intention. The reissue error requirement has been considered by the courts. See, e.g., In re Weiler, 790 F.2d 1576, 229 USPQ 673 (Fed. Cir. 1986) and In re Wadlinger 496 F.2d 1200, 181 USPQ 826 (CCPA 1974). The applicant for a retroactive license also must show that the foreign filing did not disclose any information detrimental to the national security and that diligence was exercised in seeking a retroactive license once the applicant became aware of the proscribed foreign filing.

The Act became effective on August 23, 1988, but it does not affect any final decision made by the Office or a court, nor the rights or liabilities of any party under a patent in a case pending before a court on the above date or under any subsequent patent deriving priority rights from such patent under 35 U.S.C. 120 or 121. Therefore, the retroactive effect of the Act and the rules is limited.

Comments on the Proposed Rules

Comment

One comment stated that the discussion in the proposed rulemaking of the modification of the standard for obtaining a retroactive license from inadvertence to "through error and without deceptive intent" should have included a reference to In re Wadlinger, 492 F.2d 1200, 181 USPQ 826 (CCPA 1974) rather than to In re Weiler, 790 F.2d 1576, 229 U8PQ 673 (Fed. Cir. 1986) The comment stated that Wadlinger was a more appropriate and illustrative case because it discusses more fully the meaning of the term "error" as encompassing "inadvertence, accident or mistake" and as having a very broad meaning. The comment also noted that Wadlinger was referenced in comments made in the hearing on the proposed legislation as indicative of the reissue standard being applied to retroactive license requests

Reply

A citation to In re Wadlinger has been added to the citation of In re Weiler in the discussion of the final rules. It was not the intent of the Office by citing the Weiler case to suggest that decisions on petitions for the grant of retroactive licenses would be limited by that case. Decisions are based on the particular facts in each case and the entire body of law with respect to the standard of "through error and without deceptive intent."

Comment

A comment stated that the Office should provide additional examples in the explanatory text in the final rule as to changes that may be made to foreign applications that have been licensed under 37 CFR 5.15(a) without obtaining any additional license. The comment pointed out that examples were given in the 1984 rulemaking.

Reply

The list of examples presented at the time that 37 CFR 5.15(a) was adopted in 1984 was not intended to be all-inclusive. The Office is not aware of any judicial decisions setting limits to changes that may be made under a 5.15(a) license. Depending on the nature and the criticality, changes in temperature, portions, size, etc., outside of a previously disclosed value or range that do not change the general nature of the invention from what was previously disclosed are within the scope of a § 5.15(a) license. However, if the newly disclosed value or range does change the general nature of the invention from that of the originally disclosed value or range, then a separate license is required. Likewise, new species or subcombinations of a previously disclosed genus or combination would appear to require an additional license to include such a change in a foreign application.

Comment

One comment stated that the Office should provide clarification of the attorney's ability to make decisions as to whether or not the added subject matter, in his opinion, changes the general nature of the invention.

Reply

Not only does the attorney have the ability to make the decision as to whether or not the additional subject matter changes the general nature of the invention, the attorney has the responsibility to do so. The Office will not give advisory opinions on whether an additional license is necessary, and will treat any provisional requests for a prospective or retroactive license as a request for a license. The procedure of the Office resolving any questions as to the security inspection status of any changes to previously licensed material is intended to apply only to those changes that have been submitted to the Office, i.e., the Office will reply to any inquiry as to whether previously submitted subject matter underwent, or should have undergone, security review.

Comment

One comment questioned what would happen if an attorney on considered judgment, honestly believed that a supplement did not change the general nature of a licensed invention, but that judgment later proved to be erroneous.

Reply

The Act and the rules now provide for a retroactive license to be granted in situations where it can be shown that a filing was made without a license through error and without deceptive intent. Thus, a retroactive license could be sought under § 5.25.

Discussion Of Specific Rule Changes

Section 5.11(a), as amended, specifies when a license is required before filing any foreign application for patent, including any modifications, amendments and supplements or divisions thereof. Section 5.11(a) adopts the statutory definition of "application" in 35 U.S.C. 184. Also, the rule, as amended, clarifies that the provisions of this section apply only to inventions made in the United States as stated in 35 U.S.C. 184. However, where an improvement or modification to a foreign-origin invention is made in the United States, a license would be required for the additional subject matter. The language proposed for § 5.11(e)(3) has been redrafted for clarity but still provides that an inventor need not obtain a supplemental license to file modifications, amendments and supplements containing subject matter not disclosed in, or divisions of, a foreign application for which an initial foreign filing license was not required, as long as the corresponding United States application was not required to be made available for inspection under 35 U.S.C. 181 and § 5.1 and the changes did not alter the general nature of the invention in a manner which would require the United States application to have been made available for inspection under 35 U.S.C. 181 and § 5.1. The need for a supplemental license depends on whether the changes altered the general nature of the invention, rather than the label applied to the changes, i.e., "Continuation", "Continuation In-Part", "Division", etc.

Authorized parties may determine whether a particular application was forwarded to the defense agencies for inspection under 35 U.S C. 181 either by reviewing the filing receipt to determine if a license is or was granted, in which case security inspection did not occur, or by reviewing the file wrapper to determine if an access acknowledgment under 35 U.S.C. 181 is present, in which case security inspection did occur. If verification of the security inspection status of an application is needed, the authorized parties may submit a written request therefor to the Office, directed to the attention of Licensing and Review. A written response from the Office will be issued. In the event Office records are not available, a de novo determination by the Office will be made of the need for defense agency inspection under the present national security standards. If security inspection was not required under 35 U.S.C. 181, then the provisions of the Act will convert a previously granted or implied license into one having the scope of proposed § 5.15(a).

Section 5.15(a), as amended, adopts the specific provisions of the Act and clarifies the existing rules by expressly stating that the license provisions of the paragraph are applicable to United States applications which were not required to be made available for inspection under 35 U.S.C. 181 and § 5.1. The inspection provisions of 35 U.S.C. 181 delegate to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks the authority to decide which applications will be forwarded to United States defense agencies for national security inspection when the Government has no property interest in the invention. The fact that an application was forwarded to the defense agencies does not necessarily mean that the application was properly within the inspection scope of 35 U.S.C. 181. Thus, if an application was not required to be inspected but was inspected by mistake, it is eligible for such a license. The changes to the regulation expressly apply to modifications, amendments, and supplements to a previously licensed foreign application, and divisions thereof, provided the not alter the general nature of the invention in a manner which would require a corresponding United States application to have been made available for inspection under 35 U.S.C. 181.

The language of § 5 15(a)(1) also has been clarified. If the filing of the foreign application was pursuant to a license granted under § 5.15 and issued prior to publication of the notice in the Federal Register at 49 Fed. Reg. 13456 (April 4, 1984) for subject matter which was not appropriate for inspection under 35 U.8.C. 181, the license is now expanded to cover amendments, modifications, and supplements thereto, or divisions thereof, which do not change the general nature of the invention in a manner which would require such application to be made available for security inspection under 35 U.S.C. 181. Also, paragraphs (a)(3) and (a)(4) of § 5.15 have been merged in order to more clearly define the type of subsequent changes to a previously licensed foreign patent application which may be filed without any additional license. In particular, it is made clear that these changes must not be such as to require the application to be made available for security inspection. Any questions about the security inspection status of any application or amendments, modifications, and supplements thereto, or divisions thereof, will be handled in the manner as described above.

Section 5.15(b), as amended, clarifies the existing rule by expressly stating that the license provisions of § 5.12(b) are applicable to United States applications which were required to be made available for inspection under 35 U.S.C. 181 and§ 5.1. The amendments also clarify the language of the paragraph and indicate that the more restrictive license under this paragraph includes authority to take actions in the foreign or international application, provided subject matter additional to that covered by the license is not involved Section 5.15(c), as amended, clarifies the existing rule by expressly stating that the granting of a § 5.15(a) scope to a license under § 5.15(b) and conversion provisions of this paragraph are only applicable to material submitted under § 5.13 or United States applications, which are not, or were not, required to be made available for inspection under 35 U.S.C. 181 and § 5.1.

Sections 5.15(e) and (f), as amended, substitute a reference to § 5.15(a)(3) rather than to § 5.15(a)(4) which has been eliminated as a separate paragraph. Paragraph (e) also has been amended to state that changes to the general nature of the invention, which would require the application to have been made available for inspection under 35 U.S.C. 181 and § 5.1, require a separate license.

Section 5.25(a), as amended, provides that the inventor may receive a retroactive license if the inventor can show that the premature filing of papers in a foreign patent office was made through error and without deceptive intent. This criterion is the same as that for "error without any deceptive intention" for reissue of a patent and replaces the previous standard of inadvertence. This section also has been amended to clarify that each country in which a proscribed filing occurred must be listed in a petition for retroactive license. Also, the rule has been amended to define a verified statement as being in the form of either an oath or a declaration. Finally, the rule has been clarified by defining the period over which error without deceptive intent must be shown as being the time leading up to and including the proscribed foreign filing

Other Considerations

. The rule change is in conformity with the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 601 et seq., Executive Orders 12291 and 12612, and the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.

The General Counsel of the Department of Commerce has certified to the Acting Chief Counsel for Advocacy, Small Business Administration, that the rule change will not have a significant adverse economic impact on a substantial number of small entities (Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 605(b)) because the rules simplify the procedures for all United States inventors who file and prosecute applications in foreign countries.

The Patent and Trademark Office has determined that this rule change is not a major rule under Executive Order 12291. The annual effect on the economy will be less than $100 million. There will be no major increase in costs or prices for consumers, individuals, industries, Federal, state or local government agencies, or geographic regions. There will be no significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or on the ability of the United States-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

The Patent and Trademark Office has also determined that this notice has no Federalism implications affecting the relationship between the National Government and the States as outlined in Executive Order 12612.

These rules contain a collection of information requirement subject to the Paperwork Reduction Act which has previously been approved by the Office of Management and Budget under Control No. 0651-0011 with an expiration date of March 31, 1993. The average time for each petition for license under § 51.12(b) or § 5.25 is estimated to be approximately thirty (30) minutes, including time for reviewing instructions, gathering and maintaining data needed, and completing and reviewing the petition submission. Send comments regarding this burden estimate to the Patent and Trademark Office, Office of Management and Organization, Washington, D.C. 20231, and the Office of Management and Budget, Washington, D.C. 20503 (Attention: Paperwork Reduction Project 0651-0011).

For the reasons set forth in the preamble, 37 CFR Part 5 is amended as set forth below.

PART 5 - SECRECY OF CERTAIN INVENTIONS AND LICENSES TO EXPORT AND FILE APPLICATIONS IN FOREIGN COUNTRIES

1. The authority citation for Part 5 is revised to read as follows:

Authority: 35 U.S.C. 6, 41, 181-188, as amended by the Patent Law Foreign Filing Amendments Act of 1988, Pub. L. 100-418 102 Stat. 1567; the Arms Export Control Act, as amended, 22 U.S. C. 2751 et seq., the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended, 42 U. S.C. 2011 et seq., and the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Act of 1978, 22 U.S.C. 3201 et seq., and the delegations in the regulations under these acts to the Commissioner (15 CFR 370.10(j), 22 CFR 125.04, and 10 CFR 810.7).

2. Section 5.11, paragraphs (a) and (e), are revised to read as follows:

§ 5.11 License for filing in a foreign country an application on an invention made in the United States or for transmitting an international application.

(a) A license from the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks under 35 U.S.C. 184 is required before filing any application for patent including any modifications, amendments, or supplements thereto or divisions thereof or for the registration of a utility model, industrial design, or model, in a foreign patent office or any foreign patent agency or any international agency other than the United States Receiving Office, if the invention was made in the United States and:

(1) An application on the invention has been on file in the United States less than six months prior to the date on which the application is to be filed, or

(2) No application on the invention has been filed in the United States.

* * * * *

(e) No license pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section is required:

(1) If the invention was not made in the United States, or

(2) If the corresponding United States application is not subject to a secrecy order under § 5.2, and was filed at least six months prior to the date on which the application is filed in a foreign country, or

(3) For subsequent modifications, amendments and supplements containing additional subject matter to, or divisions of, a foreign patent application if:

(i) a license is not, or was not, required under paragraph (e)(2) of this section for the foreign patent application;

(ii) the corresponding United States application was not required to be made available for inspection under 35 U.S.C. 181 and § 5.1; and

(iii) such modifications, amendments, and supplements do not, or did not, change the general nature of the invention in a manner which would require any corresponding United States application to be or have been available for inspection under 35 U.S.C. 181 and § 5.1.

* * * * *

3. Section 5.15, paragraphs (a), (b), (c), (e) and (f), are revised to read as follows:

§ 5.15 Scope of license.

(a) Applications or other materials reviewed pursuant to § 5.12 through 5.14, which were not required to be made available for inspection by defense agencies under 35 U.S.C. 181 and § 5.1, will be eligible for a license of the scope provided in this paragraph. This license permits subsequent modifications, amendments, and supplements containing additional subject matter to, or divisions of, a foreign patent application, if such changes to the application do not alter the general nature of the invention in a manner which would require the United States application to have been made available for inspection under 35 U.S.C. 181 and § 5.1. This license also covers the inventions disclosed in foreign applications which had been granted a license under this part prior to April 4, 1984, and which were not subject to security inspection under 35 U.S.C. 181 and § 5.1. Grant of this license authorizes the export and filing of an application in a foreign country or the transmitting of an international application to any patent agency orinternational patent agency when the subject matter of the foreign or international application corresponds to that of the domestic application. This license includes authority:

(1) To export and file all duplicate and formal application papers in foreign countries or with international agencies;

(2) To make amendments, modifications, and supplements, including divisions, changes or supporting matter consisting of the illustration, exemplification, comparison, or explanation of subject matter disclosed in the application; and

(3) To take any action in the prosecution of the foreign or international application provided that the adding of subject matter or taking of any action under paragraphs (a)(1) and (2) of this section does not change the general nature of the invention disclosed in the application in a manner which would require such application to have been made available for inspection under 35 U.S.C. 181 and § 5.1 by including technical data pertaining to:

(i) Defense services or articles designated in the United States Munitions List applicable at the time of foreign filing, the unlicensed exportation of which is prohibited pursuant to the Arms Export Control Act, as amended, and 22 CFR Parts 121 through 130; or

(ii) Restricted Data, sensitive nuclear technology or technology useful in the production or utilization of special nuclear material or atomic energy, the dissemination of which is subject to restrictions of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended, and the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Act of 1978, as implemented by the regulations for Unclassified Activities in Foreign Atomic Energy Programs, 10 CFR Part 810, in effect at the time of foreign filing.

(b) Applications or other materials which were required to be made available for inspection under 35 U.S.C. 181 and § 5.1 will be eligible for a license of the scope provided in this paragraph. Grant of this license authorizes the export and filing of an application in a foreign country or the transmitting of an international application to any foreign patent agency or international patent agency. Further, this license includes authority to export and file all duplicate and formal papers in foreign countries or with foreign and international patent agencies and to make amendments, modifications, and supplements to, file divisions of, and take any action in the prosecution of the foreign or international application, provided subject matter additional to that covered by the license is not involved.

(c) A license granted under § 5.12(b) pursuant to § 5.13 or § 5.14 shall have the scope indicated in paragraph (a) of this section, if it is so specified in the license. A petition, accompanied by the required fee (1.17(h)), may also be filed to change a license having the scope indicated in paragraph (b) of this section to a license having the scope indicated in paragraph (a) of this section. No such petition will be granted if the copy of the material filed pursuant to § 5.13 or any corresponding United States application was required to be made available for in-spection under 35 U.S.C. 181 and § 5.1. The change in the scope of a license will be effective as of the date of the grant of the petition.

* * * * *

(e) Any paper filed abroad or transmitted to an international patent agency following the filing of a foreign or international application which changes the general nature of the subject matter disclosed at the time of filing in a manner which would require such application to have been made available for inspection under 35 U.S.C. 181 and § 5.1 or which involves the disclosure of subject matter listed in paragraphs (a)(3)(i) or (ii) of this section must be separately licensed in the same manner as a foreign or international application. Further, if no license has been granted under § 5.12(a) on filing the corresponding United States application, any paper filed abroad or with an international patent agency which involves the disclosure of additional subject matter must be licensed in the same manner as a foreign or international application.

(f) Licenses separately granted in connection with two or more United States applications may be exercised by combining or dividing the disclosures, as desired, provided:

(1) Subject matter which changes the general nature of the subject matter disclosed at the time of filing or which involves subject matter listed in paragraphs (a)(3)(i) or (ii) of this section is not introduced, and

(2) In the case where at least one of the licenses was obtained under § 5.12(b), additional subject matter is not introduced.

* * * * *

4. Section 5.25, paragraph (a), is revised to read as follows:

§ 5.25 Petition for retroactive license

(a) A petition for a retroactive license under 35 U.S.C. 184 shall be presented in accordance with § 5.13 or § 5.14 (a), and shall include:

(1) A listing of each of the foreign countries in which the unlicensed patent application material was filed,

(2) The dates on which the material was filed in each country,

(3) A verified statement (oath or declaration) containing:

(i) An averment' that the subject matter in question was not under a secrecy order at the time it was filed abroad, and that it is not currently under a secrecy order,

(ii) A showing that the license has been diligently sought after discovery of the proscribed foreign filing, and

(iii) An explanation of why the material was filed abroad through error and without deceptive intent without the required license under § 5.11 first having been obtained, and

(4) The required fee (§ 1.17(h)).

The above explanation must include a showing of facts rather than a mere allegation of action through error and without deceptive intent. The showing of facts as to the nature of the error should include statements by those persons having personal knowledge of the acts regarding filing in a foreign country and should be accompanied by copies of any necessary supporting documents such as letters of transmittal or instructions for filing. The acts which are alleged to constitute error without deceptive intent should cover the period leading up to and including each of the proscribed foreign filings.

[Docket No. 71038-8108]

Requests for Presidential Proclamations Under the Semiconductor Chip Protection Act of 1984, 17 U.S.C. 902(a)(2)

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce
Action: Final Rule
Summary: The Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) is adding a new Subchapter C, Part 150 to its rules to implement the Presidential proclamation provisions of the Semiconductor Chip Protection Act of 1984, 17 U.S.C. 902(a)(2). The rules establish procedures for the evaluation of requests by foreign governments for the issuance of Presidential proclamations granting protection in the United States to mask works of foreign origin. The rules also permit the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks independently to initiate an evaluation. The effect of the rules will be to establish a regime of protection for foreign mask works in the United States, provided mask works of U.S. origin are adequately protected in the country requesting a Presidential proclamation.
Effective Date: August 1, 1988
For Further Information Contact: Michael K. Kirk, Assistant Commissioner for External Affairs, by telephone at (703)557-3065, or by mail marked to his attention and addressed to Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Box 4, Washington, D.C. 20231.
Supplementary Information: The Semiconductor Chip Protection Act of 1984 (SCPA) established a new form of intellectual property protection for mask works that are fixed in semiconductor chips. Mask works are defined as a "series of related images, however fixed or encoded," that represent the three-dimensional pattern in the layers of a semiconductor chip. Thus, the subject matter of protection under the SCPA are the layout designs of semiconductor chips, known in some countries as "integrated circuit layout designs" or as "semiconductor topographies." The SCPA provides a ten-year term of protection for original mask works measured from their date of registration or first commercial exploitation anywhere in the world. To maintain protection, mask works must be registered in the United States Copyright Office within two years of first commercial exploitation.

Protection for foreign mask works may be granted under both section 902 and section 914 of the SCPA. Section 902 sets out three different ways that foreign mask works may become eligible for protection in the United States. First, on the date the work is registered or is first commercially exploited anywhere in the world, the mask work is protectible if its owner is a national, domiciliary or sovereign authority of a foreign nation that is a party to a treaty that provides protection of mask works and to which the United States is also a party, or if a stateless person,wherever domiciled. Second, foreign mask works may be protected when they are first commercially exploited in the United States. The third way, set forth in section 902(a)(2), is where the foreign mask work comes within the scope of a Presidential proclamation. The President may issue a proclamation upon finding that a foreign nation extends to mask works of owners who are U.S. nationals or domiciliaries, protection (1) on substantially the same basis as that on which the foreign nation extends protection to mask works of its own nationals and domiciliaries and mask works first commercially exploited in that nation, or (2) on substantially the same basis as provided in the SCPA. Pursuant to Executive Order 12504, 50 FR 4849 (Feb. 4, 1985), requests for issuance of Presidential proclamations are to be presented to the President by the Secretary of Commerce.

Section 914 was included in the SCPA as a transitional provision, intended by Congress to encourage other countries to pass laws extending protection to this new form of intellectual property. Once laws were in place, it was reasoned, permanent protection for foreign mask works could be conferred under section 902 or through a multilateral treaty that extended coverage to mask works. Section 914 gives the Secretary of Commerce authority to issue orders extending interim protection to foreign mask work owners upon the satisfaction of certain conditions. First, the Secretary must find that the foreign nation is making good faith efforts and reasonable progress toward entering into a treaty with the United States, or toward enacting legislation that will protect U.S. mask works on the same basis as domestic mask works, or at a level similar to that provided under the SCPA. Second, the Secretary must determine that nationals, domiciliaries and sovereign authorities of the foreign nation are not engaged in the misappropriation, unauthorized distribution, or unauthorized commercial exploitation of mask works. Finally, the Secretary must determine that issuance of an interim order would promote the purposes of the SCPA and international comity with respect to the protection of mask-works.

By Amendment 1 to Department Organization Order 10-14, issued Dec. 3, 1984, the Secretary of Commerce delegated to the Assistant Secretary and Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks the authority under section 914 to make pertinent findings and to issue orders for the interim protection of foreign mask works. Amendment 2 to Department Organization Order 10-14, issued Sept. 28, 1987, expanded the earlier delegation to include responsibility for prescribing regulations for the presentation to the President of requests for issuance of proclamations under section 902.

The Commissioner has issued orders granting interim protection under section 914 for mask works produced in Australia, Belgium, Canada, Denmark, Finland, France, the Federal Republic of Germany, Greece, Ireland, Italy, Japan, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, and the United Kingdom. All of the interim protection orders were recently extended until May 31, 1989. See Extension of Previously-Granted Interim Orders Under the Semiconductor Chip Protection Act of 1984, 53 FR 16308 (May 6, 1988).

This proceeding was initiated by a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking published at 53 FR 5588-90 (Feb. 25, 1988). The notice set forth proposed regulations for the submission and evaluation of requests that the Secretary of Commerce recommend the issuance or revocation of a Presidential proclamation granting U.S. protection to foreign mask works under section 902(a)(2) of the SCPA. Comments on the proposed rules were received from the Commission of the European Communities and the U.S. Semiconductor Industry Association.

Discussion of Specific Rules

Section 150.1 of the new rules sets forth relevant definitions. Section 150.2 specifies the conditions under which an evaluation of recommending the issuance, revision, suspension or revocation of a section 902 proclamation will be initiated by the Commissioner. Section 150.2(a) provides that the Commissioner must initiate an evaluation of the propriety of recommending the issuance of a section 902 proclamation upon receipt of a request from a foreign government. Section 150.2(b) gives the Secretary the discretion to initiate independently an evaluation concerning issuance, revision, suspension or revocation of a proclamation, or as directed by the Secretary of Commerce.

Section 150.3(a) states that requests for the issuance of a section 902 Presidential proclamation shall be made by "foreign governments." The definition of "foreign government" in section 150.1 of the rules makes clear that international intergovernmental organizations may request Presidential proclamations on behalf of their member states.

Section 150.3(b) lists the documentation that must accompany requests for issuance of a proclamation. The laws, legal rulings, regulations, and administrative orders submitted must be in unedited, full-text form. Where possible, the materials submitted should be reproduced from the original document, e.g., from court reports or statutory instruments. Abstracts, summaries and commentaries are not acceptable. If the documents are not in English, a certified English translation must accompany them.

Section 150.4 sets out the procedure the Commissioner will follow after a request for issuance of a proclamation has been submitted, or following a decision independently to initiate an evaluation. If a foreign government requests a section 902 proclamation before a section 914 proceeding has taken place, under section 150.4(a) the Commissioner may initiate such a proceeding to compile a record of necessary information and, where appropriate, to provide interim protection in the United States while the section 902 request is pending. Section 150.4(b) provides that the information obtained during a section 914 proceeding, if one has been held, will be considered by the Commissioner in determining whether to recommend the issuance of a Presidential proclamation.

Section 150.4(c) provides that requests for Presidential proclamations, and notices of the Commissioner's determination independently to initiate section 902 evaluations, will be published in the Federal Register. Written comments will be requested. Section 150.4(d) requires the Commissioner to notify the Register of Copyrights and the Committees on the Judiciary of the Senate and the House of Representatives of the initiation of an evaluation. Under section 150.4(e), a hearing may be scheduled if the written comments raise issues that cannot be resolved through informal contacts Section 150.4(f) provides that the record to be considered by the Commissioner in determining whether to recommend a Presidential proclamation will be the request from a foreign government, if any, written comments received, the record of any section 914 proceedings, and the information obtained in a hearing, if one is held.

Sections 150.4(g) and (h) provide that the Commissioner will forward the draft recommendation to the Secretary, who will then forward a recommendation regarding issuance of a proclamation to the President. Section 150.5(a) makes clear that the recommendation for issuance of a proclamation may include terms and conditions regarding the duration of the proclamation. Section 150.5(b) provides that interested parties may request the revision, suspension or revocation of Presidential proclamations.

Comments on the Proposed Rules

Comments on the proposed rules were submitted by the Commission of the European Communities and the U.S. Semiconductor Industry Association (SIA). The Commission of the European Communities noted that any request for a proclamation in favor of mask works produced in the Member States will be made by the Commission. The Commission requested a clarification that the term "foreign governments" as used in section 150.3(a) includes international intergovernmental organizations which have been empowered by their member states to request Presidential proclamations granting U.S. protection to mask works produced in such states.

The PTO adopts the Commission's suggestion. The rules are not intended to preclude foreign governments from having requests for Presidential proclamations presented on their behalf by an international or regional intergovernmental organization. Accordingly, a definition of "foreign government" is added as section 150.1(b) of the rules, making clear that international intergovernmental organizations may request Presidential proclamations on behalf of their member states.

In its comments, the SIA requested that section 150.4(c) be amended to require that the Commissioner hold a public hearing when requested by any interested party after an evaluation has begun. As proposed, section 150.4(e)(2)(ii) gives the Commissioner discretion to hold a hearing to gather additional information if material issues raised in written comments cannot be resolved less formally. SIA also requested that section 150.4(f) be amended to include information obtained in public hearings in the list of materials to be evaluated by the Commissioner. SIA suggested that section 150.4(c) specify a time period of thirty (30) days after publication of a request for comments in the Federal Register during which written comments and requests for a hearing may be submitted.

The PTO does not agree that the Commissioner should be required to hold a hearing as part of every section 902 evaluation whenever requested. Section 150.4(b) provides that information obtained during section 914 proceedings will be used in evaluating requests for Presidential proclamations. Moreover, under section 150.4(a) the Commissioner may institute section 914 proceedings if an interim order has not been issued in favor of mask works from such a requesting nation. Given the thoroughness with which section 914 proceedings are generally conducted, the Commissioner is expected to have available a substantial record concerning the degree of protection for U.S. mask works in the subject country. A separate hearing might only serve to cause delay in such cases.
